TO WHICH IS ADDED,

A LETTER,

OCCASIONED BY

THE LORD BISHOP OF GLOUCESTER'S

BY JOHN PAYNE.

LONDON PRINTED MDCCLXIII.

ADVERTISEMENT.

THE design of the following pieces, however feebly executed, is, in humble concurrence with The Gospel of JESUS CHRIST, to shew the weakness and vanity of man, and the All-sufficiency of GOD. The reason of their being written in the form of discourses delivered from the pulpit, rather than of essays, it is unnecessary to mention. Divine Truth can be communicated to the mind, only by the immediate operation of The SPIRIT OF TRUTH; and the arguments that are suggested by men for turning the desire and dependence of the soul to Him, may be thrown into various a forms,

forms, and yet into none that will be equally useful and acceptable to all. If, therefore, the form of these pieces does not disgust many readers; and, in particular, as it is sincerely hoped it will not, does not offend any member of the venerable body of CHRIST'S ministers, as an improper imitation of the form of one of their stated offices; it will be sufficient to say, that they were the employment of some hours, that might have been devoured by melancholy, or wasted by idleness, or sacrificed to folly and to sin.

From an attentive observation of the whole, in which the same points of doctrine supported by nearly the same arguments occur more than once, as well as from other marks of inaccuracy, inaccuracy, it will appear, that these pieces were not originally intended for the press; but when the motives that have influenced their publication took place, the alteration necessary to remove the repetition of particular parts, as well as to change the general form, was found to be more than could be accomplished in the midst of numerous stated engagements. The whole, therefore, with all its imperfections, is intrusted to the candour of the reader.

DISCOURSE I.

ON THE PROMISE AND GIFT OF THE HOLY GHOST:

From JOHN XIV. 15, 16, 17, 20.

DISCOURSE I.

JOHN XIV. 15, 16, 17, 20.

“ IF YE LOVE ME, KEEP MY COM-“ MANDMENTS: AND I WILL “ PRAY THE FATHER, AND HE “ SHALL GIVE YOU ANOTHER
“ COMFORTER, THAT HE MAY “ ABIDE WITH YOU FOR EVER;
“ EVEN THE SPIRIT OF TRUTH.
“ — AT THAT DAY YE SHALL “ KNOW, THAT I AM IN MY FA-“ THER, AND YOU IN ME, AND “ I IN YOU.”

THE conversation of which these verses are a part, is the most tender and interesting that can be conceived. The hour drew near, in which the SAVIOUR OF THE WORLD was to drink the last draught of his bitter cup of sufferings; and “ having loved his own,” as the Evangelist observes in the first verse of the preceding chapter, the few “ poor and simple ones,” who were chosen to “ confound the mighty and the wise,” and whom He was now about to leave; “ He loved them” with unremitted affection “ to the end.”

As the fittest preparation for the solemnity of this last conference, the DIVINE COMFORTER introduces it with the institution of his Holy Supper; the perpetual earthly memorial of all the Benefits which fallen man derives from Redeeming Love; and having, in his Own Sacred Person, given his disciples an example of that Humility, which is the first remedy to be applied to the disorders of human nature, and necessary to prepare the mind for Divine Illumination; He proceeds to tell them of the great events that were soon to take place, and to fortify their souls against them.

He knew the thick darkness that overspread their hearts, in common with their degenerate countrymen; who having lost the Spiritual and Divine sense of the Mosaic Law, and confounded the ancient prophecies of the first and second coming of the Messiah, expected a prince invested with temporal authority, who, by breaking the Roman yoke, should restore the outward liberties and privileges of the Jewish people, and reign over them in peace and splendour for ever. He knew the weakness of their zeal and faith; that, besides "the son of perdition" who was to betray Him,

Him,

Him, “ one would deny Him ” ; and that “ all would be offended ” at his sufferings, and from a sense of their own danger desert Him in the hour of difficulty and death.

He knew also, that, with all this imperfection, which would produce the pain of disappointed ambition, and the dread of personal suffering ; there was a mixture of worthy affections, that demanded consolation and encouragement : a love for his person ; a reverence for his character and precepts ; a dependence upon his protection ; and a desire to be led to the possession of that good which He had promised, however mistaken they were in their apprehensions of the nature of it. For Him, they had deserted their friends, their families, their employments ; with Him, they had endured poverty, disgrace, and persecution ; in obedience to his laws, and in conformity to his temper, they had endeavoured to suppress the sensual and malignant passions of their nature : and was all this labour of love and obedience fruitless ? were all those hopes of reward in the honour and happiness of the new kingdom, utterly vain and visionary ? and must their dear LORD,

Whom they expected to see seated on the Throne of David, be now separated from them by death, like a common mortal ; and themselves left exposed, without protection or comfort, to the malignant scorn and abuse of their exasperated countrymen ? No wonder, that, under the sense of such complicated evils, “ their hearts were oppressed with sorrow, and their tongues became speechless.”

He, who knew their hearts, knew the excess of their sorrow, and the consolations that were proper to remove it : He, who was Himself “ a man of sorrows and acquainted with griefs, and had attained perfection thro’ suffering” ; now shewed, how deeply He was “ touched with a feeling of human infirmities”. With all the tenderness of pity, with all the freedom of friendship, with all the dignity of wisdom, with all the confidence of power, He searches to the bottom of their distress ; expostulates with their doubts and fears ; brings to recollection the wonders He had wrought in their sight ; exhorts to more animated love, and more faithful obedience ; foretells the sufferings they must undergo for his sake, and foretells them as a reason for their entire dependence upon Him : but encourages courages them with the hope of future glorious rewards ; and promises to send “ another Comforter” in his stead, “ even the SPIRIT OF TRUTH, who should abide with them for ever,” sanctify their affections, enlighten their understanding, and explain the reason and efficacy of his approaching Death, and the whole nature of his Mediatorial Kingdom : and closes all, with a solemn and pathetic prayer to the Father, for their final perseverance ; and their restoration to that Union with the Divine Nature, in which alone the life and supreme felicity of man consist.

But notwithstanding these endearing motives to constancy and faith, so corrupt, so ignorant, and weak, is human nature, without the immediate influence of THE SPIRIT OF TRUTH, that it could not endure the trial of which it had been so tenderly forewarned. The consequences of a known connexion with one who was become the object of public rage, were so much dreaded by Peter, that he gave up all his interest in that dear LORD whom he always professed so ardently to love, and “ denied that he knew Him:” CHRIST, to rebuke self-confidence, and repress the forwardness of a zeal that was not born of THE SPIRIT, foretold him of this defection and disgrace. And neither he, nor James, nor John the beloved disciple, tho' chosen for that purpose from the rest as most distinguished for their affectionate attachment, could watch the hour of their Master's agony in the garden; but during the whole time of that amazing conflict with the Prince of Darkness, the weakness of nature resigned all their faculties to the insensibility of sleep: and when He was betrayed into the hands of power, Peter, and James, and John, and every other disciple, "forsook him and fled."

But when the tumult of their selfish fears had subsided, when their LORD had expired on the cross, and the rage of persecution ceased; when they had leisure to revolve this great event in their minds, and, by comparing it with what they had been taught, judge of its nature and importance, and derive that comfort from it which they so much needed; even then, their blind and incredulous hearts led them far from the truth, and they had no expectation that CHRIST would "rise from the dead." The report of this fact was treated by them as an idle story framed by the women men that related it, whose minds were supposed to be disordered thro' excess of sorrow : and when the evidence of their own senses had convinced them of the reality of their Master's conquest over death and the grave, and they had conversed with Him forty days together on the most important concerns of his Kingdom; even in the moment of his ascension, the hope of a temporal administration was predominant in their hearts, and they enquire with eagerness, whether He would not now be pleased to shake off the Roman yoke, "and restore again the Kingdom to Israel."

At length "the day was fully come," when the promise of the HOLY SPIRIT, which had been so often made, was to be fulfilled ; and the accomplishment of it was attended with visible appearances of transcendent glory, and produced astonishing effects. But, surely, none so astonishing, as the Change that was immediately wrought in the minds of the Apostles ! Ignorance and infidelity gave way to Divine Knowledge and immovable Faith : the sense of personal danger was so totally subdued by Holy Fortitude, that even at Jerusalem, the place where their Master was accused, accused, blasphemed, and condemned to death, and from which they were so lately driven by their fears, they stood forth as “ Witnesses of the Resurrection of CHRIST,” the truth of which they were prepared to seal with their blood: the Kingdom of the Messiah was no longer conceived to be founded in temporal dominion, under which they hoped to enjoy the distinctions of riches, honour, and pleasure; but it was known to be a Spiritual Kingdom, that must begin in the heart of every believer; a Kingdom of Holiness and Love, of “ Righteousness and Peace, and Joy in the Holy Ghost:” and the nature of this Kingdom, its progress from Glory to Glory, and its final establishment in the Spiritual Perfection of all its members, these mean and illiterate fishermen, who had never travelled from their own coasts but in company with their Blessed LORD, were enabled to explain to the multitudes that were then assembled in the city, “ in every language of every nation under heaven.”

This was the full and perfect measure of the Dispensation of Grace; which could not be poured out during CHRIST’S abode upon earth, because his Holy Process, “ the work “ that

“ that was given Him to do” as the only possible means of obtaining its inestimable treasures, was not finished; and most of its peculiar laws, glories and blessings, depended upon his sufferings and death, his resurrection, ascension, and exaltation to the Right Hand of his Father’s Throne. The business of CHRIST on earth, was to open the nature and design of his Heavenly Mission, and give incontestible evidences of its authority; to rebuke the Selfishness, Pride, and Malignity of fallen nature, as the chief obstacles to the reception of THE SPIRIT OF TRUTH; and, in his Own Person, to exhibit a glorious example of the reunion of the Divine Nature with the human; and, as “ the Captain of our salvation,” to make way for the universal conquest of sin, hell, death, and the grave. As, therefore, Moses and the Prophets constantly referred to the Coming of CHRIST; so CHRIST, when He came, as constantly referred to the Pouring out of THE SPIRIT, as the last and best Dispensation of GOD to the children of men. “ The salvation,” says St. Paul, “ which at the first began to be spoken by the LORD, was” afterwards “ confirmed,” and fully published, “ by those that heard Him; GOD also bearing them wit- “ ness,

“ ness, with signs and wonders, and with divers “ miracles and gifts of the HOLY GHOST.”

Let the Infidel pause here a moment, and reflect on the tremendous evil to which the pride of imaginary wisdom exposes him. The HOLY SPIRIT proceeding from the FATHER and the SON, on the appointed day began his ministration of Grace and Glory, attested by “ signs and wonders, and divers “ miracles and gifts :” miracles and gifts, that are past the power of any Being but the same SPIRIT, truly to describe ! For, even against the deep rooted prejudices, arising from the expectation of a temporal Messiah ; from the meanness, obscurity, and distress, of JESUS and his followers ; and from the infamy of the Cross on which He had so lately suffered ; nay, in the midst of the city of Jerusalem, and in the sight of Pilate, Herod, the Chief Priests, Elders, Scribes and Pharisees, Peter’s first sermon, after he was filled with THE SPIRIT, produced the conversion of “ more “ than three thousand souls.” This, and the gift of tongues, are facts, which, in eighteen centuries, few have dared to controvert, none have been able to refute. Let the Infidel, I say, consider, with awful seriousness, whether,

ther,

ther, by his obstinate rejection of the Truth and Power of Christianity, when supported by such evidences of the Ministration of GOD'S SPIRIT, he does not incur that dreadful sentence, which was once pronounced against the arrogant, the self-taught, and self-righteous Pharisee—" All manner of sin and blasphemy shall be forgiven unto men; but the blasphemy against the HOLY GHOST, it shall not be forgiven unto men: and whosoever speaketh a word against the Son of Man, it shall be forgiven him; but whosoever speaketh against the HOLY GHOST, it shall not be forgiven him, neither in this world, neither in the world to come."

But tho' the miraculous gifts conferred on the Apostles and others, may be considered as an earnest of their adoption, and a pledge of future happiness and glory; yet, as they were not only not bestowed alike on all, but, for whatever awful reason, were soon after discontinued, they had also a further pledge of salvation, an INTERNAL WITNESS, which being personal, equal, and constant, was far more certain, far more encouraging; even a Spirit of Faith, Patience, Temperance, Humility, Meekness, Charity,

Charity, powerfully controlling the passions and appetites of corrupt nature, filling them with the Love and Communion of GOD and CHRIST, and producing that “Peace, which the world could neither give, nor take away.” “At that day ye shall KNOW, that I am in my Father, and you in me, and I in you.” This is “The COMFORTER, which was to abide with them for ever:” this is promised alike to them, to us, and all that ever were or ever shall be called to the knowledge and belief of the Gospel of CHRIST: nay, to all the descendants of Adam, in every age, and every nation; who are born of his power of Redemption, “the Divine incorruptible seed,” that is to “bruise the head of the serpent,” in the same truth and reality, as they are born of his fallen nature. It may not be improper, therefore, to consider, in an abstracted view,

The nature of that Distress, which has made the continual presence and communion of such a COMFORTER necessary;

The nature of the Relief He is sent to administer; and

The Concurrence required on our part, to render that Relief effectual.

The explanation of these subjects will include a general inquiry into all that relates to man—his original perfection ; his disgraceful fall, and voluntary alienation from the Life of GOD ; his gracious restitution to pardon and to hope ; his progressive sanctification ; and his recovery of the Life and Light, the Order and Happiness of his first Perfect State.

Tho' I cannot hope to place truths of this exalted class in a light equal to their importance and excellency, yet I would not injure them by a flight and superficial mention : I shall, therefore, attempt the consideration of them in a separate discourse ; and conclude this, with reminding all, who, at the more solemn seasons of devotion, assemble to commemorate the Wonders of REDEEMING LOVE, of the blessings, which, as an essential part of Christian worship, are prepared for their acceptance.

The Mercy of that GOD, “ in Whom we continually live, and move, and have our being,” does not only preserve us in this probationary state, and in the free and undisturbed profession of the Christian Faith ; but, by the rites of the Church, renews our privilege vilege of approaching his Holy Table ; from which, as from an earthly throne, CHRIST, the King, dispenses food, health, liberty, and peace, to all his faithful subjects. There, the promise made to Adam, the dispensations to Noah, Abraham, Moses, “ the sure word of prophecy,” and the design and spirit of the ceremonial law, all center : there, CHRIST is given to all, as the Atonement for sin, and as the Principle of a renewed Heavenly Life. From that, as from a fountain of living water, flow the truths, the duties, and the blessings of the Christian Life. There GOD descends—not as upon mount Sinai, “ with blackness, and darkness, and tempest, and the noise of a trumpet and thunder ;” but with the gentle and enlivening beams of Divine Light and Love ; with the still and soft whispers of his HOLY SPIRIT, which are best heard in meek and quiet souls. And to “ that emblem of Mount Sion, the Heavenly Jerusalem, the City of the Living GOD,” we are all called with kindness, persuasion, and intreaty.

The outward elements of this ordinance are, indeed, plain and simple ; and plain and simple for this reason, that there may be room for the exercise, the growth, and strength of faith and devout affections. And as, by outward elements, the body is not only sustained, but altered to new habits, and different temperaments; so, by the body and blood of CHRIST, of which we are solicited to partake by faith, the soul acquires a new nature, that becomes assimilated to His; that is obedient to His Will; and is wholly supported, enlightened, and governed by HIS SPIRIT.
for

“ I,” says He, “ am the living bread which came down from Heaven: if any man eat of this bread, he shall live for ever: and the bread that I will give, is my flesh; which I will give for the life of the world. Whoso eateth my flesh and drinketh my blood, hath eternal life, and I will raise him up at the last day; for my flesh is meat indeed, and my blood is drink indeed. He that eateth my flesh, and drinketh my blood, dwelleth in me and I in him;” we are become one nature: “ for, as the Living Father hath sent me, and I live by the Father; so he that eateth me, even he shall live by me.” In this Holy Supper, which I have instituted as a Memorial of my Love, and my desire to live in Perfect Communion with you, “ I in you, and you in me;” I give you my body to eat, and my blood to drink ;” my body, which is broken” on your account, and for your sakes ; “ my blood, which is shed for the remission of your sins” — not only to deliver you from the torment, but to cleanse you from the impurity of Sin : “ This do, in Remembrance of Me !” This is my last, my dying request : and to endear us the more to each other, to confirm that Holy Union which I desire always to have with you ; I ask your compliance, as well on my account, as yours — “ This do, in Remembrance of Me !”

What amazing Condescension, what transcendent Love is this ! How far beyond the power of man to acknowledge or conceive ; and yet, how often ineffectual, to awaken in his dark and selfish soul, a sense of gratitude and duty ! One would think, that the danger of forfeiting so important an interest in CHRIST, to which a life of worldly business and amusement continually exposes us, should make us long for every opportunity of recollecting and pleading it : but some “ whose hearts are choaked with the cares and pleasures of the world,” so far from seeking this opportunity, decline it when it is offered ; and contrive pretences to defraud their souls of that sustesustenance, without which they cannot live: some, while they are “wretched, and miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked,” fancy themselves “increased in mental riches, and to have need of nothing;” and some, in the opposite excess, fear they are too blind to receive sight, too naked to be cloathed, too wretched to be made happy.

Let these last recollect, that “a broken and a contrite heart” will never “be despised by Him, who searcheth the heart:” that a deep sense of the evil and demerit of sin, and a full constant desire to be delivered from its power, is the temper of mind most suitable to the nature and design of this Holy Communion: that “CHRIST came not to call the righteous, but sinners, to repentance;” and, therefore, that those chiefly, “who labour and are heavy laden” with the burthen of sin, are invited to “come to Him,” and receive that “Rest” which He is always ready to bestow. The Penitent Prodigal will be met with open arms; he will be brought in Triumph to his Father’s House; and Angels, and “the Spirits of the just made perfect,” will celebrate the Joy of his Return. O may we continually tinually fear the delusions of Satan, and the deceitfulness of our own hearts!

With the deepest humility for the ignorance, impotence, and wretchedness of fallen nature; with the deepest contrition for all voluntary and chosen deviations from Holiness and Truth; and with the firmest dependence, not only on the Power, but the Will of CHRIST, “to save to the uttermost those that come unto GOD by Him;” let us embrace every opportunity to approach the Table of our LORD, and beg to be continually fed with “the Bread that came down from Heaven, the Food of Everlasting Life!” Let us beseech our dear REDEEMER, “by the mystery of his Holy Incarnation; by his Holy Nativity and Circumcision; by his Baptism, Fasting, and Temptation; by his Agony and Bloody Sweat, his Cross and Passion,” and his Unknown Sufferings; “by his Death and Burial; by his glorious Resurrection and Ascension; and by the Coming of the Holy Ghost,” the COMFORTER which He had promised: let us beseech Him by all these endearing circumstances, which comprehend the Holy Process in which every human soul must be perfected; to deliver us from the malice of Satan ; from the influence of this vain, deceitful, and perishing world ; and from our more dangerous enemies, the darkness, impurity, pride, and malignity of our own hearts !
the

“ O may the GOD OF PEACE, that brought “ from the dead our LORD JESUS, that great “ shepherd of the sheep, thro’ the blood of the “ everlasting covenant, make us perfect in every “ good work to do His Will ; working in us that “ which is well pleasing in his sight, thro’ JESUS “ CHRIST ; to Whom be glory for ever and “ ever ! Amen.

D I S C O U R S E II.

THE HOLY GHOST:

From JOHN XIV. 15, 16, 17, 20.

DISCOURSE II.

JOHN XIV. 15, 16, 17, 20.

“ IF YE LOVE ME, KEEP MY COM-“ MANDMENTS: AND I WILL “ PRAY THE FATHER, AND HE
“ COMFORTER, THAT HE MAY “ ABIDE WITH YOU FOR EVER;
“ KNOW, THAT I AM IN MY FA-“ THER, AND YOU IN ME, AND “ I IN YOU.”

IN the former discourse on this promise of Divine Consolation, I have endeavoured to give some account, however imperfect, of the establishment of CHRIST'S Kingdom upon earth; when, with respect to the great work of his personal ministry in the flesh, bowing his head upon the cross, Himself had said, with his expiring breath, “ It is finished!” when thus triumphing over hell, death, and the grave, “ He ascended up on high; and led captivity captive; and gave gifts unto men, even to the rebellious, that the LORD GOD might dwell among them.”

The miracles that attended the completion of this promise, I have just mentioned as an external evidence of the truth of The Gospel,

Gospel, that is sufficient, upon their own boasted principles, to repress the self-confidence of infidels, and alarm them with the dreadful consequences of rejecting the Redeeming Power of THE HOLY SPIRIT, without which man cannot be “delivered” “from the wrath to come.”

But with a view to apply this promise, and the completion of it, more immediately to ourselves, and shew the personal interest we have in both; I have urged the Change, which the Effusion of the HOLY SPIRIT instantaneously produced in the understanding will and affections of the Apostles, as a miracle not less astonishing than the gift of tongues and the power over life and death: and from thence took occasion to speak of the INTERNAL WITNESS to the Truth and Power of Christian Redemption; that Witness, which is common not only to them, and us, and all believers in CHRIST, but to every son of Adam, in every age, and every nation; that DIVINE COMFORTER, “who abiding” “with us continually,” will, while we place our whole dependence upon Him, “Lead us into All Truth,” heal our infirmities, alleviate our afflictions, and support .

Regarding the Apostles, therefore, with respect to this gracious promise, as the representatives of all descending Christians, nay of human nature itself; I proposed to consider, in an abstracted view,

The nature of that Distress, which has made the continual presence and communion of such a COMFORTER necessary;

The nature of the Relief He is sent to administer; and

The Concurrence required on our part, to render that Relief effectual.

This I shall now attempt to prosecute; tho' not strictly according to the division of the subject which I have just given, yet with such an enforcement of each particular part, as may contribute most to the strength of the whole.

When the humanity of JESUS CHRIST, in which He had finished the Wonderful Process of Redemption, was glorified, the Gift of the HOLY SPIRIT, as the blessed Effect of all that had been done and suffered, was bestowed upon the children of men; under whose Continual Ministration, the Heavenly Life, “born of that Incorruptible Seed of the “Eternal Word”” which is implanted in every soul, was to be cherished, strengthened, and perfected; and men were to acquire a nature transcendently different from that which they inherit from Adam, and, in the language of St. Paul, experience a Total Change “from “an earthly to an Heavenly Image.””

This Change is represented, not as something that was always new and superiour to human nature, but as the Renovation of a Life that had been lost; a Recovery of that state of being, in which man was originally placed, and from which he had voluntarily fallen. And, indeed, the conviction, that he is not in his primitive state, and such as his Maker formed him; has, in every age, led many minds into all the mazes of Philosophy, to seek for some solution of so dark an enigma.

It could not be conceived, that the Blessed GOD should have made a creature with an aversion to the only important ends of which it

it must be supposed naturally capable, and particularly with a disaffection to Himself; that so excellent a spirit should be so fervilely employed in the pursuits of animal Life; and that possessing powers of a superiour and inferior kind and order, the meaner should have been, by original constitution, framed to command, and the more excellent only to obey and serve. Hence, the bitterest complaints of “the mind’s subjection to the “body, as a bond of corruption, a dark “coverture, a living death, a sensible car“case, a moving sepulchre!” Hence the various attempts to account for the origin of this evil: “some representing nature as a conti“tual war and force, censure the First Cause “for producing such a distortion, as an im“mortal spirit united to a mortal body: some “reckoning every thing evil that has pertu-“bation in it, and subjecting all things to fate “and necessity, make the Holy GOD to be “the original cause of all the evil in the mind “of man: and some,” by far the most distinguished for the consistency of their opinions, and the purity of their morals, “with “great reverence for the Divine Majesty, confess, that the sole cause of evil is in man “himself; that whatever comes from GOD, “is

“ is good ; but evil proceeds from a certain “ ancient nature, an hereditary pravity of an “ almost forgotten original ; and that man “ was formerly in an incorrupt state of being, “ but is now plunged in matter and corpo-

Of the question about the origin of evil, which the most improved philosophy could but darkly and remotely guess at, REVELATION has given the clearest solution ; and to the evil itself, and its universal influence and dominion, established upon the ruins of a Life originally Pure, Perfect, and Divine, has borne the most awful testimony.

“ Man was created upright, in the Image, “ and after the Likeness of GOD !” formed for the most intimate intercourse with his DIVINE PARENT ; to receive the large communications of Immense Goodness, Life Light and Love, which, as a birth or nature, were continually rising up within him !

Examine now the intellectual faculties of the human mind, the ground of its arrogant distinction, its glory and its boast : and what find we there, but slow and dull perceptions, roving roving and uncertain judgments, feeble and mistaken reasonings about matters of the nearest concern? What find we, indeed, but darknes? "Ye were sometimes darknes," says St. Paul to the Ephesians — not merely surrounded with darknes, or in whom some degree of darknes dwelt; but darknes itself! And is darknes the Image of Original and Uncreated Light? Examine the human heart: and there, on the throne which GOD once filled, sits the abominable Idol SELF, as her own original, center, and end! Extending her view no further, than her own hand can reach; and by no other light, than what the vapours that rise from her own clouded brain afford; she gives confused laws to fancy, judgment, reason; which, like willing slaves, traverse the regions of animal and sensual Life, to procure luxurious amusements for her soft and drowsy hours, and more turbulent and rapturous enjoyments for fits of activity and ardour. But in the secret corners of this dark domain, favoured, cherished, yet concealed, lurk impatient Pride, corroding Envy, and envenomed Wrath! Here also dwell, though unwelcome inmates, Disappointment, Disgust, and Spleen; cold Doubt that chills the ardour of Confidence, and cruel Jealousy that blasts

blasts the fruits of Love ! Here is the worm of keen Reproach, that never dies ! Here the Visitations of an ejected GOD ; unfrequent, indeed, and sudden ; but in such pomp of terrour, as makes the whole fabrick shrink almost into annihilation ! And at a distance, hovering over this chaos of wild passions and disordered faculties, sits black Despair !

And is this the primitive integrity of man ? Is this the Likeness of Infinite Wisdom, Purity, Benignity, and Love ? Is this the being that is filled with the “ Breath of GOD’s “ SPIRIT,” and formed for His Communion and Converse ? Can, not only alienation, but enmity and opposition be the ground of intimate fellowship ? Can light subsist with darkness, can spirit unite with carnality ? And is a life of ignorance and guilt, of perverted faculties and tormenting passions, an Image of the Life of GOD ? Some faint traces, indeed, still remain of man’s great original : some imperfect footsteps may yet be discovered, that shew he was once a glorious Temple, dignified with the Presence of an Indwelling DEITY, and consecrated to his Honour. To use the words of a sublime writer, “ The “ stately ruins are visible to every eye, that “ bear

“ bear in their front, yet extant, this doleful “ inscription— HERE GOD ONCE DWELT!
 “ But, behold the desolation! The faded “ glory, the darkness, the disorder, the impu“ rity, the decayed state in all respects of this “ Temple, too plainly shew, the great Inha“ bitant is gone!”

How transcendently kind and honourable, was the appointment of man to so exalted an office and use! this moment, not to exist; and the next, to be capable, and full of GOD! How free and voluntary the condescension of the Self-sufficient Good, thus to desire union and familiarity with his creature!

How free and voluntary also was the alienation, the apostasy, and revolt of man! No force compelled, no insufficiency betrayed him: heaven and earth could not supply the strength of a plausible temptation, to withdraw him from what was thus infinitely excellent!

“ Eat not,” says the Blessed GOD, “ of “ the tree of the knowledge of good and evil; for in “ the day thou eatest thereof, thou wilt surely “ die.” This was not an arbitrary restraint, D imposed

imposed only for the exercise of GOD's authority, and the trial of man's obedience: but a kind and paternal caution, to beware of desiring a perception of the good and evil of the outward world; which, as well as a corruptible and temporary, was an animal and bestial state of things, partaking of the nature of those beings, who by their apostasy first introduced evil into the creation. Out of the horrible chaos of fire and darkness, into which those revolted spirits, by the wrathful workings of nature separated from GOD, had begun to change the once happy region they inhabited, was formed this system of divided elements; a mixture of good and evil unsuitable to the nature of Adam, who was only "to subdue and" "exercise dominion over it," till by heavenly fire it should be purified from its corruption, and made a fit habitation for him and his offspring for ever.

"Eat not of the tree of the knowledge of Good and Evil." 'Be content, O Adam! with ' thy present state of being; and happy in the ' perpetual communications of my favour,
' rule over this imperfect and perishing world
' till my purposes are accomplished, without ' desiring to partake of its corruption and im' purity.

‘ purity. Thou canst not have its perceptions, ‘ without its nature : and if once the animal ‘ and bestial nature has power in thee, in ‘ that moment the Divine Nature which thou ‘ now possessest, the Life of FATHER, SON, ‘ and SPIRIT, that is now generated in thee, ‘ will depart from thy soul, and separated from ‘ my Light and Love, thou wilt become, like ‘ the fallen angels, an immortal wrathful ‘ spirit, whose essence is the rage of fire, and ‘ the horror of darkness. Eat, therefore, ‘ only of the bread of Heaven, the food of ‘ Paradise ; and touch not the fruit of the tree ‘ of knowledge of good and evil, which will ‘ immediately open in thy soul the animal, ‘ bestial, and wrathful Life of this outward ‘ world ; and to the Heavenly and Divine Life, ‘ “ thou wilt in that day surely die.” But these counsels of Infinite Love and Wisdom being despised, Adam incurred the dreadful consequences of perverted desire ; and such as he became, such are his wretched offspring.

The full power of earthly good and evil now took place in man : he now found himself the slave of all the elements, in which were storms, tempests, earthquakes, and all manner of strife and contrariety ; subject to heat and cold ; to fear, sorrow, and disquiet ; to sickness, pain, and death ! The Birth of the SON OF GOD, Who is “ the Brightness of the Father’s glory, and the express Image of his Person,” and the proceeding operation and influence of the HOLY SPIRIT, were now departed from his soul ; and being thus broken off and alienated from the Life and Light of GOD, he retired into his dark Self as his center and circumference, desiring, seeking, and enjoying only the gratifications of animal and sensual life.

The elements of this fallen nature are a restless Selfishness, a restless Pride, a restless Envy, and a restless Wrath ; corresponding to the disordered elements of outward nature, and, like them, subsisting in such inseparable union, as to be the reciprocal cause of each other. These are also the elements of the fallen angels, and constitute the hell in which they live : and that man is not now fully sensible of the torment they produce, is, because their operation and effects are suspended and softened by the transient good that is found in temporary nature ; the variety and beauty of material objects that are perpetually engaging his senses, the warmth and activity of the blood and animal spirits, and the influence of firmamental light and heat.

But are there no instances, even now, of such an operation of these elements as is next to intolerable? Has Pride never swoln so high, that the brain has been turned, and the heart ready to burst? has the tooth of Envy never been so keen, as to devour in the breast which cherishes that monster, all the endowments of nature, and even all the gifts of Grace? Has Wrath never been so violent, as to shake the human frame almost into dissolution? Has the pressure of some great evil never driven men, not only to wish but to seek for death? Have not many, when the blood has languished in their veins, and a cloudy atmosphere hung over their heads, felt an uneasiness, a dejection, a horror of spirit, that could not be removed, till animal vigour returned, and nature wore a more chearful face? And do we not all perpetually desire to be in a state in which we are not, perpetually seek after something which we do not possess?

But the coverture of this outward world must soon be removed; the light of the firmament will be extinguished; the beauty and variety of material objects will be lost in undistinguished ruin; the course of the blood and spirits will be stopped; the dream of life will be over! And then, what can conceal the reality, or alleviate the torment of that hell, which an immortal spirit, that has obstinately rejected its only possible Redemption, must feel, in the powerful uncontrolled workings of its own Selfishness, Pride, Envy, and Wrath?

I have been thus particular in shewing, by the concurrent opinions of antient philosophy, the declarations of the Oracles of GOD, and the testimony of sad experience, what is the cause, the nature, and depth of the evil that is in man; that we may be the more perfectly convinced of the nature and necessity of that Redemption, which DIVINE LOVE has provided for it.

True as it appears to be, that the foundations of hell are laid in the essences of fallen nature; it is equally true, that there the foundations of Heaven also are deeply and firmly established. In all this blackness and horreur of darkness, there is “a Light that lighteth every soul that cometh into the world:” In the the depth of this foil of corruption, there is sown “an Incorruptible Seed of the Eternal Word!” and that BLESSED SPIRIT, whose breath must carry on its life, the COMFORTER, who has a remedy for all this distress, is now among us “with healing in his wings.” He requires only, that “those who sleep, should awake and rise from the dead,” to seek after Him alone, and depend solely upon Him, “and He will give them life and peace.” This is the Relief He is sent to administer; and this the Concurrence required on our part, to render that relief effectual; the more particular consideration of which, must be reserved for another discourse.

In the mean time, let not that Selfishness and Pride, which are so great a part of the root of all our misery; let not amusement or business, the cares or pleasures of this animal and sensual, this unsatisfying and perishing life; hinder us from searching to the lowest depths of human corruption; that we may so truly see its deformity, and so sensibly feel its burthen, as to apply most earnestly to CHRIST, for that Beauty of Holiness, and that Immortality of Rest, which He alone can give. ‘ If we used but half the pains to ‘ discover the evil that is hidden in us, as we ‘ do to hide the appearance of it from others ; ‘ we should soon find, that “ in the midst of ‘ “ our most orderly life we are in death,” ‘ and ‘ want a Saviour to make our most apparent ‘ virtues, virtuous. But sooner or later Re‘ pentance must have “ a broken and a contrite ‘ “ heart :” we must, with our Blessed LORD, ‘ go over Cedron, and with Him sweat great ‘ drops of sorrow, before He can say for us, ‘ as He said for Himself, “ IT IS FI-‘ NISHED !”

We have, however, the consolation to know, that when we sincerely and ardently engage in this great business of Redemption, “ all things will work together” for our support, encouragement, and success : for as soon as that becomes the living desire and purpose of the heart, “ all things are ours ; whether “ the world, or life, or death, or things pre- “ sent, or things to come—all are ours ; and we “ are CHRIST’S ; and CHRIST is GOD’S !
 Therefore, “ let us bow our knees unto the Fa- “ ther of our Lord JESUS CHRIST, of Whom “ the whole Family in heaven and earth is named ;
 “ that He would grant us, according to the riches “ of his glory, to be strengthened with might by

“ HIS

“ HIS SPIRIT in the Inner Man: that “ CHRIST may dwell in our hearts by faith; “ that being rooted and grounded in LOVE, we “ maybe able to comprehend, with all saints, what “ is the breadth and length, and depth and height, “ and to know THE LOVE OF CHRIST, which “ passeth knowledge, that we may be FILLED “ WITH ALL THE FULNESS OF GOD!”

“ Now unto HIM that is able to do exceeding “ abundantly above all that we can ask or think, “ according to the Power that worketh in us;
“ unto HIM be glory in the Church by CHRIST “ JESUS, throughout all ages world without “ end! Amen.”

THE HOLY GHOST:

From JOHN XIV. 15, 16, 17, 20.

DISCOURSE III.

JOHN XIV. 15, 16, 17, 20.

“ IF YE LOVE ME, KEEP MY COM-“ MANDMENTS: AND I WILL “ PRAY THE FATHER, AND HE
“ COMFORTER, THAT HE MAY “ ABIDE WITH YOU FOR EVER ;
“ KNOW, THAT I AM IN MY FA-“ THER, AND YOU IN ME, AND “ I IN YOU.”

THE researches of philosophy, with all the light of tradition, did but imperfectly discover, what the doctrines of REVELATION have fully made known, man's great original, and the greatness of his fall. And further than the discovery of a state of sin and misery, that could not possibly be the Primitive State of man, the labours of the most improved philosophy were not able to go : the repeated inquiries of arrogant reason, have never led the mind to an Effectual Redemp-

Redemption from the Power of that Evil, which was notwithstanding acknowledged to be universal, irresistible, and deadly. Hence the various forms of superstitious worship paid to an “Unknown God,” that in all ages have overspread the world: the sense of guilt, and the sense of misery as the concomitant of guilt, was too great a torment for the mind to bear, without the hope of some Relief from a Superiour Power; and stocks and stones, beasts and devils, have been adored as the dispensers of riches, honour, pleasure, life, health, and peace; and propitiated with such impure and cruel rites, as, instead of exalting, debase the understanding and the heart of man, and of themselves furnish a melancholy and convincing proof of the extream degeneracy and corruption of his nature.

But “the Day-spring from on high” having overcome the long night of “darkness,” and dispelled “the shadows of death” that covered the whole earth, “THE GREAT MYSTERY OF GODLINESS, which,” as St. Paul observes, “was kept secret since the world began,” stands fully revealed; and by

by “the Manifestation of GOD in the flesh,” we not only know the nature of the evil that possesses the human soul, but the possibility and reality of a Redemption from it.

Man, by the loss of the Divine Life, lost the Birth of THE SON OF GOD, “the Brightness of the Father’s Glory ;” and of “THE SPIRIT that proceedeth from the Father and the Son.” He had now only an unperishable fiery life, subsisting in the elements of Selfishness, Pride, Envy, and Wrath : such as is the life of the fallen angels, with whose nature he had entered into communion, and of whose kingdom he was become the subject ; and such as must necessarily be the life of all spirits, that are separated from the Light and Love of GOD.

From the darkness, fire, and torment of this life, it was not in the power of man to redeem himself ; it was not in the power of the highest order of Angels to redeem him ; nor have the Divine Power, Wisdom, and Goodness, proposed any other way to redeem him, but by “the Regeneration of the Life “ that

“ that was lost,” — the Restoration of the Birth of “ THE SON OF GOD in his soul, and “ the Renewing of THE HOLY GHOST.”

But no power could renew this Birth, except that by which it was first generated: if THE SON OF GOD had not taken upon Him the fallen nature of man, and overcome its evil by his Life, Sufferings, Death, and Resurrection; if the THE HOLY GHOST had not descended into its darkness and impurity; the soul could never have recovered the Divine Image of FATHER SON AND SPIRIT, in which it was originally made. Therefore, “ before the formation of this world,” when man’s fall was foreseen, “ he was chosen to Salvation in JESUS CHRIST:” and after he had fallen, the foundation of his Recovery was laid, in an implanted “ Incorruptible Seed of the Eternal Word;” a principle of enmity and opposition to “ the seed of the serpent,” that was eventually “ to bruise his head;” to destroy his whole dominion, by crushing the vital part, the seat of spirit, activity, and power.

From

From this Divine principle, man derived his ability of turning to GOD in penitence and faith, obedience and love ; and finding again, in Him, the Life, Light, and Happiness of his first state of being : this was his pledge of immortal peace, the foundation of the Kingdom of Heaven restored in his soul. And the same ability that with such Free Grace and Love was communicated to Adam, is transmitted to all his descendents : so that no human soul is without a Redeemer ; none can be finally lost, and entirely subdued by the evil which the fall has introduced, but by voluntarily turning from the SAVIOUR within him ; by “ resisting, grieving, “ and quenching THE SPIRIT OF GOD,” and giving himself up to the influence of his own dark, wrathful, diabolical nature.

The mystery of Redemption and Salvation through the Power of this generative seed of the New Birth, from the time of its declaration under the character of a “ Bruiser of the serpent’s head,” was gradually unfolded by various types and shadows, prophecies and ordinances, till its final and perfect manifestation in the personal ministry of the Great IMMANUEL, "GOD dwell- ing in the flesh," and "the Effusion of the "HOLY GHOST: and in this interval, all the small portion of Godliness, Truth, and Holiness, that was to be found among the children of men, was the fruit of this Vital Principle, this Seed of the Birth of Heaven in the soul. This, as the Divine Nature with which alone THE SPIRIT of GOD could unite, was "the only Light of those that sate in darkness; the Light that lighteth every man that cometh into the world; the lamp of the LORD, the Inspiration of the "ALMIGHTY!" This was Rectitude, Wisdom, Benevolence, The Moral-Sense, and whatever other names are adopted in the disputes of human philosophy, to distinguish and characterize the principles of Holiness and Truth. Being wholly given up to This, "Abel offered a more acceptable sacrifice than Cain:" through the power of This, "Enoch obtained the honourable testimony of pleasing GOD, and was translated that he should not see death:" made faithful and obedient by This, "Abraham went out at the command of GOD, not knowing whither he went:" by This,

 "Moses

“ Moses refused to be called the son of Pharaoh’s daughter, chusing to suffer affliction with the people of GOD, than to enjoy the pleasures of sin for a season ; esteeming the reproach of CHRIST,” the Saviour within him, “ greater riches than the treasures of Egypt :” animated and sustained by This, “ numbers endured the trial of cruel mockings and scourgings, bonds, and imprisonment : they were stoned, they were sawn asunder, were tempted, were slain with the sword ; they wandered about in sheep-skins and goat-skins, being destitute, afflicted, tormented ; they wandered in deserts and on mountains, in dens and caves of the earth. All these, of whom the world was not worthy,” through the power of the Incorruptible Seed, felt and “ confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth,” a state of sin and misery unsuitable to the Divine Nature regenerated in their souls ; “ and that they sought a better, even a Heavenly country,” a state of perfect Restoration to the Image and Life of GOD.

In the fulness of time, “ THE ETERNAL WORD, by Whom all things were made, in “ Whom was Life, and Whose Life was the Light “ that had shone in the darkness of this world,” the only principle of Life and Redemption in fallen nature; “ became incarnate, and “ dwelt among men full of Grace and Truth.”

 And in this incarnation, there was a visible proof of the reality of that Perfect Union of the Divine Nature with the human, without which, the Primitive State of man's soul, as an Image of GOD, could not be restored. There was also a Perfect Example of the Regenerate Life; in which those Tempers were most resplendent, that were most opposite to Selfishness, Pride, Envy, and Wrath, the elements of fallen nature, “ the seed of the serpent,” the essence and life of hell in the soul of man !

Now was displayed a most Pure, Serene, Dispassionate Mind, unpolluted by any earthly tincture, dwelling in a body of human flesh ! A Mind, adorned with Godliness, Patience, Temperance, Meekness, Humility, and Universal Love ! most abstracted from the vanities of time, that perish as they rise ; and immoveably intent upon the permanent interests of Eternity ! inflexible

ible by the allurements of sense! full of Love to a wretched, sinful world; compassionate to its calamities, unprovoked by its sharpest injuries! bent upon doing the greatest good, and prepared to suffer every evil!

Here was a state of entire Devotedness to GOD, of the most absolute and perfect Subjection of the human will to the Divine. Here was a constant pursuit, not of man's glory, but GOD's; a desire to live perpetually in His Presence, and to enjoy perpetual Communion with Him. Here men were shewn, what it was to be afflicted and patient, to be offended and do good, to be injured and forgive: what it was to live in a tumultuous world, and be at peace within; to dwell on earth, and "have their conversation in Heaven." Here was manifested the Power of Resignation to deliver from the tyranny of Self-will; the Power of Meekness to overcome Wrath; the Power of Humility to subdue Pride; the Power of Universal Love to suppress the malignant fire of Envy. Here was, indeed, an entire conquest over every enemy of GOD and man—the world, the flesh, and the Devil.

IN JESUS CHRIST is that Perfect Life, which shews “the Brightness of the Father’s Glory, the Image of the Blessed” “GOD,” once more impressed upon human nature! And THIS LIFE, under the continual influences of the HOLY SPIRIT, is renewed and perfected in all, wherever they are placed, that, in contrition, faith, and hope, turn the desire of their heart from the sinful life of Self, to GOD. “Look,” therefore, “unto HIM, and be saved, all” “the ends of the earth!” He alone, not as an outward teacher, but as an internal principle of Holiness and Truth, delivers man from the realms of darkness, and the slavery of sin! He alone redeems, renews, and restores the Life of GOD in the essences of his soul!

Indeed, all the doctrines and duties of the Gospel terminate in this truth — that “the Manifestation of the Nature Life and Spirit of CHRIST in the soul, is the only Redemption and Salvation of fallen man.” For this end we are told, that we must “put on CHRIST ;” that, “without Him, we can do nothing, and have no Life in us ;” that “He is our Way, our Truth, our Life ;” that “He must be formed within us ;” that “we derive Life from Him, as the branches derive life from the vine ;” that “we must eat his Flesh, and drink His Blood ;” that “His Blood alone cleanseth us from all sin ;” that, “unless we have His Spirit, we are none of His ;”

and that being thus within us, as the generative principle of a Renewed Spiritual Life, “He is our Justification and Atonement, our Wisdom and Righteousness, our Sanctification and Redemption.” As a progression of Life from its first principle to its mature state, we are told, not only of “an Incorruptible Seed of the WORD, a Seed of GOD,” and “a Birth of GOD” ; but of “Babes in CHRIST ;” of a “Man in CHRIST ;” and of “the measure of the the stature of the Fulness of CHRIST,” as the height of final perfection. We are also told of “a New Inward and Spiritual Man, born of an Incorruptible Seed, born of the SPIRIT, born from Above, and the Child of GOD ;” and of “an Old Natural Man” of this outward world, “born

“ of the Earth, born of Flesh and Blood, born from Below, and the Child of the Devil:” and that in the “ perpetual enmity” between these two natures, consist the whole exercise, trial, and warfare of the Christian Life.

What an awful composition is man ; in whom the seeds of good and evil are so deeply implanted, and so constantly generating, that every motion of his soul is a step towards Life or Death, towards Heaven or Hell ! From “ the Old Nature” within him, born of the First Adam, and controlled by the reasoning, doubting, and disputing spirit of his astral life, proceed Selfishness, Pride, Envy, and Wrath ; the love of the world ; and the restless and insatiable appetite of sensual pleasure : from “ the New Nature,” born of the Second Adam, and guided and governed by the continual influences of THE HOLY GHOST, arise the most absolute Resignation of himself, his spirit, will, life, and state, to the Will of GOD ; Humility, Meekness, and Universal Charity ; a Supreme Love of GOD ; and a Love of all besides, only in subordination to Him, and for His Sake ;

a perpetual uniform and calm desire after the Divine Presence, and the most intimate Communion with FATHER, SON, AND HOLY SPIRIT!

Such is the evil that is in man, and such the Power of his Redemption from it; such the disease, and such the Sovereign Remedy! And the same Divine Principle that generates his New Nature as the cure of all the evil subsisting in the old, generates also the power of its application: man cannot produce this power in himself; his Call to Life is made without the concurrence of his will; and all his ability, as possessed of freedom of will, to render the Call effectual, consists in his Resignation to it; in chusing to turn from the darkness and impurity of his own evil nature, and depend solely upon the illuminating and sanctifying Operation of the REDEEMING GOD within him. “The WORD, O man! is very nigh unto thee; in thy mouth, and in thine heart.” “Behold,” in the two natures that are at strife within thee, “I have set before thee good and evil, a blessing and a curse, Life and Death!” “Therefore, chuse Life.” But the choice being being made, Life or Death will be the worker of all that succeeds.

This Call, as every heart must have experienced, is frequently repeated, where it is frequently neglected or resisted : and if it is not continually neglected by vanity and sensual pleasure, or obstinately resisted by malignant pride, the Power in which it is made, will produce gradual exercises and habits of Repentance and Faith, Obedience and Love ; a gradual opposition to the influence of the present state ; and a gradual victory over the will, passions, and appetites ; of the corrupt, animal, rational man of this outward world : for the New Nature can only live, and grow, and wax strong, upon the weakness, decay, and death of the old.

What the particular properties of true Faith and Repentance are, which, in general, include a full conviction and painful sense of the evil and burthen of sinful nature, and an ardent application to CHRIST and firm dependence upon Him, as the Saviour and Deliverer from it ; what that opposition to the world, and that mortification and denial denial of the will appetites and passions of this nature, which effectual Redemption makes necessary; there will here be no opportunity to explain. But as these subjects relate to the highest interest of man, the awful Alternative of Life or Death; to that alone, which ought to be the chief object of all his thinking and active faculties, and the chief employment of his time; the consideration of them cannot be too frequently renewed, nor too forcibly impressed.

With respect, however, to those precepts of CHRIST, that enjoin the perpetual denial of the human will, and of all the appetites and passions of fallen nature, it may now be observed, that they are absolute and peremptory; and not to be softened and accommodated to our particular situation, humour, or complexion. He that seriously considers, what it is to “bate father, and”
 “mother, and son, and brother, nay, and his own” “*life, for the sake of CHRIST,” what it is,
 to

* “ This precept is directed against the tempers and “ affections of fallen nature; the best of which are corrupt “ and imperfect, and the effect of a blind SELF-LOVE, “ full of that weakness and partiality with which men to “ love his enemies, and do good to those that hate him and do him evil;” will find, that the self denial which Christian Redemption requires of the Natural Man, is at least equal to the “ cutting-off a right hand, and plucking-out a right eye.”

The precept of the Renunciation of the World also, considered either as a distinct precept from those above mentioned, or as one that implies them all, is equally absolute and peremptory, and founded on the state of the world itself; which subsists only in discordant elements, and has the seeds of dissolution in its own evil. Man was not originally made for it: he has fallen into it, only because he has sinned; because his soul has lost its first Divine Life, and is distempered and impaired. It stands, therefore, in no other relation to him, than as a state of discipline and purification; and all his “ love, honour, esteem, and cleave to themselves. All “ love of father, mother, son, and brother, that proceeds “ from this principle, is here required to be given up, “ which, according to the gross opinions of the world, “ would be hatred; and we must love them with a Love “ born of GOD; with such a Love, and on such motives, “ as CHRIST hath loved us.

business in it, is to be restored to Spiritual Life and Strength; to be delivered from the malignity of his disorders, and made fit to leave it.

But true as this is, the world holds an universal dominion over the heart of man; and he lives in it, as if it was his original and final state. Under the pressure and keen sense of its numerous evils, which are renewed with the light of every day, we form an ARTIFICIAL LIFE, to the amusements and vanities, the cares and business of which, we resign our immortal spirits so absolutely, that they become not only unwilling and unable to regain their first Divine Life, but utterly ignorant that such a recovery is necessary. Review the scene of MAN'S REDEMPTION—how awfully interesting! how full of Grace and Glory in all its parts! Its plan, worthy the counsels of Infinite Wisdom, the suggestions of Infinite Love! The execution of that plan, worthy the Personal Interposition of GOD'S SON, the Constant Ministration of GOD'S SPIRIT! A subject of perpetual wonder and adoration, joy and praise, among the innu-

innumerable hosts of Pure Spirits, that fill the expanse of Heaven! A subject of amazement and horreur, indignation and wrath, to Fallen and Malignant Spirits, who feel the redoubled rage of their own hell in the approaching dissolution of their power! The great motive, reason, and end, of the temporary state of this planetary system, and the renovation to which it is hastening! A design, indeed, that, in its beginning, progress, and accomplishment, engages the whole universe of spiritual and material nature, from the GREAT AUTHOR of nature, the Source of all Life, Light, and Love, to the sun, moon, stars, the earth, and hell itself! And man — man, for whose Recovery from everlasting evil this stupendous business is transacting—man, alone, is insensible to all its operations; and eats and drinks, and sleeps and wakes, and laughs and trifles, and sins — and dies!

At such a state of mind, it may justly be exclaimed, with St. Paul, “ O foolish men!
 “ who hath bewitched you, that you should not “ obey the Truth; before whose eyes JESUS “ CHRIST hath been evidently set forth, cru- cified

“cified among you?” And truly may it be answered, in the words of the same Divine Preacher, “THE GOD OF THIS WORLD “bath blinded their minds, lest the Light of “the glorious Gospel of CHRIST, Who is the “Image of the Eternal GOD, should shine “unto them.” And if the experience of every mind proves this to be the power of the world and its Malignant God, then, surely, no jealousy of their influence can be thought too injurious, no opposition too resolute, no vigilance over our own hearts too active. We are told, that “the love of the world is “Enmity against GOD;” and Enmity to GOD, must be death to the soul. We ought, therefore, to keep in continual remembrance this solemn warning given by St. Peter, and the inference he draws from it: “The Day of the LORD will come as a “thief in the night; in the which, the hea- “vens shall pass away with a great noise, “and the elements shall melt with fervent “heat; the earth also, and the works that “are therein, shall be burnt up. Seeing then,
 “that all these things”—these things which we look upon with such delight and confidence, as the stability and happiness of life

life—“ seeing that all shall be dissolved; what “ manner of persons ought we to be, in all “ holy conversation and godliness; looking, “ according to the promise of GOD, for New “ Heavens, and a New Earth, wherein dwell“ eth righteousness?”

It is only by Repentance and Faith, Obedience and Love, Subjection of the will, and Opposition to the world and animal nature, that we can, “ keep the commandments “ of CHRIST, take up our daily crosses, and “ FOLLOW HIM IN THE REGENERATION:” for follow Him here we must, as the only way in which we can find Truth and obtain Life: and as far as our state will admit, our whole course must be a Conformity to the Temper and Spirit, the Sufferings and Death of that DIVINE SAVIOUR, “ Who took our nature upon Him, to be our “ Atonement; and suffered and died, leaving “ us an Example that we should follow His “ Steps.”

As in this course we must not be discouraged by imperfection, so neither must we presume upon success; nor desire, nor labour

bour, nor pretend to have strong convictions and assurances of the safety and immutability of our state. We not only despise others, but neglect ourselves, through the pride of singular attainments, which we are always disposed to imagine much greater than they are. But spiritual pride is more diabolical, more dangerous and deadly than carnal; and all pride, of whatever kind, must be torn up by the roots; for HUMILITY is so essential a quality of the New Nature, that, without it, it can have no life. Humility, the deepest Humility only, is suitable to the state of those, who are required to “work out their own salvation with Fear and Trembling; because it is GOD that worketh in them, both to will and to do of His Own good pleasure.”

“What we are to suffer, when the deepest root of evil is taken from our souls, and at what time that awful purification is to be made; it is impossible for us to know.” It is sufficient for all the purposes of Grace and Glory, if we know, that our hearts are constantly turned to GOD IN CHRIST JESUS, as the Au-

thour and Giver of All the Truth and Goodness that can possibly be manifested in them; and if, under the power of this conviction, we give up our will to His, and surrender our whole state present and future to the disposals of His Wisdom and Love.

Amidst the innumerable doubts and disputations of carnal minds, that have spread darkness over the Truths of the Blessed Gospel, and added fuel to the fire of man's wrath; these two points are certain and incontrovertible — that “it is only by the “ Continual Operation of THE SPIRIT OF “ GOD, that the Regenerate Life can be “ carried on and perfected; and that the “ Regenerate Life and our Supreme Happiness, are involved in each other, and “ go on together in mutual progression.” For the Regenerate Life is a gradual Release from the Darkness, Impurity, Selfishness, Pride, and Malignity of Fallen Nature; and a gradual Restoration to the Light, the Humility, the Meekness, the Love, the Peace Order and Harmony of our First State in GOD — a State, in which we shall “KNOW,” that “THE SON AND

The state of fallen nature, and the power of Restoring Grace ; the immutable Contrariety, and irreconcilable Enmity of the carnal mind to the spiritual ; the necessity of Sufferings to the Perfection of Redeemed Souls, who are to be “ conformed to the Image “ of CHRIST ;” and their safety and happiness in the Power and Love of GOD through Him ; are summarily mentioned by St. Paul in the eighth chapter of his Epistle to the Romans, which is highly worthy of our serious and frequent meditation, and with part of which I shall conclude this discourse.

“ There is, therefore, now no condemnation “ to them that are in CHRIST JESUS, “ who walk, not after the flesh, but after the “ SPIRIT. For they that walk after the “ flesh, cannot please GOD ; because the

DISCOURSE IV.

ON CHRISTIAN LIBERALITY; APPLIED TO THE RECOMMEN-DATION OF A PUBLIC CHARITY:

From MATTHEW xxv. 40.

DISCOURSE IV.

MATTHEW xxv. 40.

INASMUCH AS YE HAVE DONE IT UNTO ONE OF THE LEAST OF THESE MY BRETHREN, YE HAVE DONE IT UNTO ME.

LIBERALITY, however often deduced from mistaken principles, and restrained and weakened in practice, is a duty of singular importance in the Christian Life. It implies in it the exercise of many virtues : it is an act of that True Faith, which converts the soul to GOD ; an expression of that Exalted Hope, which has placed all its dependence on Divine Goodness, and seeks its treasures in Heaven ; and one character of that “ Charity, which is the Bond of Perfection,” and the only principle of an Everlasting Life of Light, Purity, Peace, and Blessedness.

Under the Jewish law, that dispensation of childhood, discipline, and fear, when men were only taught the rudiments of perfection, and the infinite obligations which

which Christians are under to acquire a Divine Nature and Life were not known ; unbounded Liberality was notwithstanding indispensibly enjoined, as the true means of alleviating those painful distinctions of high and low, rich and poor, mine and thine, which selfishness, the parent of the first and all other sin, had introduced and established. That Holy Providence which is perpetually bringing forth good out of human evil, tho' it permitted the distinctions of wealth and poverty to continue among men, yet made them the ground of mutual connexion and dependence, and a motive for exercising various holy and benevolent tempers and actions, both with respect to GOD and to each other. Thus, in the impartial estimation of Divine Wisdom and Goodness, the rich being considered as the treasurers and stewards of the poor, the honour of dispensation was conferred on one as a tie to fidelity, and the right of enjoyment given to the other as a security from want : the privilege of attaining the reward of benignity and equal distribution, was granted to the rich ; the glory of the great prize of patience, tience, peacefulness, and moderation, reserved for the poor.

In the many awful rebukes and admonitions, therefore, given to the perverse and untractable descendents of Abraham, this Liberality is considered as an evidence of true repentance and conversion to GOD; and proceeding from that principle, as the means of obtaining remission and forgiveness. “To what purpose is the multitude of your sacrifices unto me, saith the LORD? Bring no more vain oblations; they are a trouble to me, I am weary to bear them. When ye spread forth your hands, I will hide mine eyes; when ye make many prayers, I will not bear: your hands are full of blood;” full of rigour, oppression, and cruelty! “Wash ye, therefore, make ye clean: cease to do evil; learn to do well; seek judgment, relieve the oppressed, regard the condition of the fatherless, plead the distresses of the widow. Then, tho’ your sins are as scarlet, they shall be white as snow.” Upon the same principle, the wise Daniel exhorts his relenting tyrant Nebuchadnezzar, to “break off his sins by righteousness, and his “ iniquities

“ iniquities by shewing mercy to the poor.”
 So, when the dark and degenerate people, smarting under the rod of disobedience, and hoping to suspend it by superstitious rights and solemn outward acts of humiliation and sorrow, thus expostulate with GOD — “ Wherefore have we fasted, and Thou seest “ not? wherefore have we afflicted our souls, “ and Thou takest no knowledge?” They are answered — “ Behold, in the day of your fast, “ you find pleasure, and exact all your labours!
 “ Is it such a fast as I have chosen? a day for “ a man to afflict his soul? Is not This the “ fast that I have chosen—to loose the bands “ of wickedness, to undo the heavy burthens, “ and to let the oppressed go free, and that ye “ break EVERY YOKE? Is it not, to deal “ thy bread to the hungry; and that thou “ bring the poor that are cast out, into thy “ house? when thou seest the naked, that “ thou cover him; and that thou hide not thy- “ self from thine own flesh—” thy brother, by the ties of nature, and more eminently by the obligations and endearments of Grace; and tho’ kept low by thy criminal selfishness, yet, in the judgment of Heaven, and in connexion with eternity, equal in every respect with

with thyself? “ Then shalt thou call, and the “ LORD shall answer thee; then shalt thou “ cry, and He shall say, Here I am. If thou “ take away from the midst of thee, the yoke; “ if thou draw out thy soul to the hungry, “ and satisfy the afflicted soul; then shall thy “ light rise in obscurity, and thy darkness be “ as the noon-day.” So also, tho’ upon a different occasion, when the Equity of the Divine Government was to be asserted, and that blasphemous proverb, “ The Fathers “ have eaten sour grapes, and the childrens “ teeth are set on edge,” was to be condemned and exploded; the sacred offices of Kindness, Compassion, Liberality, and Mercy, are still held up as the great marks of distinction between the evil and the good:
“ As I live, saith the LORD GOD, ye shall “ not have occasion any more to use this pro“ verb in Israel. Behold, all souls are mine; “ as the soul of the father, so also the soul of “ the son is mine: the soul that sinneth, it “ shall die. Now, if the iniquitous father “ beget a son, that seeth all the sins which he “ hath done, and considereth, and doeth not “ such like; that hath not oppressed any, hath “ not withholden the pledge, neither hath “ spoiled

“ spoiled by violence, but hath given his bread “ to the hungry, and hath covered the naked “ with a garment ; that hath taken off his “ band from the poor, that hath not received “ usury nor increase ; but hath executed my “ judgments, hath walked in my statutes : he “ shall not die for the iniquity of his father ; “ he shall surely live. As for his father, be- “ cause he cruelly oppressed, spoiled his brother “ by violence, and did that which is not good “ among his people ; lo, even he shall die in his “ iniquity.” From these, and many other passages in the Prophetical books, that breathe the same Divine Spirit, it is abundantly evident, that the great and invariable design of REDEEMING LOVE, is to alleviate and gradually remove the painful and injurious inequalities of human life, and all other evils and disorders that are born of sin : and that as a concurrence with this design on the part of man, is an evidence of repentance and faith, and the ground of Divine favour ; so an opposition to it, is equally an evidence of obduracy and infidelity, and the ground of Divine displeasure.

In the Christian dispensation, this gracious design is fully made known, and universally professed; the duty of concurrence with it, is indispensibly required as necessary to effectual Redemption; and the motives and obligations to that duty, represented to be as permanent as the human soul and the happiness of heaven, as infinite as the Divine Nature itself.

The fundamental law of Christianity is LOVE: "THOU SHALT LOVE THE " LORD THY GOD WITH ALL THY
 " HEART, WITH ALL THY SOUL, " WITH ALL THY MIND, AND WITH
 " ALL THY STRENGTH; AND THY
 " NEIGHBOUR AS THYSELF." To this, the temper of every spirit is to be conformed; by this, the actions of every life are to be regulated. And if we always had recourse to this plain and unerring rule, which lies not in the head but in the heart, we should always know what was proper to be done, and what was improperly omitted; particularly, we should be able to judge aright, concerning all appropriations of wealth to our own separate and personal use.

This

This is the DIVINE CHARITY, that is the end and perfection of faith and hope; and, when faith is lost in vision, and hope in enjoyment, will remain for ever as the Eternal Principle of Life and Light. Without this Charity, it is possible to assume an appearance of Liberality; as when St. Paul, speaking of it negatively, says, “tho’ I give all my goods to feed the poor, and have not Charity, it profiteth me nothing: but without Liberality, this Charity cannot possibly subsist. All Christians, therefore, being supposed to have devoted their hearts to the pure and perfect LOVE OF GOD AND THEIR NEIGHBOUR, which are inseparably connected; are required to give continual demonstrations of that Love, in the continual exercise of Meekness, Humility, Patience, Kindness, Liberality, and Mercy: “for whoſo hath this world’s goods,” says St. John, “and ſeeth his brother have need, and ſhutteth up his bowels of compaſſion from him, how dwelleth THE LOVE OF GOD in him?” The ſame Divine Apoſtle alſo, with the ſame power of demonſtration ſays, “he that loveth not his brother, whom he hath ſeen; how can he love GOD, whom

“ he

“ he hath not seen?” And again he says, “ We know,” we, who are the Redeemed of CHRIST, know, with the highest certainty, “ that we have passed from death to life—because we love the brethren: he that loveth not his brother, abideth in death.”

The Holy Baptist, who had separated himself from the world, the more worthily to introduce that GOSPEL, which was intended to “ overcome the world” in all its power of “ the lust of the eye, the lust of the flesh, and the pride of life,” to which riches are the chief ministers; tells the notorious sinners who enquired what were the qualifications of his baptism of repentance, that the painful and injurious inequalities of human life were now to be removed by LOVE and its benignant exercises; and “ he that had two coats, should impart to him who had none; and he that had meat, was to do likewise.”

When THE SON OF GOD appeared in the ministry of Redemption in a human form, the call, to exchange an earthly for a heavenly life, was universal and absolute;

G admitting admitting no limitations for the different conditions subsisting among men, no exceptions on account either of the wants and cares or the abundance and pleasures of the world. But as the restraints upon the heart that keep it chained down to an animal and sensual life, are less numerous and forcible in a state of poverty than a state of wealth; those who put their confidence in riches, whether as possessing or coveting to possess them, are told the utter impossibility of "*servi*ng GOD and mammon" at the same time; and are particularly exhorted to "place all their treasures in Heaven," for this plain reason founded in nature and confirmed by experience, that "where the treasure is, there will the heart be also." And as there is no possibility of transferring earthly treasures to Heaven, but by the freest spirit and the most extensive acts of liberality and bounty, the rich are required to "give to every one that asketh; to lend, hoping for nothing again; to be ready to distribute, willing to communicate;" to have a spirit of compassion continually watchful and attentive to the rising wants and distresses of their fellow-creatures, and a hand

of bounty continually open either to prevent or remove them.

But further: POVERTY OF SPIRIT, which stands at the head of those qualifications for Beatitude, that are recited in the solemn introduction to the Divine sermon on the mount; is so essential a title to the inheritance of the Kingdom of Heaven, that without it no claim will be sufficient. By this temper all Christians are placed so much upon a level, that no peculiarity of outward condition is an exemption from the exercise of it. With respect to riches, therefore, it implies a total renunciation of such a possession of them, as is inconsistent with the “LOVING GOD WITH ALL OUR HEART, SOUL, MIND, AND STRENGTH; AND OUR NEIGHBOUR AS OURSELVES;” and what that is, it is in no case difficult to determine.

The want of this temper, and the appropriation of wealth to self-possession and self-enjoyment, is the ground of all the woes denounced against rich men in the Gospel.

“Go to, now, ye rich men; howl and weep

“ for the miseries that shall come upon you : “ your gold and silver is cankered, and the “ rust of them shall be a witness against you, “ and shall eat your flesh as with fire ! Be“ hold,” together with your acts of injustice and cruelty, “ ye have lived in pleasure “ upon earth and been wanton ! Wo unto “ you, rich men, for you have received your “ consolation ! Wo unto you that are full, “ for ye shall hunger ; wo unto you “ that laugh now, for ye shall weep and “ mourn !” The parable of Dives and Lazarus is particularly intended to shew the impossibility of enjoying mammon on earth, and GOD in Heaven : a rich man, appropriating the possession and enjoying the luxury of riches, is, for that reason, found “ in torments ;” a beggar, patiently bearing wretchedness and want, is, for that reason, made “ the care of Angels,” and conducted to “ Abraham’s bosom.”

But this appropriation of wealth to self-possession and self-enjoyment, is also able to destroy the efficacy of many virtues. “ The “ rich young man,” who was so eager to “ know the way to Eternal Life,” that he “ came running to JESUS,” and asked the question

question upon his knees; put in his claim so far as to say, when the chief articles of the moral law had been repeated to him, “ Master, all these have I observed from my youth. Then JESUS beholding him, loved him: and said unto him, One thing thou lackest; go thy way, and sell all that thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in Heaven; and come, take up thy cross, and follow me. And the young man was sad at that saying, and went away grieved, for he had great possessions.” The inference which our Blessed REDEEMER makes from this incident, must surely alarm every heart, and put us upon examining, with the strictest impartiality, whether the spirit with which we possess the perishing riches of the world, exposes us to the same difficulty of admission to Eternal Life with the rich young man, who had, perhaps, many more virtues than we possess, to encourage his hopes and recommend him to the “ Love of JESUS:” “ How hardly,” says He, “ shall they that have riches enter into the Kingdom of GOD! And again I say to you, it is easier for a camel to go thro’ the eye of a needle, than for a rich man to enter into the Kingdom of GOD.”

The words, “sell all that thou hast,” are used only as a form of speech; as such a general way of expressing the parting with the self-enjoyment of wealth, as “putting on sackcloth and ashes” is of expressing repentance. He, therefore, may be said to “sell all that he hath,” who so far parts with the self-possession and self-enjoyment of wealth, as to consecrate it to that GOD, Whom he is bound to “LOVE WITH ALL HIS HEART, SOUL, MIND, AND STRENGTH;” and make it the support, in all troubles and necessities, of that NEIGHBOUR, whom he is bound to “LOVE AS HIMSELF.”

But that none may think themselves exempted from these obligations, that are not quite so rich as the selfish young man in the Gospel, who is said to have “great possessions;” let it be considered, that the same Liberality and the same Poverty, are required “in spirit” of every man equally, tho’ the outward situation and the suitable acts by which that spirit is manifested, may be unequal: and, however we may deceive ourselves by flattering excuses, GOD perfectly fectly knows, whether our bounty is at any time restrained by the want of spirit or the want of ability, and will judge us accordingly. Every one who has any thing to spare after the necessaries of food and raiment are supplied, is bound to be as “poor” “in spirit” with respect to the superfluity, small as it may be, and as liberal in the communication of it, as he that has “great possessions.” Thus, in the church at Ephesus, those who tho’ they were relieved out of the common stock, yet chose to support idleness by theft, were exhorted by St. Paul to “steal no more; but rather to labour, working with their own hands the thing which is good—” not merely for their own sakes, not for the indulgence of vanity, luxury, and pride; but for this great and God-like purpose, “that they might have to give to him that needeth!” Thus, the same great Apostle says to the Corinthians concerning their charitable collections for the church at Jerusalem, “As I have given order to the churches of Galatia, so do ye: upon the first day of the week, let every one of you—” every one without exception, whatever be your different abilities and states in life, let every one “lay by him in store, as GOD “has prospered him; and when I come, “whomsoever you approve, I will send to bring “your liberality to Jerusalem.” Thus also, “when many that were rich cast much money “into the treasury, the Poor Widow who “threw in only two mites” received this honourable testimony from Him Who is THE TRUTH, that “she had cast in more “than all the rest; for they did cast in of their “abundance, but she of her want did cast in “all that she had.” Let not any one, therefore, think himself exempted from the offices of Liberality by a straitened condition. If he is in any degree raised above indigence, he is blest with the ability to “throw two “mites into the Treasury of GOD:” and if this is done at the expence of some superfluous gratification, which is to be found in almost every condition however mean, it will meet with double honour, and be accepted by our common MASTER, not only as an offering of Divine bounty, but as an act of holy self-denial.

‘ You see now to what a rational, noble, ‘ God-like life, all Christians are called.

‘ If

‘ If the Gospel directs us, to “ sell what we ‘ have, and give to the poor—” it is, because ‘ there is no other natural or reasonable use ‘ of riches, no other way of making life ‘ happier for them ; it is, because it is as ‘ strictly right to give others that which we ‘ do not want ourselves, as it is right to use ‘ so much as our own wants require. If a ‘ man has more food than his own nature ‘ demands, how base and unreasonable is it, ‘ to invent foolish ways of wasting it, and ‘ make sport for his own full belly, rather ‘ than let his fellow-creature have the same ‘ comfort from food which he hath had !
 ‘ It is so far, therefore, from being a severe ‘ law of religion, to make this use of riches ; ‘ that a reasonable man would rejoice in ‘ that religion, which teaches him to be ‘ more happy in that which he gives away, ‘ than in that which he keeps for himself ; ‘ which enables him to make the food and ‘ raiment he spares to others, greater blef‘ sings to him, than that with which he ‘ feeds and cloaths his own body.’

But in this life of sense, we are apt to estimate, not only happiness and misery, but merit

merit and demerit, honour and disgrace, by the degrees of riches and poverty, and the different states of power and dependence which they produce in the world. This false judgment, which is the offspring of the darkness and pride of corrupt nature, has such an universal influence, that I believe no heart has been entirely-free from its malignity: we must all be able to recollect, that at some time or other we have felt the power of sentiments with respect to our inferiours, especially the poor and miserable, as if they stood in the creation of GOD in a rank vastly below ourselves, and were “ little better than the beasts, that perish.” The Blessed GOD, however, “ who hath made of one blood all nations that dwell upon the face of the earth, judgeth not as man judgeth ;” but, exclusive of the degrees of devotedness to Him in fear and love, is indifferently and equally affected towards all, as their common Creator and Father, “ in Whom All live, and move, and have their being.” Hence, St. Peter could say, upon a very just and much higher occasion than the interests of this life, “ of a truth I perceive, that GOD is no respecter

“specter of persons; but in every nation,” in every place and every condition, “he that feareth GOD, and worketh righteousness, is accepted of Him.” Hence also St. Paul exhorts masters to treat their servants with gentleness, kindness, compassion, and mercy; “knowing,” says he, “that our MASTER is in Heaven, and that there is no respect of persons with Him.” And in another place he asserts this great and comfortable truth, that “there is One GOD and Father of all, who is above all, and thro’ all, and IN US ALL.” “He that is Lord of all,” says Solomon, “hath made the small and great, and careth for all alike:” and from the same principle it is justly inferred in Job, that “GOD accepteth not the persons of princes, nor regardeth the rich more than the poor; for, they are all the work of his hands.” The unequal conditions of life, therefore, are in themselves no marks either of the favour or displeasure of GOD: they may, indeed, be the means of producing both, just as they influence human conduct; being so many different paths that, by a proper or improper deportment in each, may, or may not, lead to the One Life of perfection and

and blessedness: "riches are good" only "unto him that hath no sin; and poverty is evil" only "in the mouth of the ungodly." But a state of riches, so far from being a mark of GOD's favour, is constantly represented in Scripture, as a state of great difficulty and danger, much bound to the exercise of virtue, and much exposed to the practice of vice; and in proportion as it is more allied to animal and sensual good, the greater demands of a self-denying, spiritual, and Divine temper, are made upon it. Riches are never considered as a blessing, nor promised as a blessing, but to those well-governed spirits, that, by holy discipline in the Fear and Love of GOD and the Love of man, are able to derive blessing from every condition of outward life: and rich persons, as such, are not once mentioned, but either with punishments threatened, or punishments inflicted, for the breaches of justice and humanity. The poor, on the contrary, supposing that their spirit, in meekness, humility, patience, and resignation, corresponds with their outward situation, are spoken of in innumerable places, in terms of the highest compassion and regard:

gard : GOD is stiled “ the protector, the judge, and the avenger of the poor ; He is their strength, their hope, their confidence, their deliverance, and their blessing :” and his peculiar honour and dishonour from the children of men, are declared to arise from the different acts of mercy and cruelty to the poor.

But the great motive to a Christian, not only not to despise, but always to compassionate and relieve, and even to reverence a state of poverty, is, that his REDEEMER has sanctified it by his own choice. “ He, who was in the Form of GOD, made Himself of no reputation, and took upon Him the form of a servant ; and for our sakes became poor, that we through his poverty might be rich !” He, who tho’ He has amassed so many treasures for the sustenance of life, and when He was on earth twice fed the multitude by a miraculous exertion of his power, yet sought not after food, much less the superfluities and delicacies of food, for Himself ; but counted it “ his meat and his drink, to do the will of GOD,” in continual acts of mercy and

beneficence to man! He, who made the world, “had not where to lay his head!” This is the blessed life, that can only rise from the death of all the partial and injurious appropriations of vain, selfish, sensual, proud and malignant man. This is the perfect example of that true “POVERTY OF SPIRIT,” which is so essential a part of the Christian character; which “having nothing, yet possesseth all things;” and which diffusing the corruptible riches of the world from the PURE LOVE OF GOD, and for the relief and benefit of man, receives the treasures of Heaven, and GOD Himself, in exchange!

For the same great purposes of Redeeming Love, CHRIST chose his first followers and friends, not among “the worldly-wise, the mighty, the noble, and the rich;” but among the simple, the ignorant, the despised, and the poor. And it is a circumstance that claims the constant attention of every mind, that should remove every perverse sentiment, and awaken and warm every stupid and selfish heart; not only that the decisions of the Last awful Judgment, when every every man is to receive according to his deeds, are represented as arising from acts of mercy and cruelty to the poor ; but that CHRIST has dignified them by the adoption of “ brethren ;” and, as the substitutes of His Own Gracious Person, has considered the different conduct of mankind towards them, as so many acts of mercy and cruelty to Himself. “ Inasmuch as ye have done it, or not done it, to One of the least of these my Brethren, ye have done it, or not done it, unto ME.”

I have thus endeavoured to explain the nature of Christian Liberty ; and to point out the infinite motives and obligations we are under, to the continual exercise of it both in spirit and in act. The effectual influence of such important truths, must be left to the operation of the Grace of GOD upon our hearts. They are truths, however, in which all that live now are as deeply interested, as those were to whom they were originally delivered : for Christianity neither is, nor can be subject to the revolutions of a corrupt life in this changeable and perishing world ; but is now, and ever

ever will be, the same pure, spiritual, and Divine institution, it was at first. If then we take the name of Christians, because we feel the Power of Christianity on our minds ; we must, consequently, feel some fervours of that DIVINE CHARITY, which is ever seeking after opportunities to remove evil, and communicate good. If the LOVE OF GOD did, indeed, dwell within us ; if that Holy Fire had expanded our hearts, and re-kindled the smothered and extinguished benevolence which dignified human nature before it fell ; instead of needing to be torn from the cold and deadly embraces of self-love, we should meet with ardour all such occasions of expressing a Divine affection as that which is now presented to us : but it is a standing proof of the corruption and weakness of nature, and the necessity of Grace, that man wants to be continually excited to the practice of his duty, and the pursuit of his true happiness. If “ it is more blessed to give than to receive,” a truth which CHRIST Himself has asserted, and which the experience of every good mind has confirmed, we may behold, in THESE CHILDREN, our friends and benefactors ;

whom Providence has placed in our way, to confer on us a greater Good than they can receive ; who are come hither to exalt our Virtue, to be witnesses of our Charity, to be monuments of our Love, to appear for us in the Day of Judgment, and to help us to a Blessedness infinitely greater than our bounty can bestow on them.

And need I descend from these exalted considerations, to the low motives and maxims of animal and sensual life ?

Could I suppose there were any here present, whose hearts are so darkened by the clouds of vanity, so subdued by the tyranny of self-love, that they must be roused to acts of mercy by arguments drawn only from their own outward situation, and the possibility of what may happen to themselves in the revolutions of life ; I might easily shew the slender thread, by which all earthly possessions are held : I could prove, from the history of the world, that “ riches,” indeed, “ make themselves wings, and flee away ;” and that no situation, however exalted, is secure against the designs of cunning, the injuries of violence, the rage of fire, the devourings of the deep, the fury of the skies, and the judgments of GOD on a vain, sensual, and mispent life. Then, when the gaudy scene was changed; when “laughter” “was turned to mourning, fullness to hunger,” and honour to contempt; when sickness debilitated, pain tormented, and difficulties confounded: when, after all, the vain and the sensual beheld THEIR OWN OFFSPRING friendless and unprotected; exposed to hunger, cold, and nakedness; or, to fly from these, abandoned to the direful evils of PROSTITUTION and of THEFT — I might tell them, that then the recollection of so many blessed opportunities to prevent or relieve such wretchedness in others, which they had neglected and abused, would aggravate their misery even to distraction.

But such persons as these are more properly awakened from the deadly sleep of vanity and self-love, by “the Terrours of the” “LORD;” and I would rather tell them, that “they must all appear before His” awful “Judgment-seat;” and that no argument can possibly be an excuse for withholding the blessings of Liberality from those that want and sue for them upon earth, that will not be admitted as an excuse at the Tribunal of GOD. And must not the Lady tremble with horroure at the thought of pleading there, that the fashionable expences of plays, operas, public-gardens, routs, and masquerades, or the accumulated demands of mercers, milliners, and jewellers, or an unsuccessful run at cards, had taken away all her superfluous money, and even encroached upon her husband's fortune, or injured his credit? Would the Gentleman plead his sumptuous entertainments, his splendid equipage, his spacious gardens, his magnificent furniture, his august palaces, his horses and his dogs? Would the Merchant and the Tradesman plead, the prudent industry of embarking all the gain from the last success in new undertakings, that they may either leave princely fortunes to their children, or retire from business to waste the last precious hours of life in luxurious idleness? Would even the Poorer Man dare to urge the impious principles upon which he lived; and say, that, distrusting the Providence of GOD, he saved every wretched pittance he could scrape together, “against a rainy day;” that supposing GOD to be unfaithful and unkind, he concealed in a rag, or buried in the earth, the small portion of wealth his labour had procured? O let us rise immediately from the deadly principles and practices of a corrupt and miserable life! let us “consider, and shew ourselves,” not worldly, but CHRISTIANMEN, “WHOM “THE LORD HATH REDEEMED;” acting in all stations and characters worthy of the truths, the duties, the exalted “hopes “of our High Calling of GOD in CHRIT “JESUS!

I must once more mention THESE CHILDREN, that now solicit your bounty for such great purposes, as do honour to the wisdom and piety of those that first formed this charity, and those that have continued to conduct and support it.

If, to relieve distress, is so high a part of our duty and happiness; to prevent it, cannot, surely, be less: and a Christian, whose whose character it is that he “goes about doing good,” will bestow much of his Liberality on institutions for the support and instruction of helpless and friendless children; who, in heathen countries, have been supposed to have so considerable a share in the happiness of the rising generation, that they have been made the care of the state; but in whose welfare the Christian is chiefly interested, as they are acknowledged and declared Members of that Universal Church, which CHRIST has purchased with His Own Blood. The institution which is now recommended to you, is supported only by voluntary contribution; and

But in the best human designs there will always be room for improvement; and that designs like these are not more improved, is chiefly owing to this very bad cause, that the contributions of the wealthy are seldom proportioned to the exigency and importance of the case. The girls that are brought up in charity-schools, are, by the very nature of their education, almost completely qualified for service in the world, before their entrance into it: but the boys have not the same advantage. It is, therefore, very desirable, that in the boys school three or four afternoons in every week should be devoted to instructing and exercising them in some manual labour; and there are innumerable articles in which they might be usefully and profitably employed, and from which handicrafts at least, if not skill, would soon be acquired. Another particular I would beg leave to mention; not as wholly wanting, but wanting only in the degree to which it may and ought to be improved. When we have clothed these children, taught them to read and work, and placed them in sober families, we seem to have done almost every thing that can be done, for their advantage in this life; and the event of all this, which in many instances is found not to answer our benevolent wishes, must be left to the unsearchable councils of Divine Providence: but an education strictly religious, a well-grounded knowledge of THE TRUTHS AND DUTIES OF THE CHRISTIAN FAITH, would either prevent much of the evil that commonly happens to them, or enable them to bear evil with becoming patience. Therefore, besides their BIBLE, which they should read every day—not as a task, but as a blessed privilege; as containing the Truth of GOD, the clear declarations of His Will, and as the sure Guide to Holiness and Happiness — besides this Sacred Book, it is to be wished, that some of the many useful books of Christian instruction and devotion which are published for young persons, and those that are intended for an industrious, humble, and dependent life, were carefully selected, and put into their hands, with exhortations and encouragements to a diligent perusal of them. If these things appear to be beneficial and eligible, they furnish a new argument for urging you now to a more liberal contribution.

But tho' I suggest these things in much humility, and with just deference to the wisdom and piety of those who have shewn themselves well qualified for the discharge of so great a trust; yet I may address myself, with freedom and propriety, to the MASTER and MISTRESS OF THESE CHILDREN, and others that are concerned in the more immediate and personal care and direction of them.

And you will suffer me to say, that you are engaged in a very important office, that is not merely the means of a temporary subsistence in the present life, but may greatly tend either to your honour or dishonour in the life to come. GOD has entrusted these children to your care, and expects much of their improvement at your hands. Be very tender and diligent, therefore, in raising and establishing their religion and virtue; and never expect to make any instruction succeed, that you do not recommend and enforce by your own example. Preserve great reverence for GOD, not only in your heart, but in your outward deportment: I cannot suppose you ever swear yourselves; and you must not suffer them to swear, without such reproof and disgrace, as is most likely to prevent a repetition of the same impiety. If you were to call them to prayers every morning as soon as they come to you, and again in the evening before they left you, you

you would find it to have a wonderful effect in preserving a sense of GOD and duty upon their minds. Hear them read frequently in the historical part of the New Testament; and point out both examples and precepts in other parts of the Sacred Scriptures, that recommend Sobriety, Industry, Humility, Meekness, Patience, Forbearance, Kindness, Mercy, and the Fear and Love of GOD: encourage them to ask questions about what they read, and in an easy and condescending manner remove all their difficulties. But especially endeavour to convince them, from instances of their own ignorance, weakness, and sinfulness, of the evil of fallen nature; and that all their Hope of Salvation from sin and misery, depends upon the Power of JESUS CHRIST ruling in their hearts, as the Principle of all the Truth and Goodness to which they can ever attain. Be resolute in the correction of lying, obstinacy, wilful disobedience, malice, cruelty, and revenge: but never correct them in a passion, and before you have represented these evil tempers and actions in such odious lights, as will be likely to raise an abhorrence of sin at least

least equal to the dread of punishment. You feel not the blind emotions of parental fondness for any of them; and therefore, with a little thought and attention, may be kind and equitable to all. I have taken the liberty to address you thus, because I hope, that one gem in your crown of glory will derive its lustre from the faithful and conscientious discharge of your duty* to These Children;

* Some part of the duty that is here urged upon the Masters and Mistresses of Charity-schools, might be more properly and more effectually discharged by the Minister of the Parish; if the Minister of the Parish, who seldom sees charity-children but in the gallery appropriated for them in the church, could spare a few hours from his studies every week, and devote them to a Christian Office, little inferior, I humbly think, to the most sacred of his functions. Christian Parents are bound to “bring up their Children in the Nurture and Admonition of the LORD;” a duty of infinitely more importance than providing them with food and raiment, or enabling them to provide food and raiment for themselves: “this must be done; and that not left undone.” But many of the Children that are received into Charity-schools, are received because they have no Parents; and those that have Parents are received, because provision and instruction are more than their Parents are able to supply: the Public, therefore, in these respects, having undertaken the Duty of Parents; the Public, as Christian, are bound to do all that Christian Parents are bound to do. And if those whom the Christian

DEAR CHILDREN! Look round with thankfulness to GOD, and behold here many of those friends, whom GOD has raised up to promote your good both in this world and the next; who are endeavouring to save you not only from nakedness and hunger, but from ignorance and wickedness; who are putting you in a way to obtain an honest livelihood in this short life, and also instructing you in the hope of a Blessed Life that is to come, and how you may partake of it when you die. They desire nothing in return for all this kindness, but that you should be very good children — dutiful to your parents, or other relations with whom you live; obedient to your master and mistress, and diligent in learning whatever is taught you at school. Above all, they desire, that you would “fear GOD, and “love one another.” All the good you receive, tho’ it comes by the hands of men, is yet the gift of GOD; who, with health and strength, bestows upon you food and cloaths, and, what is better than all, the knowledge and Power of Eternal Life thro’ his SON THE LORD JESUS CHRIST. Neither you nor I could live a moment in this world, or be happy in the next, but for the Mercy of GOD in JESUS CHRIST. He sees all that we do; He knows the thoughts and desires of our hearts; and according to what we do, and think, and desire, He will either bless or punish us. Therefore, be very careful not to offend so Great and Good a GOD, either in thought, word, or deed: do not swear; do not tell lies; do not be covetous of what another has; do not envy one another; do not be angry with one another, but forgive and love one another, as you hope GOD for CHRIST’s sake will forgive and love you. Keep from all evil, and do all the good you can, from the Fear and Love of GOD. Live always as in His Presence; and pray to Him every morning, and every night, in the Name of JESUS CHRIST, that He would bless you, and keep you from sin which is the only thing that can hurt you. All that are now together in this church, will be separated to-night; and you children, as you grow older, will be more and more separated from each other: but if all that are here, as well as all that are in the world besides, live in the Fear and Love of GOD, and in the Love of one another, thro' Faith in JESUS CHRIST; you may depend upon it, we shall all meet again in Heaven, and be good and happy for ever!

And now, my brethren, remembering that, however denominated and distinguished by the outward states and conditions of this changeable and transitory life, we are “ still Fellow-heirs of ONE ETERNAL “ GLORY;” still “ Members of ONE HOLY “ SPIRITUAL BODY, under the HEAD “ OF ONE REDEEMER, and united and “ compactd together by ONE DIVINE “ PRINCIPLE OF LOVE;” let us all act above the sensual, selfish, and malignant principles of fallen human nature! Let all our thoughts, desires, and pursuits, have an immediate reference to the everlasting decisions of the FINAL JUDGMENT! That in that awful day, “When THE SON OF “ MAN shall come in His Glory, and all the “ Holy Angels with Him, and shall be seated “ on The Throne of His Glory,” we may find ourselves “placed on His Right-hand,” and hear him say — “Come, ye blessed of my “ Father, inherit the Kingdom prepared for “ *you from the foundation of the world! *DISCOURSE V.

ON THE RESISTANCE OF EVIL:

From JAMES IV. 7.

* This discourse is taken from a larger on the same subject, written by that excellent Divine Mr. JOHN SMITH.

DISCOURSE V

“ WILL FLEE FROM YOU.”

IT was the opinion of antient philosophy, that there are two chief principles, that spread their influence thro' universal nature; the principle of Good, and the principle of Evil: and that between these there is an everlasting enmity and contest. This, surely, is no other than a corruption of the account transmitted from the deluge, of the origin of evil, and its effectual remedy—the fall of the apostate angels; the apostasy and fall of human nature; and the Redemption of that nature, thro' the power of the implanted “ Incorruptible Seed of The Eternal Word,
“ The Bruiser of the serpent's head.”

The Principle of Goodness, which is The Eternal GOD deriving His Own Nature in strong and lovely impressions of Truth and Beauty on the fallen soul of man, endeavours still to assimilate and reunite it to Himself: on the contrary, The Principle of Evil, which is the Prince of Darkness, having himself lost the Beauty and Glory of the Divine Image, is continually striving to mould and shape the fallen nature of man, over which he has obtained power through the same defection, more and more according to his own likeness. There is, therefore, a perpetual active enmity between whatever “ is born of GOD, and the seed of the serpent:” and as, in controlling that chaos, into which the malignity of apostate spirits changed their own bright region, GOD so separated the light and the darkness, that they can never be reconciled together and become parts of each other; so neither can those beams of Light and Love which descend upon the soul from Him, be ever reconciled to the foul mists of sin and darkness which rise out of the bottomless pit of hell and death. “Whosoever abideth in GOD,” says St. John, “sinneth not: whosoever sinneth, hath not seen Him, neither known Him. He that committeth sin, is of the Devil; and THE SON OF GOD was manifested to destroy the works of the Devil. In this,” in this eternal and irreconcilable distinction, “The Children of GOD are manifest, and the children of the Devil.” The soul, therefore, that enters into the Devil’s kingdom, that receives his “image and the number of his name,” must be divested of every power that has any alliance with GOD; he is transformed into the similitude of the fiends of darkness, and by that change has cut himself off from The Eternal Source of Light and Love. And tho’ some, horrible as the thought is, from a sensual impatience of the restraints of religion, seek for liberty and peace in the realms of darkness; and by resisting the Impressions of Truth and Holiness, which, thro' the Redeeming Power of CHRIST, are made upon every heart, divide themselves more and more from GOD, till at length they with the extinction of His Being; yet liberty and peace are no where to be found: for “there can be no peace to the wicked,” to those that are thus “alienated from The Life of GOD, and enemies to Him by wicked works; but they are like the troubled sea when it cannot rest, whose waters cast up mire and dirt.”

The essence of an evil Spirit is a malignant tormenting fire compounded of wrath and terrour; as full of dread of The Light and Goodness of GOD, as of enmity and opposition against them: and excluding the facts related in the Gospel, the world is not without testimony with what horreur they always retreat from The Manifestations of GOD to the children of men: witness the silence of the Grecian oracles, soon after the promulgation of The Gospel in those parts;

parts ; when, as a Heathen writer has recorded of them, those desolate spirits with horrid and dismal groans quitted their ancient habitations. JESUS CHRIST alone, in Whom is all the Strength and Hope of man, has shewn how weak a thing the Devil's kingdom is; having "spoiled" all the "principalities and powers" of darkness, "and made a shew of them openly, triumphing over them by His Cross." And if we resolutely follow "The Captain of our Salvation," and fight under His banner as faithful and valiant soldiers, we may, upon the fullest security, expect the same success. "Resist the Devil, and he will flee from you."

From these words, may be considered,

The nature of that evil influence which is exerted for our destruction :

The active fortitude of the Christian warfare : and

The certainty of success to those that nobly and constantly resist.

The truth of an evil influence perpetually exerted to deprive us of our Supreme Good, exclusive of the experience of every heart, is implied in the precept to resist it; and the great agent of that influence is The Apostate Spirit, who having fallen himself from his original state of Meekness and Subjection to GOD, is always designing and attempting to engage others in the same revolt. As Goodness cannot be happy alone, so neither can Malignity be miserable alone: accordingly, in the Revelation of St. John, he is mentioned as “ the old dragon, that with his fiery tail drew down the third part of the stars of heaven, and cast them to the earth.” In the book of Job, The Evil Spirit confesses, that his employment is, “ to go to and fro in the earth, and to walk up and down in it;” and tho’ he suppresses the acknowledgement of the design and purpose of that wandering, yet St. Peter has declared it, as an argument for the strictest sobriety and watchfulness: “ be sober, be vigilant,” says he;

he;

he ; “ because your adversary, The Devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour ; whom resist, stedfast in the faith :” and our BLESSED REDEEMER speaks of him also, as walking up and down through “ dry places,” where no Divine influences fall to water them ; “ seeking rest,” and always restless.

The Devil is not merely a name, which those who would sap the foundations of religion pretend religion has contrived to frighten timorous minds ; nor is danger then only to be apprehended from him, when he is supposed to assume a bodily form : it is superstitious weakness, to be afraid of him only when imbodied ; and to neglect the secret and unseen influence, which his continual converse with us, as an unimbodied spirit, may have upon us. He and his angels are not yet “ cast into outer darkness,” tho’ it be prepared for them ; the mouth of the bottomless pit is not yet closed over them : they fell from GOD,

GOD, not so much by a local descent, as by mental apostasy and diffimilitude; and they have still this visible world, once the seat of their happiness and glory, to range in: they are, therefore, stiled by the Apostle, “spiritual wickednesses in high places ;” and their leader is called, “The God of This World, The Prince of Darkness, The Prince of the power of The Air.” Uncloathed and unimbodied spirits may converse with us by secret illapses, without our perception of the medium thro’ which they act: even “the wind bloweth where it listeth, and we hear the sound thereof; but cannot tell whence it cometh, nor whither it goeth.” As there are Divine Illuminations communicated to the soul by THE GOOD SPIRIT OF TRUTH, so there are impure suggestions to the fancy made by The Evil Spirit of Darkness; and a watchful observer of his own heart, must have heard the frequent whispers both of The Voice of Wisdom and The Voice of Folly: he, from whose eyes a Heaven-born Faith in

in CHRIST has removed the scales of corruption, may easily discern The Calm Irradiations of Divine Light leading him to holiness and peace, and the foul and disturbed fires of Satan betraying him into sin and misery.

But tho' our Enemy be invisible, and, on that account, more able to execute his malignant designs against us; yet let us not so dread his power, as to decline the contest. While our minds are constantly turned to "That Light, which lighteth every man that cometh into the world;" while we desire it, and depend upon it, as The Light of Life; we shall always be able to know and to guard against the stratagems of the Apostate Spirit, whether he appears in his own naked deformity, or cloaths himself like "an Angel of Light." A forced imitation will always fall short of the archetype: and tho' sin and falsehood may put on the mantle of Holiness and Truth; yet he, that is inwardly acquainted with

“ The Truth as it is in JESUS,” and ingeniously loves and pursues it, will be able to detect the imposture, and thro’ the veil behold the blackness and malignity of the enemies to his peace.

But the idea of an evil influence that is perpetually exerted to deprive us of our Supreme Good, is not confined to an Apostate Spirit, as one particular being; but is extended to that Spirit of Apostasy which is lodged in the human mind: and this sense seems to be chiefly intended by St. James in the precept he has given us. So the Scriptures speak of CHRIST, not only as a particular person, but as The Divine Principle of Life, Light, and Love, in all holy and regenerate souls.

The Devil is not only a particular being, designed to torment wicked men in the world to come; but a hellish and diabolical principle seated in their minds: he is not only one Apostate Spirit fallen down from Heaven

Heaven out of the Seat of Bleffedness, but also a Spirit of Apostasy, a degenerate and depraved nature. If the Devil could change his foul and malignant nature, he would neither be a Devil, nor be miserable; and as long as man bears upon his soul the image of that nature, he can neither be in favour with GOD, nor at rest and peace within himself. Wickedness being the form and essence of all wicked spirits, whatever be their state and place in the creation; it is the difference of a name, rather than any difference of nature, that distinguishes between The Devil and wicked men: and, wherever there is Pride, Envy, Hatred, Wrath, Self-will, or Self-love, it may be truly said, here, and there, is that Evil Spirit. As “The Kingdom of Heaven is,” by our BLESSED REDEEMER, declared to be, not without men, but “within them;” so the tyranny of Hell and the Devil is not in external things, but in the qualities and dispositions of the human mind: and as the enjoyment of GOD, and conversing with Him, confifts not fo much in a change of place, as in a Participation of the Divine Nature and an Affimilation to it; fo the converfing and participating with the Devil, is not fo much by a mutual local prefence, as by the power of a corrupt and finful nature operating in the foul. That original pravity, therefore, which is lodged in man's ſpirit, has been antiently called, "The Angel of Death and Fiend of Darknefs:" and, wherever any impure or malignant temper governs, there is Satan's Throne.

This finful and corrupt nature being the offspring of Hell itſelf, is perpetually preſſing down towards Hell, as to its own place. As it is ſaid of CHRIST's burthen, which is True Godlinefs, that it hath wings, and nobly bears itſelf upwards, continually foaring towards GOD; fo of impiety, which is The Devil's burthen, it may be truly ſaid, that there is in it the force of gravitation, that it is always within the central attraction of hell, and that its own weight instigates and accelerates its motion thither: and, awful as the fact is, yet all men converse either with GOD or The Devil, and walk in the confines either of Heaven or hell; “they have their fellow-ship,” as St. John says, either “with The Father and His Son JESUS CHRIST,” or with apostate and evil spirits.

If this representation is thought too severe, what must be said of Hatred, Envy, and Wrath; of Pride, Ambition, and Vain-glory; of Covetousness and Oppression; of Intemperance and Uncleaness; and other impure and malignant spirits, that reign so universally, and operate so violently in the heart of man? Let us speak the Truth, and call things by their proper names; let us not flatter ourselves, nor whiten over our own deformity: so much as there is of these Evil Tempers in any mind, so much there is of “The Old Man,” so much of a Diabolical Nature.

It is, indeed, too true, and is itself a proof of the degeneracy and corruption of man, that, in general, we are satisfied with a merely nominal and external religion; and our thoughts and affections, in the exercise of religion, not being derived from THE SPIRIT OF TRUTH, are neither directed nor governed by it. A GOD as well as a Devil, a Heaven as well as a hell, are fashioned by the power of fancy; and being the creatures of fancy, the ideas of them are as various and contradictory, as the various and repugnant humours and complexions of fallen nature. But notwithstanding this voluntary delusion, the Eternal Foundation of the DIVINE NATURE is Unchangeable: "GOD is but One, and His Name One;" and where Truth, Purity, and Love, subsist in their highest elevations, and most unbounded dimensions, That is HE: where there is any true Participation of this Original Excellency, there is a true Communication of GOD'S IMAGE; and a defection from

it, is The Effence of Sin, and The Foundation of Hell. Hence it is, that we never truly hate Sin, but when we hate it for its own deformity; and we never truly love GOD, but when we love Him for His Own Self-originated Excellency; and while our minds are open to the Irradiations of Divine Truth, we shall find, that as there is nothing better than GOD Himself for which He should be loved, so there is nothing worse than Sin itself for which it should be hated and shunned. An Affimilation to GOD and Conformity to His Will, therefore, establish the mind in the firm possession of true happiness; and a dissimilitude to GOD, and alienation from Him, involve it in its own misery, and produce the greatest enmity to what its insatiable desires are perpetually craving, the enjoyment of true and satisfying Good.

If we did but descend to the bottom of our own hearts, we should fully perceive their

their inherent deformity; and the necessity of That DIVINE IMAGE of Truth, Purity, and Love, which CHRIST came to restore, and which He alone has power to revive within us. But this conviction can never be attained, without the most faithful and rigorous inquiry; and how, and when, is inquiry to begin, while the world, with its vain amusements and artificial cares, is suffered to enslave every faculty of the mind, and engross every moment of time from day to day, and from year to year. Death, however, will remove the partition-wall that stands between delusion and reality: and then the convinced soul will swell with rage, amazement, horror, and whatever else is contrary to That Ineffable Light and Peace which is in Heaven, in natures fully reconciled and united to True Goodness.

These, surely, are arguments founded in the unchangeable nature of things, sufficient to enforce St. James's exhortation to a most constant and vigorous Resistance of Evil. “Resist the Devil,” therefore, as an Apostate Spirit, that is perpetually endeavouring to extend our Alienation from GOD as far as his own: resist him as a Spirit of Apostasy, diffused thro’ human nature by the malignity of the same revolt: “overcome the world,” as the throne of his temporary dominion, the scene of all his influence: “crucify the Old Man,” who is so nearly allied to him in impurity and darkness: “mortify” the corrupt appetites and affections of that “flesh and blood, which can never enter into the Kingdom of GOD.”

From what has been already said, we may perceive the nature and necessity of That Fortitude, which is required in The Christian Warfare. The Spirit of a Christian must be active, generous, and noble: for, as St. Paul says, “he fights, not only against flesh and blood, but against principalities, and powers, and spiritual wickednesses “ nesses in high places.” True religion is an Internal Principle of Life and Activity; and is, therefore, called by the same great Apostle, “ The Spirit of Power; of Love, and of a Sound Mind; The Law of The Spirit of Life,” fortifying the mind against “ the law of sin and death.” That is but a mechanical religion, which moves no longer than while it is acted upon by some external impulse; as if there was “ no Resurrection from the dead,” no inward principle of Life and Light, but all our motions depended upon some assisting form without. Christians are, indeed, Living Men, by a Real Participation from Him, Who is, indeed, “ a Quickening Spirit.” “ The Spirit which is from above,” is always, by a natural and noble tendency, carried upwards again towards Heaven from whence it came, powerfully resisting every obstruction that would hinder it from returning to its Original, and uniting itself with GOD.

But

But that we may not mistake the true activity of religion, let it be observed, that The Devil is not always then most resisted, when he is most outrageously defied and disclaimed : nor does The Resistance of Sin consist in the violence of some feminine passions, which the power of fancy may raise against it ; but in a mature and sedate resolution of the soul to repel its influence, founded on a clear judgment of The Hateful Nature of Sin itself and him who is its patron ; in a constant ardent desire to recover its First State in GOD, and establish within itself The Principality of Grace and Peace. The fight and contest with Sin and Satan, is not to be known by the rattling of chariots, or the sound of an alarm : it is silently transacted in the inmost region of man's spirit ; and is, rather, a pacifying and quieting the tumults and disorders, which Sin and Satan have raised there : it is, indeed, a Perfect Reconciliation of the mind to Truth, Purity, and Love ; a Resignation of its will, and a Subjection of all its

faculties, to The Will of GOD, through the Effectual Working of That Divine Meekness and Love, which we derive from JESUS CHRIST.

This Resistance is always attended with victory, and glory waits to crown this fight. “Resist the Devil, and he will flee from you; he cannot stand, when opposed in The Strength of GOD; he cannot bear The Glory of GOD’s Image shining in the redeemed and regenerate souls of men. As every thing is weak and impotent, in proportion to the distance it stands from GOD, Who is The Source of Life and Power; Sin, which is a privation of all true being and perfection, must be the most weak and impotent thing in nature; and wherever GOD appears, it must be destroyed: he that is born of GOD, therefore, must overcome Sin; “for The Seed of GOD remaineth in him,” says St. John, “and he cannot sin, because he is born of GOD.” Sin is a degene-degeneration from Divine Goodness, conceived by a dark understanding, and brought forth by a corrupt will: it hath no consistency in itself, no foundation of its own to support it. Truth and Goodness are Eternal and Unchangeable, subsisting in The Strength of Omnipotence: but Sin is our own creature; man only gives it life and vigour; and it would soon wither and perish, if he withheld his concurrence from it.

“ Let us be strong,” therefore, “ in The “ LORD JESUS, and in The Power of “ His Might:” for He alone is Life, Strength, and Truth; He alone is “ Wis- “ dom, and Righteousness, and Sanctification, “ and Redemption” from All Evil, to the soul of fallen man! Though we are not able to change our own nature, or to rise above the condition of animal and selfish beings, by any power inherent in ourselves; yet let us, with all our vigilance and activity, withdraw from the occasions and in-citements of Sensuality, Pride, Malice, Vain-glory, and whatever else holds us in Captivity to Hell. “ Let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us; and run with Patience,” Meekness, Resignation, and Charity, “ the race that is set before us; looking unto JESUS, The Author and Finisher of our Faith, Who is set down at the Right-hand of The Throne of GOD,” as THE MIGHTY CONQUEROR OF ALL EVIL; and Who, as The Principle of every Divine Excellence in human nature, will declare His Own Power in our weakness, and enable us also to subdue Every Enemy, and TREAD DOWN SATAN UNDER OUR FEET.

DISCOURSE VI.

ON RESIGNATION:

From MICAH vii. 7.

DISCOURSE VI.

MICAH VII. 7.

“ THEREFORE, I WILL LOOK “ UNTO THE LORD; I WILL “ WAIT FOR THE GOD OF MY “ SALVATION: MY GOD WILL “ HEAR ME.”

BEFORE the captivity into Babylon, and the destruction of the temple, besides the idolatry that was the more immediate cause of that desolation, we are told by the prophet Jeremiah, that treachery and falsehood, pride and sensuality, hatred and envy, universally prevailed, and Charity was banished from every breast. “ Take “ ye heed,” says he, every one of his neigh- “ bour, and trust ye not in any brother; “ for every brother will utterly supplant, and “ every neighbour will walk with slanders.
“ They have taught their tongue to speak lies,
“ and weary themselves to commit iniquity.” With those spirits in which malignity has so deep a possession, the Blessed GOD cannot dwell: and this wretched people being alienated from Him, set their hearts to “work iniquity with greediness;” and, “proceeding from evil to evil,” descended, by hasty steps, to destruction and death.

In what instances their state is resembled by the state of this nation, must be left to the observation and experience of every single mind to determine. If it is true, however, that the character of the present age is marked by vanity and dissipation; if we are subdued by the love of pleasure, and, for the sake of pleasure, not only secretly despise, but openly reproach religion, as the dream of enthusiasm, and the enemy of man; then, surely, we are too deeply involved in darkness and impurity not to be alarmed at our danger, and in contrition, faith, and prayer, to turn to the Redeeming Power of CHRIST, to preserve us from a total alienation from THE LIFE OF GOD.

Such

Such an universal defection from The Essential and Sovereign Good, is the ground of the prophet Micah's resolution expressed in the verse cited above; to which he has subjoined several arguments for patient resignation, that, in a state of general infidelity and general enormity, may be applied to the comfort of all, who partake of the temporal sufferings of such a state without equally partaking of its guilt.

In the character of the small number of GOD'S faithful servants, the Prophet thus complains: “ Wo is me! for I am as “ when they have gathered the summer fruits, “ the grape-gleanings of the vintage: there “ is no cluster to eat: my soul desired the first “ ripe-fruit. The good man is perished out “ of the earth, and there is none upright “ among men: they hunt every man his bro“ ther with a net; the best of them is a “ briar; the most upright is sharper than a “ thorn-hedge. Trust ye not in a friend, put “ ye not confidence in a guide: keep the doors

“ of thy mouth from her that lieth in thy “ bosom. For the son dishonoureth the father, “ the daughter riseth up against her mother, “ the daughter-in-law against her mother-in-“ law ; and a man’s enemies are the men of “ his own house. THEREFORE,” says he,
 “ I will look unto The LORD, I will wait “ for The GOD of my Salvation : my GOD “ will bear me.” And in the holy confidence with which this resolution is made, he thus proceeds : “ Rejoice not against me, “ O mine enemy : when I fall, I shall arise ; “ when I sit in Darknes, The LORD shall “ be a Light unto me. I will bear the Indig“ nation of The LORD, because I have sinned “ against Him ; ’till He plead my cause, and “ execute judgment for me : He shall bring “ me forth to the light, and I shall behold “ His Righteousness. Then she that is mine “ enemy, shall see it ; and shame shall cover “ her that said unto me, Where is The LORD, “ thy GOD ?”

The Prophet had sought for comfort, where it was not to be found ; he feels and laments the disappointment of his hopes ; and, by the experience of the vanity, the weakness, the instability, and corruption of man, is brought to this only safe and salutary conclusion, “ I will look unto The LORD ; I will wait for The GOD of my Salvation.”

Conversion to GOD cannot be sincere, 'till our Dependence is withdrawn from every other being. All the various proceedings of GOD, with respect both to our outward condition, and the state of our spirit, exalting and depressing, giving and taking away light and darkness, comfort and distress, as independently of us as He makes the rain to descend and the wind to blow ; are solely to bring us to this conviction, that Truth, Goodness, and Happiness, come immediately from Him, and not the least portion from ourselves or the creatures that surround us. A resolution, therefore, to “look unto The LORD,” that is not grounded upon this conviction, cannot be the work of that Faith and Hope which are living qualities of the New Birth, and which invariably depend upon Him that made us, to redeem us from all our evil.

But the time of deliverance also must with the same unreserved dependence be resigned to the will of our GOD, as the deliverance itself: “it is not for us to know the times or the seasons which The Father hath put in His Own Power.” The Christian character is not properly maintained by only “looking unto The LORD,” but we must “wait for The GOD of our Salvation. Faith, Hope, and Patience, have an inseparable relation, and mutually strengthen and support each other: and tho’ in the exercise of Faith and Hope, we confidently trust, that “The GOD of our Salvation will shew us wonderful things, and fulfill the desire of all that fear Him;” yet, with persevering Patience, we must “tarry his

“ his leisure and be strong, and then He will “ comfort our hearts: for the Vision of Good “ is reserved to an appointed time; in the end “ it shall speak, and not lie: tho’ it tarry, “ wait for it; because it will surely come, it “ will not tarry long.” The soul, therefore, that thro’ the impatience or despondency of nature, grows faint and weary with expectation, must be told, that self-will is not properly subdued; and that the delay of the good it so ardently desires, is intended as a kind exercise and trial of Faith, Hope, and Patience, that having their “ perfect work,” we may be more acceptable to our Heavenly Father, because more “ renewed in The Image of His BELOVED “ SON, in Whom only He is well-pleas’d;” and Who alone can say for us, with respect to all our concerns both of Time and Eternity, what He once said for Himself, “ not “ my will, O GOD, but Thine be done!”

But that Conversion to GOD, and a Resolution to wait the determinations of Holy Will, when thus truly formed upon a conviction of the vanity of all inferiour dependence, may not be violated by the influence of contending evil; the Prophet, in a review of his own condition, suggests the important truths, from which he derived comfort in the midst of its afflictions. And one powerful argument for consolation under the distresses of a sinful state is, that GOD, when the desire and dependence of the heart are turned to Him, will certainly hear our prayers: “my GOD will bear me!” A Christian can no more doubt of this, than he can doubt of the want, the impotence, and misery of nature, and the All-sufficiency of Redeeming Grace. “Hav- “ing in Heaven a High-priest who is touched “with a feeling of all our infirmities, we “may come boldly to the Throne of Grace, “and find Grace to help us in every time of “need.” And from this blessed privilege, a true sense of our sinful condition does not exclude us: for “THE LORD is nigh unto “all that call upon Him, to all that call “upon

“ upon Him in truth. He turneth to the “ prayer of the destitute, and despiseth not “ their desire. He will bind up the broken “ hearted, and comfort those that mourn.
 “ He dwells with him that is of a contrite “ and humble spirit; to revive the spirit of “ the humble, and to revive the heart of the “ contrite.”

Another ground of consolation is contained in these words: “ Rejoice not against “ me, O mine enemy! When I fall, I shall “ arise: when I sit in darkness, THE LORD “ shall be a Light unto me.” That accumulation of trouble which rises in the soul of man, when he is brought to a full perception of the evils of his fallen state; when all his vain dependences are broken off; when he dwells in the region of shame and sorrow; when he “ walks thro’ the valley “ of the shadow of death,” groaning under the burthen of sin, and exposed to the malignity of evil spirits; as unable to deliver himself as to create another world — may truly be called the blackness and horreur of darkness. But, O consider, it is in "this" "darkness," that "THE LORD will be our" "Light :" this is the distress that lies prostrate before the Throne of Mercy, where distress cannot lie in vain ; this the despair, by which we "lose our own life, to find a" "New Life" in GOD. And in such a situation, which words have no power to describe, there is nothing for the sufferer to do, but in abstraction from all created being, and in silent fixed attention to the Will of his Almighty Father, to resign his state and spirit wholly to His Merciful Disposal. For in the utmost rage of this contention between Life and Death, CHRIST Himself is present to support us thro' the conflict, and "He will not suffer us to be" "tempted, beyond what we are able to bear." "He is The Light that lighteth every soul" "that cometh into the world ;" the Light that will dispel the most tremendous darkness that can cover us : and in some "watch" "of this awful night," we shall hear His quick-

quickenings voice speaking to us, as He once spake to his affrighted disciples in the stormy sea of Gennesareth, “ Be of good cheer ! it is I ; be not afraid ! ” “ I take pleasure, ” says the Blessed Paul, “ in infirmities, in necessities, in distresses, for CHRIST’S sake ; for when I am weak, then am I strong : I glory in mine infirmities, that The Power of CHRIST may rest upon me ! ” — O “ be not afraid ! ” doubt not but His Sustaining and Restoring Power will rest upon you ! for “ neither death, nor life ; nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers ; nor things present, nor things to come ; nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature ; shall be able to separate us from THE LOVE OF GOD WHICH IS IN CHRIST JESUS OUR LORD ! ”

A further motive for consolation is included in these words : “ I will bear the indignation of THE LORD, because I have sinned against Him ; until He plead my cause, and execute judgment for me. ” A sense of guilt will be inseparable from the soul in its present fallen state; and tho', in itself, it cannot possibly be the ground of peace, yet it is a most forcible argument for patient resignation in every trouble; and patient resignation proceeding from an humble and contrite sense of guilt, will contribute to support the mind under the severest troubles. Can the most afflicted sufferer in the numerous forms of human misery, stand forth and say, that he has not demerited every part of his distress from his offended GOD! Surely, if he considered, how much unsubdued pride, envy, hatred, and wrath, slept in his bosom every night, and awoke with him at the return of every morning; how apt the vanity and sensuality of his mind are to lead him from The Fountain of his being, his First and Final Good, and urge him to seek delight and place confidence in his wretched self, and the equally wretched creatures about him; he would suppress every emotion of murmur and complaint, and say, with Job,

“ Behold,

“ Behold, O GOD ! I am vile : what shall “ I answer Thee ? I will lay my hand upon “ my mouth. Once I have attempted to “ speak, but I will not answer ; yea twice, “ but I will proceed no further.” In general, that chief obstacle to our Reunion with The Life Light and Love of GOD, the selfishness of fallen nature, with blind partiality and weak condolence, considers only the nature and degree of the suffering ; and throws a thick covering over the cause of it, the evil in our own hearts.

But when the suffering is of that kind of which men are the immediate instruments, then all our passions lifted in the train of Self-love, are in wild tumult ; and our thoughts are exercised only in a partial consideration of the case, and our breath is spent in reproaches for cruelty and oppression, unkindness and ingratitude. And yet, what are temporal evils, if we exclude the influence of behaviour from man to man ? The rest, being the natural effect of disordered elements hastening to dissolution, and of the inevitable mortality which sin has introduced, are to be borne with silent acquiescence, because not to be removed by prayer, nor lessened by resistance. But even those severer temporal evils that proceed from the falsehood and cruelty of man, happen to us as much by the permission and under the super-intendence of our Heavenly Father, as the fever that wastes our strength, or the fire that devours our possessions; and it is patient resignation to His Unerring Will, that is the unfailing means of relief in both. Only, in all instances of this evil, we must be careful to suppress the first emotions of anger and revenge; to fix our attention upon our own unworthiness, rather than the unworthiness of those that injure us; and, in silence and submission, leave it to GOD “to plead our cause,” if any thing can be urged in our behalf; and to “execute judgment for us,” if judgment is our due. When Shimei cursed David, that son of affliction not only

suppressed his own resentment, but restrained the resentment of his followers: “let him alone,” says he; “let him curse, for”
 “THE LORD hath bidden him.”

The good that we are most apt to delight in, and the evil that we are most apt to fear, are changeable and fugitive as the morning cloud; and yet it is only over these, that the hand of man can prevail. But, with respect to man, as the chief instrument of temporal calamity, GOD has declared the boundaries of his power, and shewn us where protection and comfort may always be had, when they are always truly sought: “I, even I, am He that comforteth you. Who art thou, that thou shouldst be afraid of a man that shall die, and of the son of man that shall be made as grass? and forgettest THE LORD thy MAKER, that hath stretched forth the Heavens, and laid the foundations of the earth: and hast feared continually every day, because of the fury of the oppressor; as if he were ready to” “destroy——”

“ destroy — and where is the fury of the oppressor ?” Where, indeed, is, not only this, but all the evil that we can fear, whether temporal or spiritual, when opposed by The Strength and Goodness of a REDEEMING GOD; whose unchangeable will towards us, is to restore our first Divine Life, and re-unite us to Himself for ever, in indissoluble bonds of Love, Peace, and Blessedness ?

And now, says the Prophet, “ He will bring me forth to The Light, and I shall behold His Righteousness.” This is the boundary of the Christian’s Hope, where it terminates in vision, and, with Faith and Patience, is absorbed in that DIVINE CHARITY which dwells in GOD, and is GOD Himself. The soul delivered from all that self-love, which is the essence of darkness, and the root of every evil passion, will now behold The RIGHTEOUSNESS of GOD in the stupendous work of man’s Redemption; and be convinced, how

righteous and how merciful were those purifying sorrows and afflictions, which it hath passed through in its progression to the Life it now enjoys ; the glory and happiness of which, “ the eye” of flesh and blood “ hath not seen, nor its ear heard, nor its heart been able to conceive.” And, at such an event, there is no doubt, but “ shame will cover the enemy,” who, with cruel contempt, and malignant infidelity, endeavoured to aggravate the bitterness of distress, saying, “ Where is THE LORD, thy GOD ?”

By “ the enemy,” is meant Babylon, as a temporary empire of apostasy and sin ; an abstract of The Spirit of This World, which is The Great ANTI-CHRIST, that opposes the Recovery of THE LIFE OF GOD in the fallen soul of man : and there will be just ground for an awful and silent triumph in her disappointment and disgrace, when her Power over every redeemed and regenerate son of GOD is taken away, and she is humbled in the dust. But in the appli-application of this circumstance to a particular and personal case, many, whose hearts are yet carnal, will be apt to pervert the meaning of the Prophet; and, thinking of no deliverance but from temporal evil, and of no enemy but those they meet with in the intercourses of temporal life, plead a warrant for applying the inscrutable judgments of GOD, and indulging a malignant joy in the distresses of their fellow-creatures. The Christian, however, who knows it is only The Life and Spirit of This World dwelling and ruling in the heart, that is his Bondage in Evil; and that it is only THE SPIRIT OF CHRIST that can be his Deliverer from it; derives no joy from the shame and distress of a human being, an ignorant corrupt and helpless creature like himself, but as shame and distress contribute to a restoration to Honour and Peace. He knows, that, in all instances of wrong among the children of men, he who doth the wrong, doth an injury to himself, himself, infinitely greater than to him that feels and suffers by it; and, therefore, is not only ready to say with Job, “ I rejoiced “ not at the destruction of him that hated “ me, nor lift up myself when evil found “ him, neither have I suffered my mouth to “ sin by wishing a curse to his soul;” but continually desires, hopes for, and depends upon THE SPIRIT OF HIS REDEEMER, as that which can alone enable him to “ love his enemies, to do good to them that “ hate him, and pray for them that despitefully “ use him and persecute him.” And he knows also, that, when THIS SPIRIT has subdued his selfishness, pride, and wrath, and is become The Spirit of his Life, the malignity of the world, united with the malignity of hell, will have no power to disturb his Peace; for it is “ THE PEACE “ OF GOD WHICH PASSETH ALL “ UNDERSTANDING.”

DISCOURSE VII.

ON WEAKNESS OF FAITH:

From ISAIAH XLII. 3.

DISCOURSE VII.

ISAIAH xlii. 3.

“ A BRUISED REED SHALL
“ SMOAKING FLAX SHALL “ HE NOT QUENCH.”

THE “ Weak in Faith,” is a character that is frequently mentioned in Scripture, and mentioned with peculiar compassion: and in the verse above cited, the Evangelical Prophet, describing the transcendent mildness of The REDEEMER’S Administration, expresses the character and the indulgence exercised towards it, by two similitudes of great propriety and beauty. As a bruised reed must be handled with peculiar tenderness, for fear of crushing it to pieces; and as the smothered fire of the smoaking flax, tho’ it will be utterly extinguished by a strong and boisterous wind, must yet be encouraged and kept alive by a gentle breath; so, our BLESSED REDEEMER,

who knows and pities our weakness, governs us with Infinite Mercy; and that our frail spirits may not be broken by adversity, nor overwhelmed by darkness and corruption, continually restores the strength and rekindles the fire of the Divine Life within us, by the influences of His HOLY SPIRIT. “ Thus saith THE HIGH AND “ LOFTY ONE that inhabiteth Eternity, “ Whose Name is Holy : I dwell in The High “ and Holy Place ; with him also that is of “ a contrite and humble spirit, to revive the “ spirit of the humble, and to revive the “ heart of the contrite ones.”

But as this Weakness of Faith has been found to be a severe trial, to which all Christians are more or less exposed; it is necessary, that the consolations which are given to support us under it, should be deeply impressed upon the mind, that we may be always able to recollect and apply them in the sad hour of temptation.

We must constantly remember, that Faith is The Work and Gift of GOD. “This,” ^ faith CHRIST, “is THE” “WORK OF GOD, that ye should believe” “in Him Whom He hath sent. No man” “can come unto me, unless The Father who” “sent me, DRAW HIM.” “Ye believe,” says St. Paul to the Ephesians, “according” “to THE WORKING OF HIS MIGHTY” “POWER. By Grace ye are saved, thro’” “Faith; and that not of yourselves; it is” “THE GIFT OF GOD.” And he exhorts the Hebrew Christians, to “run,” “with Patience, the race that is set before” “them; looking unto JESUS,” not only “as THE AUTHOUR,” but “THE FI-” “NISHER of their Faith.” We must remember also, that The Operation of this Divine Principle is only obstructed by the activity of our own dark and impatient spirits; and when JESUS has bestowed upon us the Gift of Faith, instead of “looking unto Him as THE FINISHER” of what He is “THE AUTHOUR,” we turn to and depend upon something that we are in ourselves, and something that is to be done by our own power. But if, under a patient sense of our vanity and weakness, we could patiently wait for GOD to do His Own Work in His Own Way, that Work would not fail of its accomplishment. GOD is found, as soon as He alone is sought; and to seek GOD alone, is to give up ourselves wholly to His Divine Operation within us. As, therefore, Faith is The Work and Gift of GOD in CHRIST JESUS, in Him Who alone can finish that which He alone hath begun; and as GOD hath promised to “save us by Faith;” it follows, that while we continue to “look only unto Him, and to run with Patience the race that is set before us,” He will continue to strengthen our Faith, so as effectually to fulfill the Purposes of REDEEMING LOVE. When St. Paul prayed thrice to be delivered from “the thorn in his flesh,” an affliction administered to preserve him from spiritual pride, he received

this answer : My Grace is sufficient for thee ; “ for my strength is made perfect in weakness.” From which The Apostle makes this just and salutary conclusion ; “ Most gladly, “ therefore, will I glory in my infirmities, “ rather than in the abundance of the reve- “ lations” with which I have been so eminently favoured, “ that THE POWER OF “ CHRIST may rest upon me.

In the present fallen state, perfection is scarcely attainable ; nor is it, indeed, required, as the effect of human endeavours. This whole visible creation will always be subject to weakness and disorder, till the connexion man has with it is universally dissolved by death. And, indeed, the claim to perfection is so unsuitable to the character of an earthly saint, that he is called upon to exercise continual watchfulness and prayer, lest he perish thro’ a false security, and by spiritual pride make his salvation desperate. Example and precept both concur with his own experience to convince him, that he has “never attained, nor is ever perfect ;” and by the sense of such an improper state, to persuade him to “forget the things that are behind, and reaching forth to those that are before, to press towards the mark, for the prize of The High Calling of GOD in CHRIST JESUS.” True Faith is always accompanied with True Humility ; a painful and debasing sense of the darkness, impurity, and malignity of fallen nature, and a proportionably ardent desire to be delivered from it by HIM, to Whom alone is committed The Power of that Redemption. And if such be our Faith, however weak in its birth and first operation, we may securely rely on The Mercy of GOD to cherish, strengthen, and improve it, and at length to crown it with victory and triumph. Isaiah, describing the introduction of CHRIST’S Kingdom, says : “Strengthen ye the weak hands, and confirm the feeble knees. Say to them that are of a feeble heart, Be strong ; fear not : behold, your GOD will come and save you ! He giveth

“ power to the faint ; and to them that have “ no might, He increaseth strength. The “ LORD hath sent me, to preach good tidings “ to the meek, to bind up the broken hearted, “ and to comfort all that mourn.”

For The Weak in Faith, there are examples both of the highest encouragement, and the tenderest reproof, recorded in the Gospel. To the father who brought his son to be cured of a dumb spirit, JESUS said, “ if thou canst believe, all things are “ possible to him that believeth : and he cried “ out, and said with tears, LORD, I believe : “ help Thou mine unbelief !” So humble, so tender, and yet so ardent, should be the prevailing temper of our spirits.

The nobleman, who had travelled from Capernaum to Galilee to implore the recovery of his son, tho’ he thought that the bodily presence of JESUS was necessary, and, therefore, intreated Him to go down to his house ; was yet satisfied with an assurance

assurance that the child should be restored, and departed alone in joyful expectation of the event. And the same implicit reliance on the promises and assurances of CHRIST, should make us also patient and contented during our journey to the eternal habitations prepared for us in the heavens, expecting there to find the perfect recovery of our disordered souls.

When CHRIST had chosen to pass from the western to the eastern side of the Lake of Gennesareth, He entered into a ship, and his disciples followed Him. And there arose a great tempest in the sea, insomuch that the ship was covered with the waves : but He was asleep. And his disciples came to Him, and awoke Him, saying, “ LORD, “ save us ; we perish !” And He saith unto them, “ Why are ye fearful ? O ye of “ Little Faith !” Then He arose, and rebuked the wind and the sea, and there was a great calm.

Another

Another instance of The Weakness of Faith when opposed by the terrours of animal nature, is recorded of St. Peter; who, as soon as he heard the voice of JESUS walking on the sea, in the ardour of human confidence cried out, “LORD, if it be Thou, bid me come unto Thee upon the water.” And his LORD said, “Come.” And when Peter was come down out of the ship, he walked on the water to go to JESUS: but when he saw the wind boisterous, he was afraid; and beginning to sink, he cried, saying, “LORD, save me!” And immediately JESUS stretched forth his hand, and caught him, and said unto him, “O thou of Little Faith! wherefore didst thou doubt?”

These cases are very applicable to the situation of many Christians, who, in the smooth waters of tranquillity, are apt to think their Faith equal to the severest trials; but when the storms of adversity suddenly rush upon them, or a more tremendous tempest rises in their own minds, they fear, they disbelieve, and they despair: and yet

in the extremity of danger, when the winds howl about them, and “ the floods are ready to overflow them,” if they could turn to JESUS, and depend solely upon Him for deliverance; He would reach forth His Hand and catch them, and say to the winds, “ Be silent!” and to the floods, “ Go back!”

From the nature of CHRIST’S Kingdom, as explained in the New Testament, as well as from the predictions of the antient prophets concerning it, it is evident, that those souls are best qualified for the enjoyment of its distinguishing privileges, whose prevailing temper disposes them to lament The Weakness of Faith. Hence we are told, that the supercilious and self-righteous Pharisee, when he had prayed in some distinguished part of the temple, went home with far inferiour testimonies of the Divine Approbation, than the afflicted Publican whom he despised; and “ who, standing afar off, would not lift up so much as his eyes unto Heaven, but smote upon his breast, and said,

“ said, GOD be merciful to me a sinner !” We are also told, that “ they that are whole,” not only the conceited Pharisee, but the arrogant and self-confiding spirit in every age and nation, “ have no need of a physician ;” the vain opinion of their own health and strength, that makes them despise relief, renders their case unfit for the administration of it : “ but they that are sick” of the infirmities of human nature, and weary of the burthen of sin, may depend upon restoration to health and peace ; for “ The Sun of Righteousness” is visiting them “ with healing in His wings.”

A complaint of The Weakness of Faith, that is made from this humble and contrite sense of inherent imperfection, is the strongest evidence that Faith has begun its Divine Operation ; and is contending against those innumerable temptations to infidelity, that arise from the selfishness, ignorance, pride, and impurity of fallen nature. It is the appointed struggle of The Christian Life, the proper exercise and trial of Faith, to make an earthly heart fit for the Inhabitation of a Heavenly Spirit ; to break the thick darkness that hangs over us, which, as often as it is scattered, endeavours to collect itself again, that the mind, by the influx of Divine Light, may keep its attention fixed upon the “ narrow path that leadeth unto Life.” And this contest will never be finished, ’till “ The Captain of our Salvation” shall be pleased to call us off from the present scene of enmity and danger, and dignify the fidelity and valour which He hath inspired, with The Unfading Crown of His Own Righteousness.

But severe as the intermediate conflict may be, yet if, in the midst of infirmity and distress, it is the prevailing desire of our souls, to turn from the darkness of human opinions, from self-love, self-will, and self-confidence, and to have CHRIST dwell in us, as The Principle of Divine Light and Love, Purity and Peace ; we may securely rely on The Almighty Aid of

His Continual Prefence: for this desire is the powerful attraction, with which “The Father draws us to The Son;” from Whom, being as essentially “united to Him as the branches are to the vine,” we derive continual nourishment and strength, and truly live in His Life. Of this Union, tho’ no created power is able to dissolve it, our hearts may not always have the liveliest perception: GOD only knows, what degrees of consolation and encouragement are best adapted to the growth and improvement of The Spiritual Life, in its vast and amazing extent: so much, however, is certainly known by us, that the health of our souls depends upon their being kept always humble, patient, dependent, and perfectly resigned.

The design of Christianity is to subdue revolted nature, and restore it to its First Harmony and Union with GOD’S SPIRIT; The SPIRIT OF LIFE LIGHT AND LOVE, that animates and sustains the whole universe, universe, diffusing the Order and Happiness of The Infinite Mind from which it proceeds. But, deplorable reverse! nature has so far got the victory over Grace, that This Dispensation, tho' full of Mercy to soften and of Terrour to alarm the most obdurate and senseless hearts, is yet made to unite with the passions and pursuits, the ambition, the politics, the covetousness, and the very pleasures, of vain, ignorant, and sensual man. Hence, such innumerable Forms of Godliness, without The Power: hence, the traitorous attempts of some who call themselves CHRIST'S ministers, to pervert the sense of those plain precepts of perpetual self-denial, watchfulness, and prayer, which He has inculcated in His Word, and sanctified by His Example. But "The Kingdom of GOD is not meat and drink;" nor the glory of Greek and Roman literature, nor the acuteness of critical and controversial skill, nor the dignity of temporal authority, nor the luxury of affluence, nor any distinctions of honour, power, or pleasure; nor is it the strictest observance of

of external ordinances; nor any bodily exercises, that may be practised without The Illuminating and Sanctifying Influences of GOD'S SPIRIT: "but it is Righteousness, and Peace, and Joy in THE HOLY" "GHOST!" an inward and spiritual establishment, to which those discover a near relation, who "in sincerity and truth" feel and lament The Weakness of Faith! The foundations of This Kingdom are deeply laid in the essences of the human soul; and there only, in its inmost recesses, is the important business of it transacted and perfected, under the painful and self-denying discipline of The Cross: for a conformity to The Sufferings of our GREAT REDEEMER, must necessarily precede a conformity to His Perfect Spirit, and His Perfect Blessedness.

Men, indeed, shrink from distress of every kind; but, till distress has roused our sleeping faculties, life is but a dream composed of vain and fleeting shadows, and we have

have no perception of the tremendous danger of our state. Sickness, and pain, and sorrow; the loss of fortune; the death of relations; the hatred, scorn, and ridicule of the world; the mistakes and unkindness of friendship; the inconsideration and bitterness of enmity; the darkness of ignorance; and the tumult and disorder of sensual and malignant passions; are the evils to which all stand exposed: for “man is born to this trouble, as necessarily as the sparks fly upwards.” This is the invariable course of fallen nature, brought to co-incide with The Merciful Purposes of Divine Grace; that the soul, being emptied of Self, and of every thing that tends to cherish an alienated and revolted “life that is in the midst of death, may be filled with all THE FULLNESS OF GOD.” Distress endued with such salutary power, will contribute to remove our grossness and impurity: it is the fiery pillar, and the black cloud, that leads thro’ the wilderness of this world, to the promised land of Light and Love, of Peace and Blessedness!

With all our will and desire, therefore, constantly turned to GOD IN CHRIST JESUS, let us resign our spirit, state, and life, both for time and eternity, to His Merciful Disposal; neither labouring to fly from that which we cannot shun, nor wishing to be delivered from what we must bear: but, in an humble sense of our own weakness, begging patience and strength from Him to endure the allotted measures of distress, of whatever kind; till He shall be pleased to “wipe all tears from our eyes,” and take away all sorrow from our hearts. “And may THE GOD OF ALL GRACE,” “Who hath called us to His Eternal Glory by” “CHRIST JESUS, after we have suffered” “awhile, make us perfect, stablish, strengthen,” “settle us! To HIM be glory and dominion,” “for ever and ever! Amen.”

DISCOURSE VIII.

ON THE NATURE OF WAR, AND ITS REPUGNANCY TO THE CHRISTIAN LIFE:

From PSALM xcvii. 1.

OCCASIONED BY THE APPOINT-MENT OF A DAY OF PUBLIC THANKSGIVING FOR THE SUCSESSES OBTAINED IN THE PRESENT WAR.

DISCOURSE VIII.

PSALM xcvii. 1.

“THE LORD REIGNETH.”

BY the command of a gracious King, who for more than thirty-two years hath governed us with exemplary justice and benevolence, and tenderly cherished all our liberties, not only as men, but as Protestants and Christians; a day is set apart, to acknowledge, with thankfulness and praise, the astonishing success that has attended the military efforts of this Nation, amidst the uncertain revolutions of an obstinate and bloody War.

Over a people, among whom licentiousness in principles and practice generally prevails, human authority may do well to exert its influence; and in seasons of national prosperity and distress, to appoint those solemn offices of humiliation and praise, without which, perhaps, there would not be found amongst us, even the appearance of sorrow for sin or thankfulness for mercy. For tho', in these offices of national prayer and praise, human authority can extend no further, than prescribing the form, and requiring the outward act; yet, in the observance of the form, and the exercise of the outward act, some dissipated spirits may possibly be brought to recollection and thoughtfulness; and, convinced of their own weakness and vanity, may humbly acknowledge and sincerely devote themselves to "THE LORD THAT REIGNETH," — to HIM, "Who bath measured the waters in the hollow of His Hand, and meted out the heavens with a span, and comprehended the dust of the earth in a measure, and weighed the mountains in scales, and the hills in a balance: in Whose Hand is the soul of every living thing, and the breath of all mankind; Who killeth and

maketh

“ maketh alive ; Who bringeth nations low, “ and lifteth them up ; Who maketh man’s “ wisdom folly, and his strength weakness ;
 “ and Who alone is Strength, and Wisdom, “ and Righteousness, and Salvation, and “ Redemption” from all evil present and future !

The two general views in which the subject of this public thanksgiving can only be considered, are

First, As an event that, in its cause and consequences, is connected only with the present life ; and being visibly produced by the efforts of human wisdom and human strength, is the ground of human exultation and triumph. And,

Secondly, As the sole and immediate work of “ THE LORD THAT REIGNETH”—a part of the administration of that Merciful Providence, which, thro’ all the revolutions of disordered nature and disordered life, pursues but one invariable purpose, THE RE-

DEMPTION AND SALVATION OF

It would be needless to propose the subject, in the first view, to the consideration

* Note D § 2.

Several months after this discourse was written, there was published “An humble, earnest, and affectionate Address to the Clergy, by the Rev. WILLIAM LAW,” in which the excellent authour has demonstrated the fallen state of Christendom; and among the incontestible proofs of that awful fact, has considered The Spirit of War that universally prevails, as well among Protestants, who place their confidence in the possession of the outward historical truth of the Gospel, and in the comparative purity of outward worship; as among Papists, who rely, with equal dependence, upon outward purity, and the decisions of an outward infallible human judge. In the inquiry into the birth and nature of this malignant monster, War, and its enmity and opposition to The Christian Life; the arguments that are made use of in this discourse, are so clearly illustrated by the splendour of new light, and so powerfully enforced by the accession of collateral truths, that, in justice to the subject, I could not forbear bringing to its aid almost all that Mr. LAW has said upon it, which is collected into the notes that are subjoined.

of True Christians ; who know, with the same certainty as they know their own existence, that human nature, left to itself, has no power but that of producing mere evil ; and that every thing within it and without it that is either great or good, is The Free Gift of Grace, The Unmerited Bounty of REDEEMING LOVE. But The True Christian Spirit being almost departed from the earth, True Christian Knowledge, as its inseparable companion, is departed with it, and men seem to be gone back again to their old animal life : and tho', in speculation and idea, they profess an assent to The Truths of Revelation ; yet, in heart and practice, they are too apt to consider the course of all things as connected only with temporal good and evil, and themselves as the center and circumference, the first cause and the last end of all ; ascribing to human understanding designs which only INFINITE WISDOM can form, and to human power events which OMNIPOTENCE only can produce.

Left, therefore, this leaven of darknefs, pride, and vanity, ſhould have taken poſſeſſion and altered the frame and habit of our ſpirits, it may not be improper to conſider the Succeſs of War in the firſt general view, as the viſible effect of human power, in which even the profeſſed Chriſtian is ſo apt to glory as his own work.

If the Chriſtian, however, recollects himſelf, he will find War to be a ſad conſequence of the apoſtaſy and fall of man; when he was abandoned to the fury of his own luſts and paſſions, as the natural and penal effect of breaking looſe from The Divine Government, the fundamental law of which is LOVE* — — “ Thou ſhalt love
 “ THE LORD thy GOD with all thy heart, “ with all thy ſoul, with all thy mind, and “ with all thy ſtrength; and thy FELLOW- “ CREATURE, as thyſelf.

* Note G § 5.

St. James has answered the question with respect to the cause of War, in so precise and determinate a manner, as to preclude all difficulty and doubt about it: “From whence come wars and fightings among you,” says he? “Come they not hence, even of your lusts that war in your members? Ye kill, and desire to have, and cannot obtain: ye fight and war; yet ye have not, because ye ask not,”—because ye have no respect to the will of “THE LORD THAT REIGNETH;” but, forsaking THE SUPREME GOOD, in Whom alone your happiness consists, ye follow an earthly and deceitful good, and think only of procuring it by your own power. “Ye ask and receive not; because ye ask amiss”---from a pretended respect to “THE LORD THAT REIGNETH,” but solely for animal and sensual enjoyment, “that ye may consume it upon your lusts.”

In this very explicit and true account, War, like all other evils, is described as centering

centering in itself; and the end of it, is declared to be the gratification of those very appetites and passions, from which it derives its birth. And thus it ever was, and ever will be---for in this unhappy circle, which is, indeed, the great circle of the history of fallen man, the fatal mischief proceeds: War is the offspring of the inseparable union between the sensual and malignant passions; War protracted to a certain period, necessarily compels peace; peace revives and extends trade and commerce; trade and commerce give new life, vigour, and scope, to the sensual and malignant passions; and these naturally tend to generate another War.

But War, considered in itself, is the premeditated and determined destruction of human beings; of creatures originally “formed after The IMAGE OF GOD,” and whose preservation, for that reason, is secured by GOD Himself within the fences of this righteous law, that “at the hand
“ of

“ of every man's brother, the life of man shall be required.” And tho' this created Image of THE HOLY TRIUNE GOD must be owned to have been so wretchedly defaced, as to retain but a very faint resemblance of its Divine Original; yet, as the highest inforcement of that Heavenly law, which was published for the security of life, it is most graciously renewed by The Incarnation of THE SON OF GOD, and The Indwelling of THE HOLY GHOST.

Further : the consequences of War, when impartially examined, will be found big, not only with outward and temporal distress,* but with an evil that extends where in the darkness and tumult of human passions it is neither expected nor conceived to reach. That property is confounded, scattered, and destroyed; that laws are trampled under foot, government despised, and the ties of all civil and domestic order

broken into pieces ; that fruitful countries are made deserts, and stately cities a heap of ruins ; that matrons and virgins are violated ; and neither the innocence of unoffending infancy, nor the impotence of decrepit age, a protection from the raging thirst for blood ; is but the mortal progeny of this teeming womb of mischief. The worst is still behind * — and tho' remote from those senses and passions that are exercised only by present good and evil, and, therefore, not the object of common concern ; must yet, upon the least recollection, impress with horror every mind that believes there is a Righteous GOD, and a state of retribution that is to last for ever. But what must The Christian feel? — he, who knows that the fall of man is a fall from Meekness, Purity, and Love, into Sensuality, Pride, and Wrath ; that THE SON OF GOD became incarnate, and suffered, and died, to restore that First Life of Meekness, Purity, and Love ; and that for those, in whom The Restoration of That Life is not begun in the present state, THE SON OF GOD incarnate has, it is to be dreaded, suffered and died in vain ----- what must he feel for those immortal spirits, that, in the earliest dawn of their day of purification, are by hundreds and thousands driven into eternity, in the bitterness of enmity and wrath---some inflamed with drunkenness; some fired with lust; and all stained with blood? In those direful conflicts, which are maintained with so much rage, that when the Vanquished at last retreats with the slaughter of TWENTY-THOUSAND HUMAN BEINGS, the Victor finds he has purchased some little advantage at the expence of MORE THAN HALF THAT NUMBER ----- Heaven and earth! what a possibility is here of a sacrifice made to “The Prince of Darkness,” the first and chief apostate! who rejoices * in beholding men, thro’ the abuse of those benefits which undeserved Mercy has conferred upon them, transformed into enmity and hatred of GOD and their brethren; forsaken by GOD, and destroying one another: and thus hastening once more into his horrid society; that having been accomplices in his rebellion, they may become partakers of his misery and torment.

Now, if the man of valour, whom consenting nations have dignified with the title of HERO,* and the man devoted to the world, are asked, from whence this immortal mischief, that may thus extend its influence into the regions of eternity, can proceed; what must they answer? Indeed, what can they answer, but that it is engendered by the love of human glory --- as vain a phantom as ever played before a madman's eye! by the lust of dominion; the avarice of wealth; and the infamous ambition of being dreaded as the conquerors and tyrants of mankind? Heaven preserve Britain from these "earthly, sensual, devilish" motives; so repugnant to the generous, compassionate, and forgiving temper, with which REDEEMING MERCY has blest it, in union with the irradiance of Heavenly Light; that Light which is intended to remove all the darkness of human corruption, and transform selfish, sensual, proud, and malignant spirits, into Angels of Patience, Humility, Meekness, Purity, and Love; the “children and heirs of GOD, the brethren and joint heirs of CHRIST!”

But Britain, in the midst of those outward advantages in which she is so apt to place her confidence, must not forget, that there is no possibility of being preserved from such principles, dreadful and detestable as they are, but by the most humble, affectionate, and constant application to and dependence upon “THE LORD THAT REIGNETH,” That Gracious Power which first plucked them from her breast. It is, indeed, a standing observation among the prattlers of human philosophy, “that

“ the mind must be very weak, that cannot “ bear a prosperous condition :” but where is the mind strong enough to bear it, that is not blest from ABOVE with something better than prosperity itself? That is not blessedness, which is something that can be separated from the mind ; much less that, which may leave it miserable to all eternity ;
 and least of all that, which may tend to make it thus miserable, by degenerating into a curse. And this is the case of all external things that are called blessings ; which, in their own nature, are temporary and changeable, and in their use and application may be perverted to the most dangerous and lasting evils : “ If ye will not lay it “ to heart, to give glory unto My Name, “ saieth THE LORD OF HOSTS ; I will “ even send a curse upon you, and I will “ CURSE YOUR BLESSINGS.” All external blessings, whether national or personal, are curses, when they become the fuel of the sensual and malignant fire in corrupt nature ; when they not only alienate

the mind from "THE LORD THAT "REIGNETH," but madden it to impious rebellion and defiance against Him.

From this view of war, begun from human passions, and carried on for human purposes, for honour, dominion, trade, or some other end that centers in the present life; it is evident, that the Christian can have no interest in it: he cannot derive blessing from its success, nor triumph and exult when to the short-sighted view of the human mind the appearance of success presents itself: he knows, that the means are infinitely disproportionate to the end; and his REDEEMER Himself has declared, that "all they that take the sword," inflamed by malignity, and seeking some earthly and temporal good, "shall perish with the sword." But, without any circumstances of limitation, the same REDEEMER, in the Revelation of his future judgments upon a fallen and obstinately evil world, has further declared, that "he that leadeth into captivity, O 2 shall

“ shall go into captivity ; and he that killeth “ with the sword, must be killed with the “ sword : Here is the trial of the faith and “ patience of the saints,” who, being called to a state of suffering, and treading in the footsteps of their Great Exemplar, “ when “ they are reviled, revile not again ; when “ they suffer, threaten not ; but commit them- “ selves to THE LORD THAT REIGN- “ ETH, to Him that judgeth righteously.” And to this solemn declaration of righteous judgment, the penman of that awful book calls upon all mankind to attend, and says, “ If any man have an ear,” an ear that is not totally deafened by the tumultuous passions of nature, separated from GOD, and turned wholly to itself, “ let him now “ bear ;” let him now repent, and forsaking his own sensual and malignant will, seek after THE GOD OF PEACE AND LOVE, and live.

We will, therefore, turn our attention to the only light in which Success in War can

can properly be considered by us ; namely, As the sole work of “ THE LORD THAT “ REIGNETH”----- a part of the administration of that Merciful Providence, which, thro’ all the revolutions of disordered nature and disordered life, pursues but one invariable purpose, THE REDEMPTION AND SALVATION OF MAN.

The disorders of nature and of life are wholly the effects of sin ; of a voluntary aversion and alienation from the Life, Light, and Love of GOD, in perfect Union with which, perfect Purity, Peace, and Happiness, are only to be found. Hence that discordancy of the outward elements, which brings forth pestilence, famine, inundations, earthquakes, storms, and tempests : hence, in the corporal part of the human frame, pain, sickness, and death ; in the mental, sensuality, pride, and malignity, including all the selfish and wrathful passions, that, between individuals, engender envy, hatred, injury, resentment, and revenge, and between tween nations a peculiar kind of enmity and wrong that issues in war. In the elements strife and evil will subsist, 'till they are purified and united by the last renovating fire ; in man, 'till all the designs of Grace are fully accomplished : but surrounded with evil as men are, and full of evil themselves, what would become of the whole wretched race at any given instant of time, at this very moment for example, if the effects of that evil were not continually suspended and directed by Infinite Power, so as to become continually subservient to the purposes of Infinite Wisdom, Righteousness, and Love, in UNIVERSAL REDEMPTION? *

The nature of That REDEMPTION it would be needless to mention, if in this age of levity we were not so apt to forget it. It is, in general, a Full Restoration of THE LIFE OF GOD in the soul ; That Life of FATHER SON AND HOLY SPIRIT,

which was once The Life and Perfection of fallen Angels and fallen Man ; which is and only can be The Life and Perfection of all Holy Angels ; and which THE SON OF GOD has been restoring to human nature, from the time in which Adam fell.

When THE SON OF GOD became incarnate, what was implied in this REDEMPTION as the effect of its influence upon man, was fully evident from His Doctrine and His Life ; namely, the conquest and renunciation of the world, and the death of the will and all the appetites and passions of fallen animal nature, thro' faith in HIS NAME ----- not an historical and speculative faith, a meer rational assent to the truth of a well attested history of facts and doctrines ; but a full, ardent, continual DESIRE OF THE LIFE OF CHRIST, as begotten and formed in the soul by The Continual Operation of THE HOLY GHOST. Thus, what was at first the PERSONAL duties of single Christians, when when they were scattered over the face of the earth, and were only parts of different nations; became afterwards NATIONAL duties, when whole nations became Christian. If, therefore, “to love an enemy, to forgive him, do him good, and pray for him;” if, to “overcome the world,” whose power consists in “the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eye, and the pride of life;” are Christian PERSONAL duties: if, to “love THE LORD OUR GOD with all our heart, with all our soul, with all our mind, and with all our strength, and our FELLOW CREATURES as ourselves;” is the purity and perfection of the Christian PERSONAL life---the same must also be true of Christian NATIONAL life and duty: for a Christian nation differs no otherwise from a Christian person, than as the whole differs from one of the parts of which it essentially consists; and is only the aggregated body of those single persons, on whom universally such duties are enjoined,

from whom univerſally ſuch perfection is required.*

But, to This Perfect and Heavenly Life and Duty, War is repugnant, in its cauſe, in itſelf, and in its conſequences : it can be only comparatively irrepugnant, with reſpect to the degrees of its own evil ; and the more or leſs it partakes of the malignity of animal paſſions, and the ſenſuality of animal views, the more or leſs obnoxious muſt it render a people to the ſevere judgments of “ THE LORD THAT REIGN-

There are, undoubtedly, inſtances of War on the deſenſive ſide, in which a nation is prompted to draw the ſword, from a mixture of ſuch motives, as may render it far leſs culpable than the hoſtile and offensive invader : from a deſire to protect that liberty, in the preſervation of which the liberty of mankind ſeems to be included ; from a concern for the support of that purity of faith and doctrine, which is found to be highly instrumental to man's salvation; and with an entire dependence on The Wisdom and Power of "THE LORD " THAT REIGNETH" for direction and support, and an humble resignation of the event to His holy and unerring Will: and such, at least, it is to be wished, is the War in which we are now engaged. But notwithstanding the comparative excellency of motives and ends, it is still a situation unspeakably awful and alarming; and in our applications to The Throne of Grace, whether in prayer for success, or in thankfulness and praise for deliverance, we should approach "with fear and trembling," and the humblest diffidence of ourselves and our own acts: for the hands we lift up, tho' they may be free from the premeditated guilt of blood, are yet stained with the vital treasures of those human beings, who were once not only allied to us by nature, but our "dear brethren in CHRIST JESUS,"

ransomed at the same Precious Price, and dependent upon the same Mercy with ourselves.

It is by no means my intention, to lessen the value of those events that are the occasion of the approaching solemn assembly: I have only endeavoured, by comparing the malignant and tremendous state in which they arise, with THE INDISPENSIBLE DUTY AND PERFECTION OF THE CHRISTIAN LIFE, that pure standard of Truth, by which alone we can safely judge of every thing relating to man! to shew their real nature and importance, and how easily that which is not good in itself, may become the fruitful root of substantial and lasting evil.

Success in War is not, cannot be, the ground of human exultation and triumph; it is not, cannot be, the effect of human wisdom and human strength, which are but the vapours of a moment when opposed to

The

The Wisdom and Strength of "THE LORD THAT REIGNETH:" it is not, cannot be, a reason for extravagant riot, and the intemperance of animal joy; for the contempt, derision, and abuse, of a vanquished enemy; nor for erecting any fabrick of earthly and sensual good, that must perish with the world on which it is raised.

Success in War is, and can be nothing else, but the sole and immediate work of "THE LORD THAT REIGNETH" ----- the awful declaration of His Perfect and Unerring Will, controlling the evil that is born of sin, and directing its effects to ends infinitely exalted above those of the ambition, avarice, pride, and cruelty of man.

But the sword is still suspended ----- and who can say, where it may fall next? Who will presume to prescribe to Infinite Wisdom, in the choice of those means that are best adapted to the ends of Infinite Justice? If,

If, therefore, we are destitute of that enlightened Faith and fervent Charity, which are necessary to extend our views after the footsteps of DIVINE GOODNESS, in the stupendous work of UNIVERSAL REDEMPTION; and will ignorantly appropriate the late prosperous events, and confine them to ourselves as a peculiar and separated people, the glory and terrour of the world! — if this is the partial and selfish light, in which we behold the operations of Eternal Providence; then, let it be the ground of our thankfulness and praise, that the rage of War has not yet reached the shores of this highly-favoured Island; the antient abode of Freedom, Health, and Plenty! the illuminated and peaceful Goshen, in the midst of a dark and troubled region of the world!

And will not so kind an exemption remind us of the boundless love of pleasure, the vanity and dissipation, the impiety, profaneness and infidelity, that have long controlled trolled our spirits, and rendered us wholly “ unprepared to meet our GOD” in such formidable terrours? Will not the recollection of Mercy so abused, suggest to us the danger of our state? Will not the idea of a situation that is the proper punishment of such ingratitude, convince us of the vanity of all human dependence; and the immediate necessity of turning to The Throne of Grace in penitence and prayer, to obtain that Meekness, Humility, Patience, Resignation, and Charity, The Regenerated LIFE OF CHRIST in the fallen soul, by which alone we can subdue all the evil both within us and without us; desiring and seeking no other happiness, but that “ The Will of THE LORD THAT REIGNETH may be done on earth, as it is done in Heaven?”

If we took any pains to distinguish between that which is immutably good in itself, and that which is good only by accident, and in some circumstances may be evil;

evil ; we should soon be convinced, that no external advantages can make him happy, who lives in infidelity and sin : that without the immediate protection of “ THE LORD “ THAT REIGNETH,” man cannot be safe ; without the immediate influence of HIS SPIRIT on the heart, man cannot be good : and that nothing is truly valuable, that has not a direct reference to an everlasting state of being, and the interests of That Kingdom which will never have an end : “ When the world passeth away, and “ the lust thereof,” says St. John ; “ be “ that doth The Will of GOD, abideth “ for ever.” And if to these indubitable truths, which are impressed upon every mind, confirmed by the experience of daily life, and continually presented to our view, we always had recourse ; the real good and evil of our state, whether in peace or war, whether as nations or individuals, would be known as they are in themselves, and no longer disguised by the flattering delusions of our own hearts, and the false maxims

of a corrupt, changeable, and perishing world.

Upon the whole :

Having been prompted to draw the destroying sword, and support the power of War with the application of all our strength ----- if we could totally renounce, and truly deplore, the known and unknown evil there may be in such an act—— if we did not triumph in success, obtained by the horrible effusion of the blood of Fellow-men and Fellow-Christians——if we pursued not the sensual and selfish ends of ambition, avarice, and glory——if we sincerely wished to have the comforts of liberty and safety diffused to all : particularly, if we desired, that to “ the people who sit in darkness and “ the shadow of death,” might be peacefully communicated the peaceful knowledge and power of that LOVE which can alone redeem us*-----and if, with the most entire

dependence on The Wisdom and Power of “THE LORD THAT REIGNETH,” we resigned ourselves, and all our designs, to the guidance of His Spirit, and the determination of His Will; seeking only “the glory of HIS HOLY NAME, that it may be known all over the earth, and His Saving Health dispensed to every nation:” If, I say, such Deep Repentance, such Abstraction from animal life, such Compassion and Good-will towards man, such Resignation Adherence and Love to GOD, could possibly subsist in the obdurate, selfish, malignant, and impious State of War---

Then might we hope, not to be broken off from THE ROCK OF OUR SALVATION, and abandoned to the wrath of nature, because “our hands are full of blood:”

Then might our offerings of praise and thanksgiving be blameless and acceptable in His Sight:

Then

Then might we celebrate the labours of the upright Statesman with applause, and embalm the memory of the fallen General with tears :

Then, also, in reference as well to the event, as to the rise and progress of all such principles, motives and acts ; we might, with confidence, pray for our Royal Master.

Let us, however, in the midst of all our evil, with hearts united by fidelity, gratitude, reverence, and that love which sanctifies allegiance ; beseech “ THE LORD “ THAT REIGNETH OVER ALL,” to pour The Treasures of Grace into the heart of our venerable King ; to preserve his valuable life in health and ease ; and to satisfy the longings of his soul, with the restoration of a Sure and Holy Peace to the contending nations of the world---the earnest of That UNIVERSAL AND EVERLASTING PEACE,

PEACE, which CHRIST THE REDEEMER, thro' all the disorders of nature and of life, is preparing for “ those,
 “ that love and long for His Appearance!
 “ when the earth shall be full of the knowledge “ of THE LORD THAT REIGNETH,

 “ shall be beaten into plough-shares, and spears “ into pruning-hooks: when nations shall not “ lift up the arm of violence against nation, “ NEITHER SHALL THERE BE WAR “ ANY MORE: when every man shall sit “ under his vine, and under his fig-tree, and “ none shall make him afraid——for all peo-

(A) With outward and temporal distress.] The temporal miseries and wrongs, which War carries along with it wherever it goes, are neither to be numbered nor expressed. — What thievery bears any proportion to that, which, with the boldness of drum and trumpet, plunders the innocent of all that they have? And if themselves are left alive, with all their limbs, or their daughters unravished; they have many times only the ashes of their consumed houses to lie down upon. — What honour has War not gotten from its tens and tens of hundreds of thousands of men slaughtered on heaps, with as little regret or concern, as at loads of rubbish thrown into a pit? ADDRESS, p. 175, l. 9—23.

Note B.

(B) The worst is still behind.] But there is still an evil of War much greater, tho' less regarded — Who reflects, how many hundreds of thousands, nay millions of YOUNG MEN, born into this world for no other end, but that they may be “born again of CHRIST,” and from sons of Adam’s misery become “sons of GOD,

“ and fellow-heirs with CHRIST” in everlasting glory ; who reflects, I say, what nameless numbers of these are robbed of GOD’s Precious Gift of Life to them, before they have known the one sole benefit of living ; who are not suffered to stay in this world, till age and experience have done their best for them, have helped them to know the inward voice and operation of GOD’s SPIRIT, helped them to find and feel that evil curse and sting of death, which must be taken from within them before they can die the death of the righteous ; but, instead of all this, have been either violently forced, or tempted in the fire of youth and full strength of sinful lusts, to forget GOD, eternity, and their own souls, and rush into a kill or be killed, with as much furious haste and goodnes of spirit, as tyger kills tyger for the sake of his prey ? ADDRESS, p. 175, l. 28, to l. 23 of p. 176. [See Note D, § 2.]

(C) The man of valour, whom consenting nations have dignified with the title of HERO.]

1. Who, but the fiery dragon, would put wreaths of laurel on such HEROES heads ? Who, but he, could say unto them, “ Well done, good and “ faithful

“ faithful servants? ” ADDRESS, p. 175, l. 23 —27.

2. The Christian who acts in the destroying fury of War, acts in full contrariety to the whole Nature and Spirit of CHRIST; and can no more be said to be led by His Spirit, or be One with Him, than those his enemies “ who came forth with swords and staves to take Him. ” Blinded Protestants think they have the glory of slaughtering blind Papists; and the victorious Papist claims the merit of having conquered troops of Heretics. But alas! the conquest is equally great on both sides; both are entitled to the glory of the same victory: and the glorious victory, on both sides, is only that of having GOSPEL-GOODNESS equally under their feet.

3. When a Most Christian Majesty, with his catholic church, sings a Te Deum at the high altar, for rivers of Protestant blood poured out; or an Evangelic church sings praise and glory to THE LAMB OF GOD, for helping them, from His Holy Throne in Heaven, to make Popish towns like to Sodom and Gomorrhah; they blaspheme GOD, as much as Cain would have done, had he offered a sacrifice of praise to GOD, for helping him to murder his brother — Let such worshippers of GOD be told this, that the field of blood gives all its glory to Satan, who was “a murderer from the beginning ;” and will, to the end of his reign, be the only receiver of all the glory that can come from it.

4. A glorious Alexander in the heathen world, is a shame and reproach to human nature ; and does more mischief to mankind in a few years, than all the wild beasts, in every wilderness upon earth, have ever done from the beginning of the world to this day. But such a HERO, making the same ravage from country to country with Christian soldiers, has more thanks from the Devil, than twenty pagan Alexanders would ever have had. To make men kill men, is meat and drink to that roaring adversary of mankind, “who goeth about seeking whom he may devour :” but to make Christians kill Christians for the sake of CHRIST’S Church, is his highest triumph over THE HIGHEST MARK, which CHRIST has set upon those whom He has purchased by His Blood — “This commandment,” saith He, “I give unto you, that ye LOVE ONE ANO-” “THER — By this shall all men know that ye are” “ my

“ my disciples, if ye LOVE ONE ANOTHER as I “ have LOVED YOU.”

5. Can the Duellist, who had rather sheath his sword in the bowels of his brother, than flifle that which he calls an affront ; can he be said to have THIS MARK of belonging to CHRIST ? and may not he that is called his Second, more justly be said, to be second to none in the love of human murder ? Now, what is the difference between the haughty Duellist, with his provided Second, meeting his adversary with sword and pistol, behind a hedge or a house ; and two kingdoms, with their high-spirited regiments, slaughtering one another in the field of battle ? It is the difference that is between the murder of one man, and the murder of an hundred thousand. Now imagine the Duellist fasting and confessing his sins to GOD to-day, because he is engaged to fight his brother to-morrow ; fancy again the Conqueror got into his closet, and, on his bended knees, lifting up hands and heart to GOD, for blessing his weapons with the death of his brother ; and then you have a picture, in little, of the great piety, that begins and ends the Wars all over Heavenly Christendom. Note D.

(D) Surrounded with evil as men are, &c.]

1. That GOD's Providence over his fallen creatures, is nothing else but a Providence of Love and Salvation; turning, through ways of Infinite Wisdom, sooner or later, all kinds of evil into a New Good; making that which was lost to be found, that which was dead to be alive again; not willing that one single sinner should want That, which can save him from eternal death; is a truth as certain, as that GOD's Name is, I AM THAT I AM.

2. Love, Goodness, and Communication of Good, is the immutable Glory and Perfection of the DIVINE NATURE; and nothing can have Union with GOD, but that which partakes of This Goodness. The Love that brought forth the existence of all things, changes not thro' the fall of its creatures; but is continually at work, to bring back all fallen nature and creature, to their First State of Goodness. All that passes for a time between GOD and his fallen creature, is but one and the same thing, working for one and the same end: and tho' this is called wrath, that called punishment, curse, and death; it is all, from the beginning to the end, nothing but The Work of The first Creating Love; and means nothing else, does nothing else, but those works of purifying fire, which must, and alone can, burn away all that dark evil, which separates the creature from its First Created Union with GOD. GOD's Providence, from The Fall to The Restitution of all things, is doing the same thing, as when He said to the dark chaos of fallen nature, "Let there be light;" He still saith, and will continue saying the same thing, till there is no evil of darkness left in all that is nature and creature. GOD creating, GOD illuminating, GOD sanctifying, GOD threatening and punishing, GOD forgiving and redeeming, is but one and the same essential, immutable, never-ceasing Working of The DIVINE NATURE. That in GOD, which illuminates and glorifies Saints and Angels in Heaven; is that very same Working of The DIVINE NATURE, which wounds, pains, punishes, and purifies Sinners upon earth. And every number of destroyed sinners, whether thrown by Noah's flood, or Sodom's brimstone, into the terrible furnace of a life, insensible of any thing

but new forms of raging misery, till Judgment's day; must, thro' the all-working, all-redeeming LOVE OF GOD which never ceases, come at last to know, that they had lost, and have found again, such a GOD OF LOVE as This.

2. Now, from this view of GOD's Infinite Love and Mercy in CHRIST JESUS, willing nothing, seeking nothing, thro' all the regions of His Providence, but that sinners of all kinds, the boldest rebels against all His Goodness, may have their proper remedy, their necessary means of being fully delivered from all that hurt, mischief, and destruction, which, in full opposition to their GOD and Creator, they had brought upon themselves; from this view, I say, of GOD and CHRIST, using every miracle of Love and Wisdom, to give Recovery of Life, Health, and Salvation, to all that have rebelled against Them; look at The Murdering Monster of War! And what can its name or nature be, but a Fiery Great Dragon, a full figure of Satan broke loose, and fighting against every REDEEMING VIRTUE OF THE LAMB OF GOD? Look at Warring Christendom! what smallest drop of Pity towards sinners, is to be found in it? or how could a spirit all hellish, more fully contrive and hasten their destruction? It stirs up and kindles every passion of fallen nature, that is contrary to the all-humble, all-meek, all-loving, all-forgiving, all-saving Spirit of CHRIST.—It unites, it drives, and compels nameless numbers of unconverted sinners to fall, murdering and murdered, amongst flashes of fire, with the wrath and swiftness of lightning, into a fire infinitely worse than that in which they died. — O sad subject for Thanksgiving days, whether in Popish or Protestant churches! For if there is a Joy of all the Angels in Heaven, for “one sinner that repenteth ;” what a joy must there be in hell, over such multitudes of sinners not suffered to repent? And if “they who have converted many to righteousness, shall shine as stars in the firmament for ever ;” what Chorazin’s woe may they not justly fear, whose proud wrath and vain-glory have robbed such numberless troops of poor wretches, of all time and place of knowing what righteousness they wanted for the salvation of their immortal souls?

3. “For the glory of his Majesty’s arms,” said once a Most Christian King: Now if, at that time, his catholic church had called a solemn assembly, to unite hearts and voices in this pious prayer,

prayer, “ O blessed JESUS, dear Redeeming “ LAMB OF GOD, Who camest down from “ Heaven to save mens lives and not destroy “ them ! go along, we humbly pray Thee, with “ our bomb-vessels and fire-ships ; suffer not our “ thundering cannon to roar in vain ; but let “ Thy tender hand of Love and Mercy direct “ their balls to more heads and hearts of thine “ own redeemed creatures, than the poor skill “ of man is able of itself to do”—had not such prayers had more of the “ man of the earth,” more of “ the son of perdition” in them, than the Most Christian king’s glorying in his arms ? O when will one single Christian church, or people, tremble at the share they have in the Death of sinners ! ADDRESS, p. 176, l. 24 to l. 2 of p.

Note E.

(E) The same must also be true of Christian NA- TIONAL life and duty, &c.] I. What blindness can well be greater, than to think, that a Christian Kingdom, as such, can have any other Goodness, or Union with CHRIST, but that very Goodness,

Goodness, which makes the Private Christian to be One with Him, and a Partaker of The Divine Nature? Or that pride, wrath, ambition, envy, covetousness, rapine, resentment, revenge, hatred, mischief, and murder, are only “the works of the devil,” whilst they are committed by private or single men; but when carried on by all the strength and authority, all the hearts, hands, and voices of a Whole Nation, that the devil is then quite driven out of them, loses all his right and power in them, and they become holy matter of church-thanksgivings and the sacred oratory of pulpits.

2. Look at that which the Private Christian is to do to his neighbour, or his enemy; and you see that very thing, which one Christian Kingdom is to do to another. Look at that, which proves a man to be not led and governed by The Spirit of CHRIST; and you see that, which proves a Kingdom to be under the dominion and power of Satan. — Wherever pride is, there the Devil is riding in his first fiery chariot; and wherever wrath is, there he has his first murdering sword at work. What is it that fallen man wants to be redeemed from, but pride and wrath, envy and covetousness? He can have no higher separation or apostasy from GOD, no fuller union with Satan and his angels, than he has of the spirit of these tempers: they constitute that, which, whether you call it SELF or SATAN in him, the meaning is the same.

3. Now suppose man not fallen into this SELF or SATAN, and then there could be no more War or fighting in him, than there was in THE WORD made man in our flesh. Or suppose him redeemed from his fallen nature, by a new birth of THE LAMB OF GOD born in his soul; and then he can no more be hired to kill men gloriously in the field, than to carry a dark lantern by night to a powder-plot. ADDRESS, p. 170, l. 7, to l. 23 of p. 171.

Note F.

(F) If we desired, that to the people who sit in darkness, &c.] Would you further see the fall of the Universal Church, from being led by THE SPIRIT OF CHRIST, to be guided by the inspiration of the great fiery dragon; look at all European Christendom sailing round the globe, with fire and sword, and every murdering art of war, war, to seize the possessions, and kill the inhabitants, of both the Indies. What natural right of man, what Supernatural Virtue which CHRIST brought down from Heaven, was not here trodden under foot? All that you ever heard or read of heathen barbarity, was here outdone by Christian conquerors. And to this day, what wars of Christians against Christians, blended with scalping heathens, still keep staining the earth and the seas with human blood, for a miserable share in the spoils of a plundered heathen world! A world, which should have heard, or seen, or felt nothing from The Followers of CHRIST, but a DIVINE LOVE, that had forced them from distant lands, and through the perils of long seas, to visit strangers with Those Glad Tidings of Peace and Salvation to all the world, which Angels from Heaven, and shepherds on earth, proclaimed at The Birth of CHRIST. ADDRESS, p. 180 l. 1—26.

Note G.

1. Now, let “the wisdom of this world,” from its learned throne, condemn all this as enthusiasm; it need be no trouble to any one, to be condemned by “that wisdom,” which GOD Himself hath

condemned as “ foolishness with Him.” For “ the wisdom of his world” hath all the contrariety to Divine Wisdom, that the flesh hath to The Spirit, earth to Heaven, or damnation to Salvation. It is a wisdom, whose spirit and breath keep all the evil that is in fallen man alive; and which, in its highest excellence, has only the full grown nature of that “ carnal mind, which is Enmity against GOD.” It is a “ wisdom that is sensual and devilish;” that hinders man from knowing and dying all those deaths, without which there can be no New Life.

2. This wisdom hath asked, “ how it is possible for Christian kingdoms, in the neighbourhood of one another, to preserve themselves; unless the strength and weapons of War are every one’s defence, against such invasions incroachments, and robberies, as would otherwise be the fate of Christian Kingdoms from one another.”

3. This question is so far from needing to be answered, that it confesses all, and proves all that has been said of the fallen state of Christendom, to be strictly true. For if this is the governing

ing spirit of Christian Kingdoms, that no one of them can subsist in safety from its neighbouring Christian Kingdom, but by its Weapons of War; are not all Christian Kingdoms equally in the same Unchristian State, as two neighbouring bloody knaves, who cannot be safe from one another, but as each other's murdering arms preserve and protect them? This plea, therefore, for Christendom's wars, proves nothing else but The Want of Christianity all over the Christian World; and stands upon no better a foundation of righteousness and goodness, than when one murdering knave kills another that would have killed him.

4. But to know, whether Christianity wants or admits of War, Christianity is to be considered as in its Right State. Now the true state of the World turned Christian, is thus described by the great Gospel-Prophet, who shewed what a CHANGE it was to make in the fallen state of the world—— “ It shall come to pass,” saith he, “ in the last days,” that is, in the days of Christendom, “ that The Mountain of The LORD's “ house,” His Christian Kingdom, “ shall be “ established in the top of the mountains, and all “ nations shall flow unto it; and many people shall “ say, Let us go up to The Mountain of The “ LORD’S house, and He will teach us of His “ Ways, and we will walk in His Paths.” Isaiah ii. 2, 3. Now, what follows from this going up of the nations to The Mountain of The LORD’S house, from His teaching them of His Ways, and their walking in His Paths? The holy Prophet expressly tells you in his following words, ver. 4, “ They shall beat their swords into plough- “ shares, and their spears into pruning-hooks: na- “ tion shall not lift up its sword against nation, “ NEITHER SHALL THEY LEARN WAR ANY “ MORE.”

5. This is the Prophet’s True Christendom; with one and the same essential DIVINE MARK set upon it, as when THE LAMB OF GOD said, “ By THIS shall all men know, that ye are my “ disciples, IF YE LOVE ONE ANOTHER AS I “ HAVE LOVED YOU.” CHRIST’S Kingdom of GOD is no where come, but where “ the works “ of the devil are destroyed,” and men are “ turned from the power of Satan unto GOD.” GOD is only another name for THE HIGHEST AND ONLY GOOD; and the Highest and Only Good, means nothing else but LOVE with all its Works——Satan is only another name for the whole

whole and all of evil; and the whole of evil is nothing else, but its whole contrariety to LOVE: and the sum total of all contrariety to Love, is contained in Pride, Wrath, Strife, Self, Envy, Hatred, Revenge, Mischief, and Murder. Look at these, with all their fruits that belong to them, and then you see all the princely power, that Satan is, and has in this fallen world

6. Would you see, when and where the Kingdoms of this fallen world are become a Kingdom of GOD, the Gospel-Prophet tells you, it is then and there where ALL ENMITY ceaseth——

“ The wolf,” saith he, “ shall dwell with the lamb, “ and the leopard shall lie down with the kid;
 “ the calf, and the young lion, and the fatling “ together, and a little child shall lead them. The “ cow and the bear shall feed, their young ones shall “ lie down together; and the lion shall eat straw like “ an ox. The sucking child shall play on the hole “ of the asp, and the weaned child shall put his hand “ on the cockatrice’s den.” (N. B.) “ They shall “ not HURT or DESTROY IN ALL MY HOLY “ MOUNTAIN.” Isaiah xi. 6. See here a Kingdom of GOD on the earth! It is nothing else but a Kingdom of mere LOVE, where all HURT and DESTROYING is done away, and every work of ENMITY changed into one united power of HEAVENLY LOVE. But observe, again and again, whence this comes to pass, that GOD'S Kingdom on earth is, and can be nothing else, but the power of REIGNING LOVE—— The Prophet tells you, it is, because in the Day of His Kingdom, “ the earth shall be full of The “ Knowledge of the LORD, as the waters cover “ the sea!” —— Therefore, O Christendom! THY WARS are thy certain proof, that thou art all over as full of an Ignorance of GOD, “ as the “ waters cover the sea.”

7. As to the present fallen state of Universal Christendom, working under the spirit and power of the great fiery dragon, it is not my intention to shew, how any part of it can subsist, or preserve itself from being devoured by every other part, but by its own dragon-weapons.

8. But the Christendom that neither wants, nor allows of War, is only THAT, where CHRIST IS KING, and HIS HOLY SPIRIT THE ONLY GOVERNOR of the wills, affections, and designs of all that belong to it. It is my complaint against and charge upon all the Nations of Christendom, tendom, that this necessity of murdering arms is the dragon's monster, that is equally brought forth by all and every part of fallen Christendom; and that, therefore, all and every part, as well Popish as Protestant, are at One and the Same Distance from THE SPIRIT of their Lord and Saviour THE LAMB OF GOD, and therefore All want One and the Same Entire Reformation. ADDRESS p. 180 l. 1 to l. 13 of p. 181; p. 183 l. 24 to the end; p. 184, 185, 186, 187.

DISCOURSE IX.

ON THE DESIRE OF THE COMING OF THE LORD JESUS:

From REV. XXI. 20.

DISCOURSE IX.

R. E. V. xxii. 20.

“COME, LORD JESUS!”

THIS is the fervent invocation of the Evangelist St. John ----- of him, who was distinguished by the honourable appellation of “the beloved disciple ;” who had leaned on his Master’s bosom, and was eminently endued with His Spirit ; and to whom the sublimer mysteries of His Universal Kingdom were made known.

He was favoured with a representation of the state of the church thro’ all its periods ; “the things that were, and the things that should be hereafter : and in this vision, he beheld the various revolutions of error and truth, impurity and holiness, affliction and peace ; the permitted release, and temporary triumph, of the great adversary of souls ; the utter dissolution of his p’ and his final and irreverfible condemnation. He beheld the awful appearance of the Supreme Judge----- “ the univerfal filent at“ tention of all to the loud blafts of that “ alarming trumpet, which fhakes the “ pillars of the world, pierces the inmoft “ caverns of the earth, refounds from every “ part of the encircling heavens, and af-“ fembles together the living and the dead “ ----- the judgment fet; the books “ opened; the adjudication of all to their “ eternal ftates; the heavens rolled up as a “ fcrowl; the earth, and all things therein, “ confumed and burnt up!” He beheld, alfo, the “ New Heavens, and the New “ Earth, wherein dwelleth Righteoufnefs!” the fplendour, purity, and happinefs of which, are defcribed in the twenty-first chapter of this Divine book, with the fub-limeft images.

And a voice from heaven faid, “ Behold, “ The Tabernacle of GOD is with men;
 “ and He will dwell with them, and they fhall “ be

“ be His People ; and GOD Himself shall be “ with them, and be their GOD ! And “ GOD shall wipe all tears from their eyes ;
 “ and there shall be no more death, neither “ sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be “ any more pain : for the former things are “ past away ! He that overcometh, shall in- “ herit all things : he shall drink of The “ River of The Water of Life, that issues “ from The Throne of GOD and THE “ LAMB ; and eat of The Tree of Life, that “ grows on the banks of that river, whose “ Leaves are for the Healing of the nations.
 “ And behold, I come quickly ; and my reward “ is with me, to give to every man according “ to his work,” according to the prevailing work of his will. “ Blessed are they that do “ his commandments, that they may have a “ right to The Tree of Life ; and may enter “ in, thro’ the gates, into The City of GOD : “ for without are dogs, the fearful and unbe- “ lieving, the abominable, and murderers, and “ whoremongers, and forcerers, and idolaters, “ and whosoever loveth and maketh a lie ! I

“ JESUS,

“ JESUS, who have sent mine Angel to testify “ these things, I am the root and offspring of “ David, and The Bright and Morning-Star.
 “ And The Spirit and The Bride say, Come!
 “ And let him that heareth say, Come! And “ let him that is athirst, come: and whofo- “ ever will, let him take The Water of Life “ freely. He which testifieth these things, “ saitb,---Surely, I come quickly!” And to this gracious assurance, the pure and devout heart of the Evangelist immediately replies
 —“Amen! Even so---Come, LORD JESUS!”

For The Restoration of fallen nature, and to establish the foundation of an universal conquest over all its evil thro' The Power of a Divine Life manifested in it, CHRIST came once by incarnation, and “dwelt “ among men full of Grace and Truth:” and to accomplish the design of that wonderful dispensation, He shall come at last as a glorious Judge, to make an awful distinction, and an everlasting separation, between evil and good. And it is principally in this respect, spect, that the Evangelist desires Him to come --- “ Come, LORD JESUS, as an “ Almighty Judge, to subvert Anti-Christ, “ and destroy the kingdom of sin and Satan!

 “ Come, as an Almighty Redeemer, and “ bring a full and final deliverance from all “ evil, to all contrite and broken hearted “ sinners!”

It is the unfeigned desire of every soul that has received “ The Spirit of adoption,” to obtain The Enjoyment of CHRIST. He so ardently longs to behold the Face of his REDEEMER, and to live continually in His Transforming Presence, that his apprehension can suggest to him nothing so precious. Having had some perception of the happiness which his heart perpetually sighs for, he says ----- “ If the first fruits are so grate“ ful, how much more delicious the full “ vintage! If the dawning of the day be “ so bright, how much more resplendent “ the risen sun! If a glimpse of GOD’S “ Reconciled Countenance is so transporting,

“ ing, how transcendently rapturous must “ be The Fulness of that Countenance re“ served for me in the heavens !”

This desire the psalmist hath illustrated by the similitude of a chased hart : “ as the “ hart,” the hart pursued, heated, affrighted, and vexed by the hunters, “ panteth after “ the water-brooks ; so doth my” weary, oppressed, and wounded “ soul pant after “ Thee, O GOD ! my soul thirsteth for “ GOD, for The Living GOD ! When “ shall I come and appear before GOD---” before GOD, in the full sense of His Redeeming Mercy, and the full enjoyment of His Adorable Presence in the highest heavens ? And the chief ground of this desire St. Paul expresses by a metaphor taken from the condition of the naked, who have neither garment to cover nor house to receive them. As such wretchedness will naturally seek after a place of shelter, and wish for a covering to conceal its shame ; so The Christian, convinced of the poverty and deformity formity of his fallen life, longs for “a building not made with hands,” an eternal habitation, which he knows GOD has prepared for his redeemed spirit ; and for that Union with CHRIST, which will invest him with The Pure and Spotless, The Rich and Honourable Robe of His Righteousness. “We desire to be cloathed upon, that Mortality may be swallowed up of LIFE :” we long to have this corruptible put on incorruption : we groan to be delivered from this earthly body of impurity and misery, derived from the First Adam ; and to receive from THE LORD, as the Second Adam, that Heavenly Body which HIS SPIRIT only can renew. The same great Apostle, to sooth the afflictions of the Hebrew Christians, to animate their hope and strengthen their faith, persuading them to wait with calm resignation, assures them of the Speedy Coming of THE LORD JESUS : “cast not away your confidence,” says he, “which hath great recompence of reward ; for ye have need of patience, that after ye have done The Will

“ of GOD ye might receive the promises : for “ yet a little while, and He that shall come, “ will come, and will not tarry.” And he commends the Thessalonians, that they were “ turned to GOD from idols, to “ serve The Living and True GOD ; and to “ wait for His Son from heaven,” with the unreserved dependence, and affectionate expectation, becoming those, whom “ He “ has redeemed from impending wrath.”

The motives to this desire of the Coming of THE LORD JESUS, are various and powerful.

It is prompted by a sense of remaining sin and corruption. This disturbs the tranquillity of the soul, interrupts its Communion with GOD, embitters its present enjoyments, and endangers its everlasting welfare : and therefore, like the nobleman, who besought “ CHRIST to come down “ immediately and heal his son, because he was “ at the point of death ; The Christian, dreading some fatal turn of his malignant dif-

disorders, constantly implores the interposition of His Divine Help, and says, — “ Come, LORD JESUS! and heal the

It is prompted also by a dread of the known and unknown power of the great enemy of souls. With the subtilty of a spirit once illustrious and exalted among the angelic hosts, he insinuates himself into all the appetites and passions, the faculties and operations of fallen nature. He takes possession of the seat of fancy; and by prompting the continual pursuit of trifles apparently innocent, betrays the mind from its attention to its Supreme and Ultimate Good. He sits upon the cup of which we drink, and at the table where we eat; he mingles in the tumults of mirth, and steals upon the solitude of sadness; and when riches, honour, or pleasure, is the object of desire, he softens the luxury of idleness, or animates the industry of labour. In all instances, where the sensuality, pride, envy, hatred, and wrath of fallen nature, may be excited and inflamed; he acts with a powerful but secret influence, that is generally not distinguished from the agitated and tumultuous motions of mind and body. What can preserve the soul from such a combination of subtilty, malignity, and power, but The Continual Presence of THE LORD JESUS, as its Light, its Meekness, its Purity, and its Love? “ O Come LORD JESUS! — Come now “ by THY SPIRIT, and secure us against “ the designs of our spiritual adversary!

 “ Come, in Thy Own Person, and deliver “ us for ever from his malice, his delusion, “ and his strength!”

The frequent and unavoidable connexion with profane and sensual men, who thro’ self-confidence, and the love of the world, fear not to reject the offered Redemption of THE LORD JESUS, is another motive to this desire. To The Christian, who knows the corruption and frailty of the heart, and the necessity of “ abstaining even from the “ appear-

“appearance of evil,” the principles, the language, and the practices of such persons, cannot but be the occasion of some danger, and much disquiet: their company is like that of the self-willed and disobedient Jonah, whose presence made the sea tempestuous, and the navigation of the ship perilous. Therefore, as he that dwells among thorns, and briars, and scorpions, has the strongest reason to wish that he might change his dwelling; so The Christian desires “The Coming of THE LORD JESUS,” that he may be rescued from the conversation of profane scorers, who, in the ignorance and vanity of their hearts, while they “are wretched, and miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked,” fancy themselves honourable, and wise, and happy, and “to be increased” in mental riches, and “to have need of” no restraint, no instruction, no salvation.

But the most powerful motive to this desire, is the Divine Hope of a plenary and perfect Restoration of GOD's Image in the soul. " The Coming of THE LORD JESUS" will bring Consummate Redemption to every faithful and humble penitent ; when, being delivered from all corruptibility, he shall flourish like The Tree of Life, without barren branch, superfluous bough, or fading leaf. This is The Day of his Restoration to The Peace, Order, and Harmony, The Life, Light, and Love, of his First State in God ; The Day of his Reunion with FATHER, SON, AND HOLY SPIRIT.

From the nature of this desire, and the motives that awaken it, we learn that the state and condition of man, even of the holiest and best man in this world, is, in a comparative sense, a state of distance from THE LORD JESUS. Here, like Israel in the way to Canaan, the Christian has a few grapes, a little taste of the goodness of the land to which he is travelling ; but the full vintage is reserved 'till the Second Coming of THE LORD JESUS, Whom now he beholds beholds as an inheritance afar off. “ While we are at home in the body,” says St. Paul, “ we are absent from THE LORD;” absent from The Fulness of The Light of His Countenance, from The Perfection and Glory of His Image! “ Now we see” the nature, works, and will of GOD, the nature of the soul, the evil and malignity of sin, the nature and power of Redemption from it, “ through a glass darkly; then we shall see face to face,” “ shall know even as we are known.”

This sense of the want of THE LORD JESUS, and of the certainty of His Second Coming, and its effectually Redeeming Influence, should so endear Him to the soul, that now, while we have life and health, and the possession of our will and affections, we should chuse Him, love Him, delight in Him, and pursue Him, as our Supreme and Only Good. When distress puts on her most formidable terrours, and death approaches with resistless haste, then, when the arm of all earthly dependence will be broken, and the tongues of all our friends become silent thro' excess of sorrow and inability to help or comfort us—then, in the anguish and terrour of our souls, we shall be constrained to cry,

“ Come, LORD JESUS!—LORD JESUS “ help us, save us, deliver us from the second “ death!” We should, therefore, Now, “while “ it is called To-day,” and “before the night “ cometh,” the awful night of imbecillity, confusion, distraction, darkness; “the night “ that may hide” the blessed opportunity from “ our sight;” we should Now “know the “ things that concern our everlasting peace;” and, with all our heart, trust in THE LORD JESUS, as “our Wisdom, our Sanctification, “ our Righteousness, and Hope of Glory.” We should so admire Him, so seek after Him, so set our hearts upon Him, that this may be the language of their continual aspirations, “Whom have we in heaven, but “ Thee; and there is none upon earth, that “ we desire besides Thee!” Our faith in Him should be so lively, our dependence upon Him

Him so unreserved, our love towards Him so ardent, our resignation to Him so absolute, that at all times, and in every state and condition, whether of comfort or affliction, health or sickness, life or death, we should be able to say, with humble confidence and joy, “Come, LORD JESUS!”

When the mind is in such a frame, how great must be the honour and advantage of a bodily dissolution! “O death! where is now thy once dreaded sting? O grave! where is now thy once boasted victory?” Not only to St. Paul, but to every humble Christian, to whom “to live is CHRIST,” “to die” must, indeed, be “gain”—gain of liberty from the servitude of the world, from the assaults of Satan, from the tyranny of carnal appetites, and from the burthen of all corruption! gain of complete victory over every enemy! gain of the sweetest Communion with “The Spirits of the Just made Perfect” and the innumerable hosts of Pure Angels, in The Awful

and Adorable Presence of THE BLESSED TRINITY! gain of Consummate Holiness and Honour in The Restoration of GOD'S Image in the soul!

If such is the temper of our spirits, if we sincerely wish for the “New Heavens and the New Earth wherein dwelleth Righteousness,” and “love” and long for “The Appearing of the LORD JESUS;” this temper will necessarily be accompanied with “Godly Sorrow” for sin, and constantly renewed endeavours to lessen its dominion over us. To the broken and contrite heart; to him alone, who feels the heavy burthen of corrupt nature, who labours under it, is weary of it, and groans to have it removed, can “The Coming of the LORD JESUS” be either the object of desire, or the source of comfort. But if we feel not this burthen; or feel it, and, however painfully, yet willingly bend under it: if we secretly hug the chain, with which The God of This World binds us down to his own own region; and tho' we avow not the love of sin, yet with all the ardour of desire pursue riches, honour, and pleasure, which are the factors and instruments of sin; in vain shall we say at any time, whether of life or death, "Come, LORD JESUS!" The Prophet has already spoken to us——"Woe

 "unto you, that desire The Day of THE "LORD! to what end is it for you? To you,
 "The Day of THE LORD is darkness, and
 "not light — as if a man did flee from a lion,
 "and a bear met him; or went into the "house, and leaned his hand upon the wall,
 "and a serpent bit him. Shall not The Day
 "of THE LORD be darkness, and not light?
 "even very dark, and no brightness in it?"

The consideration of such a tremendous state, should urge us to turn immediately to That Light, which is The Only Light of the human soul; and in the deepest sense of the darkness, impurity, poverty, and misery, of sinful nature, to beseech our BLESSED IMMANUEL, to enrich us with the all-sufficient treasure of His Own Divine Spirit; that “precious pearl, for the purchase of which, the merchant” in the Gospel, who found it could be purchased only at such a price, “sold all his possessions,” all that in the vanity of self love he had before thought dear and valuable in his earthly life.

This is The Only Principle of availing Faith and Repentance; The Life and Strength of that Regenerate Nature, which is born in Grace, and perfected in Glory! This will quench the fiery darts of Satan; this will dispel the terrors of conscience; this, like Elijah’s fiery chariot, will raise our souls above the desires of flesh and blood, above the low interests and pursuits of a vain, deceitful, and perishing world; ’till at last they shall be exalted to The Presence of THE LORD JESUS, at the Right Hand of The Throne of GOD!—there, no impurity can stain, no darkness mislead, no outward nor inward enemy alarm us; there there is no death, neither of sin, nor misery, nor nature !

May we, therefore, now resolve, to adhere so invariably to THE LORD JESUS, to believe in Him, desire Him, and depend upon Him, as The Only Principle of Life and Light, Purity and Love, Peace and Blessedness; that with respect not only to the Consummation of Future Glory, but to the continual want of the illuminating and sanctifying influences of Present Grace, we may join the Beloved Disciple in his devout request, and say, with unfeigned lips, “ Come, LORD JESUS ! ”

O “ Come, LORD JESUS ! ” in the day of abundance, and make us humble, temperate, watchful, and liberal; in the day of want, and make us contented and chearful; in the day of sin, and make us penitent; in the day of trouble, and make us patient; in the day of temptation, and make us strong ! O “ Come,” in the day of health, and suffer us not to forget the day of sickness; in the day of sickness, and assure us of the blessed issue of our earthly pilgrimage; in the day of life, and make us watchful against the day of death; in the day of death, and translate our souls to Everlasting Life, Purity, and Peace! “ Amen: COME, “ LORD JESUS!
and

LITTLE CHILDREN, IT IS THE LAST TIME: AND AS YE HAVE HEARD THAT ANTI-CHRIST SHALL COME, EVEN NOW ARE THERE MANY ANTICHRISTS; WHEREBY WE KNOW, THAT IT IS THE LAST TIME. THEY WENT OUT FROM US, BUT THEY WERE NOT OF US; FOR IF THEY HAD BEEN OF US, THEY WOULD NO DOUBT HAVE CONTINUED WITH US: BUT THEY WENT OUT, THAT THEY MIGHT BE MADE MANIFEST, THAT THEY WERE NOT ALL OF US. BUT YE HAVE AN UNCTION FROM THE HOLY ONE, AND YE KNOW ALL THINGS. I HAVE NOT WRITTEN UNTO YOU, BECAUSE YE KNOW NOT THE TRUTH; BUT BECAUSE YE KNOW IT, AND THAT NO LIE IS OF THE TRUTH. THESE THINGS HAVE I WRITTEN UNTO YOU, CONCERNING THEM THAT SEDUCE YOU. BUT THE ANOINTING WHICH YE HAVE RECEIVED OF HIM, [THE HOLY ONE] ABIDETH IN YOU; AND YE NEED NOT THAT ANY MAN TEACH YOU: BUT, AS THE SAME ANOINTING TEACHETH YOU OF ALL THINGS, AND IS TRUTH, AND IS NO LIE, AND EVEN AS IT HATH TAUGHT YOU, YE SHALL ABIDE IN HIM.

1 JOHN II. 18, 19, 20, 21, 26, 27.

D E A R S I R,

YOU tell me, I may expect to find, in “ The Lord Bishop of Gloucester’s Doctrine of Grace,” which you have seen advertised as being in the press, some peculiar notice taken of the writings of the late Mr. Law, particularly his “ Confutation of the Projected Defence of Christianity in the Divine Legation of Moses :” and, as an ardent imagination seldom feels an abatement of zeal for its own productions, however imperfect and distorted, you wonder, that an attempt has not been long ago made to rebuild that ruined fabric, “ ereCted at the expence of such immense treasures of learning, fetched from all quarters of the antient and modern world !”*

I have deferred my answer, till His Lordship’s Doctrine of Grace is published ; and I find, that so far from verifying your prediction, it contains only a vigorous attempt to traduce Mr. Law’s character, but none to refute his arguments. Mr. Law was, indeed, too powerful in the detection of error, to leave it the least disguise for a retreat : he stood upon a ground that was not to be shaken ; and, by the lightest touch, could burst the bubbles of learned conjecture as they rose before him. This power is apparent in all his writings ; they are founded upon the principles of nature, they are consistent with Scripture and themselves, and they are their own impregnable defence : and while they continue to be read, “ The Project for the Defence of Christianity in the Divine Legation of Moses, ”* will continue to appear “ so contrary to Scripture and “ the truth of things, as no art of words, or stretch “ of genius, however powerful in Paradox, can “ ever be able to support.”

Something, therefore, was necessary to be done. The Academic wit, fond and jealous of The Honour which is supposed to be united to his profession †, is apt to be irritated at the least disgrace: and “ what “ can be more shameful, than to have his own “ principles shewn to be destructive of his own con“ clusions; what more mortifying, than to have “ those principles, in whose INVENTION he so much “ GLORIED, or in whose USE he so much confided, “ fairly turned,” by the resistless force of Truth, “ to his own confusion? ‡” Such indignity it may be prudent to conceal in silence, but it cannot be forgotten, and it must be repaid; “ manet alta mente “ repòstum!” The authour of it must, if possible, be brought into equal disgrace; but there will be some embarrassinent in the manner of doing it. To rise for the support of fiction against so successful a detector of it, may hazard a defeat more shameful than the detection: but the detector, who is old, may soon die; and as his principles happen not to run with the current of fashionable opinion, they may be known only to a few obscure adherents, who will not be hardy enough to appear in their defence, and to whom the world will give little attention if they are. But when this propitious event has taken place, the difficulty is but half over: the arguments of the detector, tho’ deprived of his own skill to keep them in their native order and urge them with their native strength, it would be still dangerous to meddle with, lest the attention of some impartial minds, that are not apt to be “ beguiled

† Divine Legation of Moses, B. 1, p. 33.

‡ Preface to the Doctrine of Grace, p. xiv.

“ with enticing words, nor carried away with every “ WIND of doctrine,” should be turned to the consideration of them, and their irrefragibility should become generally known. His arguments, therefore, must never be examined; and if he can be placed in such a contemptible light as will incline the world to believe that no arguments are to be expected from him, an examination is not likely to happen: some peculiar inferences may be partially selected from his writings, which will serve to support an unpopular charge, if the principles from which they are drawn are kept out of sight. And as this learned and philosophic age is always disposed to join in the cry of fanaticism, no expedient is so promising, as the bringing him forward with one on whom the charge of fanaticism has been long and generally fixed, and offering them up together to appease the injured Deity of Reason. But even this design, so far from being avowed, must be managed with so much caution, that the apparently less considerable victim, tho’ dressed and prepared for the sacrifice as the principal part, must be left to be devoted to the altar, rather by the suffrages of the by-standers, than the declared intention of the priest who has led him thither. To drop the metaphor, the PROJECT for the disgrace of a writer as a fanatic, whose principles are the only security against fanaticism as well among men of genius and learning as, the illiterate and “idiotic,” must be conducted as the under part of the work that is formed for the execution of it: it must appear, not to be the subject itself, but only to rise occasionally from it; to be rather that which in some happy place serves to illustrate the observations of an exuberant mind, than that for the sake of which the observations were made: the perfection of art consists in concealing the appearance of it.

The first exhibition of Mr. Law in the light in which it was so necessary for His Lordship to place him, is in a note on the logical inference His Lordship makes, from the promise of CHRIST to all that are born of Him, that "THE COMFORTER, " even THE SPIRIT OF TRUTH, which is THE " HOLY GHOST, should be in them, and abide with " them for ever, and guide them into All Truth." I shall transcribe both the inference and the note.

On the whole then, we conclude, that all the Scriptures of the New Testament were given by inspiration of God. And thus the prophetic promise of our blessed Master, that the Comforter should abide with us for ever, was eminently fulfilled. For tho', according to the promise, his ordinary influence occasionally assists the Faithful of all ages, yet his constant abode and supreme illumination is in the sacred Scriptures of the New Testament. *

* The late Mr. William Law, who obscured a good understanding by the fumes of the rankest enthusiasm, and depraved a sound judgment, still further, by the prejudices he took up against all Sobriety in Religion, seized the above paragraph, as he found it detached from the discourse in a quotation made of it, by an ingenious writer; and thus descants upon it: " Dr. Warburton's doctrine is this, that the inspired books of " the New Testament is the Comforter or spirit of truth and " illuminator, which is meant by Christ's being always with " the Church. Let us therefore put the Doctor's doctrine " into the letter of the text, which will best shew how true " or false it is. Christ saith, if any man love me, my Father " will love him, and we will come unto him, and make our " abode with him. That is, according to the Doctor's the- " ology, certain books of Scripture will come to him, and " make their abode with him; for he expressly confineth " the constant abode and supreme illumination of God to the " holy Scriptures. Therefore (horrible to say) God's in- " ward presence, his OPERATING POWER OF LIFE " and light in our souls, his dwelling in us, and we in him, " is something of a lower nature, that only may occasionally " happen, and has less of God in it than the dead letter of " Scripture, which alone is the constant abode and supreme " illumination. Miserable fruits of a paradoxical genius!"—

p. 69-70.

This poor man, whether misled by his fanaticism or his spleen, has here fallen into a trap which his FOLLY laid for his MALICE. In the discourse, from whence the paragraph so severely handled is taken, I treated distinctly of these two branches of the holy Spirit; 1. As he illuminates the Understanding under the title of the Spirit of truth. 2. As he rectifies the Will under the title of the Comforter; by the first of which, he establishes our faith; and by the second, he perfects our obedience.

Now it is under the first branch in which this obnoxious paragraph is found. So that common sense and common honesty require, that when I say, the constant abode and supreme illumination of the holy Spirit is in the Sacred Scriptures of the New Testament, I should be understood to mean, that he is there only as the illuminator of the understanding, the establisher of our faith. But Mr. Law applies my words to the other branch of his office, as the rectifier of the Will, the perfecter of obedience; and so makes my observation NONSENSE, in order to arraign it of IMPIETY.

Doctr. of Gracc, p. 39-41.

This torrent of abuse is, you see, poured forth with great violence; but having spent its rage, it must soon settle and stagnate upon its own lees. In extenuation of the crime with which His Lordship is here pleased to charge Mr. Law, it must be observed, 1. That if nonsense is made of His Lordship's inference, it is made, not by Mr. Law, who truly considers GOD'S operating power of LIFE AND LIGHT AS ONE POWER, but by that ingenious writer, as His Lordship by reciprocal courtesy calls him, the authour of a dissertation on enthusiasm, who quotes it, and from whom Mr. Law professes to have taken it. And, 2. that His Lordship's inferences does not appear to have been made nonsense, but stands, in the sermon where His Lordship originally placed it, and in His Lordship's Doctrine of Grace where His Lordship has transplanted it, exactly in the same light, as it stands in the ingenious writer's dissertation on enthusiasm, and in Mr. Law's quotation. For where can THE HOLY SPIRIT have His Constant Abode and Supreme Illumination, but where He has his Constant Abode and Supreme Sanctification? Has THE HOLY SPIRIT two constant Abodes? and does He constantly abide in the heart of man as The Restorer of lost Holiness, and constantly abide in the sacred scriptures of the New Testament as The Restorer of lost Light? Where did He constantly abide as The Restorer of lost Light, when there were no scriptures of the New Testament for The Seat of His Constant Abode, and Supreme Illumination? Is there any thing, in point of absurdity, so near to transubstantiation, as the supposing that THE HOLY SPIRIT lives and acts in division and separation from Himself? that He can "dwell PERSONALLY" without that which constitutes His personality? Whatever is essential to that Blessed Spirit, must be always with Him: Light is as essential to Him as Holiness; and wherever He lives and acts, He lives and acts as One Spirit, in whom Light and Holiness dwell for ever. But Light and Holiness, as they cannot be separated in "The New Creature in CHRIST JESUS, The Workmanship of GOD, The Renewed Image and Likeness of The DIVINE NATURE," so are they never separated in the representations which the Sacred Scriptures give of them; where Light and Darkness are commonly used, to express The Life of Holiness, and The Life of Sin. "I am The Way, The Truth, and The Life," saith HE Who is the only Light of the human soul: "he that followeth me," which includes perfect holiness, "shall not walk in darkness, but shall have The Light of Life;" a Life, from which Light is as inseparable as Holiness! "His Life," says St. John, "is The Light of men!" It is A Life of Light; and all that are born of it, "walk in The Light, as He,"

The

The adorable Parent of that Life, “is in the Light.” “Ye were sometimes DARKNESS,” says St. Paul to the Ephesians; “children of wrath; alienated from THE LIFE OF GOD; dead in trespasses and sins; walking according to the course of this world, according to the prince of the power of the air, The Spirit that worketh in the children of disobedience: but you hath GOD quickened; ye are his workmanship, created in CHRIST JESUS unto good works. And now are ye LIGHT IN THE LORD: walk as CHILDREN OF LIGHT: for The Fruit of THE SPIRIT is in all Goodness, and Righteousness, and TRUTH;” it cannot possibly be otherwise: no creature can be A Child of GOD, or made in His Image and Likeness, but because THE SPIRIT OF GOD is born and living in it; and in whatever creature THE SPIRIT OF GOD is born and living, all that THE SPIRIT OF GOD is must be born and living also; and, therefore, Divine Light must be as essential to and inseparable from The New Man in CHRIST JESUS, born of THE WORD AND SPIRIT OF GOD, as Divine Goodness and Righteousness; for “that which is born of The Spirit, is Spirit:” it has every thing in it that The Spirit Himself hath. Now, if St. Paul, after thus exhorting the Ephesian converts to walk in the Light, because they, who had been Darkness, were now Light in THE LORD, Children of Light, born of THE WORD AND SPIRIT OF GOD, from Whom they had received a Spiritual Life, as real and perceptible in its nature and qualities as their animal life; if, after thus appealing to The Life of Light within them, he had told them, that This Light, in which The New Man in CHRIST JESUS lives, and moves, and has his being, was to be taken from them and deposited in the books of the New Testament; that A Written Rule was forming, of which that very epistle, tho’ bearing testimony to another and better guide, was to make a part, for the seat of THE CONSTANT ABODE and SUPREME ILLUMINATION of THE HOLY SPIRIT, that would not only supersede His office as The Spirit of Truth, but separate Him from Himself as The Spirit of Holiness—must they not have thought the Apostle mad? Or, if any design could be supposed to be intended by such wild and unmeaning words, must they not have thought, that “The God of this world, The Prince of the Power of the air,” had again blinded the Apostle’s heart; and that having lost The Life of Light himself, he had formed a project for bringing them back to their former Darkness, when they were “dead in trespasses and sins, children of wrath, without hope and without GOD?” These Ephesians had learned CHRIST from the Supreme and Only Teacher of Heavenly knowledge, having “heard him” speaking within them, “and been taught by Him, as The Truth is in JESUS:” and whatever knowledge they had understood the Apostle to have had, by “what he said before” in a few true and intelligible words; they would have understood, by such an addition of false and incoherent words, that he had NO “Knowledge in THE MYSTERY OF CHRIST.” Where, then, can the division of THE HOLY SPIRIT OF GOD under the two characters of The Comforter AND The Spirit of Truth, acting in two distinct offices, and by two distinct and distant operations, be founded, but in a bold conceit, that is as contradictory to the express words of CHRIST’s gracious promise, as it is repugnant to the Nature and Operations of THE HOLY SPIRIT?

“A remedy,” says His Lordship, “was to be provided for that helpless condition of man, which hindered the atonement from producing its effect; and this was THE OFFICE of The Holy Ghost, called The Spirit of Truth, AND The Comforter. What, therefore, I propose to consider

“ consider is, THE OFFICE and operations of the “ Holy Spirit, as they are delivered to us in Sacred “ Scripture. HIS OFFICE in general is, to esta“ blish our faith [as the Spirit of Truth] and to per“ fect our obedience [as The Comforter,] and this “ he doth by enlightening the understanding, and by “ rectifying the will. These TWO DISTINCT “ BRANCHES of his office, I shall consider in their “ order. And first of all, let us observe the me“ thod employed by Divine Wisdom in manifesting “ the operations of The Holy Ghost, as The Spirit “ and Guide of Truth.” Doctr. of Grace, p. 2.

3. 4.

The reader being thus led into a fictitious distinction, and afterwards amused by a variety of strange conceits about congenial eloquence, precursors, sybils, Delphic Oracles, prophetesses, &c. the great point is at length secured; and that which at first seemed only to be arbitrarily separated for the sake of making two separate heads of discourse, are now two distinct things, that are always to be separated: the branches of the discourse do not now make the branches of THE HOLY SPIRIT'S Office, but are necessarily and unavoidably made by them; the parts into which His One Office is thus assumingly divided, are changed into Two Offices; and the pretended joint characters of The Spirit of Truth AND The Comforter, prove to be two as distinct characters, as “ The Letter that killeth, and the Spirit that giveth life.”

But “ all this,” His Lordship says, this division of The One Office and Operation of THE HOLY GHOST, into the Two Distinct Offices and Operations of The Spirit of Truth as the enlightener of the understanding, AND The Comforter as the rectifier of the will, “ is necessarily collected from The “ Words of JESUS which contain this important “ promise of THE HOLY GHOST.” Of His Lord-

Lordship's unsuccessful appeal to the words of Scripture, for the support of Projects, and the proof of Distinctions, this is not the first and only instance ; [See Mr. Law's Confutation, &c. passim] for The Words of J E S U S, so far from supporting His Lordship's Distinction, contain the fullest confutation of it, and prove it to be groundless. " If ye love me," says our BLESSED REDEEMER, JOHN XIV. 15,
 " keep my commandments.—ver. 16. And I will
 " pray The Father, and He shall give you another “ take of mine, and shall shew it unto you.—ver. 25.

 “ The time cometh, when I shall no more speak unto “ you in proverbs, but I shall shew you plainly of The “ Father.”

In all These Words of JESUS, which contain the important promise of THE HOLY GHOST, there is not the least distinction of character office and operation, as The Spirit of Truth who enlightens the understanding, AND The Comforter who rectifies the will. It is no where said—He will give you The Comforter, AND The Spirit of Truth; or, He will give you The Holy Ghost, as The Comforter, AND as The Spirit of Truth. But it is said—He will give you another COMFORTER, even THE SPIRIT OF TRUTH, Who dwel'eth with you, and shall be in you—THE COMFORTER, which is THE HOLY GHOST, He shall teach you all things—When THE COMFORTER is come, even THE SPIRIT OF TRUTH, He shall testify of me — If I go not away, THE COMFORTER will not come unto you—When He, THE SPIRIT OF TRUTH, is come, He will guide you into All Truth—from all which it is evident, that no more distinction of character office and operation is implied in the several appellations of THE COMFORTER, even THE SPIRIT OF TRUTH, which is THE HOLY GHOST; than if THE BLESSED JESUS, speaking of Himself, had said, I JESUS, even THE CHRIST, which is THE SON OF GOD, am That Life which is The Light of men. But the appellation of THE COMFORTER, so far from implying or being confined to the distinct character, office, and operation of THE HOLY GHOST, as the rectifier of the will, the perfecter of obedience, is given to Him, chap.

XIV. 26. merely AS THE TEACHER OF ALL THINGS, and the explanatory appellation of THE SPIRIT OF TRUTH is not used. Nothing is said of THE HOLY GHOST as the rectifier of the Will the perfecter of obedience, for this is implied in His Character of THE SPIRIT OF TRUTH; and all that is predicated of Him as THE SPIRIT OF TRUTH, is expressly predicated of Him as THE COMFORTER. The promise is confined solely to His character of THE COMFORTER, The Teacher of All things, even The Spirit and Guide of Truth; and it is solely in This Character that it is said of Him, He dwelleth with you, and shall be in you, and shall abide with you for ever? The appellation of THE COMFORTER, therefore, is given to THE HOLY GHOST, because He is THE SPIRIT OF TRUTH: "The LORD shall be thine Everlasting Light, and the days of thy Mourning shall be ended." If. lx. 20.

To be in The Truth, that is, to have the full birth and perfect life of THE SPIRIT OF TRUTH, is the joyful state of Holy Angels; and was once the state of man, when, retaining his original perfection, he was an Image of The TRIUNE GOD, and THE HOLY GHOST was The Life and Light of his soul: and for man fallen from his original perfection, there can be no sanctification of the heart, no illumination of the mind, no knowledge of the things of GOD, no Divine Love, no righteousness peace or joy, but from The Life and Light of THE HOLY GHOST renewed or born again in his soul. Light and Darknes are the principles of all the good and evil that are in man: the work of Darknets is sin, and they that walk in The Light are The Children of GOD: "The path of the just is as the shining Light, that shineth more and more unto the perfect day; but the way of the wicked is as darknes:" Prov. iv. 18. 19. "Ye were sometimes DARK-
" NESS,

“NESS, alienated from THE LIFE OF GOD, children “ of wrath, dead in trespasses and sins: but now are “ ye LIGHT IN THE LORD; walk as CHILDREN OF “ LIGHT, and have no fellowship with the unfruitful “ works of Darkneſs.” “Awake thou that sleepeſt, “ and ariſe from the dead, and CHRIST ſhall give “ thee LIGHT:” nothing but That Light which CHRIST gives, can tranſlate the ſleeper from Death to Life. All nature, and all that is natural in the creature, wherever it exiſts, is Darkneſs; and till The Supernatural Light of GOD is manifeſted in it, and become its Life, it muſt be in the darkneſs, horreur, and torment of hell. THE HOLY GHOST, therefore, is THE JOY of Holy Angels, and THE COMFORTER of fallen men, becauſe He is THE SPIRIT OF TRUTH.

But His Lordſhip had formed A PROJECT for cutting off the bold pretenſions of Myſtics and Fanatics to The Life of Light; and as no other way of executing it could be found, than by ſtealing from That Light its Supreme Illumination, and hiding it in the ſcriptures of the New Teſtament, His Lordſhip, in haſte to make the inference which was to complete ſo beneficial and deſirable a reſciſſion, has forgotten the premiſſes from which the inference is drawn.

His Lordſhip draws all his concluſions from “ the “ words of JESUS, which contain the important “ promiſe of THE HOLY GHOST;” and accordingly, His Lordſhip ſays, p. 96, “ we have ob“ ſerved how the promiſe, that He ſhould abide with “ us for ever, hath been verified, by the ſure depo- “ ſite of The Spirit of Truth in ſacred ſcriptures.” CHRIST promiſes — “ I will pray THE FATHER, “ and He ſhall ſend you ANOTHER COMFORTER, even “ THE SPIRIT OF TRUTH, Who ſhall teach you All “ things, and bring all I have ſaid to your remem- “ brance, and guide you into All Truth:” THIS

IS THE SUPREME ILLUMINATION OF THE HOLY GHOST. “He dwelleth WITH YOU, and shall be IN YOU, and shall ABIDE WITH YOU for ever :” HERE IS HIS CONSTANT ABODE. “Now,” says His Lordship, “we conclude that all the scriptures of the New Testament were given by Inspiration of GOD: and THUS the promise of our blessed Master was eminently fulfilled.” For tho’, according to His assertion, that The Comforter even The Spirit of Truth which is THE HOLY GHOST, dwelleth with all that are born of Him, as The Teacher of all things, and The Guide into All Truth; and, according to His promise, that, with This Supreme Illumination, He shall continue to be in them, and shall abide with them for ever; yet, to prove the truth of the assertion, and the performance of the promise, “His Constant Abode and Supreme Illumination is” not IN THEM and WITH THEM, but “in the sacred scriptures of the New Testament.” If such arguments are the favours with which Reason distinguishes her most zealous votaries, she is an unpropitious goddess; and His Lordship having such sufficient provocation, may as well renounce her divinity, and, in imitation of Mr. Law, depend only upon the Vital Operations of The Comforter, even The Spirit of Truth, which is THE HOLY GHOST, as The Teacher of All good things, and The Guide into All Divine Truth. The Words of JESUS are not so well adapted, as the words of Critics Schoolmen and Poets, to afford support for the baseless fabricks of human fancy: “They are SPIRIT, and They are LIFE;” and nothing but what is born Spirit of That Spirit, and Life of That Life, can derive strength and stability from them.

But besides a Distinction that is not only contradictory to the Express Words of JESUS, but repugnant to the very Nature of That Life, to which fallen fallen man is restored by The Renewing of THE HOLY GHOST ; His Lordship requires still further supplies for The Foundation of his New-erected Fabrick, and expects it to be granted, that “ The “ Apostles, as an essential part of their ministry, “ had THE CARE OF COMPOSING AND FRAMING A “ WRITTEN RULE for the direction of The Church “ throughout all ages.” “ They sat down,” His Lordship says, “ they retired within themselves, they “ retired to their private oratories, To FRAME A “ RULE for the lasting service of The Church.” By THIS RULE I suppose His Lordship means, The history of The Wonderful Process of CHRIST in the Flesh by The Four Evangelists, the history of the acts of The Apostles, the epistles of St. Paul, the catholic epistles, and the book of the revelation of St. John : and unless it is gratuitously admitted, that These Pieces were separately written by The Apostles, for the great and important purpose of composing and framing A Rule for the lasting service of The Church, as their primary object ; and were afterwards united by them, for the completion of it ; the ichnography of His Lordship’s Design cannot be finished, and it will be impossible for His Lordship to find A RESTING-PLACE for his New-invented Seat of The Constant Abode and Supreme Illumination of THE HOLY GHOST. But His Lordship has omitted to inform us, how THE CARE of composing and framing A Rule for the perpetual direction of The Church, which was essentially incumbent upon All The Apostles, came at last to be incumbent only upon Six ; for no more than Six of Thirteen Apostles have any share in composing and framing That supposed Written Rule. His Lordship has also omitted to inform us, how St. Mark and St. Luke, in preference to, and in place of the other Seven Apostles, came to sustain a part of this incumbent Apostolical Care.

St. Luke's pieces must be either received into or excluded from the supposed Apostolical Written Rule : if they are excluded, the Church has in all ages been deprived of a most interesting part of Christian history in his Acts of the Apostles, The Manifestation of That Kingdom of GOD which CHRIST repeatedly declared to be within men, by The Ministration of His HOLY SPIRIT ; and if they are received, the most illiterate peasant that tends sheep from morning till night in the rudest part of the kingdom, if he does but read The New Testament, knows, and is able to inform His Lordship, that The Design of the writer, so far from extending to the Service of the Church throughout All Ages, did not extend even to The Public Service of The Church in its First Age, but was wholly confined to the Private Satisfaction and Edification in The Faith of his Friend, The Most Excellent Theophilus. The same is true also of Two Epistles of St. John, one to The Elect Lady, and the other to his friend Gaius, which are very improperly placed under the head of Catholic Epistles. Of St. Paul's Epistles, Four are personal, like the Two of St. John ; and among the remaining Ten addressed to The Churches, that to The Ephesians is The Only Epistle that contains nothing peculiarly adapted to The State of That Church to which it is directed. The Epistle to The Church at Colosse resembling this the nearest, not only in the sentiment, but in the form of expression, The Colossians are directed to communicate it to The Church at Laodicea, and to receive from the Laodiceans a copy of his Epistle to The Church at Ephesus : but if The Apostle had been conscious of A Design of Composing and Framing A Written Rule for The Service of The Universal Church in that and all future ages, of which All his Epistles were to make A Part ; it is strange, that he should single out These as Circular Epistles

Epistles among a few Churches, only because they were less occasional, and treated, as St. Jude says, of The Common Salvation of fallen man. St. John, towards the close of the first century, when he had survived All the other writers of the books of the New Testament, and most of them more than Twenty Years, wrote his Gospel, his Three Epistles, and The Book of his Revelation. Now, if The Apostles had been faithful to the duty which His Lordship has imposed upon them as an essential part of their ministry, The Written Rule which, it is alleged, they had The Care of Composing and Framing, must have existed several years, and, consequently, must have been composed and framed without The Writings of The Beloved Disciple, The Mystic Preacher of THE ETERNAL WORD and of The New Birth of THE SON AND SPIRIT OF GOD. And to the existence of such a Rule, this Blessed Apostle could not have forborn giving his testimony; he must have acknowledged its authority, and could only deliver his own writings to The Church as A Supplemental Code. But where is this testimony given? Where is the record of St. John's seasonable and necessary exertion of The Apostolical Authority, which resided wholly in him and soon after died with him, to reinforce The Written Rule thus improved and strengthened by himself; and, by recognising and ascertaining the particular parts of which it was composed, to preserve it from interpolation, and all other corruption, throughout the future ages of The Church? His Divine Revelation was a peculiar distinction conferred by his Glorified Master, on whose bosom he had once leaned, and by Whom he was eminently loved: and tho' the subject of his other pieces is, in general, the same with the subject of the preceding books of the New Testament, yet his Gospel was written merely to supply the defects of the other Evan-gelifts, particularly to record some moft interefting conferences of THE GREAT REDEEMER ON HIS Own Divine Attributes, and The Nature of That Salvation which He had brought to a fallen world. And his Catholic Epiftles, fo far from turning the attention of Chriftians to and enjoining their dependence upon any Written Rule, that was then or might afterwards be compofed and framed, is one faithful declaration of The Reality of That DIVINE LIFE, to which man is reftored by THE RENEWING OF THE HOLY GHOST; A Life born of GOD; A Life of Heavenly Light and Love, that is The Principle of All Truth and Goodnefs, and requires no witnefs but Itfelf. Of the other Catholic Epiftles, St. James's, the Second of St. Peter, and St. Jude's, were at firft not univerfally received as genuine: and tho' the difputing the authority of thefe parts of The New Teftament, fhews the great care of The Primitive Chriftians not to admit any writings as the works of Inspired Apoftles, but thofe which had an undoubted claim to that diftinction; yet it is an irrefragable proof, drawn not from conjecture but fact, that "The Care of compofing and framing A Written Rule for the direction of The Church throughout all ages," was NO PART OF The Miniftry of CHRIST'S Apoftles. If this Care had been incumbent upon them as an effential part of their Minifterial Office, every thing they had written, muft have been written, if not with a declared, yet with a confcious Design of executing it; and having compofed the pieces that were to conftitute The Rule, they would have framed them by a concurrent and folemn act, and not left it to be difputed, many years after their death, what parts fhould be received, and what rejected. His Lordfhip, therefore, with refpect to the Apoftolical Proviſion of This Written Rule, does not appear to be "quite enough fenfible, of the weaknefs and folly of that kind of reasoning, which concludes from “imaginary right to real fact; and assumes, that “because a thing is supposed to be expedient useful “or necessary” to support some whimsical and favourite hypothesis, “that, therefore, provision hath “been made for it, p. 36:” he has not YET “ventured,” however rational and modest he may think it, “to invert the method of those Divines, who, in “their inquiries concerning GOD’s dispensations, “endeavour to prove (His Lordship might have “said, obtrude) those supposed facts, which they have “preconceived, from the fitness which they pretend “to have discovered: that is, having determined of “what is fit for God to do; on the credit of this, “they maintain that He hath done it. p. 97”

But His Lordship, after ascribing the Provision of This Written Rule to “The Care incumbent upon “The Apostles as an essential part of their ministry,” in one page; in the next ascribes it to “The “Good Providence of GOD.” p. 30. 31. It is, indeed, not to The Care and Design of The Apostles, who performed the great work that was given them to do, and finished their appointed course, without the least apparent conception of any such incumbent duty, but solely to The Good Providence of GOD, that we owe the preservation of The Sacred Scriptures of The New Testament; which are preserved, not as “The Light that lighteth every “man that cometh into the world,” but only as A Faithful and Indubitable Witness to That Light: and while they bear a joyful testimony to its Redeeming Power, they bear a melancholy and awful testimony to The Want of it throughout the Christian world; who voluntarily reject it by preferring to it their own darkness, and voluntarily depart from it by turning to something in which it cannot possibly be found. The Sacred Scriptures of The New Testament impart no more instruction to him in whom The Life of Light is not renewed, than a lecture upon vision does to a man born blind, or a treatise upon the animal œconomy to a dead body : considered, therefore, as profitable in all ages, they are profitable to none in any age, but to persons of the same kind with those, for whose sole and immediate use they were originally written—to Those, Men, in all ages, may criticise and comment upon The Sacred Scriptures; may torture and wrest them, for the support of vain projects and fanciful distinctions; may quote and urge them, in defence of opposite systems of speculative opinions, and opposite forms of external worship; and may even plead a warrant from them, to quarrel with, censure, hate, and destroy one another, as well for requiring, as refusing, assent to national creeds, and obedience to national rituals: but in vain will they labour to understand them, as “ making wise unto “ Salvation, which is through Faith in CHRIST “ JESUS;” till CHRIST JESUS does that for them, which He did for His immediate followers after His Resurrection, “ open their understanding, that “ they may understand The Scriptures.” What St. Paul says to Timothy, he still says to every reader of that and all his other epistles, who, like Timothy, depends for Salvation only upon The Renewing of THE HOLY GHOST, “ Consider what I say, “ and THE LORD give thee understanding in All “ Things.” St. Peter, St. Paul, St. John, and every other writer of The Books of The New Testament, by so much of their ministry as their writings have transmitted to us, may continue planting and watering till the Total Redemption of Fallen Nature; but THE LIFE, THE SPIRIT, THE INCREASE and PERFECTION of what is planted, must come solely and immediately from GOD. The Written Rule of The New Testament, therefore, notwithstanding the learned labours of His Lordship to make it The Constant Abode of THE HOLY GHOST, and The Sole Repository of His Supreme Illumination, will still be “ liable to ERROR, both “ in the receiving and in the dispensing of it; and “ men will be perpetually tempted to own just as “ much as, and no more than, they like to believe, “ or are disposed to practise, p. 135;” till That BLESSED COMFORTER, even The Spirit of Truth, changes The Constant Abode which His Lordship has assigned Him, and by constantly abiding in men’s minds, generates THE ONLY LIFE that is capable of understanding and doing THE WILL OF GOD.

Let us now turn back to The Charge brought against Mr. Law, of “ making Nonsense of His “ Lordship’s Inference, in order to arraign it of “ Impiety.” Mr. Law, notwithstanding what His Lordship is pleased to allege, applies His Lordship’s words to GOD’S OPERATING POWER in the soul, as it is in itself, and as The Scriptures represent it to be, ONE POWER OF LIFE AND LIGHT: “ Common-sense,” therefore, “ did not require” Mr. Law to acquiesce in His Lordship’s distinction of Two Operating Powers, because there is no Sense in it; and “ Common-honesty did not re- “ quire it,” because it is not only contradictory to “ the express words of JESUS which contain “ the important promise of THE HOLY GHOST,” but repugnant to The Nature of That Divine Life which THE HOLY GHOST was sent to restore. Upon the whole then, His Lordship’s Inference, as quoted and applied by Mr. Law, does not appear to contain More Nonsense than what His Lordship himself has been pleased to put into it, nor Less Impiety than that of which Mr. Law has justly arraigned it.

His Lordship having here a tempting opportunity, it is wonderful that he did not exemplify his “boasted rule,” so necessary for the learned advocates of Truth under that ordinary influence of The Spirit of Truth for which His Lordship is a zealous contender, and tell his readers, whether “he answers the fool, according, or NOT according to his folly.” It has ever been the outcry of enthusiastic scholars, and furious zealots for a church and kingdom of CHRIST that are of This World, against all who have spoken of Gospel-Christianity as solely A MINISTRATION OF THE HOLY SPIRIT, that they are ignorant blockheads, or mad and malignant fanatics. But to shew, that, in this instance, Mr. Law is neither in understanding a madman, nor in malice a devil, but “speaks the words of Truth and Soberness,” I shall transcribe his whole examination of His Lordship’s Inference: from which it will appear, not only that all the learned pains which His Lordship has taken thro’ so many pages, to reject one notion of scriptural inspiration and adopt another, are of little value; but that His Lordship, by selecting a single passage from that examination, and endeavouring to evade the force of it by An Arbitrary Division of The One Indivisible Operation of The Comforter, even The Spirit of Truth, which is THE HOLY GHOST, has violated the first part of his All-discriminating Rule, and incurred the very same mischief, which, His Lordship is pleased to say, was incurred by the fool Mr. Law.

“What poor Divinity Knowledge comes from great scholars and great readers, may be sufficiently seen from the two following judicious quotations in a late Dissertation on Enthusiasm; the one is taken from Dr. WARBURTON’s sermons, the other from a Pastoral Letter of Mr. Stinstra, a preacher amongst the Mennonists of Friesland. That from

Dr. WARBURTON, stands thus: “ By them (that is, by the Writings of the New Testament) the Prophetic Promise of our Saviour, that THE COMFORTER should abide for ever, was eminently fulfilled. For tho’ his Ordinary Influence occasionally assists the Faithful, yet his Constant Abode and Supreme Illumination is in the Sacred Scriptures.” Dr. WARBURTON’S Doctrine is this, that The Inspired Books of The New Testament, is THAT COMFORTER, or SPIRIT OF TRUTH, and Illuminator, which is meant by CHRIST’S being always with his Church. Let us therefore put The Doctor’s Doctrine into the Letter of the Text, which will best shew how true or false it is.”

“ Our LORD saith, It is expedient for you that I go away, or The Comforter will not come: that is, it is expedient for you, that I leave off teaching you in words that sound only into your outward ears, that you may have the same words in writing, for your outward eyes to look upon; for if I do not depart from this Vocal Way of Teaching you, The Comforter will not come, that is, ye will not have the Comfort of my words written on paper: but if I go away, I will send Written Books, which shall lead you into such a truth of words, as ye could not have, whilst they were only spoken from my mouth; but being written on paper, they will be my spiritual, Heavenly, Constant Abode with you, and the most Supreme Illumination ye can receive from Me. CHRIST saith further: I have many things to say unto you, but ye cannot bear them now: howbeit, when He, The Spirit of Truth, is come, He shall guide you into all Truth; for He shall not speak of Himself, for He shall receive of mine, and shall shew it unto you: that is, though ye cannot be sufficiently instructed from my Words at present, yet when they they shall hereafter come to you in Written Books; they will give you a Knowledge of all Truth; for they shall not speak of themselves, but shall receive words from me, and shew them unto you. Again: CHRIST saith, These things have I spoken unto you in Proverbs; but the time cometh, when I shall no more speak unto you in Proverbs, but will shew you plainly of the Father: that is, hitherto ye have only had Spoken Proverbs from me, and therefore ye have not plainly known the Father; but the time cometh, when these Spoken Proverbs shall be put into Writing, and then ye shall plainly know the Father. Again: CHRIST adds, Ye now therefore have Sorrow, but I will see you again, and your hearts shall rejoice, and your Joy no man taketh from you: that is, ye are now troubled at my Personal Departure from you; but some Written Books shall be my seeing you again, and, in that visit, ye shall have such Joy as cannot be taken from you. CHRIST also saith, If any man love me, my Father will love him, and we will come unto him and make our Abode with him: that is, according to The Doctor's Theology, Certain Books of Scripture will come to him, and make their Abode with him; for he expressly confineth The Constant Abode and Supreme Illumination of GOD, to the Holy Scriptures. Therefore (horrible to say) GOD'S INWARD PRESENCE, HIS OPERATING POWER OF LIFE AND LIGHT in our Souls, His Dwelling in us, and we in Him, is something of a lower nature, that only may occasionally happen, and has less of GOD in it, than The Dead Letter of Scripture, which alone is His Constant Abode and Supreme Illumination. Miserable Fruits of A PARADOXICAL GENIUS!"

“CHRIST from Heaven saith, Behold I stand at the door, and knock; if any man hear my voice, and open unto me, I will come into him, and sup with him.

This

This is His true eminent Fulfilling of his prophetic promise of being A COMFORTER AND SPIRIT OF TRUTH to his Church, to the end of the world. But, according to The Doctor, we are to understand, that not THE HEAVENLY CHRIST, but The New Testament continually standeth and knocketh at the door, wanting to enter into the heart, and sup with it; which is no better than holding, that when CHRIST calls Himself, Alpha and Omega, He means not Himself, but The New Testament. Again: I am the Vine, ye are the Branches; as the Branch cannot bear Fruit of itself, except it abide in the Vine, no more can ye, except ye abide in me; for WITHOUT me, ye can do Nothing. Now take The Doctor's comment, and then the truth of all these words of CHRIST was only temporary, and could be true no longer, than till the Books of the New Testament were written; for then all this, which CHRIST had affirmed of Himself, of the Certainty, and Necessity of his Life and Power in them, ended in CHRIST, and passed over to the written words of The New Testament; and they are the True Vine, and we its Branches; they are That, without which we can do Nothing: for thus it must be, if, as The Doctor affirms, the writings of The New Testament are that, by which we are to understand, The Constant Abode and Supreme Illumination of GOD IN MAN. Now absurd, and even blasphemous, as this interpretation of the foregoing text is, it must be evident to every reader, that it is All The Doctor's own; for The Letter of Scripture is only made here, to claim That Divinity to itself, which The Doctor has openly affirmed to be true of it."

" Rabbi, saith Nicodemus to CHRIST, we know that thou art A Teacher come from GOD. Now that which was here truly said of CHRIST in the Flesh, is the very Truth that must be said of The Scripture teaching in ink and paper; it is A Teacher come from GOD,

GOD, and therefore fully to be believed, highly revered, and strictly followed. But as CHRIST'S Teaching in the flesh, was only preparatory to His future Vital Teaching by THE SPIRIT; so The Teaching of Scripture by words written with ink and paper, is only preparatory, or introductory, to all that inward essential Teaching of GOD, which is by HIS SPIRIT and Truth within us. Every other opinion of The Holy Scripture, but that of an Outward Teacher and Guide to GOD'S Inward Teaching and Illumination in our souls, is but making an Idol-God of it: I say an Idol-God; for to those who rest in it as The Constant Abode and Supreme Illumination of GOD with them, it can be nothing else. For, if nothing of Divine Faith, Love, Hope, or Goodness, can have the least Birth, or Place in us, but by Divine Inspiration; they who think these virtues may be sufficiently raised in us by the Letter of Scripture, do, in truth and reality, make the Letter of Scripture their Inspiring God. The Apostle preached and wrote to the people, by Divine Inspiration: but what do they say of their Inspired Doctrine and Teachings? What Virtue or Power was there in them? Do they say, that their Words and Teachings, were the very PROMISED COMFORTER, THE SPIRIT OF TRUTH, The True Abode and Supreme Illumination of GOD in the souls of men? So far from such a blasphemous thought, that they affirm the direct contrary, and compare All their Inspired Teachings and Instructions, to the Dead Works of bare planting and watering, and which must continue dead, till Life come into them from another and much higher Power. I have planted, saith St. Paul; Apollos hath watered; but GOD gave the increase. And then further to shew, that this planting and watering, which was the Highest Work that an Inspired Apostle could do, was yet, in itself, to be considered as a lifeless powerless thing; he adds, So then, neither is He that planteth any thing ; nor He that watereth ; but GOD that giveth the Increase. — But now, if this must be said of All that, which the Inspired Apostles taught in outward words, that it was nothing in itself, was without power, without life, and only such a preparation towards life as is that of planting and watering ; must not that same be said of their Inspired Teachings, when left behind them in writing ? For what else are The Apostolical Scriptures, but those very Instructions and Teachings, put into writing, which they affirmed to be but bare planting and watering, quite powerless in themselves, till THE LIVING SPIRIT OF GOD worked with them ? Or will any one say, that what Paul, Peter, John, &c. spoke by inspiration from their own mouths, was indeed but bare planting and watering, in order to be capable of receiving Life from GOD ; but when these Apostolical Teachings and Instructions, were written on paper, they were raised out of their first inability, got THE NATURE OF GOD HIMSELF, became Spirit and Life, and might be called The great quickening Power of GOD, or, as The Doctor says, The Constant Abode, and Supreme Illumination of HIS SPIRIT with us ? ”

“ It would be great folly and perverseness, to charge me here, with slighting, or lessening the true value, use, and importance of The Inspired Apostolical Scriptures : for if the charge was just, it must lie against Paul, and not against me ; since I say nothing of them, but that which he saith, and in his own express words, viz. that All their Labour of Preaching, Instructing, and Writing by Divine Inspiration, had in themselves no other nature, use, or power, than that of such planting and watering as could not fructify, till A Higher Power, than was in them, gave Life and Growth to that, which they planted and watered. I exceedingly love, and highly reverence the Divine Authority of, the Sacred

Writings of the Apostles and Evangelists; and would gladly persuade every one, to be as deeply affected with them, and pay as profound a regard to them, as they would to an Elijah, a St. John Baptist, or a Paul, whom they knew to be immediately sent from Heaven, with GOD's message to them: I reverence them as a Literal Truth of and from GOD, as much the greatest heavenly blessing that can be outwardly bestowed upon us: I reverence them, as doing, or fitted to do, all that good amongst Christians now, which the Apostles did in their day; and as of the same use and benefit to the Church of every age, as their planting and watering was to the first. But now, if this is not thought that fulness of regard, that is due to the Holy Messengers of GOD; if any one will still be so learnedly wise, as to affirm, that though Paul's Preaching in his Epistles, whilst he was alive, was indeed only bare planting and watering, but the same Epistles being published after his death, got another nature, became full of DIVINE AND LIVING POWER; such a one hath no right to laugh, as The Doctor doth, at the Silly Mahometan, who believes the Alcoran to be uncreated: for wherever there is Divine Efficacy, there, there must be an Uncreated Power. And if, as The Doctor saith, The Scriptures of The New Testament are The Only Constant Abode, and Supreme Illumination of THE SPIRIT OF GOD with us, all that is said of THE ETERNAL SPIRIT OF GOD, of THE UNCREATED LIGHT, might and ought to be said of them; that They are THE WORD THAT WAS GOD, WAS WITH GOD, and are our IMMANUEL, or GOD WITHIN US."

" I shall now only add this friendly hint to The Doctor, that he has a remedy at hand in his own Sermon, how he may be delivered from thus grossly mistaking The Spirit of the Gospel, as well as the Law of Moses. — " St. Paul," saith The Doctor, " had a quick and lively Imagination, and an extensive
 " and

“ and intimate acquaintance with those masters in Moral Painting, the Classic Writers; all which, he PROUDLY sacrificed to The Glory of the Everlasting Gospel.” [Serm. Vol. I. p. 229. Doct. of Grace, p. 81, 82.] Now if The Doctor did that, though it was only from HUMILITY, which he says the Apostle did PROUDLY, such Humility might be as great a good to him, as that Pride was to the Apostle. And indeed, one would have thought, that as soon as The Doctor had discovered these writers, to be only great masters in Moral Painting, it should have had the same effect upon him, as if he had found them great masters in Delusion; for where there is Moral Painting, there, there is Moral Delusion. And The Spirit, The Life, The Purity, and Divine Simplicity of GOSPEL TRUTH, is more eluded lost and destroyed by Moral Paintings, whether in books or pulpits, than by any Material Colourings put upon Images of wood or clay, to excite spiritual devotion in churches. Again: if The Everlasting Gospel is now as glorious a thing, as it was in St. Paul’s Days; if the highest, most accomplished, classic knowledge, is so unsuitable to The Light and Spirit of The Gospel, that it is fit for nothing, but to be cast away, or, as The Doctor saith, to be all sacrificed to the Glory of the Gospel; how wonderful is it, that this should never come into his head, from the beginning to the end of his THREE LONG LEGATION-VOLUMES; or that he should come piping hot with fresh and fresh classic beauties found out by himself, in a Shakespeare, a Pope, &c. to preach, from the pulpit, THE DIVINE WISDOM OF A PAUL, in renouncing all his great classic attainments, as mere loss and dung, that, by so doing, he might win CHRIST, and be found in Him!”

“ Let it be supposed, that Our LORD was to come again for a while in the flesh; and that His Coming

was for this end, to do that for the Christian World cumbered with much learning, which he did to poor Martha, only cumbered with much serving, and thereby neglecting that Good Part which Mary had chosen: must we suppose, that The Doctor would hasten to meet Him, with his SACRED ALLIANCES, his BUNDLES OF PAGAN TRASH, and HIEROGLIPHIC PROFUNDITIES, as his Full Proof, that Mary's Good Part, which shall never be taken from her, had been chosen for himself, and all his readers? As well might it be thought, that The Pope would come richly laden with his blessed images, his heavenly decrees, his divine bulls, as Infallible Proofs of his being born again from above, and solely devoted to The One Thing Needful."

“ Let The Doctor figure to himself, the gaudy pageantry of a divine high mass in a Romish Cathedral; let him wonder at that flagrant, daring contrariety, that it hath to that First Gospel-Church of CHRIST, viz. where two or three are gathered together in my Name, there am I in the midst of them: would he not be still fuller of wonder, if he should hear the Pope declaring, that all this Heathenish shew of invented fopperies, was his Projected Defence of that First Church of CHRIST?—But if The Doctor would see A PROTESTANT WONDER, full as great, he need only look at his own Theatrical Parading Show of Heathen Mysteries, and Heathenish Learning, set forth in highest pomp. To what End? Why to bring forth, what he calls, (as The Pope above) his Projected Defence of Christianity. O Vainest of all Vain Projects! For what is Christianity, but That which CHRIST was, while on earth? What can it be, but That which it is, and has from Him? He is a King, who has All Power in Heaven and on Earth: and His Kingdom, like Himself, is not of This World. Away then with The Projects of Popish Pomp, and Pagan Literature,

I come now to the quotation from the Pastoral Letter of Mr. Stinstra. "A judicious writer, (says the dissertation) observes, that Sound Understanding and Reason, are That, on which, and by which, God principally operates, (N. B.) when he finds it proper to assist (N. B.) our weakness by his Spirit." I cannot more illustrate the sense, or extol the judgment, both of the Author, and Quoter of this striking passage, than by the following words: "A judicious naturalist observes, that Sound and Strong Lungs, are That, on which, and by which, the Air or Spirit of this World principally operates, when (N. B.) he finds it proper to assist, (N. B.) the weakness of our Lungs, by his breathing into them."—Now if any right minded man, should happen to find his heart edified, his understanding enlightened, by the above passage on Divine Inspiration, he will be much pleased at my assuring him, that the Pastoral Letter of Mr. Stinstra, and the Dissertation on Enthusiasm by Mr. Green, are, from the beginning to the end, full as good, in every respect, as that is. These two Instances are proof enough, that as soon as any man trusts to Natural Abilities, Skill in Languages, and Common-place Learning, as the True Means of entering into The Kingdom of God, a Kingdom, which is nothing else, but Righteousness, Peace, and Joy in THE HOLY GHOST; he gives himself up to Certain Delusion, and can escape no Errour that is popular, or that suits his state and situation in the learned religious world. He has sold his Birth-right in the Gospel State of Divine Illumination, to make a figure and noise, with the Sounding Brass and Tinkling Cymbals of The Natural Man.

Whence

“ Whence is it, that we see genius and natural abilities, to be equally pleased with, and equally contending for, the errors and absurdities of every system of religion, under which they are educated? It is, because genius, and natural abilities, are just the same things, and must have the same nature now, as they had in the ancient schools of the peripatetic, academic, stoic, and atheistical philosophers. “ The temptation of honour, which the academic exercise of wit, as Dr. WARBURTON says, was “ supposed to bring to its professor,” has still its power amongst church-disputants. Nor can it possibly ever be otherwise, till parts and genius do, as the blind, the deaf, the dumb, and lepers formerly did; go to be healed of their natural disorders, by the Inspiration of that ORACLE who said, I am the light of the world; he that followeth me, walketh not in darkness. No man cometh unto the FATHER, but by me. Well, therefore, might St. Paul say, I have determined to know nothing among you, but CHRIST, and Him crucified. And had it not been for this determination, he had never known, what he then knew, when he said, the life that I now live, is not mine, but CHRIST's that liveth in me. Now did the Apostle here overstretch the matter? Was it a Spirit of Enthusiasm, and not of CHRIST living in him, that made this declaration? Was he here making way for ignorance and darkness to extinguish The Light that came down from Heaven, and was The Light of the world? Did he here undermine the True Ground, and Rock, on which The Church of CHRIST was to stand, and prevail against the gates of hell? Did he, by setting up This Knowledge, as the best and only knowledge that an Apostle need to have, break down the fences of CHRIST's Vineyard, rob the church of all its strong holds, leave it defenceless without a pale, and a ready prey to infidels? Who can say this, but That Spirit of Antichrist, that confesseth not JESUS CHRIST, who is come in the flesh? For as CHRIST'S intending nothing, knowing nothing, willing nothing, but purely and solely the whole course of His Crucifying Process, was the whole truth of his being come in the flesh, was his doing the whole will of Him that sent him, was his overcoming the world, death, and hell; so he that embraces this process as CHRIST embraced it, who is wholly given up to it as CHRIST was, he has the will of CHRIST and the mind of CHRIST, and therefore may well desire to know nothing else. To this man alone, is the world, death, and hell, known to be overcome in him, as they were in CHRIST; to him alone, is CHRIST become the resurrection, and the life; and he that knoweth this, knoweth with St. Paul, that all other knowledge may and will be cast away as dung. Now if St. Paul, having rejected all other knowledge, but that of A CRUCIFIED SAVIOUR, which to the Jew was a stumbling-block, and to the Greek foolishness, if he had afterwards wrote Three such Legation-Volumes as The DOCTOR hath done, [it may now be added, "and Two such Volumes of Grace as The BISHOP hath done,"] for the food and nourishment of CHRIST'S SHEEP, who can have no life in them, but by eating the true bread that came down from Heaven; must they not have been called, Paul's Full Recantation of all that he had taught of a CHRIST CRUCIFIED? ADDRESS, p. 67—83."

We have seen, that "His Lordship's decision " of the fanatic pretences" to The Operation of THE HOLY GHOST " in THE BRANCH of Enlight-ener, (Doctr. of Grace, p. 3, 4)" depended wholly upon the success of an attempt to hide His Supreme Illumination in the books of The New Testament. We are now to see, what is to be done in " the " decision of the fanatic pretences to His Divine " Operation, in THE BRANCH of Sanctifier." And here, here, as the great position to be proved is, that This operation was wholly confined to the apostolic age, His Lordship makes no difficulty of allowing it the highest efficacy on the first converts to Christianity: nay, that it may be set at the greatest distance, not only from all appearance, but from all expectation of it, in the present age of The Church, His Lordship speaks of it, as “miraculously producing a sudden and entire change in the dispositions and manners of those whom it had enlightened, instantaneously effacing all their evil habits, and familiarizing their practice to the performance of every virtuous and pious action,” p. 89. 90: the deepest impressions of evil custom, and the darkest stains of corrupted nature, were suddenly wiped out and effaced. p. 95.” From this peculiar influence of THE HOLY SPIRIT on the first converts, His Lordship would infer, that Christian Redemption is not THE SAME DIVINE POWER now as it was in the days of the apostles; and That the church of CHRIST, which could only be formed by THE HOLY GHOST, Who was to be its light, its holiness, its strength, its comfort, and protection, TO THE END OF THE WORLD, is now to be illuminated by human reason, sanctified by human virtue, and protected and comforted by temporal power and temporal ease and honour. But whatever efficacy His Lordship may ascribe to the first effusion of THE HOLY GHOST, the scriptures of The New Testament have not recorded the example of a single convert, to whom continual fear and trembling was not necessary, to preserve him from falling again into those evil habits, which, His Lordship says, were totally effaced. The history of the Acts of the Apostles bears an ample testimony to the beginning and establishment of Gospel Christianity, when a Divine Life was awakened in the human soul by “The Renewing of THE HOLY GHOST:”

but This Life, like all other life, was progressive; and could be carried on and perfected, on the part of man, only by a continual dependence upon and resignation to The Power of that HOLY SPIRIT of Whom it was born. The instructions of The Apostles, therefore, to these New Men in CHRIST JESUS, are filled with exhortations, to renounce all self-confidence, self-esteem, and self-seeking; to abstain from those passions and pursuits, that resisted, grieved, and quenched THE HOLY SPIRIT; to turn from every thing that was earthly, sensual, and devilish; and by continual self-denial, watchfulness, and prayer, to perfect holiness in The Fear of GOD. The Blessed Paul, in whom The Power of THE HOLY GHOST was not less manifested than in other converts, says of himself, “ I keep under my body, and bring it into subjection, lest that, by any means, when I have preached to others, I myself should be a cast-away:” and even the whole Corinthian Church, tho’ among those in whom “ all evil dispositions and habits were instantaneously and totally effaced,” and “ tho’ abundantly enriched with ALL DIVINE GRACES, p. 101.” are yet represented by His Lordship, for the sake of another argument, to be “ so elated by SPIRITUAL PRIDE,” the most diabolical of all evil tempers, “ as not to suffer The Holy Ghost to do his perfect work, in the enlargement of the heart by universal benevolence.” p. 101.” But His Lordship must be allowed to put on, and to put off, just as it may suit the exigencies of a Harlequin-hypothesis.

In this manner, however, His Lordship says, “ was the first part of the promise, to send THE COMFORTER, fulfilled. The other part, that He should abide with us for ever, comes next to be considered. And here, the only question will be, Whether from the primitive ages down to these latter times, He hath continued to exercise

“ cise His Office in the same extraordinary manner in which He entered upon it. This will tend to the decision of the fanatic pretences to DIVINE INFLUENCES. p. 96, 97.” The only question being thus proposed, His Lordship, by a new interpretation of St. Paul’s description of DIVINE CHARITY, 1 Cor. xiii, proceeds to shew, that The Operation of THE HOLY SPIRIT, which His Lordship allows to be extraordinary and miraculous during the apostolic age, ceased upon the establishment of The Christian Faith, because The Apostle has said, “ CHARITY never faileth.” And from this new account of Charity, His Lordship draws this conclusion, “ so formidable to fanaticism,” that “ The miraculous powers of The Church,” which, if it means any thing, must mean THE MINISTRATION OF THE HOLY GHOST, “ ceased on its perfect establishment, as well those which relieved corporeal, as those which administered aid to spiritual distresses, p. 107, 108; and that The Virtue of Charity was to accompany ‘The Church, from the Apostles’ days, throughout all its stages here on earth. p. 100.”

Neither the limits, nor the principal design of this letter, will suffer me to enter into a minute examination of His Lordship’s new interpretation of the thirteenth chapter of St. Paul’s first epistle to the Corinthians. It is, indeed, sufficient to say of it, that it is avowedly set up in opposition to the common interpretation of Christians, who, in all ages, and in every part of the Divided Church, appear to have agreed about the design and meaning of that chapter; that it no more proves, that The Operations of THE HOLY SPIRIT were to cease with the apostolic age, than with the present age; and that it is one instance among many that can be produced, to what a vanity of conjecture, what voluntary darkness, that mind has condemned itself, which, for the poor project of cutting-off the pretensions of Mystics and Fanatics to that which is The Sole Redemption of mankind, can disclaim The Supreme Illumination of THE HOLY GHOST, where only it can be received, and where only it can fulfill The Purposes of REDEEMING LOVE: this, surely, is sacrificing as much again as the man in the fable, and instead of being content with the loss of one eye that an enemy may lose two, submitting to the loss of both.

But His Lordship's motive for labouring after this new interpretation, is as singular as the interpretation itself. "The words of The Apostle," His Lordship says, "considered in the sense which he has given them, now convey the most important doctrine of THE CESSATION of The Miraculous Operations of The Holy Spirit; and without that sense, there would be no express declaration of it recorded in the Sacred Scriptures. p. 100." Thus, you see, His Lordship's New erected Fabric, which must have long floated about without support, is at length supposed to be settled; but it is settled upon a foundation as airy and unsubstantial as itself: for unless you acquiesce in His Lordship's arbitrary division of THE HOLY GOD'S ONE OPERATING POWER OF LIFE AND LIGHT, into two distinct and distant operating powers; and, admitting that to be fact which is most opposite to fact, suppose "that it was an essential part of The Apostle's Ministry to compose and frame A Perfect Written Rule for the perpetual direction of The Church;" The Sacred Scriptures of The New Testament cannot possibly be made "The Seat of the Constant Abode and Supreme Illumination of THE HOLY GHOST:" and unless you receive His Lordship's new interpretation of St. Paul's account of DIVINE CHARITY, as the only true interpretation, "there will be no record in The Sacred Scriptures on which to ground that important fact, The Cessation of the “ Extraordinary Miraculous Operations of THE

But let us endeavour to discover what His Lordship means by the extraordinary miraculous operations of THE HOLY GHOST. If His Lordship means only tongues, prophecy, and knowledge, which he calls “ the transitory graces, the temporary aids of “ The Holy Spirit, p. 102. ;” His Lordship has still left The Mystics in full possession of their pretensions to those influences of THE HOLY SPIRIT, by which alone The Divine Life He hath renewed can be carried on and perfected; and has only set up his new interpretation of St. Paul’s account of DIVINE CHARITY against the common interpretation, to make the Sacred Scriptures expressly declare what required no declaration; for the cessation of these miraculous powers was soon known, and was a fact that proved itself. Why they ceased, is an inquiry of another nature: an awful and alarming reason may be given for it; but any reason, even the most opposite, will more truly account for it, than that which His Lordship suggests, “ The Arrival of The Christian Life, by the vital power “ of Charity, to its full vigour and maturity.” We know that these miraculous powers subsisted, while The Church of CHRIST subsisted in its Apostolical, Undivided, Heavenly State; “ when The Multitude “ of them that believed were filled with THE HOLY “ GHOST, and were of one heart and one soul: when “ they had all things common, and none among them “ lacked; for as many as were possessors of houses and “ lands sold them, and distribution was made unto “ everyman according as he had need. Acts iv, 32, “ 34, 35.” We know also, that from This Divine Spirit and Life, The Church soon fell; and that when once the power and policy of states had usurped the government of it, it fell apace; till after passing thro’ various scenes of hatred persecution and bloodshed, which heathens stood aghast at, and which while they made Devils laugh made Angels weep, it has at length reposed itself, with much of a partial selfish spirit, amidst the darkness of human opinions, and the fatal delusions of worldly ease honour and power.

But if the extraordinary miraculous operations of THE HOLY GHOST are those which produce only “ the prophecies which, The Apostle says, shall fail, the tongues that shall cease, and the knowledge that shall vanish away,” a knowledge infinitely different from that which he speaks of in the 12th verse; then what must be the nature and degree of that operation which produces “ The DIVINE CHARITY that never faileth. and The Faith and Hope that abide with it?” The Faith here spoken of, is not that which St. Paul degrades in the 2d verse, and the pretensions of which CHRIST will reject at the last day, Matt. vii. 21, 22; nor is The Hope that which, as His Lordship assumes, “ animates him who, without DIVINE CHARITY, gives his body to be burned:” but it is that Divine Faith with which, The Apostle says, GOD IN CHRIST JESUS had blessed the Ephesians, “ who believed, according to the Working of His Mighty Power, Eph. i. 19;” and it is that Divine Hope, of which he displays the treasures to the Colossians, when he tells them, chap. i. 27, that “ CHRIST IN THEM is The Hope of Glory;” “ The Hope in which we abound thro’ THE HOLY GHOST, Rom. xv. 13.” This Faith and Hope are as essential to The Heavenly Life renewed by THE HOLY GHOST as Charity, from which they differ only as desire and expectation differ from their object; and they will abide in the redeemed soul as long as it is capable of receiving new communications of DIVINE LIGHT AND LOVE. But by what degree of operation does His Lordship suppose all this is to be produced? His Lordship calls “ the enlargement of the heart by universal benevolence,”

“ the perfect work of THE HOLY GHOST, which “ is to carry on the Christian Life to its full vigour “ and maturity. p. 101, 102.” Now, if, by this enlargement of the heart, His Lordship does, indeed, mean St. Paul’s DIVINE CHARITY, as a supernatural life ; and that it is, as it cannot but be, the perfect work of THE HOLY GHOST ; then His Lordship, tho’ leaving The Mystics in full possession of All that they desire and depend upon, has involved himself in this absurdity—that “ the temporary aids, the transitory graces, which were proper for and adapted only to the infantile state of The Church, required the extraordinary miraculous operations of THE HOLY GHOST ; but His perfect work, that which is to raise The Christian Life to its full vigour and maturity,” The Birth Growth and Perfection of that DIVINE CHARITY which can never fail, “ require only an ordinary occasional operation”—an operation that leaves the soul in that Satanic state of self-esteem and self-confidence, which is its greatest separation from GOD.
 But who can wonder at this in His Lordship, with whom “ PARADOX is only another name for Truth ?
 “ p. 68.” It should, therefore, be recommended to His Lordship, to review, and to consider, with awful attention, the characters which St. Paul has given of THE CHARITY THAT CAN NEVER FAIL ; to make them a Rule by which to try his own spirit ; and to bring the spirit, not only of Mystics and Fanatics, but of those that are the strong pillars and the shining lights of every national church, to the same test.
 His Lordship will then find, that THE CHARITY WHICH CAN NEVER FAIL, is not That which His Lordship feels for his honourable friends and learned acquaintance ; nor That which His Lordship has exercised towards Mr. Law, against whom, if he had been living to defend himself, His Lordship would no more have written, than, like the believing scholars

scholars at Ephesus, have burnt his books ; nor is it That, which, while it cheaply speaks of Toleration in high terms of commendation, can think of assigning over those whose right to it GOD has invested them with, to the awful decisions of the future world, for A Crime which The Writers of The New Testament have not mentioned, because they could have no conception of the modern being against whom it is committed,—“ A separation from the national church!” His Lordship says, indeed, “ An unnecessary separation:” but Who is to be the judge? “ Not The Separatist, tho’ directed by his conscience:” and, therefore, surely, not The National Church ; because it is the spirit of every national church, to deem all separation from it unnecessary, and “ A Crime that upon all the principles of law and reason deserves condign punishment, p. 277.” But The DIVINE CHARITY which St. Paul has characterized, is The Life of That CHILD OF LOVE, who “ liveth in LOVE and liveth in GOD;” The Life of “ the perfect man in CHRIST JESUS, who has attained to the measure of the stature of THE FULNESS OF CHRIST, who knoweth THE LOVE OF CHRIST which passeth knowledge, and is filled with ALL THE FULNESS of GOD.” And if His Lordship should ever find a man, in whom All St. Paul’s Characters of DIVINE CHARITY are exemplified—“ who suffereth long, and is kind; who envieth not; vaun:eth not himself, is not puffed up, doth not behave himself unseemly; seeketh not his own, is not easily provoked, thinketh no evil; rejoiceth not in iniquity, but rejoiceth in the truth; beareth all things, believeth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things”—His Lordship would find That which was not less extraordinary, less miraculous, less above the powers of nature, not only as fallen in man, but as unfallen in the highest angel, than if he was to hear the same person, tho’ supposed by His Lordship to be in “ an idiotic state,” preaching “ CHRIST and Him crucified” in all the languages in which His Lordship is so learnedly skilled, and be witness to the immediate effect of his saying to The Dead “ Arise,” or to The Sick of the Palsy “ Take up thy bed and walk.”

But His Lordship drawing nearer the point of projection, grows more explicit in the use of his terms, and speaks of the extraordinary operations of THE HOLY GHOST as “ including ALL that were exerted for the illumination and comfort of The Church, during the work of its establishment by “ the ministry of The Apostles.” And the great and religious design of all His Lordship has been writing, proves to be no less, than to shew, that “ after the first establishment of The Church by “ the ministry of The Apostles, the influences and “ operations of THE HOLY GHOST were considerably abated; and that now The Church is settled “ in peace and security under the protection of temporal power, and the profession of The Christian “ Faith is attended with temporal ease and honour, “ those influences and operations are of no use. p. 110, “ 114.” Thus, according to the arbitrary and groundless distinction upon which His Lordship set out, “ as soon as an authentic collection of The Apostolical Writings was made,” which was not till many years after All the Apostles were dead, “ part “ of The Office of The Holy Ghost, as THE “ SPIRIT OF TRUTH, was superseded and transferred “ upon The Sacred Canon;” and in these latter days, when the Apostolical Writings are in the hands of such learned and rational expositors as His Lordship, “ there is no need of the further assistance “ of THE HOLY SPIRIT, to explain his own meaning:” and “ His Office, or task, as His Lordship elsewhere calls it, of THE COMFORTER, “ tho’ it continued with The Church during its “ struggles

“ struggles with The Powers of The World which “ were once combined together for its destruction, “ is also superseded, by the protection and comfort “ it derives from The Powers of The World, “ which are now combined together for its support.” “ Now, The Profession of The Christian Faith is “ attended with EASE and HONOUR; and THE “ CONVICTION, which The Weight of HUMAN “ TESTIMONY, and The Conclusions of HUMAN “ REASON, afford us of its TRUTH, are ABUN- “ DANTLY SUFFICIENT to SUPPORT us in our RELI- “ GIOUS PERSEVERANCE! p. 114.”

Thus, “ as from a palace now compleated, p. 102.”
 His Lordship “ removes the SCAFFOLDING” from his New Building of THE DOCTRINE OF GRACE; which appears in peculiar magnificence, extending its broad base on learned dust, and, like a tower of Babel, hiding its proud summit in the clouds!
 One principal light, however, was forgotten, which left the whole edifice a region of black obscurity:
 and, therefore, (still to borrow the beautiful image, which His Lordship has selected to exalt our conceptions of THE AIDS OF GOD’S HOLY SPIRIT,) “ the LADDER and the ROPE must be applied “ again.”

The apostolical written rule, His Lordship observes, contains “ A COMMAND to try the spirits; “ and the power of discerning spirits was, like every “ other Divine Power, confined to the apostolic “ age: but tho’ extraordinary inspiration has ceased, “ and the power of discerning spirits, without “ which spirits cannot be tried, is, with the rest of the “ inspired graces, taken away; yet THE COMMAND “ to try the spirits still remains in force, for it is in “ the apostolical written rule.” Now what is to be done in this sad dilemma? for, as His Lordship truly observes, and he has given HIS OWN EXAMPLE as an instance of it, “ to try without the faculty of “ dis-

“ discerning, would be a dangerous, or, at best, an “ impertinent employment. p. 116.” Why His Lordship turns over The New Testament, to find something that may serve as a succedaneum; and having seized upon a passage without any regard to its natural meaning in the place where it stood, he tells us, that “ The gracious providence of The “ Holy Ghost has provided, that those to whom “ He had given the faculty of discerning spirits, “ without which spirits could not be tried, should “ provide rules of trying for the use of those to whom “ He had not given that faculty; and the rules are “ to supply the place of judging in those, to whom “ the power of judging was never communicated.” As if His Lordship had said—By the care and industry of our ancestors, a plain open road is provided, which, to Those that have had the use of their eyes, has been a sure rule in travelling from London to Gloucester: and if Those that are blind should be required to travel from London to Gloucester, as the same rule would subsist, they would be under the same obligation of travelling thither as Those were that could see; the rule would supply their want of eye-sight, and they would be in no danger of turning to the right hand or to the left, to Durham or to Canterbury.

The passage which His Lordship has forced out of its place, to serve for a discerning rule in the present exigency, His Lordship has produced, because “ it contains The Characters of REAL INSPIRATION, “ The Wisdom that is from ABOVE.” And to shew the wonderful discernment of this rule, and its wonderful use in the present blind age of The Church, His Lordship himself undertakes to direct the application of it, and tells us, “ we may fairly pro“ nounce, that the man in whom none of These “ Characters of REAL INSPIRATION are to be “ found, hath not Real Inspiration: but we must not

not conclude, that he, in whom All These Characters are found, both that which These Characters are produced to prove; since, tho' they are characters of Real Inspiration, they may be NOT Characters of Real Inspiration, but only of those ordinary graces, that arise from the "meer human " knowledge of and obedience to GOD's " will, as contained in sacred scripture. So that, " altho' such a man may be truly said to be possessed " of The Wisdom that is from ABOVE which he can " receive only by Divine Inspiration, yet it is not " That which he receives by Divine Inspiration;" but, in the opinion of His Lordship, who cannot bear the thought of Divine Inspiration, "The Wisdom that is from ABOVE," may, notwithstanding the discriminating faculty of The Rule, be The Wisdom that is from BELOW. His Lordship would do well, therefore, to consider, and he may try if almost every chapter of the apostolical epistles does not prove it, that The Wisdom that is from BELOW, and The Wisdom that is from ABOVE, are the two sorts of wisdom that govern the minds of men, as well in nations called Christian as in other nations of the world; that both come by REAL INSPIRATION, one from "The Spirit of this world, The Prince of " The Power of The Air," the other from THE SPIRIT OF GOD; and that he who is not inspired, led, and governed by THE SPIRIT OF GOD, is and must be inspired, led, and governed by The Spirit of This World.

But The Rule which His Lordship, with so much industry, has produced to fulfill THE COMMAND to try the spirits, is, in the unsuspecting mind of The Apostle who gives it, designed only as A Rule to every man, to try, not the spirits of others, but HIS OWN: St. James says, "Who is a wise man and " endued with knowledge amongst you? let him shew " out of a good conversation his works with MEEK- “NESS of Wisdom. But if ye have bitter envying and strife IN YOUR HEARTS, glory not, and lie not against THE TRUTH: This Wisdom descendeth not from ABOVE, but is earthly, sensual, devilish; for where envying and strife is, there is confusion, and every evil work. But The Wisdom that is from ABOVE, is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, and easy to be intreated, full of mercy and good fruits, without partiality, and without hypocrisy. And The Fruit of Righteousness is sown in Peace of them that make Peace. James iii. 13 — 18.”

Thus does the state of the heart prove by What Wisdom men are inspired: and if His Lordship, when he read this passage, had prayed for The Inspiration of THE HOLY GHOST, to enable him to understand it, and to apply it continually to the trial and detection of HIS OWN SPIRIT; he would have done himself, and “THE TRUTH AS IT IS IN JESUS,” infinitely more service, than by forcing the passage into the vortex of a vertiginous argument, to prove, that there is no inspiration of THE HOLY GHOST.

As a further instance of His Lordship’s method of quoting and applying passages of Scripture, this pretended rule for trying spirits, that is assumed to be given in consequence of what His Lordship calls THE COMMAND to try them, was written about thirty years before the command was issued. St. John, who did not write his epistle till near the end of the first century, when All The Other Writers of The New Testament had been long dead, begins his fourth chapter, not with an authoritative command, but with a friendly and affectionate caution— “Beloved, believe not every spirit, but try the spirits whether THEY ARE OF GOD: because many false prophets are gone out into the world.” And that the Apostle might not give advice, without shewing how it was to be followed, and without knowing that there was an ability to make use of it, he thus

thus proceeds: "HEREBY know ye THE SPIRIT " OF GOD—every spirit that confesseth JESUS " CHRIST, Who is come in the flesh, IS OF GOD:" [St. Paul says, "no man can say, that JESUS is THE " LORD, but by THE HOLY GHOST," 1 COR.
 XII. 3.] "and every spirit that doth not confess JESUS " CHRIST, Who is come in the flesh, is NOT OF GOD:
 " and This is that spirit of Antichrist, whereof you
 " have heard that it should come, and even now
 " already it is in The World. YE ARE OF GOD, " little children, and have overcome them: because
 " greater is HE THAT IS IN YOU, than he that is " in The World. They are of The World: there- " fore, speak they of The World, and The World
 " heareth them. WE ARE OF GOD: he that " knoweth GOD, heareth us; he that is not of
 " GOD, beareth not us: HEREBY know we The " SPIRIT OF TRUTH, and The SPIRIT OF ER-
 " ROUR." Nothing more seems to be necessary, than to consider the passages of The New Testament as they stand connected with their own design and meaning, to shew the fantestick use which His Lordship makes of them. Now it is evident, that only the first verse of the passage in St. John, was adapted to His Lordship's purpose: the rest is a reference to the only power of distinguishing between Errour and Truth, The Mighty Power of HIM that was in those to whom The Apostle wrote, that is, in All Christians; "THE UNCTION which they " had received from THE HOLY ONE, and which " abiding in them as He promised it should, taught
 " them All Things, and, thro' their entire dependence " upon it, enabled them to overcome that Spirit of " Antichrist of which The Apostle had been speak" ing. comp. ch. ii. 18," &c. So that His Lordship, instead of searching further to find something more verbally adapted to support his Project; should have been rather induced, by the unchangeable marks

marks of distinction which The Apostle has set upon those that are of the world, and those that are of GOD, to examine his own heart, and consider, whether, in The Project itself, he was not led more by "THE SPIRIT OF ERROUR" than "THE SPIRIT OF TRUTH."

St. Paul, who seems to be a favourite with His Lordship because he was bred a scholar, tho' he reckons his scholastic attainments among the greatest of human vanities, had long before spoken of The Internal Vital Power of This Only Teacher of Divine Truth: "Eye hath not seen," says he, "nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, THE THINGS which GOD hath prepared for them that love Him. But GOD hath revealed Them unto us by HIS SPIRIT: for THE SPIRIT searcheth All Things, yea, THE DEEP THINGS OF GOD. For what man knoweth the things of a man, save the spirit of man which is in him? Even so THE THINGS OF GOD knoweth no man, but THE SPIRIT OF GOD. Now we have received, not The Spirit of The World, but THE SPIRIT WHICH IS OF GOD, that we might know THE THINGS that are freely given us of GOD. Which THINGS also we speak, not in the words which man's wisdom teacheth, but which THE HOLY GHOST teacheth; comparing spiritual things with spiritual. But The Natural Man receiveth not THE THINGS OF THE SPIRIT OF GOD, for they are foolishness unto him: neither can he know them, because they are SPIRITUALLY DISCERNED. I Cor. ii. 9—14." This alone is CHRISTIAN ILLUMINATION! And as His Lordship has disclaimed ALL LIGHT FROM ABOVE, but what he has deposited and hidden from his own sight in the books of the new testament, His Lordship himself leads us to this conclusion, that "His Whole Building of THE DOCTRINE OF GRACE, tho' a temple consecrated to the deity of Reason,

How are The Adorable Nature and Redeeming Ministration of GOD’S HOLY SPIRIT profaned by such attempts ! And how easily is The Natural Man, a slave to that “ last foible of superiour geniuses, the temptation of honour which the academic exercise of wit is supposed to bring to its professor,” induced to determine about THE THINGS OF GOD, which are known only to THE SPIRIT OF GOD, and which, therefore, The Natural Man cannot possibly comprehend ! to whom, The Sacred Scriptures of The New Testament are A SEALED BOOK ; and The Constant Abode of THE SPIRIT OF TRUTH in them, is a constant abode in impenetrable darkness. And if any one, because he thinks himself qualified by his great skill in words, acquired by a life of laborious study in the schools of men, to conjecture about the text and meaning of an antient or modern classic, should ever suppose, that he is, therefore, qualified to understand and explain THE THINGS OF GOD ; CANONS OF THEOLOGY may hereafter be as successfully collected from A Commentary on The New Testament, as CANONS OF CRITICISM have formerly been from A Commentary on Shakespear.

Christian Redemption is THE SPIRIT OF GOD renewed in His First Power of Life in the soul of man : and as nothing can restore This Life, but That which gave it ; so That which restores it, must continue it to all eternity. The Restoration of This Life will raise man to Heaven ; the rejection of it must leave him in hell : for Holy Angels are in Heaven, and Unholy Angels are in Hell, only because The Nature of the one hath, and The Nature of the other hath not, THE LIFE OF THE SPIRIT OF GOD dwelling and ruling in it. The renewal of this life, is the great principle upon which The Sacred cred Scriptures of The New Testament are founded: and the preaching of The Apostles was one continual declaration of The Presence and Power of THE HOLY GHOST manifested in their own hearts, (as The Supernatural Light was once manifested in the dark chaos of the fallen angels' kingdom, 2 Cor. iv. 6) and ready to be communicated to All, who, in contrition faith and prayer, turned from The Life of This World to GOD. And as the whole labour and travail of these first preachers of The Gospel, was that "CHRIST might be formed in All" that heard them, Gal. iv. 19; and as CHRIST formed in All, was their whole joy, their "crown of rejoicing," 1 Theff. ii. 19; such also ought to have been the labour, the glory, and the joy, of those that have since assumed their character and exercised their office: for "There is but ONE BODY, and ONE SPIRIT, even as we are called by ONE HOPE of our Calling; ONE LORD, ONE FAITH, ONE BAPTISM; ONE GOD AND FATHER OF ALL, Who is Above All, and through All, and IN US ALL. Eph. iv. 4—6." But, to instance in this National Church, which boasts of its Apostolical Purity, what must have been her amazement in the days of Elizabeth, to have found one of her Bishops, who, when only a candidate for holy orders, professed that he was moved and called to enter into the service of CHRIST'S Church by The Inspiration of THE HOLY GHOST; who never had one qualification for the discharge of his high office, but what he received as The Immediate Gift of THE HOLY GHOST; who had never done one acceptable service in it, but what was done in and by The Immediate Power of THE HOLY GHOST; who, in the daily public worship of the church of which he was an overseer, repeated the most expressive prayers for that which only can know and do THE WILL OF GOD, The Light and Power of THE HOLY GHOST living and ruling IN THE HEART——to have found him, not accidentally suggesting in the wanton vanity of human wisdom, but laboriously torturing The Words of JESUS, and The Words of His Apostles, to prove, that The All-illuminating, All-sanctifying, All-perfecting, All-preserving Operation of THE HOLY GHOST, which can NEVER cease, is considerably abated and withdrawn; that Part of His Task is finished, Part of His Office superseded; and that His great Work, which can only be His because He is The Doer of it, is now done by The Dead Letter of THE NEW TESTAMENT, The Credibility of HUMAN TESTIMONY, The Conclusions of HUMAN REASON, and The Power and Protection of THAT WORLD which is The Enemy of GOD? It is, therefore, time, to turn our attention to better thoughts, and better arguments; The Irradiations of a Purified Mind, whose continual desire for itself was that Meek and Humble Life which is “THE LIGHT OF MEN:” and whose continual desire and prayer for others was, that all human beings, wherever placed, or however distinguished by the changing forms of this perishing world, might be “BORN OF THE WORD AND “SPIRIT OF GOD.”

Mr. LAW, when long ago detecting the errors of such another learned and ingenious advocate for The Church and Kingdom of CHRIST as His Lordship, the Famous Dr. Trapp, says:

“To ask whether the assistance of THE HOLY SPIRIT is to be ordinary or extraordinary, is as needless and groundless a distinction, as to ask whether a minister of the gospel ought to be an ordinary or extraordinary good man. The operation of THE HOLY SPIRIT in us since the fall, is a supernatural power; and, therefore, in a just sense always extraordinary, because enabling us to be and do that, which the ordinary power of fallen nature is insufficient for; but it is more or less restored to us, as we are more or less FITTED to receive it. And all that assistance or renovation of THE HOLY SPIRIT, which an Apostle might expect, for the raising raising his own personal holiness to its greatest height, or for enabling him with spirit and power to move, affect, and convert the hearts of men to The Faith of the Gospel, may be justly expected now, by such ministers of the gospel, as DO ALL THAT which an Apostle did, to obtain and receive it. Our religion is founded on this doctrine: that we are to be born again of THE HOLY SPIRIT; that it is to be the breath and life of our new-born inward man; that there is no sanctification of the heart, no illumination of the mind, no knowledge of divine mysteries, no love of holy things, possible to be had, but in and by the life of this HOLY SPIRIT renewed or born again in us; and that its life motion and power in us, increaseth according to our faith in and desire of it."

"Is it not now a flat denial of all this to say, as is said by some, that the establishment of The Gospel in the world, together with the assistances of human learning and languages, has been the occasion why the assistance of THE HOLY GHOST is abated, and become only such as may be called ordinary? For if we consult either scripture or experience, must it not be said, that worldly peace and prosperity want as much to be sanctified by THE HOLY SPIRIT, as persecution and distress? That human learning and knowledge need as high degrees of Divine Grace and Help, as human ignorance? Is not the blindness the infatuation and corruption of men of letters, as notorious, as that of unlearned men? Does an editor of Terence, Horace, or Virgil, receive such Illumination from plays and poetry, do cardinals and pluralists receive so much unction and assistance from human establishments, as to need less to be led and governed by THE HOLY SPIRIT OF GOD? Or will we say, that a critical study of divided languages, and a religion established in worldly ease and peace, are not only in themselves free from danger and corruption, but have so much of The Nature of THE HOLY SPIRIT OF GOD in them, that they can be to us in His Stead, and make His Sanctifying Operations upon us needed in a less degree?"

"On the part of GOD, our redemption IN JESUS CHRIST, and our sanctification by THE HOLY GHOST, stand always in the same degree of nearness and fulness to all of us; there is hardly a chapter in the New Testament that can be understood, or its doctrines observed, but upon the supposition of this great truth. If CHRIST is less formed in us than he was in the first saints of the Church, if we come not to The Perfect Man, to The Measure of the Stature of the Fulness of CHRIST, it is not because CHRIST is now become only our Redeemer in an ordinary way or degree; but it is, because we have not so turned to Him, not so turned from ourselves, not so counted all things but dung, that we might win CHRIST, and be found in Him, AS THE FIRST SAINTS DID. If THE HOLY SPIRIT does not now in such a degree renew, quicken, move, and sanctify our hearts, and fill us with such degrees of Divine Light and Love, as was done in the first age of the church; it is not, because THIS SANCTIFYING SPIRIT has committed some part of his work to human learning, and so is become only Our Sanctifier in a lesser and ordinary degree; but it is, because we ourselves have FORSAKEN this fountain of living waters, and hewn out broken cisterns for ourselves; it is because we have grieved THIS HOLY SPIRIT, resisted His Motions, quenched His Holy Fire, and, under an outward profession of CHRIST, have kept up that old man, with his deeds, which cannot be The Temple and Habitation of THE HOLY SPIRIT."

"If, therefore, we have any true sense of the nature and weight of our ecclesiastical calling, any desire to do the full work of the ministry, to satisfy the wants and necessities of our flocks; if we have any fear of being condemned as useless insignificant labourers in CHRIST'S Vineyard; it is high time to awake from this DREAM of an Ordinary and Extraordinary Sanctification of THE HOLY SPIRIT. It serves only to keep us unsanctified, shut up in death, in the dead workings of our own corrupted nature; to keep us learnedly content with our state, as if we were rich, and increased in goods, and had need of nothing; and hinders us from knowing, that we are wretched, and miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked." Rev. iii. 17.

"To seek for any thing in Religion, but a new nature fitted for a new world, is knowing neither it, nor ourselves. To be born again, is to be fit for paradise, in whatever part of the universe we live; not to be born again, is continuing where the sin and death of Adam left us, whatever church, or sect of religion, we have fellowship with. All ways and opinions, all forms and modes of Divine worship, stand on The Outside of Religion. They may be, and certainly are, great and desirable helps to THE KINGDOM OF GOD, when we consider them only as the gate, or guide to that inward life, which wants to be raised, and brought forth in us,

us. But this is unquestionably true, that our Salvation consists wholly and solely in THE BIRTH OF THE SON OF GOD, and THE RENEWAL OF THE HOLY GHOST, in our Souls. When this begins, our Salvation begins; as this goes on, our Salvation goes on; when this is finished, our Salvation is finished. This alone saves the soul; because this alone restores the First Paradisiacal Divine Nature, which is the True IMAGE OF GOD, and which alone can enter into the Kingdom of Heaven."

"If we had only a notional knowledge that our first father had sinned, and knew no more of his sinful condition than history tells us of it; if we had only certain instituted types and figures to keep up the remembrance of it in our minds, we should never be the worse for his sins; we should have no hurt by owning ourselves to be children of a sinful father, if His Nature Life and Spirit was not propagated in us: so, if we have only a notional belief that JESUS is become the Second Adam, to redeem or regenerate the fallen nature; if we know this only in the notion and history kept up in our minds by outward figures and ordinances; tho' we contend ever so much for This Belief of a SAVIOUR, and write volumes in defence of it; yet He is not OUR SAVIOUR, till His Nature Life and Spirit be born in us. If there be any man in the world, in whom The Nature of Adam is not, he has no sin from Adam: if there be any man, in whom The Life of JESUS is not, he has no righteousness from Him. We must have life and righteousness in the same truth and reality in us from The Second Adam, as we have sin and death in us from The First."

"From the time of the fall of Adam, the incorruptible seed of CHRIST is in us all, in the whole human nature; He has power, as THE SON OF GOD, to quicken and raise it up, till it comes to be that Holy Image of the BLESSED TRINITY it was at first. And when a Divine Faith arises in this seed of life, by which it lays hold on CHRIST as the author, preserver, and finisher of its life, as the atonement, the saviour and deliverer from the death and hell that surrounds it; then it grows up into a new inward man, of the same nature with that which appeared in paradise, and with that which was born in the Virgin Mary. Then The Birth of THE SON OF GOD, The Birth of THE SPIRIT, and that First Holy Humanity which Adam lost, are all restored to us, but in a mystery in the inward man hid in GOD, till the resurrection shall separate every thing that is earthly dark and corruptible from it. Thus by FAITH IN CHRIST we put on CHRIST, He becomes formed in us, we eat His flesh, and drink His blood, and have His Nature and Life in us; that is, we have a flesh and blood, a holy humanity, derived into us from CHRIST, in the same reality as we have flesh and blood, a corrupt humanity, from Adam, our first father. Thus we are real members, living branches, and new-born children, of CHRIST, our Regenerator: He is our father; and, as such, as certainly brings us into the Kingdom of Heaven, heirs of all His glory, as Adam brought us into the prison of this world, heirs of all his sin and misery. This is the whole of Christian Redemption. Let us look where we will, and talk of what we will, there is no possibility of salvation for any one son of Adam, but in this Divine Birth, nor can this birth be had any other way: and to this great truth, all the writings of the New Testament bear undeniable witness."

“Look now at yourselves, at the world, at religion, in this true light, and surely you must enough see and feel the desirable nature of every virtue, and every degree of it, which The Gospel sets before you. Surely you must awaken into a strong abhorrence of every thing, that the fall has brought upon you, whether it be in your souls, your bodies, or the state of the world into which you are fallen. To renounce the poor interests of a worldly life, to be content with a pilgrim's fare in it, to live looking and longing after that which you have lost; to have no more of covetousness, of pride, of vanity, and ambition, than John the Baptist had; to live unto GOD in your shops your employments and states, with such thoughts and desires of going to your Heavenly Father, as the lost son had when he saw his poor condition, eating husks among swine; is only a proof, that you are, like him, come to yourselves, that you begin to see what, and how, and where you are. Surely you can need no exhortations to hasten and run to your REDEEMER, to ask and beseech Him, in Faith and Love, to do every thing in you and for you, that your darkened corrupted heart, and polluted body, stand in need of: He now stands as near you, as full of love over you, as he did to Lazarus when He raised him from the dead: He is no farther from your call, than He was from the Call of blind Bartimæus, whose eyes He immediately opened. Surely, it should now be more needless to exhort you to look earnestly and diligently after every means of recovering your first glorious state, than to exhort the blind to receive their sight, the sick to accept of health, or the captive to suffer his chains to be taken off. For when you thus see your Misery and your Redemption in this strong light, both of them so exceeding great, you see something that must needs penetrate and awaken the inmost depth of your soul, that leaves you no room to doubt about the nature of any virtue, no liberty to indulge one vain passion, or to think it any hardship that the Gospel calls you to be perfect. For in this light, every virtue of the Gospel stands known and recommended to us, just as health, purity, and sight, stand recommended to a sickly, noisome, blind leper, who was shut up in a place that continually increased all his evils. It strips us of nothing but the uncleanness of leprogies, the miseries of sores, pains, and blindness: it takes nothing from the world which is about us, but its poison and power of infecting us. So that to be called to the height of all virtue attainable in this life, however excessive it may seem to the reasonings of flesh and blood, is only being called away from every Misery and Evil that can be avoided by us. JESUS CHRIST is become our regenerator, that we may again be made like unto GOD, have the purity and perfection of an angelic nature, and be made capable of enjoying the infinite riches and treasures of THE DIVINE NATURE to all eternity. No virtue, therefore, has any blameable extreme in it, till it contradicts this general end of religion, till it hinders the restoration of THE DIVINE IMAGE in us, or makes us less fit to appear amongst the inhabitants of Heaven. Abstinence, temperance, mortification of the senses and passions, can have no Excess till they hinder the purification of the soul, and make the body less useful and subservient to it. Charity can have no Excess till it contradicts that love which we are to have in Heaven; till it exceeds that which the first Christians practised, when they had all things common; till it exceeds that of St. John, who requires him that has Two Coats to give to him that has none, and he that has Meat to do likewise; till it is loving our poor brethren more than CHRIST has loved us; till it is more than that, which would lay down its life even for an Enemy; till it goes beyond the command of loving our neighbour as we love ourselves; till it forgets that our own life is to be preserved." AN EARNEST AND SERIOUS ANSWER TO DR. TRAPP'S DISCOURSE on the Folly Sin and Danger of being Righteous over much.

Of the ground and nature of GOSPEL CHRISTIANITY, as distinguished from that original universal christianity which began with Adam, and was the religion of the Patriarchs, of Moses and the Prophets, and of every penitent man in every part of the world, that had Faith and Hope towards GOD to be delivered from the evil of this world, Mr. LAW thus speaks :

“ When THE SON OF GOD had taken a birth in and from the human nature, had finished all the wonders that belonged to our redemption, and was sat down at the right hand of GOD in Heaven ; A heavenly Kingdom was set up on earth, and THE HOLY SPIRIT came down from Heaven, or was given to the flock of CHRIST, in such a degree of birth and life, as never was, nor could be given to the human nature, till CHRIST, The Redeemer of the human nature, was glorified. But when The Humanity of CHRIST, our Second Adam, was glorified, and become all heavenly, then the heavenly life, the comfort, and power, and presence of THE HOLY SPIRIT, was the gift which He gave to his brethren, his friends and followers, which He had left upon earth. THE HOLY GHOST descended in the shape of cloven tongues of fire on the heads of those, that were to begin and open the new powers of A divine Life set up amongst men. This was the beginning and manifestation of the whole nature and power of GOSPEL CHRISTIANITY ; a thing as different from what was Christianity before, as the possession of the thing hoped for is different from hope, or deliverance different from the desire or expectation of it. Hence The Apostles were new men, entered into a new kingdom come down from Heaven, enlightened with new light, inflamed with new love, and preached not any absent or distant thing, but JESUS CHRIST, as The Wisdom and Power of GOD, felt and found within them ; and as A Power of GOD ready to be communicated in the same manner, as a New Birth from Above, to all that would repent and believe in Him. It was to this Change of nature, of life, and spirit, to this deliverance from the power of sin, to be possessed and governed by Gifts and Graces of A Heavenly Life, that men were then called to, as TRUE CHRISTIANITY. And the preachers of it bore witness, not to a thing that they had heard, but to a power of salvation, a renewal of nature, a birth of heaven a sanctification of spirit, which they themselves had received. GOSPEL CHRISTIANITY then stood upon its own true ground; it appeared to be what it was: and it was an Awakened Divine Life set up amongst men; itself was its own proof; it appealed to its proper judge, to the heart and conscience of man, which was alone capable of being touched with these offers of a new life.”

“Hence it was, that sinners of all sorts that felt the burden of their evil nature, were in a state of fitness to receive these glad tidings: whilst the rigid pharisee, the orthodox priest, and the rational heathen, though at enmity with one another, and each proud of his own distinction, yet all agreed in rejecting and abhorring A SPIRITUAL SAVIOUR, that was to save them from their carnal selves, and the vanity of their own rational selfish virtues. But when, after a while, Christianity had lost its first glory, appeared no longer as A Divine Life awakened amongst men, and itself was no longer its own proof of THE POWER AND SPIRIT OF GOD manifested in it; then heathenish learning, and temporal power, were from age to age forced to be called the glory and prosperity of the Church of CHRIST; although, in The Revelation of St. John, its figure is that of A Scarlet Whore riding upon The Beast.”

“Here, therefore, we are to place the true distinction of GOSPEL CHRISTIANITY from all that went before it, or that is come up after it. It is purely and solely A Divine Life awakened and set up amongst men, as the effect and fruit of CHRIST’S glorification in Heaven; and has no other Promise from Him, but that of HIS HOLY SPIRIT, to be with it, as its light, its guide, its strength, its comfort, and protection, to the end of the world. Therefore, as GOSPEL CHRISTIANS, we belong to The New Covenant of THE HOLY SPIRIT, which is The Kingdom of GOD come down from Heaven on the day of pentecost; and, therefore, it is, that there is no possibility of seeing or entering into This New Kingdom, but by being born again of THE SPIRIT. The apostles and Disciples of CHRIST, though they had been baptized with water, had followed CHRIST, heard His doctrines, and done wonders in His Name; yet, as then, stood only near to The Kingdom of GOD, and preached it to be at hand. They had only seen and known CHRIST according to the flesh; had followed Him with great zeal, but with little and very low knowledge either of Him or His

His Kingdom; and, therefore, it was, that they were commanded to stand still, and not act as his ministers in his new glorified state, till they were endued with power from on high: which power they then received, when THE HOLY GHOST with his cloven tongues of fire came down upon them; by which they became the illuminated instruments, that were to diffuse the Light of an Heavenly Kingdom over all the world. From that day began GOSPEL CHRISTIANITY, with its true distinction from every thing that was before it: it was The Ministration of THE SPIRIT; and the ministers of it called the world to nothing but gifts and graces of the SAME SPIRIT, to look for nothing but spiritual blessings, to trust, and hope, and pray for nothing but the power of that SPIRIT, which was to be the one life and ruling spirit of this newly opened Kingdom of GOD. No one could join himself to them, or have any part with them, but by dying to the wisdom and light of the flesh, that he might live by THE SPIRIT, through faith in JESUS CHRIST, who had thus called him to His Kingdom and Glory. Now THIS CHRISTIANITY is its own proof; it can be proved from nothing but itself; it wants neither miracles, nor outward witness; but, like the sun, is only its own discoverer."

"He that adheres only to the history of the facts, doctrines, and institutions of The Gospel, without being born of its Spirit, is only A Nominal Christian, and is no nearer to CHRIST, than the Jew who carnally adhered to the letter of The Law: they both stand in the same distance from GOSPEL CHRISTIANITY. It is in vain, therefore, for the Modern Christian, to appeal to antiquity, to history, and antient churches, to prove that he belongs to CHRIST; for he can only belong to Him, by having THE POWER OF CHRIST, and THE SPIRIT OF GOD living and dwelling in his Renewed Inward Man. But A Learned Christianity, supported and governed by reason, dispute, and criticism, that is forced to appeal to canons, and councils, and antient usages, to defend itself, has lost its place, stands upon a fictitious ground, and shews, that it cannot appeal to itself, to its own works, which alone are the certain infallible proofs either of a True or a False Christianity.

For The Truth of Christianity is THE SPIRIT OF GOD living and working in it; and where This Spirit is not THE LIFE of it, there the outward form is but like the outward carcass of a departed soul. For The Spiritual Life is as much its own proof, as The Natural Life; and needs no outward or foreign thing to bear witness to it." WAY TO DIVINE KNOWLEDGE.

That you may see, why SALVATION is, and can be nothing else, but the manifestation of THE LIFE OF GOD in the soul, consider the following passage from THE SPIRIT OF LOVE :

“ No intelligent creature, whether angel or man, can be good and happy, but by partaking of, or having in itself, a Twofold Life. Hence so much is said in the Scripture of an inward and outward, an old and a new man : for there could be no foundation for this distinction, but because every intelligent creature, created to be good and happy, must of all necessity have a Twofold Life in it, or it cannot possibly be capable of goodness and happiness ; nor can it possibly lose its goodness and happiness, or feel the least want of them, but by its breaking THE UNION of this Twofold life, in itself. Hence so much is said in the Scripture, of the quickening raising and reviving the inward new man, of the new birth from above, of CHRIST being formed in us, as the one only redemption and salvation of the soul. Hence also the fall of Adam was said to be a death that he died the day of his sin, though he lived so many hundred years after it ; it was, because his sin broke THE UNION of his Twofold Life, and put an end to the Heavenly Part of it, and left only One Life, the life of this bestial earthly world in him.”

“ Now there is, in the nature of the thing, an absolute necessity of this Twofold Life in every creature that is to be good and happy ; and the Twofold Life is this : it must have THE LIFE OF NATURE, and THE LIFE OF GOD in it. It cannot be a creature, and intelligent, but by having the life and properties of Nature ; that is, by finding itself to be a life of various sensibilities, that hath a power of understanding, willing, and desiring : This is its creaturely life, which, by the creating Power of GOD, it hath in and from Nature.”

“ Now this is all the life that is, or can be creaturely, or be a creature's natural own life ; and all this creaturely natural life, with all its various powers, and sensibilities, is only a life of various appetites, hungers, and wants, and cannot possibly be any thing else. GOD Himself cannot make a creature to be in itself, or as to its own nature, any thing thing else but a state of emptiness, of want, of appetite, &c. He cannot make it to be good and happy, in and from its natural state: this is as impossible, as for GOD to cease to be the ONE ONLY GOOD. The highest life, therefore, that is natural and creaturely, can go no higher than this; it can only be a bare capacity for goodness and happiness; and cannot possibly be a good and happy life, but by THE LIFE OF GOD dwelling in, and in UNION with it. And this is the Twofold Life, that of all necessity must be UNITED in every good and happy creature.”

“ This is the greatest demonstration of the absolute necessity of the Gospel Redemption and Salvation, and all arising from the nature of the thing. There can be no goodness and happiness for any intelligent creature, but in and by this Twofold Life; and, therefore, THE UNION of the DIVINE and human life, or THE SON OF GOD incarnate in man, to make man again a partaker of The Divine Nature, is the one only possible salvation for all the sons of fallen Adam; that is, of Adam dead to, or fallen from his FIRST UNION with the Divine Life.”

“ Deism, therefore, or a religion of nature, pretending to make man good and happy without CHRIST, or THE SON OF GOD entering into UNION with the human nature, is the greatest of all absurdities: it is as contrary to the nature and possibilities of things, as for mere emptiness to be its own fulness, mere hunger to be its own food, and mere want to be its possession of all things. For nature and creature, without The CHRIST OF GOD, or The Divine Life in UNION with it, is and can be nothing else, but this mere emptiness hunger and want of all that which can alone make it good and happy. For GOD Himself, as I said, cannot make any creature to be good and happy, by any thing that is in its own created nature; and however high or noble any creature is supposed to be created, its height and nobility can consist in nothing, but its higher capacity and fitness to receive A HIGHER UNION with the Divine Life; and also a higher and more wretched misery when left to itself, as is manifest by the hellish state of the fallen angels. Their high and exalted nature was only an enlarged capacity for The Divine Life; and, therefore, when This Life was lost, their whole created nature was nothing else, but the height of rage and hellish distraction. A plain demonstration, that there can be no happiness blessing and goodness for any creature, in Heaven or on earth, but by having, as the Gospel faith, faith, JESUS CHRIST made unto it, Wisdom, Righteousness, Sanctification, and Peace with GOD. And the reason is this, it is because goodness and happiness are absolutely inseparable from GOD, and can be no where but in GOD. And, on the other hand, emptiness, want, insufficiency, &c. are absolutely inseparable from the creature, as such; its whole nature cannot possibly be any thing else, be it what or where it will, an angel in Heaven, or a man on earth; it is and must be, in its whole creaturely nature and capacity, a mere hunger emptiness, &c. and, therefore, all that we know of GOD, and all that we know of the creature, fully proves, that The Life of GOD in UNION with The creaturely Life, which is THE GOSPEL SALVATION, is the One only Possibility of goodness and happiness in any creature, whether in Heaven, or on earth.

“ Hence also it is enough certain, that this Twofold Life must have been the original state of every intelligent creature, at its first coming forth from GOD. It could not be brought forth by GOD, to have only a creaturely life of nature, and be left to that; for that would be creating it under a necessity of being in misery, in want, in wrath, and all painful sensibilities: a thing more unworthy of GOD, and more impossible for Him to do, than to create numberless earthly animals, under a necessity of being perpetually pained with hunger and thirst, without any possibility of finding any thing to eat or to drink. For no creaturely life can in itself be any higher, or better, than a state of want, or a seeking for something that cannot be found in itself: and, therefore, as sure as GOD is good, as sure as He would have intelligent beings live A life of Goodness and Happiness; so sure is it, that such Beings must of all necessity, in their first existence, have been blessed with A Twofold Life, viz. THE LIFE OF GOD dwelling in, and united with, The Life of Nature, or the created life.”

“ This great truth opens and asserts the certain and substantial ground of the spiritual life; and shews, that All Salvation is, and can be nothing else, but THE MANIFESTATION OF THE LIFE OF GOD IN THE SOUL. This gives the solid distinction between inward holiness, and all outward creaturely practices: for all that GOD has done for man by any particular dispensations, whether by the Law or the Prophets, by the Scriptures, or the Ordinances of the church, are only as helps to an holiness which they cannot give; but are only suited to the death and darkness of the

the earthly creaturely life, to turn it from itself, from its own workings, and awaken in it a faith and hope, a hunger and thirst, after that FIRST UNION WITH THE LIFE OF THE DEITY, which was lost in the fall of the first father of mankind.”

“ How absurd is it, to call Perpetual Inspiration fanaticism and enthusiasm, when there cannot be the least degree of goodness or happiness in any intelligent being, but what is, in its whole nature, merely and truly The Breathing, The Life, and The Operation of GOD in the life of the creature ! For if goodness can only be in GOD, if it cannot exist separate from Him, if He can only bless and sanctify, not by a creaturely gift, but by HIMSELF becoming The Blessing and Sanctification of the creature, then it is the highest degree of blindness, to look for any goodness and happiness, from any thing, but The Immediate Indwelling Union and Operation of The DEITY in the life of the creature. PERPETUAL INSPIRATION, therefore, is, in the nature of the thing, as necessary to a life of goodness, holiness, and happiness, as the perpetual respiration of the air is necessary to animal life. For the life of the creature, whilst only creaturely, and possessing nothing but itself, is hell ; that is, it is all pain, and want, and distress. Now nothing in the nature of the thing can make the least alteration in this creaturely life ; nothing can help it to be in Light and Love, in Peace and Goodness, but THE UNION OF GOD with it, and THE LIFE OF GOD working in it ; because nothing, but GOD, is Light, and Love, and Heavenly Goodness. And, therefore, where THE LIFE OF GOD is not become The Life and Goodness of the creature, there the creature cannot have the least degree of good in it.”

“ What a mistake is it, therefore, to confine Inspiration to particular times and occasions, to prophets and apostles, and extraordinary messengers of GOD ! and to call it enthusiasm, when the Common Christian looks, and trusts, to be continually led and inspired by THE SON OF GOD. For tho’ all are not called to be prophets or apostles, yet all are called to be Holy, as He Who has called them is Holy ; to be perfect as their HEAVENLY FATHER is perfect ; to be like minded with CHRIST ; to will only as GOD wills ; to do all to His Honour and Glory ; to renounce The Spirit of this World ; to have their conversation in Heaven ; to set their affections on things above ; to LOVE GOD with all their heart, soul, and spirit, and their NEIGHBOUR as themselves. Behold hold a work as great, as divine and supernatural, as that of a prophet and an apostle ! But to suppose that we ought and may ALWAYS be in This Spirit of Holiness, and yet are not, and ought not to be ALWAYS moved and led by The Breath and Spirit of GOD within us ; is to suppose, that there is a Holiness and Goodness which comes not from GOD ; which is no better than supposing, that there may be true prophets and apostles who have not their truth from GOD.”

“ Now the holiness of the Common Christian is not an occasional thing, that begins and ends, or is only for such a time, or place, or action ; but is the holiness of that, which is always alive, and stirring in us, namely, of our thoughts, wills, desires, and affections. If, therefore, these are always alive in us, always driving, or governing our lives ; if we can have no holiness or goodness, but as this life of thought, will, and affection works in us ; if we are all called to this inward holiness and goodness ; then a perpetual always existing operation of THE SPIRIT OF GOD within us, is absolutely necessary. For we cannot be inwardly led and governed by a Spirit of Goodness, but by being led and governed by THE SPIRIT OF GOD HIMSELF : for THE SPIRIT OF GOD, and THE SPIRIT OF GOODNESS, are not two spirits ; nor can we be said to have any more of the one, than we have of the other. Now if our thoughts, wills, and affections, need only be now and then holy and good ; then, indeed, the moving, and breathing SPIRIT OF GOD need only now and then govern us : but if our thoughts and affections are to be always holy and good, then The Holy and Good SPIRIT OF GOD is to be always operating, as A principle of Life within us.”

“ The Scripture saith, We are not sufficient of ourselves to think a good thought. If so, then we cannot be chargeable with not thinking and willing that which is good, but upon this supposition, That there is always A SUPERNATURAL POWER within us, ready and able to help us to the good, which we cannot have from ourselves. The difference then of a good and a bad man, does not lie in this, that the one wills that which is good, and the other does not ; but solely in this, that the one concurs with The Living Inspiring SPIRIT OF GOD within him, and the other resists it, and is and can be only chargeable with evil because he resists it. Therefore, whether you consider that which is good, or that which is bad in man, they equally prove The Perpetual

Indwelling and Operation of THE SPIRIT OF GOD within us; since we can only be bad by resisting, as we are good by yielding to THE SPIRIT OF GOD; both which equally suppose A Perpetual Operation of THE SPIRIT OF GOD within us."

“ How firmly our established church adheres to this doctrine of the necessity of The Perpetual Operation of THE HOLY SPIRIT, as the one only source and possibility of any degree of Divine Light, Wisdom, Virtue, and Goodness in the soul of man; how earnestly she wills and requires all her members to live in the most open profession of it, and in the highest conformity to it; may be seen by many such prayers as these, in her common, ordinary, public service. O GOD for as much as, WITHOUT THEE, we are NOT ABLE to please Thee, grant that THY HOLY SPIRIT may IN ALL THINGS direct and rule our hearts. Again: We pray Thee, that THY GRACE may ALWAYS prevent and follow us, and make us CONTINUALLY to be given to All good works. Again: Grant to us, LORD, we beseech Thee, The Spirit to think and do ALWAYS such things as be rightful; that we who cannot do ANY THING that is good, WITHOUT Thee, may, BY Thee, be enabled to live according to Thy Will. Again: Because the frailty of man, WITHOUT Thee, CANNOT BUT FALL, keep us EVER, by Thy Help, from all things hurtful, and LEAD us to all things profitable to our salvation. Again: O GOD from whom ALL GOOD THINGS do come, grant to us, thy humble servants, that by THY HOLY INSPIRATION, we may THINK those Things that be good, and, by THY MERCIFUL GUIDING, may PERFORM the same.—But now the true ground of all this doctrine of the necessity of The Perpetual Guidance and Operation of THE HOLY SPIRIT, lies in what has been said above, of the necessity of a Twofold Life in every intelligent creature, that is to be good and happy. For if the creaturely life, whilst alone, or left to itself, can only be want, misery, and distress; if it cannot possibly have any goodness or happiness in it, till THE LIFE OF GOD is in UNION with it, as One Life; then every thing that you read in the Scripture of THE SPIRIT OF GOD, as The Only Principle of Goodness, opens itself to you, as a most certain and blessed truth, about which you can have no doubt.”

“ From this absolute necessity of A Twofold Life, in every creature that is to be good and happy, we may see the certainty of This Truth, that The Inspoken Word in Paradise, dise, The Bruiser of the Serpent, The Seed of the Woman, The Immanuel, The HOLY JESUS, (for they all mean the same thing) was, and is, the only possible ground of salvation for fallen man. For if The Twofold Life is necessary, and man could not be restored to goodness and happiness, but by the RESTORED UNION of this Twofold Life into its first state; then there was an absolute necessity, in the nature of the thing, that every son of Adam should have such a Seed of Heaven in the birth of his life, as could, by The MEDIATION OF CHRIST, be raised into a birth and growth of the first perfect man. This is the one original Power of Salvation, without which, no external dispensation could have done any thing towards raising the fallen state of man: for nothing could be raised, but what there was to be raised; nor life be given to any thing, but to that which was capable of life. Unless, therefore, there had been a Seed of Life, or a smothered spark of Heaven in the soul of man, which wanted to come to the birth, there had been no possibility for any dispensation of GOD, to bring forth a Birth of Heaven in fallen man. The faith of the patriarchs could not have been in being, Moses and the prophets had come in vain, had not THE CHRIST OF GOD lain in a state of hideness in every son of man. For faith, which is a will and hunger after GOD, could not have begun to be, or have any life in man, but because there was something of The Divine Nature existing and hid in man. For nothing can have any longing desire, but after its own likeness; nor could any thing be made to desire GOD, but that which came from Him, and had the nature of Him."

" The Whole Mediatorial Office of CHRIST, from his birth to his sitting down in power at The Right Hand of GOD, was only for this end, to help man to a life that was fallen into death and insensibility in him; and, therefore, His Mediatorial Power was to manifest itself by way of A New Birth. In the nature of the thing nothing else was to be done, and CHRIST had no other way to proceed; and that for this plain reason, because LIFE was the thing that was lost; and life, wherever it is, must be raised by a birth; and every birth must and can only come from its own seed. But if CHRIST was to raise A New Life like His Own in every man, then every man must have had, originally, in the inmost spirit of his life, a Seed of CHRIST, or CHRIST as a Seed of Heaven, lying there in a state of insensibility or death, out of which it could not arise, but by The Mediatorial Power of CHRIST ; Who, as the Second Adam, was to regenerate that birth of His Own Life, which was lost in all the natural sons of the First Adam. But unless there was this Seed of CHRIST, or Spark of Heaven bidden in the soul, not the least beginning of man's salvation, or of CHRIST's Mediatorial Office, could be made. For what could begin to deny Self, if there was not something in man different from Self ? What could begin to have hope and faith and desire of An Heavenly Life, if there was not something of Heaven bidden in the soul, and lying therein as in a state of inactivity and death, till raised by THE MEDIATION OF CHRIST into its first perfection of life, and set again in its true dominion over flesh and blood ?”

“ The New Testament says, Thou shalt love THE LORD thy GOD with All thy heart, with All thy soul, and with All thy strength, and thy Neighbour as thyself. Now these two precepts, given by the written word of GOD, are an absolute demonstration of the first original perfection of man ; and also a full and invincible proof, that the same original perfection is not quite annihilated, but lies in him as a hidden suppressed seed of goodness, capable of being raised up to its first perfection. Had not this Divine Unity, Purity, and Perfection of Love towards GOD and man, been man's first natural state of life, it could have nothing to do with his present state : had any other nature, or measure, or kind of Love began in the first birth of his life, he could only have been called to that : for no creature has, or can have a call to be above, or act above its own nature. Therefore, as sure as man is called to this unity, purity, and perfection of love, so sure is it, that it was, at first, his natural heavenly state, and still has its Seed, or Remains within him, as his only power and possibility of rising up to it again. And, therefore, All that man is called to, every degree of A New and Perfect Life, every future exaltation of glory he is to have from THE MEDIATION OF CHRIST, is a full proof, that the same perfection was originally his natural state, and is still in him in such a seed, or remains of existence, as to admit of a perfect renewal. And thus it is, that you are to conceive of THE HOLY JESUS, or THE WORD OF GOD, as the hidden treasure of every human Soul, born as a seed of THE WORD in the birth of the soul, immured under flesh and blood, till, as A Day-Star, it arises in our hearts, and changes the son of an earthly Adam into A Son of GOD. And was not THE WORD and SPIRIT OF GOD in us all, all, antecedent to any dispensation or written word of GOD, as a real seed of life in the birth of our own life, we could have no more fitness for the Gospel-Redemption, than the animals of this world which have nothing of Heaven in them. And to call us to love GOD with all our hearts, to put on CHRIST, to walk according to THE SPIRIT, if these things had not their real nature and root within us, would be as vain and useless, as to make rules and orders, how our eyes should smell and taste, or our ears should see."

" Now this mystery of an Inward Life hidden in man, as his most precious treasure, as the ground of all that can be great and good in him, and hidden only since his fall, and which only can be opened and brought forth into its first glory, by HIM to whom all Power in Heaven and on Earth is given, is a truth to which almost every thing in nature bears full Witness. Look where you will, nothing appears, or works outwardly in any creature, or in any effect of nature, but what is all done from its own inward invisible spirit; not a spirit brought into it, but its own inward spirit, which is an inward invisible mystery, till made known by, or brought forth into outward appearances. The sea neither is, nor can be moved and tossed by any other wind, than that which hath its birth, and life, and strength in, and from the sea itself, as its own wind. The sun in the firmament gives growth to every thing that grows in the earth, and life to every thing that lives upon it; not by giving or imparting a life from without, but only by stirring up in every thing its own growth and its own life, which lay as in a seed or state of death, till helped to come out of it by the sun, which, as an emblem of THE REDEEMER of The Spiritual World, helps every earthly thing out of its own death, into its own highest state of life. That which we call our sensations, as seeing, hearing, feeling, tasting and smelling, are not things brought into us from without, or given unto us by any external causes, but are only so many inborn secret states of the soul, which lie in their state of hiddenness, till they are occasionally awakened, and brought forth into sensibility by outward occurrences. And were they not antecedently in the soul, as states and forms of its own life, no outward objects could bring the soul into a sensibility of them; for nothing can have, or be in any state of sensation, but that which it is and hath from itself, as its own birth: this is as certain, as that a circle hath only its own roundness."

but that which lieth flently hidden in it, as its own inward state. Look at what you will, whether it be animate, or inanimate, all that it is, or has, or can be, it is and has in and from itself, as its own inward state; and all outward things can do no more to it, than the hand does to the instrument, make it shew forth its own inward state, either of harmony or discord. It is strictly thus with ourselves. Not a spark of joy, of wrath, of envy, of love, of grief, can possibly enter into us from without, or be caused to be in us by any outward thing: this is as impossible, as for the sound of metals to be put into a lump of clay. And as no metal can possibly give forth any other, or higher sound, than that which is inclosed within it; so we, however struck, can give forth no other or higher sound, either of love, hatred, wrath, &c. than that very degree, which lay before shut up within us. The natural state of our tempers has variety of covers, under which they lie concealed at times, both from ourselves and others; but when this or that accident happens to displace such or such a cover, then that which lay hid under it, breaks forth: and then we vainly think, that this or that outward occasion has not shewn us how we are within, but has only infused or put into us a wrath, or grief, or envy, which is not our natural state, or of our own growth, or has all that it has from our own inward state. But this is mere blindness, and self-deceit: for it is as impossible for the mind to have any grief, or wrath, or joy, but what it has all from its own inward state; as for the instrument to give forth any other harmony, or discord, but that which is within and from itself. Persons, things, and outward occurrences, may strike our instrument improperly and variously; but as we are in ourselves, such is our outward sound, whatever strikes us. If our inward state is THE RENEWED LIFE OF CHRIST, then every thing and occasion, let it be what it will, only makes The Same Life to sound forth and shew itself; then, if one cheek is smitten, we meekly turn the other also. But if nature is alive, and only under a religious cover; then every outward accident that shakes or disturbs this cover, gives leave to that bad state, whether of grief, or wrath, or envy, that lay hid within us, to shew forth itself. But nothing at any time makes the least show or sound outwardly, but only that which lay ready within us, for an outward birth, as occasion should offer. What a miserable mistake is it, therefore, to place RELIGIOUS GOODNESS, in notions, opinions, ons, and outward observances, which good and bad men can equally receive and practise; and to treat the Ready Real Power and Operation of An INWARD LIFE OF GOD in the Birth of our Souls, as fanaticism and enthusiasm; when not only the Whole Letter and Spirit of scripture, but every Operation in Nature and Creature, demonstrates, that The Kingdom of Heaven must be all within us, or it never can possibly belong to us. Goodness, piety, and holiness, can only be ours, as thinking, willing, and desiring are ours; by being in us, as A Power of Heaven, in the birth and growth of our own Life."

"And now, how is the great controversy about RELIGION and SALVATION, shortened! For since the One Work of CHRIST, as your REDEEMER, is only this, to take from the earthly life of flesh and blood, its usurped power, and to raise the smothered spark of heaven out of its state of death, into a powerful governing life of the whole man; your One only Work also, under your REDEEMER, is fully known: and you have the utmost certainty, What you are to do, Where you are to seek, and in What you are to find your SALVATION. All that you have to do, or can do, is to oppose, resist, and, as far as you can, to renounce the evil tempers and workings of your own earthly nature: you are under the power of no other enemy, are held in no other captivity, and want no other deliverance, but from the power of your own earthly self: this is the one murderer of The DIVINE LIFE within you; it is your own Cain that murders your own Abel. Now every thing that your earthly nature does, is under the influence of Self-will, Self-Love, and Self-seeking, whether it carries you to laudable, or blameable practices; all is done in the nature and spirit of Cain, and only helps you to such goodness as Cain had when he slew his brother: for every action and motion of Self, has the Spirit of Antichrist, and murders The DIVINE LIFE within you. Judge not, therefore, of yourself, by considering how many of those things you do, which Divines and Moralists call virtue and goodness; nor how much you abstain from those things, which they call sin and vice: but daily and hourly, in every step that you take, see to The Spirit that is within you, whether it be Heaven, or earth, that guides you. And judge every thing to be Sin and Satan, in which your Earthly Nature, Own Love, or Self-seeking, has any share of life in you; nor think that any goodness is brought to life in you, but so far as it is an actual death to the pride, the vanity, the wrath, and selfish tempers of your fallen earthly life."

" Again : here you see, Where, and how, you are to seek your SALVATION. Not in taking up your travelling staff, or crossing the seas to find out a new Luther or a new Calvin, to cloath yourself with their opinions : no ; The Oracle is at home, that always, and only speaks the truth to you ; because nothing is your truth, but that good and that evil which is yours within you. For Salvation or Damnation is no outward thing, that is brought into you from without ; but is only That, which springs up within you, as the birth and state of your own life : what you are in yourself, what is doing in yourself, is all that can be either your Salvation or Damnation : for all that is our good, and all that is our bad, has no place, nor power, but within us. Again : nothing that we do is bad, but because it resists the Power and Working of GOD within us ; and nothing that we do, can be good, but because it conforms to THE SPIRIT OF GOD within us. And, therefore, as all that can be good, and all that can be evil in us, necessarily supposes a GOD working within us ; you have the utmost certainty, that GOD, SALVATION, and THE KINGDOM OF HEAVEN, are no where to be sought, or found, but within you ; and that all Outward Religion, from the fall of man to this day, is not for itself, but merely for the sake of an Inward and Divine Life, which was lost when Adam died his first death in Paradise. And, therefore, it may well be said, that circumcision is nothing, and uncircumcision is nothing ; because nothing is wanted, and, therefore, nothing can be available, but THE NEW CREATURE, called out of its captivity under the death and darkness of flesh and blood, into The Light, Life, and Perfection of its First Creation."

And thus also, you have the fullest proof, in What your SALVATION precisely consists. Not in any historic faith or knowledge of any thing absent or distant from you ; not in any variety of restraints, rules, and methods of practising virtues ; not in any formality of opinion about faith and works, repentance, forgiveness of sins, or justification and sanctification ; not in any Truth or Righteousness that you can have from yourself, from the best of men or books : but wholly and solely in THE LIFE OF GOD, or CHRIST OF GOD, quicken'd, and born again in you ; or, in other words, in THE RE-STORATION and PERFECT UNION of The First Twofold Life in the humanity." SPIRIT OF LOVE. Part II.

Hitherto I have proceeded in THE CONFUTATION of His Lordship's Doctrine of Grace, by selecting a few passages from some pieces of Mr. LAW that only occasionally mention that subject: but Mr. LAW's Writings have this peculiar distinction from the writings of critical, scholastical, conjecturing, and projecting divines, that they are consistent with nature, with scripture, and with themselves. I shall now produce a few passages from his HUMBLE, EARNEST, and AFFECTIONATE ADDRESS TO THE CLERGY, in which there is a reference to some particular sermons of Dr. Warburton, that, since Mr. LAW's death, have been distended into A Doctrine of Grace by His Lordship.

"All possible goodness, that either can be named, or is nameless, was in GOD from all eternity, and must to all eternity be inseparable from Him; it can be no where, but where GOD is. As, therefore, before GOD created any thing, it was certainly true, that there was but One that was good; so it is just the same truth, after GOD has created innumerable hosts of blessed, holy, and heavenly beings, that there is but One that is good, and that is GOD. All that can be called goodness, holiness, divine tempers, and heavenly affections, in the creatures, are no more their own, or the growth of their created powers, than they were their own, before they were created. But all that is called divine goodness in the creature, is nothing else, but the One Goodness of GOD manifesting a birth and discovery of itself in the creature, according as its created nature is fitted to receive it. This is the unalterable state between GOD and the creature: goodness for ever and ever, can only belong to GOD, as essential to Him, and as inseparable from Him, as His Own Unity. GOD could not make the creature to be great and glorious in itself; this is as impossible, as for GOD to create beings into a state of independence on Himself. The heavens, saith David, declare the glory of GOD; and no creature, any more than the heavens, can declare any other glory, but that of GOD. And as well might it be said, that the firmament sheweth forth its own handy-work, as that a holy, divine, or heavenly creature, sheweth forth its own natural power."

" But now, if all that is divine, great, glorious, and happy, in the spirits, tempers, operations, and enjoyments of the creature, is only so much of the Greatness, Glory, Majesty, and Blessedness of GOD, dwelling in it, and giving forth various births of His Own TRIUNE LIFE LIGHT AND LOVE, in and through the manifold forms and capacities of the creature to receive them; then we may infallibly see the true ground and nature of all true religion; and when, and how, we may be said to fulfill all our religious duty to GOD: for the creature's true religion, is its rendering to GOD All that is GOD's; it is its true continual acknowledging all that which it is, and has, and enjoys, in and from GOD. This is the one true religion of all intelligent creatures, whether in heaven, or on earth; for as they all have but one and the same relation to GOD, so, though ever so different in their several births states or offices, they all have but one and the same true religion, or right behaviour towards GOD. Now the one relation, which is the ground of all true religion, and is one and the same between GOD and all intelligent creatures, is this: "A total, unalterable
 "dependence upon GOD; an immediate continual receiving of "every kind and degree of goodness, blessing, and happiness, that
 "ever was, or can be found in them, from GOD alone."
 The highest angel has nothing of its own, that it can offer unto GOD, no more light, love, purity, perfection, and glorious hallelujahs, that spring from itself, or its own powers, than the poorest creature upon earth. Could the angel see a spark of wisdom, goodness, or excellence, as coming from, or belonging to its self, its place in heaven would be lost, as sure as Lucifer lost his. But angels are ever abiding flames of pure love, always ascending up to, and uniting with GOD, because the Wisdom, the Power, the Glory, the Majesty, the Love, and Goodness of GOD alone, is All that they see, and feel, and know, either within or without themselves.—Their adoration in spirit and in truth never ceases, because they never cease to acknowledge the ALL OF GOD; the ALL OF GOD in themselves, and the ALL OF GOD in the whole creation. This is the one religion of heaven, and nothing else is the truth of religion on earth. The matter, therefore, plainly comes to this: nothing can do, or be, the good of religion to the intelligent creature, but THE POWER AND PRESENCE OF GOD, really and essentially essentially living and working in it. But if this be the unchangeable nature of that goodness and blessedness, which is to be had from our religion, then of all necessity, the creature must have all its religious goodness, as wholly and solely from GOD's immediate operation, as it had its first goodness at its creation. And it is the same impossibility for the creature to help itself to that which is good and blessed in religion, by any contrivance reasonings or workings of its own natural powers, as to create itself: for the creature after its creation, can no more take any thing to itself that belongs to GOD, than it could take it, before it was created. And if truth forces us to hold, that the natural powers of the creature could only come from the One power of GOD; the same truth should more force us to confess, that That which comforts, that which enlightens, that which blesses, which gives Peace, Joy, Goodness, and Rest to its natural powers, can be had in no other way, nor by any other thing, but from GOD's Immediate Holy Operation found in it."

"Now the reason, why no work of religion, but that which is begun, continued, and carried on by The Living Operation of GOD in the creature, can have any truth, goodness, or divine blessing in it, is, because nothing can seek GOD, but that which comes from GOD; nothing can find GOD, as its good, but that which has THE NATURE OF GOD living in it; like can only rejoice in like: and, therefore, no religious service of the creature, can have any truth, goodness, or blessing in it, but that which is done in the creature, in, and through, and by A Principle and Power of THE DIVINE NATURE begotten and breathing forth in it all holy tempers affections and adorations. Take away inspiration, or suppose it to cease, and then no religious acts or affections, can give forth any thing that is Godly or Divine; for the creature can offer, or return nothing to GOD, but That, which it has first received from Him: therefore, if it is to offer, and send up to GOD, affections and aspirations, that are Divine and Godly, it must of all necessity have THE DIVINE AND GODLY NATURE living and breathing in it. Can any thing reflect light, before it has received it, or any other light, than that which it has received? Can any creature breathe forth earthly or diabolical affections, before it is possessed of an earthly or diabolical nature? Yet this is as possible, as for any creature to have Divine Affections rising up, and dwelling in it, either before, or any farther, than as it has, or partakes of THE DIVINE NATURE, NATURE, dwelling, and operating in it. A religious faith that is uninspired, a hope, or love, that proceeds not from the immediate working of THE DIVINE NATURE within us, can no more do any Divine Good to our Souls, or unite them with the Goodness of GOD, than an hunger after earthly food, can feed us with the immortal bread of heaven. All that the natural or uninspired man does or can do in the church, has no more of the truth or power of divine worship in it, than that, which he does in the field, or shop, through a desire of riches: because all the acts of the natural man, whether relating to matters of religion, or the world, must be equally selfish, and there is no possibility of their being otherwise. For Self-love, Self-esteem, Self-seeking, and living wholly to Self, are as strictly the whole of all that is, or possibly can be, in the natural man, as in the natural beast; the one can no more be better, or act above this nature, than the other. Neither can any creature be in a better or higher state than this, till something SUPERNATURAL is found in it; and this supernatural something, called in scripture, THE WORD, or SPIRIT, or INSPIRATION OF GOD, is that alone, from which man can have the first good thought about GOD, or the least power of having more heavenly desires in his spirit, than he has in his flesh."

"A religion that is not wholly built upon this Supernatural Ground, but stands upon the powers, reasonings, and conclusions of the natural uninspired man, has not so much as the shadow of true religion in it; but is a mere nothing, in the same sense, as an idol is nothing, because the idol has nothing of that in it, which is pretended by it. For the work of religion has no Divine Good in it, but as it brings forth, and keeps up an essential union of the spirit of man, with THE SPIRIT OF GOD: which essential union cannot be made, but through love on both sides; nor by love, but where the love that works on both sides, is of the same nature. No man, therefore, can reach GOD with his love, or have Union with Him by it, but he who is inspired with that One Same Spirit of Love, with which GOD loved himself from all eternity, and before there was any creature. Infinite hosts of new created heavenly beings, can begin no new kind of love of GOD, nor have the least power of beginning to love Him at all, but so far as His Own Holy Spirit of Love, wherewith he hath from all eternity loved Himself, is brought to life in them. This Love that was then in GOD alone, can be the Only Love in creatures, that can draw them to GOD ; they can have no power of cleaving to Him, of willing that which He wills, or adoring The Divine Nature, but by partaking of that Eternal Spirit of Love : and, therefore, the Continual Immediate Inspiration or Operation of THE HOLY SPIRIT, is the one only possible ground of our continually loving GOD. And of this Inspired Love, and no other, it is, That St. John saith, He that dwelleth in LOVE, dwelleth in GOD. Suppose it to be any other love, brought forth by any other thing, but THE SPIRIT OF GOD, breathing His Own Love in us ; and then it cannot be true, that he who dwells in such love, dwelleth in GOD.”

“ Divine Inspiration was essential to man’s first created state. The Spirit of THE TRIUNE GOD, breathed into, or brought to life in him, was that alone, which made him a holy creature in The Image and Likeness of GOD. To have no other mover, to live under no other guide or leader, but THE SPIRIT, was that, which constituted all the Holiness, which the first man could have from GOD. Had he not been thus at the first, GOD in him and he in GOD, brought into the world as a true offspring and real birth of THE HOLY SPIRIT, no dispensation of GOD to fallen man, would have directed him to THE HOLY SPIRIT, or ever have made mention of His Inspiration in man. For fallen man could be directed to nothing, as his good, but that which he had, and was his good, before he fell. And had not THE HOLY SPIRIT been his first life, in and by which he lived, no inspired prophets amongst the sons of fallen Adam, had ever been heard of, or any holy men speaking as they were moved by THE HOLY GHOST. For no fallen man could have been inspired by THE HOLY SPIRIT, but because the first life of man was a true and real birth of it ; and also because every fallen man had, by the Mercy and Free Grace of GOD, a secret remains of his first life, preserved in him, though hidden, or rather swallowed up by flesh and blood ; which secret remains, signified, and assured to Adam, by the name of a bruiser of the Serpent, or seed of the woman, was his only capacity to be called, and quickened again into his first life, by new breathings of THE HOLY SPIRIT in him.”

“ Hence it plainly appears, that THE GOSPEL STATE could not be GOD’s last dispensation, or the finishing of man’s redemption, unless its whole work, was A Work of

THE SPIRIT OF GOD in the spirit of man ; that is, unless, without all veils types and shadows, it brought the thing itself, or the substance of all former types and shadows, into real enjoyment, so as to be possessed by man in spirit and in truth. Now the thing itself, and for the sake of which all GOD's dispensations have been, is that FIRST LIFE OF GOD, which was essentially born in the soul of the first man, Adam, and to which he died: But now, if the Gospel Dispensation comes at the end of all types and shadows, to bring forth again, in man, a true and full Birth of that HOLY SPIRIT, which he had at first ; then it must be plain, that the work of this dispensation, must be solely and immediately the work of THE HOLY SPIRIT. For, if man could, no other possible way, have had a holy nature and spirit at first, but as an offspring or birth of THE HOLY SPIRIT, at his creation ; it is certain, from the nature of the thing, that fallen man, dead to his first holy nature, can have that same holy nature again, no other way, but solely by the operation of that Same HOLY SPIRIT, from the breath of which, he had, at first, a Holy Nature and Life in GOD. Therefore, Immediate Inspiration is as necessary to make fallen man alive again unto GOD, as it was to make man, at first, a living soul, after The Image, and in The Likeness of GOD ; and Continual Inspiration is as necessary, as man's continuance in his redeemed state. For this is a certain truth, that " That alone, which begins, or gives life, must of all necessity be the only continuance or preservation of life ; the second step can only be taken by That, which gave power to take the first. No life can continue in the goodness of its first created, or its redeemed state, but by its continuing under the influence of that Spirit, which at first created, or redeemed it." Every branch of a tree, though ever so richly brought forth, must wither and die, as soon as it ceases to have continual union with, and virtue from, that root, which first brought it forth. And to this truth, as absolutely grounded in the nature of the thing, our LORD appeals as a proof, and full illustration, of the necessity of His Immediate Indwelling, Breathing, and Operating, in the redeemed soul of man ; saying, I am The Vine, ye are The Branches ; as The Branch cannot bear fruit of itself, no more can ye, except ye abide in me. He that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit. If a man abide not in me, he is cast forth as a withered Branch ; for, WITHOUT ME, YE CAN DO NOTHING. Now from these these words, let this conclusion be drawn : That, therefore, “ to turn to CHRIST as a light within us ; to expect life “ from nothing, but His Holy Birth raised within us ; to “ give ourselves up wholly and solely to the Immediate Con- “ tinual Influx and Operation of HIS HOLY SPIRIT, de- “ pending wholly upon it for every kind and degree of good- “ ness and holiness, that we want, or can receive ; is, and “ can be nothing else, but proud rank enthusiasm.”

“ Now as infinitely absurd as this conclusion is, no one that condemns Continual Immediate Inspiration, as gross enthusiasm, can possibly do it with less absurdity, or shew himself a wiser man, or better reasoner, than he that concludes, that, Because without CHRIST we can do nothing, therefore, we ought not to believe, expect, wait for, and depend upon His Continual Immediate Operation in every thing that we do, or would do well. As to the pride charged upon this pretended enthusiasm, it is the same absurdity : CHRIST faith, without me ye can do nothing ; the same as if He had said, In yourselfes, and all that can be called your own, ye are mere helpless sin and misery ; and nothing that is good can come from you, but as it is done by the Continual Immediate Breathing and Inspiration of ANOTHER SPIRIT, given by GOD, to over-rule your own, to save and deliver you from all your own goodness, your own wisdom and learning, which always were, and always will be, as corrupt and impure, as earthly and sensual, as your own flesh and blood. Now is there any selfish creaturely pride, in fully believing this to be true, and acting in full conformity to it ? If so, then he that confesses he neither hath, nor ever can have a single farthing, but as it is freely given him from charity, thereby declares himself to be a purse-proud vain boaster of his own wealth. Such is the spiritual pride of him, who fully acknowledges, that he neither hath, nor can have, the least spark of or breathing after goodness, but what is freely kindled or breathed into him by THE SPIRIT OF GOD ! Again : if it is spiritual pride, to believe, that nothing that we ever think, or say, or do, either in the church, or our closets, can have any truth of goodness in it, but that which is wrought solely and immediately by THE SPIRIT OF GOD in us ; then it must be said, that, in order to have religious humility, we must never forget to take some share of our religious virtues to ourselves, and not allow, as CHRIST hath said, that, WITHOUT HIM, we can do nothing that is good. It must also be said, that St. Paul took too much upon him, when when he said, The Life that I now live, is not mine, but CHRIST's that liveth in me. Behold a pride, and an humility, the one as good as the other; and both logically descended from A Wisdom, that confesses it cometh not from ABOVE!"

"The necessity of a Continual Inspiration of THE SPIRIT OF GOD, both to begin the first, and continue every step of a Divine Life in man, is a truth, to which every life in nature, as well as all scripture, bears full witness.—A natural life, a bestial life, a diabolical life, can subsist no longer, than whilst they are immediately and continually under the working power of that root, or source, from which they sprung. Thus it is with the Divine Life in man, it can never be in him, but as a growth of life, in and from GOD. Hence it is, that resisting THE SPIRIT, quenching THE SPIRIT, grieving THE SPIRIT, is that alone, which gives birth and growth to every evil that reigns in the world, and leaves men and churches, not only an easy, but a necessary prey to the world, the flesh, and the devil. And nothing but obedience to THE SPIRIT, trusting to THE SPIRIT, walking in THE SPIRIT, praying with and for its Continual Inspiration, can possibly keep either men, or churches, from being sinners, or idolaters, in all that they do. For every thing in the life or religion of man, that has not THE SPIRIT OF GOD for its mover, director, and end, be it what it will, is but earthly, sensual, or devilish."

"The truth and perfection of THE GOSPEL STATE, could not shew itself, till it became solely A Ministration of THE SPIRIT, or a kingdom in which THE HOLY SPIRIT OF GOD had the doing of all that was done in it. The Apostles, whilst CHRIST was with them in the flesh, were instructed in heavenly truths from His mouth, and enabled to work miracles in His Name, yet not qualified to know and teach the mysteries of His Kingdom. After his resurrection, He conversed with them forty days, speaking to them of things appertaining to the kingdom of GOD; nay though He breathed on them, and said, receive ye THE HOLY GHOST, yet this also would not do; they were still unable to preach, or bear witness to, the Truth as it is in JESUS. And the reason is, there was still a higher dispensation to come, which stood in such an opening of the Divine Life in their hearts, as could not be effected from an outward instruction of CHRIST Himself. For though He had sufficiently told his disciples, the necessity of being born again of THE SPIRIT, yet he left them unborn of it, till He came again in The Power of THE SPIRIT. He breathed on them, and said, Receive ye THE HOLY GHOST: yet that which was said and done, was not the thing itself, but only a type, or outward signification, of what they should receive, when He, being glorified, should come again in The Fulness and Power of THE SPIRIT, breaking open the deadness and darkness of their hearts, with LIGHT AND LIFE FROM HEAVEN; which light did, and alone could, open and verify, in their souls, all that He had said and promised to them, whilst He was with them in the flesh. All this is expressly declared by CHRIST Himself, saying unto them, I tell you the truth, it is expedient for you that I go away: therefore CHRIST taught them, to believe the want, and joyfully to expect the coming of a higher and more blessed state, than that of His bodily presence with them; for He adds, if I go not away, THE COMFORTER will not come: therefore, the comfort and blessing of CHRIST to his followers, could not be had, till something more was done to them, and they were brought into a higher State, than they could be by His verbal instruction of them. But if I go away, says He, I will send him unto you; and when THE COMFORTER, THE SPIRIT OF TRUTH, is come, he will guide you into all truth. He shall glorify me (that is, shall set up my kingdom in its glory, in The Power of THE SPIRIT;) for he shall receive of mine, and shall shew it unto you: I said of mine; because all things, that The Father hath, are mine. Now when CHRIST had told them of the necessity of an higher state, than that they were in, and the necessity of such a comforting illuminating guide, as they could not have, till his outward teaching in human language was changed into the Inspiration and Operation of HIS SPIRIT in their souls; He commands them, not to begin to bear witness of Him to the world, from what they did, or could, in an human way, know of Him, His Birth, Life, Doctrines, Sufferings, Death, and Resurrection, but to tarry at Jerusalem, till they were ENDUED WITH POWER FROM ON HIGH; saying unto them, Ye shall receive power, after that THE HOLY GHOST is come upon you: and then shall ye bear witness unto me, both in Jerusalem, and in all Judea, and unto the utmost part of the earth."

“ Here are two most important and fundamental truths fully demonstrated: 1. That the truth and perfection of THE GOSPEL STATE, could not take place, till CHRIST was glorified, and His Kingdom amongst men made wholly and solely A Continual Immediate Ministrations of THE SPIRIT : every thing before this, was but subservient for a time, and preparatory to this last dispensation ; which could not have been the last, had it not carried man above types figures and shadows, into the real possession and enjoyment of that, which is the Spirit and Truth of A Divine Life. For the end is not come, till it has found the beginning : that is, the last dispensation of GOD to fallen man, cannot be come, till putting an end to the bondage of weak and beggarly elements, it brings man to that dwelling in GOD, and GOD in him, which he had at the beginning. 2. That as not the Apostles, so no man from their time to the end of the world, can have any true and real knowledge of the Spiritual Blessings of CHRIST'S REDEMPTION ; or have a divine call, capacity, or fitness, to preach and bear witness of them to the world ; but solely by that SAME DIVINE SPIRIT, opening all the mysteries of a REDEEMING CHRIST in their inward parts, as it did in the Apostles, Evangelists, and First Ministers of The Gospel."

“ For why could not the Apostles, who had been eye-witnesses to the whole process of CHRIST, why could not they, with their human apprehension, declare and testify the truth of such things, till they were baptized with Fire, and born again of THE SPIRIT ? It is because the truth of such things, or THE MYSTERIES OF CHRIST'S PROCESS, as knowable by man, are nothing else in themselves, but those very things, which are done by This Heavenly Fire, and SPIRIT OF GOD in our souls. Therefore, to know the mysteries of CHRIST'S REDEMPTION, and to know The Redeeming work of GOD in our own souls, is the same thing ; the one cannot be before, or without the other. Therefore, every man, be he who he will, however able in all kinds of human literature, must be an entire stranger to all the mysteries of Gospel Redemption, and can only talk about them, as of any other tale he has been told, till they are brought forth, verified, fulfilled, and witnessed to, by that which is found, felt, and enjoyed, of the Whole process of CHRIST in his soul. For as Redemption is, in its whole nature, an inward Spiritual work, that works only in the altering changing and regenerating the life of the soul ; so it must be true, that nothing but the inward state of the soul, can bear true witness to The REDEEMING POWER OF CHRIST. for as it wholly consists in altering that, which is the most radical in the soul, bringing forth a new spiritual death, death, and a new spiritual life; it must be true, that no one can know or believe The Myſteries of CHRIST'S REDEEMING POWER, by historically knowing, or rationaly conſenting to, that which is ſaid of Him and them, in written or ſpoken words; but only and ſolely by an inward experimental finding and feeling the operation of them, in that new death, and new life, both of which muſt be effected in the ſoul of man, or CHRIST is not cannot be found and known by the ſoul, as its ſalvation. It muſt alſo be equally true, that The Redeemed State of the ſoul, being, in itſelf, nothing elſe but The Reſurrection of a Divine and Holy Life in it, muſt as neceſſarily, from firſt to laſt, be The Sole Work of the BREATHING CREATING SPIRIT OF GOD, as the firſt holy created ſtate of the ſoul was: and all this, becauſe The Myſteries of CHRIST'S REDEEMING POWER, which work and bring forth the renewed ſtate of the ſoul, are not creaturely, finite, outward things, that may be found and enjoyed by verbal deſcriptions, or formed ideas of them, but are A Birth, and Life, and Spiritual Operation, which as ſolely belongs to GOD alone, as His creating power. For “ nothing can redeem, but that ſame power which created “ the ſoul; nothing can bring forth a good thought in it, “ but that which brought forth the power of thinking: and “ of every tendency towards goodneſs, be it ever ſo ſmall, “ that ſame may be truly affirmed of it, which St. Paul “ affirmed of his higheſt ſtate, yet not I, but CHRIST that “ liveth in me.”

“ But if the belief of the neceſſity and certainly of IMMEDIATE CONTINUAL DIVINE INSPIRATION, in, and for every thing, that can be holy and good in us, be, as its accuſers ſay, proud rank enthuiſaſm; then he is the only ſober, humble, orthodox chriſtian, who, of many a good thought and action, that proceed from him, frankly ſaith, in order to avoid enthuiſaſm, my own power, and not CHRIST'S SPIRIT living and breathing in me, hath done this for me: for if all that is good, is not done by CHRIST, then ſome-thing that is good is done by myſelf. It is in vain to think, that there is A MIDDLE WAY, and that rational divines have found it out, as Dr. WARBURTON has done, who, though denying Immediate Continual Inſpiration, yet allows, that “ THE SPIRIT'S ordinary influence, occaſionally aſſiſts “ the faithful. [Serm. vol. I. Doct. of Grace, “ p. 39.]”

“ Now this MIDDLE WAY hath neither ſcripture nor ſenſe in it; for an occaſional influence, is as abſurd, as an occasional God, and necessarily supposes such a God. For an occasional influence of THE SPIRIT upon us, supposes an occasional absence of THE SPIRIT from us: for there could be no such thing, unless GOD was sometimes with us, and sometimes not; sometimes doing us good, as the Inward GOD of our life, and sometimes doing us no good at all, but leaving us to be good from ourselves: occasional influence necessarily implies all this blasphemous absurdity. Again: This MIDDLE WAY of an occasional influence and assistance, necessarily supposes, that there is something of man's own that is good, or THE HOLY SPIRIT OF GOD neither would, nor could assist, or co-operate with it. But if there was any thing good in man, for GOD to assist and co-operate with, besides THE SEED of His Own Divine nature, or His Own WORD OF LIFE, striving to bruise the serpent's nature within us, it could not be true, that there is only One that is good, and that is GOD. And was there any goodness in creatures, either in heaven or on earth, but the ONE GOODNESS OF THE DIVINE NATURE, living, working, and manifesting itself in them, as its created instruments; then good creatures, both in heaven and on earth, would have something else to adore, besides, or along with GOD; for goodness, be it where it will, is adorable for itself, and because it is goodness: if, therefore, any degree of it belonged to the creature, it ought to have a share of that same adoration, that is paid to The Creator. Therefore, if to believe, that nothing Godly can be alive in us, but what has All its Life from THE SPIRIT OF GOD, living and breathing in us; if to look solely to it, and depend wholly upon it, both for the beginning and growth of every thought and desire, that can be holy and good in us, be proud rank enthusiasm; then it must be the same enthusiasm, to own but ONE GOD: for he that owns more goodness than one, owns more Gods than one; and he that believes he can have any good in him, but the ONE GOODNESS OF GOD manifesting itself in him and through him, owns more goodness than one. But if it be true, that GOD and GOODNESS cannot be divided, then it must be a Truth for ever and ever, that so much of GOOD, so much of GOD, must be in the creature."

" And here lies THE TRUE UNCHANGEABLE DISTINCTION between GOD and NATURE, and THE NATURAL CREATURE! Nature and creature are only for the outward manifestation of The INWARD, INVI-“ SIBLE, UNAPPROACHABLE POWERS OF GOD : they “ can rise no higher, nor be any thing else in themselves, but “ temples, habitations, or instruments, in which THE “ SUPERNATURAL GOD, can, and does manifest Him- “ self in various degrees ; bringing forth creatures to be “ good with HIS OWN GOODNESS, to love and adore Him “ with HIS OWN SPIRIT OF LOVE, for ever singing “ praises to THE DIVINE NATURE by that which they “ partake of it.” This is the The Religion of Divine Inspi- ration, which, being interpreted, is IMMANUEL, or GOD within us ; and every thing short of this, is short of That Religion, which worships GOD in spirit and in truth.

[His Lordship was too much interested in the reception that might be given to Mr. LAW's Address to the Clergy, not to read it over with a jealous and watchful eye ; and that His Lordship did read it over, with a degree of attention sufficient to inform him of all the truths it contained, is evident from the many passages His Lordship has partially taken from it and inserted in his Doctrine of Grace. As this truth, therefore, so forcibly asserted, could not possibly escape His Lordship's notice, the charge “ of Pantheism, of confounding GOD and NATURE, “ of setting NATURE in the Throne of GOD,” brought against Mr. LAW, is as frontless a calumny as wanton resentment could utter. But more of this hereafter.]

“ The natural or unregenerate man, educated in pagan learning and scholastic theology, seeing the strength of his genius in the search after knowledge, and how easily and learnedly he can talk, write, criticise, and determine upon all scripture words and facts, looks at all this, as a FULL PROOF of his own religious wisdom, power, and goodness, and calls Immediate Inspiration, ENTHUSIASM ; not considering, that all the woes denounced by CHRIST against scribes, pharisees, and hypocrites, are so many woes at this day denounced against every appearance and shew of religion, that the natural man can practise. And what is well to be noted, every one, however high in human literature, is but this very natural man, and can only have the goodness of a carnal secular religion, till, as empty of all as a new born child, THE SPIRIT OF GOD gets a full birth in him, and becomes the Inspirer and Doer of all that he wills, does, and aims at, in his whole course of religion."

"OUR DIVINE MASTER compares the religion of the learned pharisees, to witied sepulchres, outwardly beautiful, but inwardly full of rottenness, stench, and dead mens bones. Now whence was it, that a religion, so serious in its restraints, so beautiful in its outward form and practices, and commanding such reverence from all that beheld it, was yet charged by TRUTH Itself, with having inwardly such an abominable nature? It was only for this one reason, because it was A RELIGION OF SELF. Therefore, from the beginning to the end of the world, it must be true, that where self is kept alive, has power, and keeps up its own interests, whether in speaking, writing, teaching, or defending the most specious number of scripture doctrines and religious forms, THERE is that very old pharisee still alive, whom CHRIST with so much severity of language constantly condemned. And the reason of such heavy condemnation is, because self is the root, or rather the sum total of all sin; every sin that can be named, is centered in it, and the creature can sin no higher than he can live to self. For self is the fullness of atheism and idolatry; it is nothing else but the creature broken off from GOD and CHRIST; it is The Power of Satan living and working in us; and the sad continuance of that first turning from GOD, which was the whole fall or death of our first father. And yet, sad and satanical as This Self is, what is so much cherished and nourished with our daily love, fears, and cares about it? How much worldly wisdom, how much laborious learning, how many subtleties of contrivance are employed, and how many flattering applications and submissions are made to the world, that this Apostate Self may have it's fullness, both of inward joy, and outward glory? But to all this, it must yet be added, that A RELIGION OF SELF, of worldly glory and prosperity, carried on under THE GOSPEL STATE, has more of a diabolical nature, than that of the Jewish Pharisees. It is the highest and last working of The Mystery of Iniquity, because it LIVES to self, satan, and the world, in and by a daily profession of denying and dying to self, of being crucified with CHRIST, of being led by HIS SPIRIT, of being risen from the world, and set with Him in Heavenly places."

"Let then THE WRITERS against Continual Immediate Divine Inspiration, take this for a certain truth, that by so doing, "they do all they can, to draw man from that

" which is the very truth and perfection of THE GOSPEL

" STATE ;

" STATE; and are, and can be, no better, than pitiable
 " advocates for a Religion of Self, more blameable and abo" minable NOW, than that which was of old condemned by " CHRIST." For whatever is pretended to be done in GOSPEL RELIGION, by any other spirit or power, but that of THE HOLY GHOST bringing it forth, whether it be praying, preaching, or practising any duties; is all of it but The Religion of Self, and can be nothing else: for all that is born of the flesh, is flesh; and nothing is spiritual, but that which has its Whole Birth from THE SPIRIT. Man not ruled and governed by THE SPIRIT, hath only the nature of corrupt flesh, is under the full power and guidance of fallen nature, and is that very natural man, to whom THE THINGS OF GOD are foolishness. But " man boldly rejecting, and " preaching against A Continual, Immediate, Divine Inspira- " tion, is an ANTI-APOSTLE: he layeth another founda- " tion, than that which CHRIST hath laid; he teacheth, that " CHRIST needeth not, must not, be ALL IN ALL in us;
 " and is a preacher up of the folly of fearing to grieve, quench,
 " and resist THE HOLY SPIRIT." For when, or where, or how, could every one of us be in danger of grieving, quenching, or resisting THE SPIRIT, unless His Holy Breathings and Inspirations were always within us? Or how could THE SIN AGAINST THE HOLY GHOST, have a more dreadful nature, than that against THE FA-THER AND THE SON, but because the Continual Immediate Guidance and Operation of THE SPIRIT, is the last, and highest manifestation of THE HOLY TRINITY in the fallen soul of man? It is not, because THE HOLY GHOST is more worthy, or higher in nature, than THE FATHER, and THE SON; but because FATHER AND SON come forth in Their Own Highest Power of REDEEMING LOVE, through The Covenant of A Continual Immediate Inspiration of THE SPIRIT, to be always dwelling and working in the soul."

" Many weak things have been conjectured and published to the world, about THE SIN AGAINST THE HOLY GHOST; whereas the whole nature of it lies in this, that it is " a sinning, or standing out, against the Last and Highest
 " Dispensation of GOD, for THE FULL REDEMPTION OF " MAN." CHRIST saith, If I had not come, they had not had sin; that is, they had not had such a weight of guilt upon them: therefore, the SINNING AGAINST CHRIST come in the flesh, was of a more unpardonable nature, than SIN-NING AGAINST THE FATHER under the law. So likewise SINNING AGAINST THE HOLY GHOST, is of a more unpardonable nature, than SINNING AGAINST THE FATHER under the law, or AGAINST THE SON as come in the flesh; because these two preceding dispensations, were but preparatory to the Coming or Full Ministration of THE SPIRIT. But when FATHER AND SON WERE COME IN THE POWER AND MANIFESTATION OF THE SPIRIT, then he that refuseth, or resisteth THIS MINISTRATION OF THE SPIRIT, resisteth ALL that The HOLY TRINITY can do, to restore and revive THE FIRST LIFE OF GOD IN THE SOUL, and so commits THE UNPARDONABLE SIN; and which is therefore unpardonable, because there remains no farther, or higher power, to remove it out of the soul. For no sin is pardonable, because of its own nature, or that which it is in itself; but because there is something yet to come, that can remove it out of the soul: nor can any sin be unpardonable, but because it has withstood, or turned from THAT, which was The Last and Highest Remedy for the removal of it."

"Hence it is, that grieving, quenching, or resisting THE SPIRIT, is The Sin of all Sins, that most of all stops The Work of Redemption, and in the highest degree separates man from ALL UNION WITH GOD. But there could be no such sin, but because THE HOLY SPIRIT is ALWAYS breathing, willing, and working within us. For what spirit can be grieved by us, but That which hath ITS WILL WITHIN US disobeyed? What spirit can be quenched by us, but That which is, and ever would be, A HOLY FIRE OF LIFE within us? What spirit can be resisted by us, but That which is, and has ITS WORKING WITHIN US? A spirit on the outside of us, cannot be THE SPIRIT OF GOD; nor could such a spirit be any more quenched or hindered by our spirit, than a man by indignation at a storm, could stop it rage. Now, DREADFUL as the abovementioned sin is, "I would ask ALL THE WRITERS against Continual Immediate Divine Inspiration, how they could more effectually lead men into AN HABITUAL STATE OF SINNING AGAINST THE HOLY GHOST, than by such doctrine?" For how can we possibly avoid the sin of resisting grieving and quenching THE SPIRIT, but by continually reverencing HIS HOLY PRESENCE in us; by continually waiting for, trusting in, and solely attending to That, which THE SPIRIT OF GOD wills, works, and manifests within us? To turn men from This continual dependence upon THE HOLY SPIRIT, is turning them from All true Knowledge ledge of GOD : for without this, there is no possibility of any edifying saving knowledge of GOD. For though we have ever so many mathematical demonstrations of His Being and perfections, we are without all real knowledge of Him, till His OWN QUICKENING SPIRIT within us, manifests Him, as A POWER OF LIFE, LIGHT, LOVE, AND GOODNESS, essentially found, vitally felt and adored in our souls. This is the One Knowledge of GOD, which is Eternal Life, because it is THE LIFE OF GOD manifested in the soul ; that knowledge, of which CHRIST saith, No one knoweth THE FATHER but THE SON, and He to whomsoever THE SON revealeth Him. Therefore, this knowledge is only possible to be found in him, who is, in CHRIST, a new creature ; for so it is, that CHRIST revealeth THE FATHER. But if none belong to GOD, but those who are led by THE SPIRIT OF GOD ; if we are reprobates, unless THE SPIRIT OF CHRIST be living in us ; who need be told, that ALL that we have to trust to, or depend upon, as Children of GOD and CHRIST, is The Continual Immediate Guidance Unction and Teaching of HIS HOLY SPIRIT within us ? Or “ how can we more profanely sin against THIS “ SPIRIT AND POWER OF GOD within us, or more expressly call men from The Power of GOD unto satan, “ than by ridiculing a faith and hope, that look wholly and “ solely to His Continual Immediate Breathings and Operations, for ALL that can be holy and good in us ? ”

“ When I am lifted up from the earth, saith CHRIST, I will draw all men unto me. Therefore, The One Great Power of CHRIST in and over the souls of men, is after he is in heaven ; then begins the true full power of His Drawing, because it is by HIS SPIRIT in man that He draws. But “ who can more resist THIS DRAWING, or defeat its operation in us, than he that preaches against and condemns the “ belief of A Continual and Immediate Inspiration of THE “ SPIRIT, when CHRIST’S Drawing can be in nothing “ else, nor be powerful any other way ? ” Now that which we are here taught, is the whole end of all scripture : for all that is there said, however learnedly read or studied by Hebrew or Greek skill, fails of its only end, till it leads and brings us to an Essential GOD within us ; to feel and find all that which the scriptures speak of GOD, of man, of life and death, of good and evil, of heaven and hell, essentially verified in our own souls. For ALL IS WITHIN MAN, that can be either good or evil to him : GOD WITHIN HIM, is his his Divine Life, his Divine Light, and his Divine Love; SATAN WITHIN HIM is his life of self, of earthly wisdom, of diabolical falseness, wrath, pride, and vanity, of every kind. There is no MIDDLE WAY between these two: he that is not under the power of the one, is under the power of the other. And the reason is, man was created in and under the power of THE DIVINE LIFE; so far, therefore, as he loses, or turns from, THIS LIFE OF GOD, so far he falls under the power of self, of satan, and wordly wisdom. When St. Peter, full of an human good love towards CHRIST, advised him to avoid his sufferings, CHRIST rejected him, with a Get thee behind me Satan; and only gave this reason for it, for thou savourest not the things that be of GOD, but the things that be of men: a plain proof, that whatever is not of, and from, THE HOLY SPIRIT OF GOD in us, however plausible it may outwardly seem to human wisdom, and human goodness, is yet, in itself, nothing else but the power of satan in us. And as St. Paul said truly of himself, By THE GRACE OF GOD I am what I am: so “ every wise man, every scribe, every disputer of this world, “ every trustor to the strength of his own rational learning; “ every one, that is under THE POWER of his own fallen nature, never free from DESIRES of honours and preferments, “ ever thirsting to be REWARDED for his theological abilities, “ ever fearing to be ABASED AND DESPISED, always thankful to those who FLATTER HIM with his distinguished merit;” every such, be he who he will, may as truly say of himself, Through my turning and trusting to something else, than THE GRACE AND INSPIRATION OF GOD’S SPIRIT, I am what I am. For nothing else hinders any professor of CHRIST, from being able truly to say with St. Paul, GOD forbid that I should glory in any thing but THE CROSS OF CHRIST, by which I am crucified to the world, and the world to me; nothing makes him incapable of finding that, which St. Paul found, when he said, I can do all things, through CHRIST that strengtheneth me: nothing hinders all this, but his disregard of A CHRIST within him; his chusing to have A religion of self, of laborious learning, and worldly greatness, rather than be such a Gospel Fool for CHRIST, as to renounce all that which St. Paul renounced; and to seek no more earthly honour and praise, than he did; and to will nothing, know nothing, seek nothing, but THAT which THE SPIRIT OF GOD AND CHRIST, knoweth, willeth, and seeketh in him. Here, and here alone, lies the Christian’s full full and certain power of overcoming self, the devil, and the world. But Christians, seeking and turning to any thing else, but to be led and inspired by THE ONE SPIRIT OF GOD AND CHRIST, will bring forth a Christendom, that, in The Sight of GOD, will have no other name, than a Spiritual Babylon, a Spiritual Egypt and Sodom, a Scarlet Whore, a Devouring Beast, and Fiery Dragon. For all these names belong to all men however learned, and to all churches whether greater or less, in which The Spirit of This World hath any share of power. This was THE FALL of the Whole Church, soon after the Apostolic Ages; and all human reformations, begun by ecclesiastical learning, and supported by civil power, will signify little or nothing, nay must make things worse, till all churches, dying to all own will, all own wisdom, all own advancement, seek for no Reforming Power, but from That SPIRIT OF GOD, which converted sinners, publicans, harlots, Jews and heathens, into AN HOLY APOSTOLICAL CHURCH at the first; A CHURCH, which knew they were of GOD, that they belonged to GOD, by THAT SPIRIT which He had given them, and which worked in them."

"Ye are not in the flesh, saith the Apostle, but in THE SPIRIT: but then he adds, as the only ground of this, IF SO BE that THE SPIRIT OF GOD dwelleth in you: surely he means, if so be ye are moved guided and governed by that, which THE SPIRIT wills works and inspires within you. And then to shew the absolute necessity of THIS LIFE OF GOD in the soul, he adds, if any man hath not THE SPIRIT OF CHRIST, he is NONE of His. And that this is the state, to which GOD hath appointed and called All Christians, he thus declares, GOD hath sent forth THE SPIRIT OF HIS SON into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father! The same thing, most surely, as if he had said, Nothing in you can cry, or pray to GOD, as its father, but THE SPIRIT OF HIS SON CHRIST come to life in you. Which is also as true of every tendency in the soul towards GOD or GOODNESS: so much as there is of it, so much there is of The seed of the woman, striving to bring forth a full birth of CHRIST in the soul."

"Lo, I am always with you, saith THE HOLY JESUS, even to the end of the world. How is He with us? Not outwardly, every illiterate man knoweth; "not inwardly, saith "many a learned Doctor, because A CHRIST within us, is "as gross enthusiasm or quakerism, as The Light within us." How then shall the faith of the common Christian, find any

omfort in these words of CHRIST's promise, unless THE SPIRIT brings him into a remembrance and belief, that CHRIST is in him, and with him, as the vine is with and in the branch. CHRIST saith, WITHOUT ME, ye can do nothing; and also, If any man love me, my FATHER will love him, and we will come unto him, and make our Abode with him. Now if, without Him, we can do nothing, then all the love that a man can possibly have for CHRIST, must be from The Power and Life of CHRIST in him; and from such a love, so begotten, man has THE FATHER, and THE SON, dwelling and making their abode in him. What higher proof, or fuller certainty can there be, that THE WHOLE WORK OF REDEMPTION in the soul of man, is, and can be nothing else, but The Inward Continual Immediate Operation of FATHER SON AND HOLY SPIRIT, raising up again THEIR OWN FIRST LIFE in the soul, to which our first father died? Again: CHRIST, after His glorification in Heaven, saith, Behold, I STAND at the DOOR, and KNOCK. He does not say, "Behold, ye have me in The Scriptures." Now what is the DOOR, at which CHRIST, at The Right-hand of GOD in Heaven, KNOCKETH? Surely it is THE HEART, to which CHRIST is always present. He goeth on; IF ANY MAN HEAR MY VOICE. How hear, but by the hearing of the heart; or what voice, but that which is the speaking, or sounding, of CHRIST within it? He adds: AND OPEN THE DOOR, that is, open his heart for me; I WILL COME INTO HIM, that is, will be a Living Holy Nature and Spirit born within him; AND SUP WITH HIM, and HE WITH ME. Behold The Last Finishing Work of A REDEEMING JESUS, entered into the heart that opens to Him, bringing forth the joy, the blessing, and perfection of That FIRST LIFE OF GOD in the soul, which was lost by the fall, set forth, as A Supper, or Feast of THE HEAVENLY JESUS with the soul, and the soul with Him. Can any one justly call it enthusiasm, to say, that This supping of the soul with This GLORIFIED CHRIST within it, must mean something more heavenly transacted in the soul, than that last supper, which he celebrated with his disciples whilst He was with them in the flesh? For that supper of bread and wine, was such as a Judas could partake of; and could only be an outward type, or signification of that inward and blessed nourishment, with which the believing soul should be feasted, when The GLORIFIED SON OF GOD, should, as A Creating Spirit,

Spirit, enter into us, quickening and raising up His Own Heavenly Nature and Life within us."

"Now this continual knocking of CHRIST at the door of the heart, sets forth the case, or nature, of A Continual Immediate Divine Inspiration within us: it is always with us, but there must be an opening of the heart to it; and though it is always there, yet it is only felt and found by those, who are attentive to it, depend upon it, and humbly wait for it. Now, let any one tell me, how he can believe any thing of THIS VOICE OF CHRIST, how he can listen to it, hear, or obey it, but by such a faith, as keeps him habitually turned to an Immediate Constant Inspiration of THE SPIRIT OF CHRIST within him? Or how any "heathenish profane person, can do more despite to This Presence and Power of CHRIST in his own Soul, or more effectually lead others into it, than that Ecclesiastic, who makes a mock at the Light within, a CHRIST within, and openly blasphemes that faith, and hope, and trust, which solely relies upon being moved by THE SPIRIT, as its only power of doing that which is right, and good, and pious, either towards GOD, or man?"—LET EVERY MAN WHOM THIS CONCERNS, LAY IT TO HEART.—Time, and the things of time, will soon have an end; and he that in time trusts to any thing, but THE SPIRIT AND POWER OF GOD working in his heart, will be but ill fitted to enter into eternity: GOD must be ALL IN ALL in us here, or we cannot be His hereafter. Time works only for eternity: and poverty eternal must as certainly follow him, who dies only fully stuffed with human learning, as he who dies only full of worldly riches. The folly of thinking to have any divine learning, but that which THE HOLY SPIRIT teaches; or to make ourselves rich in knowledge towards GOD, by heaps of common-place learning crowded into our minds; will leave us as dreadfully cheated, as that rich builder of barns in the Gospel, to whom it was said, Thou fool, this night, shall thy soul be required of thee; and then, whose shall all these things be? This must be the case of every man, who treasures up a religious learning, that comes not wholly from THE SPIRIT OF GOD."

"To this inward continual attention, to the continual working of THE HOLY SPIRIT within us, the Apostle calls us in these words: See that ye refuse not Him that speaketh: for if they escaped not, who refused him that spake on earth; much more shall not we escape, if we turn away from Him that speaketh speaketh from Heaven. Now what is This Speaking from Heaven, which it is so dangerous to refuse, or resist? Surely, not outward voices from Heaven. Or what could the Apostle's advice signify to us, unless it be such a speaking from Heaven, as we may, and must be, ALWAYS either obeying, or refusing?—St. James saith; Resist the Devil, and he will flee from you. What Devil? Surely not an outward creature, or spirit, that tempts us by an outward power. Or what Resistance can we make to the Devil, but that of inwardly falling away or turning from the workings of his evil nature and spirit within us?—"They, therefore, who call us from waiting for, depending upon, and attending to, The Continual Secret Inspirations and Breathings of THE HOLY SPIRIT within us, call us to RESIST GOD, in the same manner, as the Apostle exhorts us to resist the Devil." For GOD being only a spiritual good, and the Devil our spiritual evil, neither the one nor the other can be resisted, or not resisted, by us, but so far as their spiritual operations within us, are either turned from or obeyed by us. St. James having shewn us, that Resisting the Devil, is the only way to make him flee from us, that is, to lose his power in us; immediately adds, how we are to behave towards GOD, that He may not flee from us, or His Holy Work be stopped in us. Draw near, saith he, to GOD, and GOD will draw near to you. What is this drawing near? Surely not by any local motion, either in GOD, or us. But the same is meant, as if he had said, Resist not GOD; that is, let His Holy Will within you, have its full work; keep wholly obediently attentive to That which He is, and has, and does within you; and then, GOD will draw near to you; that is, will more and more manifest the power of HIS HOLY PRESENCE in you, and make you more and more Partakers of THE DIVINE NATURE."

"Farther: What a blindness is it in the forementioned writers, to charge private persons with the enthusiasm of holding the necessity and certainty of Continual Immediate Inspiration, and to attack them as enemies to the established church, when every body's eyes see, that collect after collect in the established liturgy, teaches and requires them, to believe and pray for The Continual Inspiration of THE SPIRIT, as that alone, by which they can have the least good thought or desire? Thus: "O GOD, forasmuch as without Thee, we are not able to please Thee; mercifully grant, that

THY HOLY SPIRIT may, IN ALL THINGS, direct and rule our hearts." Is it possible for words more strongly to express the necessity of a Continual Divine Inspiration? Or can Inspiration be higher, or more immediate in Prophets and Apostles, than that which directs, that which rules our hearts, not now and then, but in all things? Or can the absolute necessity of this be more fully declared, than by saying, that if it is not in this degree both of height and continuance in and over our hearts, nothing that is done by us can be pleasing to GOD, that is, can have any UNION WITH HIM? Now the the matter is not at all about the different effects, or works, proceeding from Inspiration; as whether, by it, a man be made a saint in himself, or sent by GOD with a prophetic message to others: this affects not the nature, and necessity of Inspiration, which is just as great, just as necessary in itself, to all true goodness, as to all true prophecy.— ALL SCRIPTURE is of Divine Inspiration. But why so? Because holy men of old, SPAKE, as they were moved by THE HOLY GHOST. Now the above collect, as well as CHRIST and his Apostles, oblige us in like manner to hold, that ALL HOLINESS is by Divine Inspiration; and that, therefore, there could have been no holy men of old, or in any later times, but solely for this reason, because they LIVED, as they were moved by THE HOLY GHOST. Again: The liturgy prays thus; "O GOD, from whom all good things do come, grant that, by Thy Holy Inspiration, we may think those things that be good, and by Thy Merciful Guiding may perform the same." Now, if, in any of my writings, I have ever said any thing higher or farther, of the nature and necessity of Continual Divine Inspiration, than this church-prayer does, I refuse no censure that shall be passed upon me. But if I have, from all that we know of GOD, of nature, and creature, shewn the utter impossibility of any kind or degree of goodness to be in us, but from THE DIVINE NATURE living and breathing in us; if I have shewn, that all Scripture, CHRIST and his Apostles, over and over say the same thing; and that our Church Liturgy is daily praying according to it; what kinder thing can I say of those churchmen, who accuse me of proud rank enthusiasm, than that which CHRIST said of his blind crucifiers, Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do."

" It is to no purpose to object to all this, that " these " kingdoms are overrun with enthusiasts of all kinds; and " that MORAVIANS with their several divisions, and ME-" THODISTS

“ THODISTS of various kinds, are every where acting in the wildest manner, under the pretence of being called and led by THE SPIRIT.” Be it so, or not so, is a matter I meddle not with; nor is the doctrine I am upon, in the least affected by it. For what an argument would this be?—“ Enthusiasts of the present and former ages, have made a bad use of the doctrine of being led by THE SPIRIT OF GOD; THEREFORE he is enthusiastical, or helps forward enthusiasm, who preaches up the doctrine of being led by THE SPIRIT OF GOD.” Now absurd as this is, was any of my accusers as high in genius, as bulky in learning, as Colossus was in stature, he would be at a loss to bring a stronger argument than this, to prove me an enthusiast, or an abettor of them.”

“ But as I do not begin to doubt about the Necessity, the Truth, and Perfection of GOSPEL RELIGION, when told, that whole nations and churches have, under a pretence of regard to it, and for the sake of it, done all the bad things, that can be charged upon this or that leading enthusiast, whether you call those bad things Schism, Perjury, Rebellion, Worldly Craft, and Hypocrisy: so I give not up the Necessity, the Truth, and Perfection, of looking wholly to THE SPIRIT OF GOD AND CHRIST within me, as my promised inspirer, and only worker, of ALL that can be good in me; I give not this up, because in this, or that age, both Spiritual Pride and Fleshly Lusts have prospered by it; or because Satan has often led people into all the heights of Self-Glory, and Self-Seeking, under a pretence of being inspired with GOSPEL HUMILITY, and GOSPEL SELF-DENIAL.”

Upon the principles already established, Mr. LAW proceeds further to shew the true nature, use, and importance of the WRITTEN WORD OF GOD; and the impossibility of having religious knowledge, and religious goodness, but from IMMEDIATE, CONTINUAL, DIVINE INSPIRATION.

The other instance of delusion from book-learning, [besides those already given from Dr. WARBURTON's sermons, and Mr. STINSTRA's pastoral letter, p. 279, &c.] relates to [that ingenious writer as His Lordship calls him,] Mr. GREEN himself, who wanting to write on divine inspiration, runs from book to book, from country to country, to pick up reports concerning divine inspiration, from this and that judicious authour, that so he might be sure of compiling a

judicious dissertation on the subject. All which he might have known to be mere delusion and lost labour, had he but regarded any one saying either of CHRIST or his Apostles, concerning The HOLY SPIRIT and his operations: for not a word is said by them, but fully shews, that all knowledge or perception of The SPIRIT, is nothing else but the enjoyment of The SPIRIT; and that no man can know more of him, than that which The SPIRIT himself is, and does, and manifests of his power in man. The things of GOD, saith St. Paul, knoweth no man, but THE SPIRIT of GOD. Is not this decisive upon the matter? Is not this proof enough, that nothing in man, but The SPIRIT OF GOD, can know what The SPIRIT's work in man is and does? The fruits of The SPIRIT, so often mentioned in scripture, are not things different or separate from The SPIRIT; and "if The SPIRIT is NOT ALWAYS working in us, his FRUITS must be as absent from us, as He is." St. John saith, hereby we know that he abideth in us, by The SPIRIT which he hath given us: a demonstration, that The SPIRIT can no other way make himself known to us, but by his dwelling and working in us. St. James saith, every good and perfect gift cometh from ABOVE: but does not he in reality deny this, who seeks for the highest gift of knowledge from BELOW, from the poor contrivance of a common-place book? Again: if any man lack wisdom, let him ask it of GOD. St. James does not say, let him go ask Peter, or Paul, or John, because he knew, that divine wisdom was nothing else, but divine inspiration. But Mr. GREEN has got together, his ingenious eminent writers, his excellent, learned, judicious authours, his cool rational-morality doctors, (a set of men, whose glorious names we read no more of in The Gospel, than of the profound Aristotle, or the divine Cicero) and these are to do that for him, which the whole college of apostles could do for no body.

Now this doctrine, that nothing but The SPIRIT can know the things that be of GOD; and that the enjoyment of The SPIRIT, is all the knowledge we can have of Him; is taught us, not only by all scripture, but by the whole nature of things. For every thing, that can be seen, heard, felt, known, must be manifested by itself, and not by another: it is not possible for any thing but light to manifest light, nor for any thing but darkness to make darkness to be known: yet this is more possible, than for any thing but divine inspiration, to make divine inspiration to be known.

Hence there is a degree of delusion still higher to be noted, in such writers as Mr. GREEN; for his collection of ingenious, eminent, rational authours, of whom, he asks counsel concerning the necessity or certainty of the immediate inspiration of THE SPIRIT, are such as deny it, and write against it. Therefore, the proceeding is just as wise, as if a man was to consult some ingenious and eminent atheists, about the truth and certainty of GOD's immediate continual providence; or ask a few select deists, how, or what he was to believe of the nature and power of Gospel Faith. Now there are The HOLY SPIRIT's own operations, and there are reports about them. The only true reports, are those that are made by inspired persons; and if there were no such persons, there could be no true reports of the matter: and, therefore, to consult uninspired persons, and such as deny and reproach the pretence to Inspiration, to be rightly instructed about the truth of immediate continual divine inspiration, is a degree of blindness, greater than can be charged upon the old Jewish Scribes and Pharisees."

"The reports, that are to be acknowledged as true, concerning The HOLY SPIRIT and His operations, are those that are recorded in scripture: that is, the scriptures are an infallible history or relation of that which The HOLY SPIRIT is, and docs, and works in true believers; and also an infallible direction how we are to seek, and wait, and trust in His good power over us. But then the scriptures themselves, though thus true and infallible in their reports and instructions about The HOLY SPIRIT, yet can go no farther, than to be a true history; they cannot give to the reader of them, the possession, the sensibility, and enjoyment of that which they relate. This is plain, not only from the nature of a written history or instruction, but from the express words of our LORD, saying, except a man be born again of The SPIRIT, he cannot see or enter into The Kingdom of GOD. Therefore, the new birth from above, or of The SPIRIT, is that alone, which gives true knowledge and perception of that, which is The Kingdom of GOD. The history may relate truths enough about it; but The Kingdom of GOD being nothing else, but the power and presence of GOD, dwelling and ruling in our souls, this can only manifest itself, and can manifest itself to nothing in man, but to the new birth; for every thing else in man, is deaf and dumb and blind to The Kingdom of GOD: but when that which died in Adam, is made alive again by the QUICKENING SPIRIT from above, this being the birth which came at first from GOD, and a partaker of the Divine Nature, this knows, finds, and enjoys The Kingdom of GOD. I am the Way, the Truth, and the Life, said CHRIST: this record of scripture is true; but what a delusion, for a man to think, that he knows and finds this to be true, and that CHRIST is all this benefit and blessing to him, because he assents, consents, and contends, it may be, for the truth of these words! This is impossible. The new birth is here again the only power of entrance; every thing else knocks at the door in vain; I know you not, said CHRIST, to every thing, but the new birth. I am the Way, the Truth and the Life, tells us neither more nor less, than if CHRIST had said, I am The Kingdom of GOD, into which nothing can enter, but that which is born of The SPIRIT."

"Here again may be seen in the highest degree of certainty, the absolute necessity of immediate divine inspiration, through every part of the christian life. For if a birth of The SPIRIT, is that alone which can enter into or receive The Kingdom of GOD come amongst men; that alone, which can find CHRIST to be the Way, the Truth, and the Life; then a continual life or breathing of The SPIRIT in us, must be as necessary as the first birth of The SPIRIT: for a birth of The SPIRIT, is only to make a beginning of the life of The SPIRIT; birth is only in order to life: if, therefore, the life of The SPIRIT continues not, the birth is lost; and the cessation of its breathing in us, is nothing else but death again to The Kingdom of GOD, that is, to every thing, that is or can be godly. Therefore, the immediate continual inspiration of The SPIRIT, as the only possible power and preservation of a Godly Life, stands upon the same ground, and is as absolutely necessary to salvation, as the new birth. Take away this power and working life of The SPIRIT, from being the one life of all that is done in the church; and then, though it be ever so outwardly glorious in its extent, or ever so full of learned members, it can be nothing else, in the sight of GOD, but the wise Greek, and the carnal Jew, become a body of water-baptized christians. For no one can be in a better state than this, the wisdom of the Greek, the carnality of the Jew, must have the whole government of him, till he is born of, and led by The SPIRIT OF GOD: this alone is The Kingdom of GOD, and every thing else is the kingdom of this world, in which Satan is declared to be the prince. Poor, miserable man, that strives, with all the sophistry of wit, to be delivered from the immediate continual operation and government of THE SPIRIT OF GOD! not considering, that “ where GOD is not, there is the devil; and where The SPIRIT rules not, there all is the work of the flesh,” though nothing be talked of but spiritual and christian matters. I say talked of: for the best ability of the natural man can go no farther, than talk, and notions, and opinions about scripture words and facts; in these, he may be a great critic, an acute logician, a powerful orator, and know every thing of scripture, except the spirit and the truth.”

“ How much then is it to be lamented, as well as impossible to be denied, that though all scripture assures us, that the things of The SPIRIT OF GOD, are, and must be, to the end of the world, foolishness to the natural man; yet, from one end of learned christendom to the other, nothing is thought of, as the true and proper means of attaining divine knowledge, but that which every natural, selfish, proud, envious, false, vain-glorious, worldly man can do. Where is that divinity student, who thinks, or was ever taught to think, of partaking of the light of The Gospel any other way, than by doing with the scriptures that which he does with pagan writers, whether poets, orators, or comedians, viz. exercise his logic, rhetoric, and critical skill, in descanting upon them? This done, he is thought by himself, and often by others, to have a sufficiency of divine apostolical knowledge. What wonder, therefore, if it should sometimes happen, that the very same vain, corrupt, puffing literature, that raises one man to be a poet-laureat, should set another in a divinity chair?”

“ How is it, that the logical, critical, learned deist comes by his infidelity? Why just by the same help of the same good powers of the natural man, as many a learned christian comes to know, embrace, and contend for the faith of The Gospel. For, drop the power and reality of divine inspiration, and then all is dropt, that can set the believer above or give him any godly difference from the infidel. For the christian’s faith has no goodness in it, but that it comes from above, is born of The SPIRIT; and the deist’s infidelity has no badness in it, but because it comes from below, is born of the will of flesh, and of the will of men, and rejects the necessity of being born again out of the corruption of fallen nature. “ The Christian, therefore, that rejects, reproaches, and writes against, the necessity of immediate divine inspiration, “ PLEADS THE WHOLE CAUSE OF INFIDELITY: he “ confirms

“ confirms the ground, on which it stands ; and has nothing “ to prove the goodness of his own christianity, but that “ which equally proves to the deist the goodness of his infidelity.” For, without the new birth, or, which is the same thing, without immediate continual divine inspiration, the difference between the christian and the infidel is lost ; and whether the uninspired unregenerate son of Adam, be in the church, or out of the church, he is still that child of this world, that fallen Adam and mere natural man, to whom the things of The SPIRIT OF GOD are and must be foolishnesses. For a full proof of this, no more need be seen, than that the same shining virtues, and the same glaring vices, are common to them both : for the christian, not made such by The SPIRIT OF GOD continually inspiring and working in him, has only a christianity of his own making ; and can have only such appearances of virtues, and will have such reality of vices, as natural self wants to have. Let him, therefore, renounce what is called natural religion, as much as he will ; yet unless he is a new born and divinely inspired christian, he must live and die in all his natural corruption.”

“ Through all scripture, nothing else is aimed at or intended for man, as his christianity, but THE DIVINE LIFE ; nor any thing hinted at, as having the least power to raise or beget it, but the HOLY LIFE-GIVING SPIRIT OF GOD. How gross, therefore, is that blindness, which reading The Gospel, and the history of Gospel christians, cannot see these two fundamental truths : 1. that nothing is Divine Knowledge in man, but The DIVINE LIFE : 2. That The DIVINE LIFE is nothing else, but a birth of The DIVINE NATURE within him ? But these truths being lost or given up, vain learning and a worldly spirit, being in possession of the Gospel-book, set up kingdoms of strife and division. For what end ? Why, that the unity of the church may not be lost. Multiplied systems of empty notions and opinions. For what ? Why, that words and forms may do that for the church now, which to the first church, of CHRIST'S own forming, could only be done, by being born of The SPIRIT. Hence it is, that the scripture-scholar is looked upon as having divine knowledge of its matters, when he is as ready at chapter and verse, as the critic is at every page of Cicero : and nothing is looked upon as defective in divinity knowledge, but such supposed mistakes of the genius of the Hebrew or Greek-letters, as the sublime students of the immortal words of a

Milton or a Shakespear, charge, as blunders, upon one another. Now to call such scripture skill, divine knowledge, is just as solid and judicious, as if a man was said or thought to know, THAT which St. John knew, because he could say his whole gospel and epistles by heart, without missing a word of them. For a lit-ral knowledge of scripture, is but like having all scripture in the memory; and is so far from being a divine perception of the things spoken of, that the most vicious wicked scholar in the world, may attain to the highest perfection in it. But “ divine knowledge, and wickedness of life, are so inconsistent, that they are mutual death and destruction to one another: where the one is alive, the other must be dead.” Judas Iscariot knew JESUS CHRIST, and all that He said and did to his crucifixion; he knew what it was to be at the LORD’S table, and to partake of his supper of bread and wine: but yet, with much more truth, it may be said, that he knew nothing of all this, and had no better a knowledge of it than Pontius Pilate had. Now all knowledge of CHRIST, but that which is from divine inspiration, or the new-birth, is but as poor and profitless, as Judas his knowledge was: it may say to CHRIST, as he did, Hail Master! but no one can call JESUS Lord, but by THE HOLY GHOST. This empty letter-learned knowledge, which the natural man can as easily have of the sacred scripture and religious matters, as of any other books or of human affairs; this being taken for divine knowledge, has spread such darkness and delusion all over christendom, as may be reckoned no less than a general apostasy from the Gospel state of divine illumination. For the Gospel state is, in its whole nature, nothing else; it has but one light, and that is THE LAMB OF GOD; it has but one life, and that is by THE SPIRIT OF GOD. Whatever is not of and from this light, and governed by this spirit, call it by what high name you will, is no more a part of the Gospel state, nor will have a better end, than that which entereth into the mouth, and corrupteth in the belly.”

“ THAT ONE LIGHT AND SPIRIT, which was only one from all eternity, before angels or any heavenly beings were created, must, to all eternity, be that one only light and spirit, by which angels or men can ever have any union or communion with GOD. Every other light, is but the light, whence beasts have their sense and fertility; every other spirit is but that, which gives, to flesh and blood, its lusts and appetites. Nothing else but the life of the ONE LIGHT AND SPIRIT OF GOD, turned an order of angels into devils:

nothing else but the loss of that same light and spirit, took from the Divine Adam his first crown of paradisiacal glory, stript him more naked than the beasts, and left him a prey to devils, and in the jaws of eternal death. What, therefore, can have the least share of power towards man's redemption, but THE LIGHT AND SPIRIT OF GOD, making again a birth of themselves in him, as they did in his first glorious creation? Or what can possibly begin, or bring forth this return of his first lost birth, but solely that which is done by THIS ETERNAL LIGHT AND SPIRIT? Hence it is, that the Gospel state is, by our LORD, affirmed to be a kingdom of heaven come amongst men, because it has the nature of no worldly thing or creaturely power; is to serve no worldly ends; can be helped by no worldly power; receives nothing from man, but man's full denial of himself; stands upon nothing that is finite or transitory; has no existence but in that WORKING POWER OF GOD, that created and upholds heaven and earth; and is a kingdom of GOD become man, and a kingdom of men united to GOD, through a continual immediate divine inspiration. What scripture of the new testament can you read, that does not prove this to be the Gospel state—a Kingdom of GOD, into which none can enter, but by being born of The SPIRIT; none can continue to be alive in it, but by being led by THE SPIRIT; and in which not a thought, or desire, or action, can be allowed to have any part, but as it is a fruit of The SPIRIT."

"GOD is only OUR GOD, by a birth of His Own Divine Nature within us. This, and nothing but this, is our whole relation to Him, our only fellowship with Him, our whole knowledge of Him, our whole power of having any part in the mysteries of Gospel-salvation. Nothing can seek The Kingdom of GOD, or hunger and thirst after HIS RIGHTEOUSNESS; nothing can cry, Abba, Father; nothing can pray, Thy Kingdom come; nothing can say of CHRIST, my Lord, and my God; but That which is born of GOD, and is the Divine Nature itself become creaturely in us: nothing but GOD in man, can be a Godly Life in man. Hence is that of the Apostle, The Letter killeth, but the Spirit giveth life. But you will say, can this be true of the spiritual divine letter of The Gospel? Can that kill, or give death? Yes, it killeth, when it is rested in; when it is taken for divine power, and supposed to have goodness in itself; for then it resisteth THE SPIRIT OF GOD in man, quencheth His Holy Fire within us, and set it up instead of it. It giveth death, when it is built into systems of strife and contention about notions and opinions, and maketh The Kingdom of GOD to consist, not in power, but in words. When it is thus used, then of necessity it killeth; because it keepeth from that, which alone is life, and can give life."

"The true nature and full distinction between literal and divine knowledge, is set forth, in the highest degree of clearness, in these words of our SAVIOUR: The Kingdom of GOD is like a treasure in a field. Thus far, is the true use, and benefit, and utmost power of the letter; it can tell us of a treasure that we want, a treasure that belongs to us, and how and where it is to be found. But when it is added, that a man goeth, and selleth all that he hath, and buyeth that field, then beginneth the divine knowledge, which is nothing else but the treasure possessed and enjoyed. Now what is here said, is the same that is said in these other words of CHRIST, except a man deny himself and forsake all that he hath, he cannot be my disciple; that is, he cannot partake of my mind, my spirit, and my nature, and therefore cannot know me; he is only a bearer of a treasure, without entering into the possession and enjoyment of it. And thus it is with all scripture; the letter can only direct to the doing of that which it cannot do, and give notice of something that it cannot bestow. Now clear and evident as this distinction is, between a mere literal direction to a thing, and a real participation of it, which alone is a true perception of it, the generality of christians seem quite insensible of any other religious perception or knowledge of divine things, but such ideas or notions of them, as a man can form from scripture words. Whereas good and evil, the only objects of religious knowledge, are an inward state and growth of our life; they are in us, are a part of us, just in the same manner, as seeing and hearing are in us; and we can have no real knowledge of them any other way, than as we have of our own seeing and hearing. And as no man can get or lose his seeing or hearing, or have less or more of them, by any ideas or notions that he forms about them; just so it is with that, which is the power of good, and the power of evil in us, notions and ideas have no effect upon it. Yet no other knowledge is thought of, or sought after, or esteemed of any value, but that which is notional and the work of the brain. Thus as soon as a man of speculation can demonstrate that which he calls, The Being and Attributes of GOD, he thinks, and others think, that he truly knows GOD. But what excuse can be made for such an imagination, when plain scripture has told him, that to know GOD is eternal life; that is, to know GOD, is to have THE POWER, THE LIFE, and THE SPIRIT OF GOD manifested in him, and, therefore, it is eternal life. No man knoweth the FATHER, but the SON; and he to whom the SON revealeth Him: because the revelation of THE SON, is the birth of THE SON in the soul; and this new creature in CHRIST, hath alone knowledge of GOD, what He is, and does, and works in the creature.—This is the one only way, by which any man ever did, or ever can attain divine knowledge, and divine goodness. To knock at any other door but this, is but like asking life of that, which is itself dead; or praying to him for bread, who has nothing but stones to give.”

“ THE HOLY JESUS said, I am THE LIGHT of the world; he that followeth me, walketh not in darkness. Here spiritual light and darkness are as immutably fixed and separated from one another, as the light and darkness of this world were divided on the first day of the creation: JESUS CHRIST, THE ETERNAL SON OF GOD, is the one only light both of men and angels. Fallen nature, the selfish will, proud tempers, the highest abilities, the natural sagacity, cunning, arts and subtilties, that are or can be in fallen men and angels, are nothing else but their fullness of spiritual darkness, from which nothing but works of darkness can come forth. DARKNESS is the whole natural man; LIGHT is the new born man from above: therefore, saith THE CHRIST OF GOD, I am THE LIGHT of the world; because he alone is the birth of heaven in the fallen souls of men. But now who can more reject this divine light, or more plainly choose darkness instead of it, than he, who seeks to have his mind enriched, the faculties of his fallen soul cultivated, by the literature of poets, orators, philosophers, sophists, sceptics, and critics, born and bred up in the worship and praises of idol gods and goddesses? What is this, but like going to the serpent, to be taught the innocent spirit of the dove; or to the elegant lusts of Anacreon and Ovid, to learn purity of heart, and kindle the flame of heavenly love in our souls? Look where you will, this is the wisdom of those, who seek to pagans for skill to work in CHRIST’S vineyard; who from long labours in restoring the grammar and finding out the hidden beauties of some old vicious book, set up for qualified artists to polish the Gospel Pearl of great price.
Surely

Surely this is no better a proof of their favouring the things that are of GOD, than Peter gave, when his Master said to him, get thee behind me, Satan. A grave ecclesiastic bringing forth out of his closet, skilful meditations on the commentaries of a murdering Cæsar, the sublime rhapsody of an antient Homer, or the astonishing beauties of a modern Dunciad, has as much reason to think, that he is walking in the light of CHRIST, and led by The SPIRIT OF GOD, as they have, who are only eating and drinking, and rising up to play."

"But to see the exceeding folly of expecting ability in divine knowledge, from any thing that is the wit, wisdom, or spirit of the natural man. you need only read these words of the holy messenger of GOD, The Elias that was to come: I, indeed, says he, baptize you with water; but He that cometh after me, whose shoes I am not worthy to unloose, He shall baptize you with The HOLY GHOST, and with FIRE. Now if this which the Baptist said of CHRIST, is not our faith, if we do not receive it as the truth in which we are firmly to stand; then, be as learned as we will, we have no better faith or higher wisdom, than those blind Rabbies, who received not the testimony of John. A FIRE AND SPIRIT FROM ABOVE, was the news which he published to the world; this, and nothing else, was his Kingdom of GOD that was at hand. Now if this FIRE AND SPIRIT FROM ABOVE, has not baptized us into a birth of The LIFE OF GOD in our souls, we have not found that CHRIST and Kingdom of GOD, to which John bore witness: but if, what is still worse, we are so bewitched through the fercery of learning, as to turn writers and preachers against this inward, and only redeeming, HEAVENLY FIRE AND SPIRIT, we are baptized with the spirit of those, to whom our LORD said, Wo unto you Scribes, Pharisees, Hypocrites, for ye shut up the Kingdom of Heaven against men; for ye neither go in yourselves, neither suffer ye them that are entering to go in. For what is, or can be the fall of a divine Adam, under the power of sin, Satan, and hell, but the extinction of that HEAVENLY FIRE AND SPIRIT, which was his First Union with GOD and all heavenly beings? Say now, that he had not this HEAVENLY FIRE AND SPIRIT at the first; that nothing lived or breathed in him, but that astral fire and spirit, which is the life and spirit of all earthly animals; and then you have a religion as divine, as that of the old Sadducees, who allowed

lowed of no resurrection, angel, or spirit. For, deny the truth and fulness of a divine life in the first man, and then his fall and redemption are equally empty sounds about nothing. For what can he be fallen from, or redeemed to, if he has now all that Fire and Spirit of Life, which he ever had, or ought to have? Why should that burning and shining light, that man that was more than a prophet, come with his water baptism, and THE SON OF GOD, GOD OF GOD, come with his FIRE-BAPTISM, if man neither wanted, nor could receive, a higher water and fire of life, than that which he has in common with the beasts of the field? Why is there all this stir about religions, expiations, and atonements? why all these piously ordinations, consecrations, churches, sacraments, and prayers? For if the Fire and Spirit of this world, is the one life, and highest life, both of man and beasts, we have it unasked for, and on the same terms as the beasts have it; and can only lose it, as they do, when they lose their existence. But if FIRE AND SPIRIT FROM HEAVEN, can alone make heavenly creatures, and us, to be children of a Heavenly Father; if The SON OF GOD took our fallen nature upon Him, that the first HEAVENLY FIRE AND SPIRIT might again come to life in us; if divine life, divine light, and divine goodness, can only come from them, and only in such degree as they are kindled in our souls; what a poverty of sense is it in those, who are called to a resurrection of the first divine life, where a new creature is taught by that same UNCTION FROM ABOVE, whence all the angels and principalities of heaven have their light and glory; what a poverty of sense, I say, in such, to set themselves down at the feet of a Master Tully, and a Master Aristotle, who only differ from the meanest of all other corrupt men, as the teaching serpent differed from his fellow animals, by being more subtle than all the beasts of the field? Behold then your state, ye ministers that wait at christian altars, who will have neither faith, nor hope, nor desire of HEAVENLY FIRE, kindled in your souls! Ye have a priesthood and an altar, not fit to be named with that, which, in Jewish days, had a Holy Fire from GOD descending upon it, that made priest and sacrifice acceptable to GOD, though only type and pledge of that inward celestial Fire, which CHRIST would kindle into a never ceasing burning, in the living temples of His new born children from above. Complain then no more of atheists, infidels, and such like open enemies to The Gospel Kingdom of GOD; for whilst you call HEAVENLY FIRE AND SPIRIT, kindled into the same essential life in us as they are in holy angels, MYSTIC MADNESS, you do all that infidel work within the church, which they do on the outside of it. And if, through a learned fear of having that done to your earthly reason, which was done to Enoch when GOD took him, ye will own no higher a regeneration, no more birth of GOD in your souls, than can be had by a few drops of cold water sprinkled on the face, any of the heathen gods of wood and stone, are good enough for such an ELEMENTARY PRIESTHOOD."

" Our LORD hath said, The Kingdom of GOD is within you; that is, the HEAVENLY FIRE AND SPIRIT, which are the true kingdom and manifestation of GOD, are within you. But what learned pains are taken, to remove the literal meaning from these words, as too visionary a thing for learned understandings? And yet it is a truth obvious to common sense, that even this outward world of stars and elements, neither does, nor can belong to us, or we to it, but so far as it is, literally speaking, a kingdom within us. For the outward kingdom or powers of this world, signify nothing to a worldly man that is dead; but no man is dead, but because the kingdom of this world, with all its powers of fire light and spirit, stand only outwardly about him, but have lost their life and power within him. Say now, out of reverence to sound literature, and abhorrence of enthusiasm, that The Kingdom of GOD is not really and virtually within, that its HEAVENLY FIRE, LIGHT, AND SPIRIT, are not, ought not, to be born in a sober right-minded follower of CHRIST; and then you have a good disciple of CHRIST, as absolutely dead to The Kingdom of Heaven, as the corpse that hath nothing of the fire spirit and light of this world in it, is dead to all the outward world round about it."

" What a SOBRIETY of faith and sound doctrine is it, to preach up a necessity of being living members of The Kingdom of Heaven; and, at the same time, the necessity of orthodoxly holding, that a heavenly birth, neither is, nor can, nor ought to be within us! For if it either is, or could, or ought to be within us, then it could not be a brain-sick folly to believe, that the literal words of CHRIST had no deceit, falsity, or delusion in them, when He said, except a man be born again from ABOVE, he cannot see, or enter into The Kingdom of GOD: that is, he cannot possibly have any god-like, like, or divine goodness; he cannot be a child of a Heavenly Father, but from the nature and spirit of his Heavenly Father brought to a real birth of life in him. Now, if, without this Divine Birth, all that we have in us, is but fallen Adam, a birth of sin, the flesh, and the devil; if the power of this heavenly birth is all the power of goodness that is, or was, or ever can be, in a son of Adam; and if logic, learning, and criticism, are almost every where set in high places, to pronounce and prove it to be mere enthusiasm and spiritual phrenzy; what wonder is it, if foily of doctrine, wickedness of life, lusts of the flesh, prophaneness of spirit, wantonness of wit, contempt of goodness, and profession of christianity, should all of them have their full establishment amongst us? What wonder, if sacraments, church-prayers, and preachings, leave high and low, learned and unlearned, men and women, priests and people, as unaltered in all their aged vices, as they leave children unchanged in their childish follies? For where THE ONE ONLY FOUNTAIN OF LIFE AND GOODNESS is forsaken, where the incorruptible seed is not alive and going forwards in the birth, all the difference between man and man, is as nothing with respect to THE KINGDOM OF GOD. It matters not, what name is given to the old earthly man of Adam's bestial flesh and blood; whether he be called a zealous churchman, a stiff-necked Jew, a polite civilized heathen, or a grave infidel: under all these names, the unregenerate old man has but one and the same nature, without any other difference but that which time and place, education, complexion, hypocrisy, and worldly wisdom, happen to make in him. By such a one, whether he be papist, or protestant, THE GOSPEL is only kept as a book, and all that is within it is only so much condemnation to the keeper; just as the old man, a Jew, hath kept the book of the Law and Prophets, only to be more fully condemned by them."

"That the Jewish and Christian Church, stand at this day in the same kind of apostasy, or fallen state, must be manifest to every one, that will not shut his eyes against it. Why are the Jews in a fallen state? It is because they have refused HIM, Who, in his whole process, was the truth, the substance, the life, and fulfilling of all that, which was outwardly taught and prescribed in their Law and Prophets. But is it not as easy to see, that the whole Christian Church are in a fallen state, and for the same reason; because they are fallen, or turned away, from that HOLY SPIRIT, SPIRIT, who was promised and given to be the One only power, life, and fulfilling of all that, which was outwardly taught and prescribed by The Gospel? For The HOLY SPIRIT to come, was just the same ALL and FULFILLING of The Gospel, as a CHRIST to come, was the all and the fulfilling of The Law. The Jew, therefore, with his old testament, not owning CHRIST, in all his process, to be the truth, and life, and fulfiller of The Law; is just in that same apostasy, as the Christian, with his new testament, not owning The HOLY SPIRIT, in all his operations, to be his only light, guide, and governor. For as all types and figures in The Law, were but empty shadows, without CHRIST's being the life and power of them; so all that is written in The Gospel is but dead letter, unless The HOLY SPIRIT in man, be the living reader, the living rememberer, and the living dier of them. Therefore where The HOLY SPIRIT is not thus owned and received, as the whole power and life of the Gospel state, it is no marvel, that Christians have no more of Gospel virtues, than the Jews have of Patriarchal holiness; or that the same lusts and vices which prosper amongst Jews, should break forth with as much strength in fallen christendom. For the new testament not ending in The Coming of The HOLY SPIRIT, with fulnefs of power over sin and hell and the devil; is no better a help to Heaven, than the old testament without the coming of a MESSIAH. Need I say any more, to demonstrate, that the one thing absolutely essential, and only available to man's salvation, is THE SPIRIT OF GOD brought again to HIS FIRST POWER OF LIFE IN US? This was the glory of man's creation, and this alone can be the glory of his redemption. All besides this, that passes for a time betwixt GOD and man, be it what it will, shews only our fall and distance from GOD; and, in its best state, has only the nature of a good road, which is only good, because that which we want is at the end of it. Whilst GOD calls us by various outward dispensations, by creaturely things, and figurative institutions, it is a full proof, that we are not yet in our true state, or in that UNION with GOD which is intended by our redemption."

"GOD said to Moses, Put off thy shoes, for the place whereon thou standest is holy ground. Now this which GOD said to Moses, is only that very same thing, which circumcision, the law, sacrifices, and sacraments, say to man. They are, in themselves, nothing else but outward significations cations of inward impurity, and lost holiness; and can do no more in themselves, but intimate, point out, and direct to an inward life, and new birth from ABOVE. But here lies the great mistake, or rather idolatrous abuse, of all GOD's outward dispensations: they are taken for the thing itself, for the truth and essence of religion; and that which the learned Jews did with the outward letter of their Law, that same do learned Christians with the outward letter of their Gospel. Why did the Jewish Church so furiously and obstinately cry out against CHRIST, Let him be crucified? It was because their letter-learned ears, their worldly spirit, and temple orthodoxy, would not bear to hear of an inward saviour, not bear to hear of being born again of HIS SPIRIT, of eating his flesh, and drinking his blood, of His dwelling in them, and they in him. To have their law of ordinances, their temple-pomp, sunk into such a fulfilling saviour as this, was such enthusiastic jargon to their ears, as forced their sober, rational theology, to call CHRIST Beelzebub, his doctrine blasphemy, and all for the sake of Moses and rabbinic orthodoxy. Need it now be asked, whether The TRUE CHRIST of The Gospel, be less blasphemed, less crucified by that Christian Theology, which rejects an INWARD CHRIST, a saviour living and working in the soul as its inward light and life, generating His OWN NATURE and SPIRIT in it, as its only redemption; whether that which rejects all this as MYSTIC MADNESS, be not that very same old Jewish wisdom sprung up in Christian Theology, which said of CHRIST, when teaching these very things, He is MAD, why hear ye Him? Our BLESSED LORD in a parable sets forth the blind Jews, as saying of Himself, We will not have this man to REIGN OVER US: but the sober minded Christian scholar has none of this Jewish blindness; he only faith of CHRIST, we will not have this man to REIGN IN US; and so keeps clear of such MYSTIC ABSURDITY, as St. Paul fell into, when he enthusiastically said, Yet not I, but CHRIST that liveth IN ME. Christian Doctors reproach the old learned Rabbies, for their vain faith, and carnal desire of a glorious, temporal, outward CHRIST, who should set up their temple-worship all over the world: vanity indeed, and learned blindness enough! But nevertheless, in these condemners of rabbinic blindness, St. Paul's words are remarkably verified, viz. wherein thou judgest another, thou condemnest thyself; for thou that judgest, dost the same thing. For, take away all that from CHRIST, which Christian

Doctors call enthusiasm; suppose Him not to be an Inward Birth, a New Life and Spirit within us, but only an outward, separate, distant Heavenly Prince, no more really in us than our high cathedrals are in the third heavens, but only by an invisible hand from his throne on high, some way or other, raising and helping great scholars, or great temporal powers, to make a rock in every nation for His church to stand upon; suppose all this (which is the very marrow of modern divinity) and then you have that very outward CHRIST, and that very outward kingdom, which the carnal Jew dreamed of, and, for the sake of which, the SPIRITUAL CHRIST was then nailed to the cross, and is still crucified by the new risen Jew in the Christian Church.”

“GOD’S mark of an UNIVERSAL SALVATION set upon mankind, was first given in these words; The Seed of the woman shall bruise the head of the serpent: therefore, wherever the serpent is, there his head is to be bruised. This was GOD’S infallible assurance, or omnipotent promise, that all that died in Adam, should have its first birth of glory again. The ETERNAL SON OF GOD came into the world, only for the sake of this new birth, to give GOD the glory of restoring it to all the dead sons of fallen Adam. All the mysteries of this INCARNATE, SUFFERING, DYING SON OF GOD; all the price that He paid for our Redemption; all the washings that we have from His all cleansing blood poured out for us; all the life that we receive from eating his flesh and drinking his blood; have their infinite value, their high glory, and amazing greatness in this, because nothing less than these SUPERNATURAL MYSTERIES of a God-Man, could raise that new creature out of Adam’s death, which could be again a LIVING TEMPLE and DEIFIED HABITATION of The SPIRIT OF GOD. And that this new birth of The SPIRIT, or The Divine Life in man, was the truth, the substance, and sole end of His miraculous mysteries, is plainly told us by CHRIST Himself, who at the end of all His process on earth, tells his disciples, what was to be the blessed and full effect of it; namely, that The HOLY SPIRIT, The COMFORTER, being now fully purchased for them, should, after His ascension, come in the stead of a CHRIST in the flesh. If I go not away, saith He, The COMFORTER will not come; but if I go away, I will send Him unto you, and HE SHALL GUIDE YOU INTO ALL TRUTH. Therefore, ALL that CHRIST was, did, suffered, dying in the flesh, and ascending ending into heaven, was for this sole end, to purchase for ALL his fellowers, a New Birth, New Life, and New Light, in and by 'The SPIRIT OF GOD restored to them, and living in them, as their Support, Comforter, and Guide into all Truth. And this was his, LO, I AM WITH YOU ALWAYS, EVEN UNTO THE END OF THE WORLD."

In these passages, the reader, who has no end in his religious inquiries, but to know what he must do to be saved, will find truths sufficient to detect the fallacy of all attempts, to turn him from the desire and hope of that NEW BIRTH OF THE WORD AND SPIRIT OF GOD, without which he cannot enter INTO THE KINGDOM OF HEAVEN—attempts, that, when made under a profession of The GOSPEL, more oppose the truth and power of CHRISTIAN REDEMPTION, and do more injury to the souls of men, than the united assaults of Woolston, Collins, and Tindal.

In these passages, he will find a full confutation of His Lordship's Doctrine of Grace: and learn, not from hypothesis, but from the plain principles of Nature and Scripture, that "the triumphs over" selfishness, pride, impurity, darkness, and all that is or can be the "vice and paganism" of fallen nature, always were, are now, and always must be, the sole triumphs of THE SUPERNATURAL POWER OF GOD'S HOLY SPIRIT: and that His Lordship, as well as "the enemies of our faith," misleads mankind, when he turns them to expect THE CONQUEST OF EVIL from any other power; which might be made with equal success, either by fanaticism or superstition, as by "MAGISTERIAL REASON," and "her fair celestial offspring, HUMAN LEARNING." See Doct. of Grace, p. 89—96.

On these passages also, the decision of the truth or falsehood of His Lordship's bold accusations of Mr. LAW, for "his spiritual impurity in supporting "the atheistical philosophy of SPINOZA, for his

“ brutal spite to REASON, and for his more than “ Vandalic rage against HUMAN LEARNING,” might be finally rested : but as an inquiry into the ground and nature of these accusations, will shew, in a still more useful light, the spirit and abilities of two writers, who, in a very different manner, and for very different purposes, have long engaged the attention of the public, I shall proceed to a distinct examination of each.

His Lordship’s principal charge against Mr. Law, as that which is most likely to destroy his credit with the religious part of mankind, is, “ that he “ has fallen into the lowest dregs of spiritual im- “ purity, and has written a large discourse [The “ APPEAL to all that doubt or disbelieve the truths “ of The Gospel, &c.] to recommend Pantheism ; a “ doctrine, which, setting nature in the throne of “ God, teaches, that there is but one universal sub- “ stance existing, of which the creature and cre“ ator (if, after this, they are to be distinguished) “ participate in common. p. 154, 155.”

Spiritual impurity, spiritual malignity, and spiritual darkness, are the life of fallen angels ; and must be the life of every fallen man, that turns from The Life of The SPIRIT OF GOD. But whatever has formed the scales that cover His Lordship’s intellectual eye, he has, by this charge on Mr. Law’s AP-PEAL, exposed both that which thinks and that which wills in him, to the just censure and reproof of every honest man, that chuses to form his judgment from such a perusal of that book* as

* The following advertisement is prefixed to The AP-PEAL : “ I have nothing to say by way of preface or in“ troduction. I only ask this favour of the reader, that “ he would not pass any censure upon this book, from only “ dipping into this or that particular part of it, but give it “ one fair perusal in the order it is written ; and then I shall “ have neither right nor inclination, to complain of any

the authour requests, who wrote it to demonstrate a state of creaturely existence, that could not possibly be known but because Nature is not GOD. The very opposite principle, therefore, to that, which His Lordship, in the wantonness of blind resentment, has imputed to The APPEAL, is the sole principle, upon which all its important truths are established, and without which neither The APPEAL nor any other of Mr. Law's writings for thirty years past, are to be understood: it is that, upon which he has detected the errors of The Divine Legation of Moses, and proved it to be the work of a wild imagination, written in a misapprehension of the fundamental truths of Sacred Scripture, destitute of all true knowledge of Nature and GOD, and abounding with mistakes about words and things, that are unpardonable in a learning of the lowest class. Thus, for instance, to shew the authour's erroneous notion of that Image and Likeness of GOD in which man was created, Mr. Law says:

“ Man could not possibly be created in The Image and Likeness of GOD, unless something peculiar to GOD, and not possible to be appropriated to man, had come forth as the divine glory and perfection of his creaturely life. For the creaturely life, and all that is peculiar to it, is at the UTMOST DISTANCE from GOD; and can only have a likeness to that, which is to be found in creatures. GOD dwelling in a SUPERNATURAL way in the creature, is the only possible Image and Likeness of GOD that can be in it. The fallen angels have every thing that was creaturely left in them; but they are horrible devils, because they have lost THE SUPERNATURAL IMAGE AND LIKENESS OF GOD, which dwelt in them at their creation. They have still reason, craft, and subtilty; but because they have nothing but that which is creaturely, or peculiar to the creature, they are all rage, torment, and misery. Confutation, &c. p. 104.”

The general design of The APPEAL is to bring man home to that which is self-evident in himself; to lead him, only by self-evident principles, to find and feel the difference between true and false religion, in the same degree of certainty, as he finds and feels the difference between fire and water: to bring him into a perception of GOD and Nature; to know, that good and evil, life and death, are a self-evident growth and birth of Nature in him, according as his will enters into and works with that, which is unchangeably good, or unchangeably evil, in the working of Nature. For, as the authour says in another place,

“ The whole ground of religion lies in the knowledge of what GOD is in Himself, as distinct from Nature; what Nature is in itself; what man has from GOD, and what he is in and from Nature. By Nature are meant, all the working stirring properties of life, or all the various sensibilities which life is capable of finding and feeling in itself. And, therefore, you need only look at the working sensibilities of your own life, the several kinds and ways of feeling and finding your own state, to know, by a self-evident certainty, what Nature is in itself. And thus also, in the same self-evident certainty, you may know, that NATURE IS NOT GOD. For as you find, that Nature is opened in you; that all its properties have their existence in you; and yet, that none of these properties of life are their own happiness, or can make themselves to be happy, full of peace, delight, and joy, and free from every want; so you have a full self-evident proof, that GOD IS NOT NATURE, but entirely distinct from and superior to Nature; and that, as considered IN HIMSELF, He is THAT ALONE which can make Nature happy, free from want, and full of all delightful satisfaction. And thus you know, not from hearsay, but from a self-evident certainty in yourself, that GOD, considered as in Himself, is the HAPPINESS, the REST, the SATISFACTION, the JOY, the FULFILLING of all the properties and sensibilities of Nature; and also that Nature, in itself, is that working life of various properties and sensibilities, which WANT to be made happy, which REACH AFTER something that they are not and have not, and which cannot be happy, or fulfilled, till something of a HIGHER NATURE than themselves be united with them: that is, The Working of Nature must be in want, in pain, and dissatisfaction, till GOD, the BLESS-ING AND FULFILLING OF NATURE, is manifested, found, and enjoyed in it. Now, as soon as you know, that Nature in itself is only a working life of various sensibilities, which wants something distinct from itself, and higher than itself, to make it happy, then you have a self-evident certainty of the following truths: 1. That GOD, considered as IN HIMSELF, is the blessing, the satisfaction, the happiness, and heaven, of every sensibility of Nature. 2. That, therefore, as The Gospel teaches, only The WORD, The LIGHT, The SON OF GOD, or JESUS CHRIST, can redeem fallen nature, and restore it to its first state of blessedness in GOD. 3. That, therefore, as The Gospel teaches, you have but one thing to do, and that one thing absolutely necessary to be done, viz. to deny yourself; that is, to turn this fallen nature from itself, from all its own wills and workings in the vanity of this life, to give up itself in faith in hunger and thirst after that LIGHT, WORD, SON, or JESUS CHRIST OF GOD, Who is the fulness, the satisfaction, the joy, and blessedness of ALL NATURE; Who alone can turn every working and sensibility of Nature, into a participation of heavenly satisfaction and joy.”

Again: “The properties of nature can bring forth nothing but themselves to all eternity, nor can ever be any thing else in themselves but what they were at first. Nature can rise no higher than this painful state; and its painful working contrariety must always be the ground of all life, and all sensibility of life.”

Again: “Every creature, as such, is, by the necessity of its nature, in a state of poverty and want; and may be defined to be only “a capacity to receive so much GOOD as shall be communicated to it, or impressed upon it.” Were not this the state of our souls, it would not be the state of our bodies: and as the body stands in this world in poverty and want, only capable of being fed, nourished, comforted, and blessed, by communications and impressions from the things that surround it; so the soul stands in the same poverty and want in the spiritual world, only capable of being nourished, comforted, and blessed, by communications and impressions from GOD.”

Again: “Nothing is before ETERNAL NATURE, but The HOLY SUPERNATURAL DEITY; and every thing that is after it, is Creature, and has all its creaturely life and state in it, and from it, either mediately or immediately.”

IN THE APPEAL, Mr. Law says: Every thing that is in being, is either GOD, or Nature, or creature; and every thing that is not GOD is only a manifestation of GOD. "Nature is the ground of all creatures; it is GOD's manifestation of Himself; it is His instrument, in and by which He acts in the production and government of every life." "Every where, and in all worlds, Nature must stand between GOD and the creature, as the foundation of all mutual intercourse: GOD can transact nothing with the creature, nor the creature have any communion with GOD, but in and by that Nature in which it stands. There is nothing said of man throughout all scripture, but what supposes him to stand in nature, under a necessity of chusing something that is natural, either life or death, fire or water. There is nothing said of GOD with relation to creatures, but what supposes Him to be the GOD of Nature; manifesting Himself in and through Nature, calling, assisting, and directing every thing to its highest natural state. Nature is the scene of His providence, and all the variety of His governing attributes display themselves by His various operations in and through Nature." "The free-will of the creature being an offspring of the free-will of GOD, which is above and superiour to Nature, self-existent, self-generating, self-moving, and uncontrollable from without, must have the same power over its one nature, that the will of GOD has over that Eternal Nature, which is His Own manifestation: and, therefore, every free creature must have and find its own nature, in this or that state, as a birth from the free working of its own will. And here appears the true reason, why no creatures of this world can commit sin; it is, because they have no will that is superiour to Nature: their will is only the will of nature; and, therefore, let them do what they will, they are always doing that which is natural, and consequently not sinful. But the will of angels and men being an offspring of the will of GOD, which is superiour to Nature, stands chargeable with the state and condition of their own nature: and, therefore, it is, that the nature of the devil, and the nature of fallen man, is imputed to both of them, as their sin; which could not be, but because their will was uncontrollable, and gave birth and being to that state and condition of Nature, which is called, and is their sin." "From GOD, considered as IN HIMSELF, nothing can come, from eternity to eternity, but infinite love, goodness, happiness, and glory; which will be for ever and ever flowing forth forth from Him, in the same boundless, universal, infinite manner. He is the same infinitely overflowing fountain of love, goodness, and glory, after as before the fall of any creature. His love, and the infinite workings of it, can no more be lessened, than His power can be increased by any outward thing. No creature, or number of creatures, can raise any anger in Him; it is as impossible, as to cast terror, or darkness, or pain into Him: for nothing can come into GOD from the creature; nothing can be in Him, but that which "The HOLY TRINITY IN UNITY is in itself." "All creatures are products of The INFINITE TRIUNE LOVE OF GOD; nothing willed, desired, and formed them, but INFINITE LOVE: and the same INFINITE LOVE continues still in its first creating goodness; willing, desiring, working, and doing nothing with regard to all creatures, but what It willed, desired, and did, in the creation of them."

But it is endless to produce passages from Mr. Law's writings, to prove that principle upon which all his writings are founded, and without which none of them can be understood: the whole ground of the doctrine of The APPEAL was before set forth, in the utmost degree of clearness, from page 317 to page 329 of this letter. The truths contained in that excellent book, comprise the whole philosophy of Nature and Grace; they add nothing to religion, but the full proof of all its articles; they intend nothing, but to open the original ground and true reason of The Christian Redemption, and the absolute necessity of its being such as The Gospel represents it. "The Christian Religion is the one only true religion of nature, deeply and necessarily founded in the nature of things; its doctrines are not founded in an arbitrary appointment of GOD, but have their natural and necessary reason why they cannot be otherwise. Now the true ground of the one true religion of nature cannot be known, but by going back to the beginning of things, and shewing how they came into their present state: we must find out, why and how religion is necessary, and on what its necessity is founded. But this cannot be done, without finding out what sin, and evil, and death, and darkness, are in themselves, and how they came into nature and creature: for this alone can shew us, what religion is true, is natural, is necessary, and alone sufficient to remove all evil, sin, and disorder, out of the creation. Among other important truths, therefore, contained in The APPEAL, it is shewn,

That the place of this world, is the very place, or region, which belonged to Lucifer and his angels. That every thing that we see in this world, the elements, the stars, the firmament, &c. is nothing else but the invisible things of the fallen world, made visible in a new and lower state of existence. That before the rebellion of the angels, there was nothing but GOD, and heaven, and heavenly beings: light, and love, and joy, and glory, with all the wonders thereof, were the only things seen and felt by the angels: darkness, and fire, with every quality thereof, were absolutely unknown to them; they had no more suspicion of them, than of the possibility of sickness, pain, heat, and cold: all they aimed at, was at being higher in the glories, and powers, and light, of that heaven in which they lived; but their turning to their own strength to effect this, was their whole turning from GOD, and falling into nature without GOD, which was their first discovery of darkness, wrath, and fire, and pain, and torment. That darkness is the ground of the substance or materiality of nature, fire is its life, light is its glorious transmutation into the kingdom of heaven, and spirit is the opener of all its wonders. All that can be conceived, is either GOD, or nature, or creature: GOD is The HOLY TRINITY, without or before nature; but nature is the manifestation of The Holy Trinity, in a triune life of fire, light, and spirit. That evil is nothing else, but the wrath, and fire, and darkness of nature broken off from GOD: that the punishment, the pain, or the hell of sin, is no designedly prepared or arbitrary penalty inflicted by GOD; but the natural and necessary state of the creature, that leaves or turns from GOD: that the will of the creature is the only opener of all evil or good in the creature; the will stands between GOD and nature, and must, in all its workings, unite either with GOD or nature; the will totally resigned and given up to GOD, is one spirit with GOD, and GOD dwelleth in it; the will turned

turned from GOD, is taken prisoner in the wrath, fire, and darkness of Nature. It is shewn, how and why a creature can lose and die to all its happiness and perfection, and, from a beauteous angel, become a deformed devil: it is, because nature has no beauty, happiness, or perfection, but solely from the manifestation or birth of THE HOLY TRINITY in it; GOD manifested in nature, is the only blessing, happiness, and perfection of nature: therefore, the creature, that in the working of its will is turned from GOD, must have as great a change brought forth in it, as that of heaven into hell. forced to live, but to have no other life, but that of its own tormenting wrath, or gnawing worm, left to itself. Hence the deep ground, and absolute necessity, of The Christian Redemption, by A BIRTH FROM ABOVE OF THE LIGHT AND SPIRIT OF GOD, is demonstrated in the most absolute degree of certainty: it is because all nature is, in itself, nothing but an hungry wrathful fire of life, a tormenting darkness, that can only be kindled into a kingdom of heaven by THE LIGHT AND SPIRIT OF GOD: and, therefore, the fallen soul can have no possible relief or redemption, it must be, to all eternity, an hungry, dark, fiery, tormenting spirit of life, unless The LIGHT, or SON, and SPIRIT OF GOD be born again in it. Hence it also follows, That in all the possibility of things, there is and can be but one happiness, and one misery: the one misery, is nature and creature left to itself; the one happiness, is The LIFE, The LIGHT, and SPIRIT OF GOD, manifested in nature and creature: this is the true meaning of those words of our LORD, There is but one that is good, and that is GOD: — that there is and can be but one true religion for the fallen soul, and that is, the dying to self, to nature, and creature, and turning, with all the will, the desire, and delight of the soul, to GOD:—and that there is and can be but one salvation for the fallen soul, and that is heaven opened again in the soul, by the birth of such a LIFE, LIGHT, and SPIRIT, as is born in holy angels. Lastly, it is shewn, why Adam could make no atonement for his sins; why and how JESUS CHRIST alone could make that atonement: whence the shedding of blood for the remission of sins: what wrath and anger it is, that is quenched and atoned by the blood of CHRIST; what was the nature and merits of His sufferings; and why and how we must eat His flesh and drink His blood, to be made partakers of eternal life.

The

The passages which His Lordship has partially taken from this book, and charged with a sense that is diametrically opposite to the whole design and meaning of it, are to be found, where Mr. Law treats, in one place, of the high original and endless duration of the soul itself, as a breath of The Holy TRIUNE GOD; and, in another, of the origin of temporal nature as a part of eternal nature, brought into a lower, divided, compacted, and transitory state. These two points, tho' blended and confounded in His Lordship's quotations, are distinctly urged, as well to explain and establish the doctrine of St. Paul contained in this proposition, that in GOD we live, and move, and have our being; as to refute the absurd doctrine of the schools, "that all worlds, and all things, even the souls of men and angels, are created out of nothing;" a fiction, not only contrary to the letter and spirit of the scripture-account of the birth of things, but full of the grossest absurdities, and most horrid consequences! it separates every thing from GOD; it leaves no relation between GOD and the creature; nor any possibility for any power, virtue, or perfection of GOD to be in the creature. The reader, therefore, has nothing more to do, than to consider the passages taken from The APPEAL, as they stand connected with the authour's arguments, to see the preposterous use that has been made of them. They are represented as containing the general principles of a book, written with a design to recommend and establish an atheistical philosophy; and the solemn semblance of holy pity with which they are introduced in this light, is so thin a mask, that, instead of concealing, it serves only to expose the nature of that spirit which could mutilate and distort them for such a purpose. As I am persuaded, however, that every one who doubts His Lordship's representations, and chuses to form his own own judgment from a candid and impartial perusal of the book itself, will think his time and study usefully employed; I shall produce no more passages from it, but conclude this head with the following extracts from Mr. Law's letters.

“ The charge of Spinozism brought against me by DR. WARBURTON, has all the FOLLY and WEAKNESS that can well be imagined. For, as Spinozism is nothing else, but a gross confounding of GOD and nature, making them to be only one and the same thing; so the full absurdity and absolute impossibility of it, can only be fundamentally proved, by that doctrine which can go to the bottom of the matter, and demonstrate the essential, eternal, and absolute distinction between GOD and nature; a thing done over and over, from page to page, in those books, from which The Doctor has extracted Spinozism, just with as much acuteness, as if he had spied Rank Warburtonism in my letter to the Bishop of London. Collection of Letters, p. 196.” In another letter, Mr. Law says: A vindictive wrath in GOD, that will not forgive, till a satisfaction equal to the offence is made to it, sets the Goodness of GOD in a lower state, than that which has been found in thousands of mankind. The truth of the matter is this: the divinity of CHRIST, and His whole process through life and death, were absolutely necessary, in the nature of the thing, to raise man out of the death of sin, into a heavenly birth of life: and the necessity of all this, is grounded upon the certainty of man's fall, from a divine, into a bestial life of this world. The Socinian blasphemy consists in the denial of these points, the Deity of CHRIST, the fall of man, and the necessity of CHRIST's death. Our scholastic doctors own the fall of man; but know, or own, nothing of the true nature and depth of it: they own the truth of CHRIST's Divinity, and the necessity of His sufferings; they plead for the certainty of these things from scripture words, but see not into the ground of them, nor in what the absolute necessity of them consists. Hence it is, that when opposed by Socinian reasoning, they are at a loss how to support these great truths; and are forced to humanize the matter, and to suppose such a vindictive wrath in GOD, as usually breaks forth in great princes, when a revolt is made against their sovereign authority. But to have recourse to a supposed wrath, or vindictive justice, in a GOD incensed towards fallen man, in order to confute the Socinian, who denies the necessity and effects of CHRIST'S death ; is only opposing one great falsity with another : for wrath has no more place in GOD, than love has in the devil. Wrath began with devils, hell, and fallen nature ; and can have no possible existence any where, or in any thing, but where devils, hell, and fallen nature, have their power of working. Be not then so furious as to say, that if it was strictly true, that there was no wrath in GOD, you would burn your bible : for if it was not strictly true, you would never have had a bible to burn ; nor any more messages from heaven about man's salvation, than from hell. For if you will have wrath in the MOST HIGH GOD, you can have no other or better a God, than that which the ATHEISTICAL SPINOZA invented. For if wrath is in The SUPREME GOD, then Nature is in GOD ; and if so, then GOD is nature and nothing else ; for nature cannot be above itself. Therefore, if nature is in The MOST HIGH GOD, then the lowest working of nature is the True Supreme God : and so, instead of a SUPERNATURAL GOD, Who created heaven and earth ; heaven, and earth, and all things else, are The Only God. This is the atheistical absurdity, that necessarily follows from the supposing a wrath in GOD ; for wrath can no more be any where but in NATURE, than storms and tempests can be where there is nothing that moves.

Let me here observe to you the BAREFACED CALUMNY that DR. WARBURTON has ventured to cast upon me, in charging my writings with Spinozism ; tho' all that I have written for these last twenty years, has been such a full confutation of it, as is not to be found in any book that has been purposely written against it. Had I only proved, as I have done by a variety of proofs, that wrath cannot possibly be in The True GOD, I had sufficiently confuted Spinozism ; for, if not wrath, then nothing of Nature is in GOD. But I have gone much further ; and have in my " APPEAL, " The Book of Regeneration, The Spirit of Prayer, The " Spirit of Love, and The Way to Divine Knowledge," opened the true ground of the UNCHANGEABLE DISTINCTION between GOD and nature ; making All Nature, whether temporal or eternal, its own proof, that it is not, cannot be GOD, but purely and solely THE WANT of GOD ; and can be nothing else in itself, but a restless painful want, till The SUPERNATURAL GOD manifests himself in it.

And now, what shall I say of my LEARNED ACCUSING DOCTOR? Why only this — that if he knows how to forgive himself, [a knowledge, that is not yet attained!] then there will be ONE THING at least, in which we are both of us like minded. Collection of Letters, p. 77, 78, 69—72.”

His Lordship's next accusation against Mr. Law, is “ of making frequent assaults upon HUMAN LEARNING, in order to hide his own ignorance :” and in this “ graceless” conduct, His Lordship, as a perfect abstract of all the qualities and powers of human learning, is inclined to think himself some way or other so personally concerned, that whenever Mr. Law “ vents his Vandalic rage against its “ vanity and darkness, its proud, contentious, profane, and worldly spirit,” he must always be supposed to have “ His Lordship in view.” “ The “ last legacies,” says His Lordship, “ which this “ bountiful gentleman hath bestowed upon the public, are A collection of letters, and An address to the clergy. In these two works the HAPLESS AUTHOR of the Divine Legation is pointed at on every occasion of abuse, and held up as the grand apostate from Grace to Human Reason ; and this “ chiefly, for denying (what, indeed, I neither deny nor affirm, for I take it to be nonsense) that Divine Inspiration is essential to man's first created state ; and vainly thinking to find out a middle way, between this and no inspiration at all, namely, that the Spirit's ordinary influence occasionally assists the faithful. For this, and for some “ few things besides, such as a charge of Spinozism “ against his beloved Behmenism, I have the honour “ to be plentifully, though spiritually railed at, “ whenever he fancies he sees me in THE RETINUE “ OF HUMAN LEARNING, p. 291. 292.” This is the list of reasons which His Lordship has formed, for Mr. Law's so often wounding him thro' the sides of learning. Let us try, however, if it may not be somewhat reduced.

The first reason assigned is, “ His Lordship “ denies that divine inspiration is essential to man’s “ first created state :” but this cannot be a reason ; because His Lordship declares, that “ he neither “ affirms nor denies it, but takes it to be nonsense.” Mr. Law has, indeed, without any reference to His Lordship, demonstrated this truth in a variety of places, and by such arguments as His Lordship is not able to refel ; and that His Lordship should now say, he takes it to be nonsense, is no wonder, because, tho’ Moses has expressly asserted it as the ground of all he taught the Jews, yet the Divine Legation is written in full contradiction to it, and THE HAPLESS AUTHOUR of that book (Vol. 2. pt. 2, p. 95, 96) speaks of man’s first created state as no better than A FORLORN CONDITION OF BRUTALITY.

The second reason is, “ His Lordship’s vainly thinking to find out a middle way, “ between continual inspiration as essential to man’s state,” whether as created in or restored to THE IMAGE AND LIKENESS OF GOD, “ and no inspiration at all ; namely, that “ the Spirit’s ordinary influence oc- “ asionally afflicts the faithful.” Not only the vanity, but the impiety of this attempt, Mr. Law has fully proved ; and having here, as well as in the Divine Legation, “ inflicted an incurable wound,” it is extravagant to suppose him made so wanton by success, as to be continually wounding an expiring adversary in sport.

The third reason is, “ His Lordship’s charge of “ Spinozism on Mr. Law’s beloved Behmenism.” Of this charge, Mr. Law has taken notice but twice, namely, in the two letters already cited, p. 379--80, which, when written, were not intended to be published ; and in which, so far from mentioning His Lordship's learning, he speaks only of the FOLLY, WEAKNESS, and MALIGNITY of the charge : and, indeed, as it has no support but falshood, it could not be supposed, that any learning, either human or divine, had the least connection with it.

What the "few things besides" are, we must leave it to time and His Lordship to explain : but the reasons already assigned, tho' so destitute of power, were always operative, His Lordship says, whenever Mr. Law "fantied he saw His Lordship " IN THE RETINUE OF LEARNING." All the world that knows any thing of His Lordship's pretensions, knows, that Mr. Law must have sometimes really seen His Lordship in that retinue : and Mr. Law blames him not for being there ; but for being there in an improper dress, fit only for the fanatic worshipper of an idol-deity. The garb of learning, when worn by a Christian Divine, should be sober and modest ; suited to it as a victim, that must be " sacrificed to " the glory of The Everlasting Gospel," either " PROUDLY" as His Lordship says St. Paul made the sacrifice, or " HUMBLY" as Mr. Law recommends it to His Lordship to make it. See page 285—6. But that His Lordship may be no longer at a loss to assign the true reason for Mr. Law's repeated confutation of the groundless notions peculiar TO THE HAPLESS AUTHOUR, he may be informed from Mr. Law himself, that it was not because he fantied he saw THE HAPLESS AUTHOUR in the retinue of LEARNING, but solely because he knew he saw him, repeatedly mistaking the CORPS to which he belonged, and, with all the fopperies of learning about him, crowding himself into the retinue of INFIDELITY. Thus, for instance, " the design " of the D L." says Mr. Law, " is to establish " this most horrible doctrine, that Moses designedly " and industriously secreted from GOD's chosen people of Israel, all thought and apprehension of " any

“ any eternal relation they had with GOD ; which “ is the same thing as saying, that he designedly “ suppressed the one only possible foundation of “ true religion.” Mr Law proves this consequence, and proves also the weakness and vanity of the authour’s endeavours to evade it. Confutation, page 126—140. And what Mr. Law has proved “ The “ MIDDLE WAY of an occasional assistance of the “ ordinary influence of The Holy Spirit,” to be, has been already shewn in the passages quoted in this letter.

But the arguments that cannot be refuted, it may be necessary to distort and misrepresent : and, as if nothing that Mr. Law had said on human reason and human learning, was drawn from indubitable principles both of nature and the written word of GOD, His Lordship begins his accusation of Mr.
 Law upon this subject, with saying, that “ he lays “ it down as a POSTULATUM, “ that whatever comes not “ immediately from GOD, “ can have nothing godly : “ THEREFORE, what comes “ immediately from self, such “ as natural reason, however “ outwardly coloured, can “ have no better a nature “ within than the very works “ of the devil.” Doct. of Grace, p. 292.

Mr. Law’s words are these :
 “ nothing but that which comes immediately from GOD, can have any thing godly in it ; AND all that which comes from self and natural reason, however outwardly coloured, can have no better a nature within, than SELF-SEEKING, SELF-ESTEEM, and FLESHLY WIS-DOM, which are those very works of the devil in us, that CHRIST came into the world to destroy.” Address, p. 57.

The passage in Mr. Law’s Address stands in this form of a plain assertion, grounded upon the truths which he had just before proved and established ; and it is only from the transmuting hand of His Lordship, who does not see that the contrary opinion is full of that spiritual impurity which he had imputed to Mr. Law, that it has received the form of a POSTULATUM. Yet, by the passage, even in this form, His Lordship has been unexpectedly led near the borders of a truth that is highly worthy of His Lordship's acquaintance: and, indeed, it is not quite certain, for the irony is of too dull a cast to discover it, that His Lordship has not some new-raised suspicion, that HUMAN LEARNING, which he had been used to think "the fair celestial offspring of NATURAL REASON, p. 288," or "SELF," as His Lordship elsewhere defines reason in concurrence with Mr. Law, p. 302, may be born in this sublunary world, and be as profane, and as much at enmity with GOD, as the apostate parent that brought it forth. But for this ill-starred child, so fallen, so changed, His Lordship has the same sympathetic throes, as if he still thought her of a higher extraction; and he proceeds to arraign Mr. Law for asserting, "that HUMAN LEARNING, so far from having any thing to do with religion, does it infinite mischief: that 1. it nourisheth pride; that 2. it nourisheth contention; that 3. it turneth religion to a trade; that 4. it is the abomination of desolation; that 5. it chuseth darkness rather than light; and that 6. it is a total apostasy from GOD and goodness .p. 293—297." Under these various heads, His Lordship has placed passages from Mr. Law's writings, which, tho' picked up here and there, separated from the principles from which as consequences they are drawn, mutilated in every part, and frequently changed in the expression, yet still retain so much of their native force, that nothing is or can be offered in opposition to them.
 of

His Lordship, indeed, seems to expect, that these passages, as he has managed them, must, on the high credit of his judgment and veracity, produce an immediate sacrifice of every understanding, that has no conception of the secret source of all this labour, bour, which is, with great policy, and equal caution, kept entirely out of sight; and, therefore, with a peculiar confidence in the implicit submission of the reader, even while the different pages of the different books, from which the passages are taken, stare him in the face, His Lordship ventures to call them, “ Mr. Law’s powerful reasonings “ in discredit of human learning,” as if they were to be found in one work professedly written on that single subject, and delivered in one unbroken series. “ And now,” says His Lordship, “ the good man “ having worked up his enthusiasm into a * poetical “ ferment (for, as it has been said, that a poet is “ an enthusiast in jest, so, he shews us, that an en- “ thusiast may be a poet in good earnest) he adorns “ these

* His Lordship has sometimes his poetical ebullitions, tho’ fermented by an enthusiasm of a different kind. “ Dr. “ WARBURTON,” says Mr. Law, “ thus comments upon “ the words of the text :” [viz. The LORD GOD formed man of the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life; and man became a living soul. Gen. ii. 7.] “ GOD, the great PLASTIC ARTIST, is here represented, “ as making and shaping out A FIGURE OF EARTH AND “ CLAY, which He afterwards animates or inspires with “ life. He breathed into THIS STATUE the breath of life, “ and THE LUMP OF CLAY became a living creature!” Had this elegant and most graphical description, says Mr. Law, been only found in some minor poet or school-declamation, it might have been overlooked; but in a prose-treatise of divinity, pretending to set forth the truth of the matter, it ought not to pass uncensured. I know of nothing that can equal it, unless it be supposed, that some ingenious Anthropomorphite, reading these words, And the LORD GOD did unto Adam and Eve, make coats of skins, and clothed them, should thus describe the matter: “ Here, “ GOD, the great PLASTIC ARTIST, is represented, as “ having the skins of beasts before him, and, with his divine “ hands, cutting, shaping, and joining them together in forms “ of garments, fitted to the size and distinction of the first “ man

“ these POWERFUL REASONINGS with a STRING OF “ AS BEAUTEOUS SIMILIES, p. 298.” This string of similies is entirely of the same foreign manufac- ture, with the other thread of reasonings: and they are fit only to be tied up together, as two instances (perhaps not to be exceeded in the wide regions of literature, but by Lauder’s attempt against Milton) to what low descents, an inordinate love of fame, with the intolerable sense of disappointment and the impatient desire of shifting disgrace to another that are inseparable from it, will compel the poor human mind to stoop, while it seeks its light and comfort only in itself. But how would the learned world complain, if this practice was to become general, and they were to form their judgment of men and books only upon such factitious evidence!
 How, for instance, would the learning, the meekness, and humility, of His Lordship suffer, if some splenetic wit was to sit down to the Divine Legation of Moses, and string together all the passages that might be made to look like the ravings of ignorance, insolence, and resentment!

But the astonishing dissingenuity that has been practised throughout the representation of Mr. Law’s character and writings, can only be truly known by a candid and impartial perusal of the books from which the passages are selected: a few of those passages may be found in this letter, particularly in pages 358, 361, and 363; and a few more I shall here bring in comparison.

“ man and his wife!” I may defy any one to shew, that this comment does not pay as great regard to the letter, and do as much honour to the sense of this scripture, as The Doctor’s doth to the other text.” Mr. Law then proceeds to shew the important and divine truth, which the sacred text contains. Confutation of the Divine Legation, &c. p. 110—111.

Mr. Law, demonstrating, That The Gospel-state is A kingdom of GOD come amongst men; into which none can enter, but by being born of The SPIRIT; none can continue to be alive, but by being led by The SPIRIT; and in which, not a thought, or desire, or action, can have any part, but as it is a fruit of The SPIRIT; asks, what scripture of the new testament can you read, that does not prove this? And he instances in his scripture :

“ Thy kingdom come ; Thy Will be done on earth, as it is in Heaven.” What is GOD’s kingdom in heaven, but the manifestation of what GOD is, and what He does, in his heavenly creatures ? How is His Will done there, but because His HOLY SPIRIT is the life, the power, and mover, of all that live in it. We daily read this prayer, we extol it under the name of The LORD’s prayer ; and yet, for the sake of orthodoxy, preach and write against all that is prayed for in it : for nothing but a continual, essential, immediate divine illumination, can do that which we pray may be done. For where can GOD’s kingdom be come, but where every other power, but His, is at an end, and driven out of it ? How can His Will only be done, but where The SPIRIT that wills in GOD, wills in the creature ?

What now have parts, and literature, and the natural abilities of man, that they can do here ? Just as much as they can do at the resurrection of the

From this passage, His Lordship takes all that he chuses to let Mr. Law say, to shew, “ that human learning has no-thing to do with religion, “ Doct. of Grace, p. 293 ;” and suppressing the design of the passage, and the principles upon which it is founded, he gives us only the following parts :

Where can GOD’s kingdom be come, but where every other power, but his, is at an end, and driven out ?

What now have parts and literature and the natural abilities of man to do here ? Just as much as they can do at the resurrection of the dead ; for all the dead : for all that is to be done here, is nothing else, but resurrection and life. Therefore, that “ which gave “ eyes to the blind, cleansed “ the lepers, cast out devils, “ and raised the dead ; THAT “ ALONE can and must do all “ that is to be done, in this “ Gospel Kingdom of GOD. “ For every the smallest work “ or fruit of Grace, must be “ as solely done by GOD, as “ the greatest miracle in nature: “ and the reason is, because “ every work of Grace is the “ same overcoming of nature, as “ when the dead are raised to “ life.” Yet vain man would be thought to be something, to have great power and ability in this kingdom of Grace ; not because he happens to be born of noble parents, is clothed in purple and fine linnen, and fareth sumptuously every day ; but because he has happened to be made a scholar, has run thro’ all languages and histories, has been long exercised in conjectures and criticisms, and has his head as full of all notions, theological, poetical, and philosophical, as a dictionary is full of all sorts of words.

Now let this simple question decide the whole matter here : “ has this great scholar any “ more power of saying to this “ mountain, be thou removed “ hence, and cast into the sea, “ than the illiterate christian “ hath ?

Here His Lordship stops ; and only says, “ To “ this reasoning against human learning, in its use “ to religion, little can be opposed : for it is very “ certain, human learning can neither raise the dead, all that is to be done here, is nothing else but resurrection and life.

Yet vain man would be thought to do something in this kingdom of Grace — because he has happened to be made a scholar, has run thro’ all the languages and histories, has been long exercised in conjectures and criticisms, and has his head full of all notions, theological, poetical, and philosophical, as a dictionary is full of all sorts of words.

“ nor remove mountains, p. 294.” But His Lordship is in too much haste, and stops before the question is decided; unwilling, perhaps, to try that decision with the illiterate christian, by which alone the value and importance of human learning with respect to religion, can be known. For Mr. Law adds: “ If not,” if the great scholar, AS SUCH, has not more power of saying this, than the illiterate christian hath, “ he is just as weak, as powerless and little, in The Kingdom of GOD, as he is. “ But, if the illiterate man’s faith should happen to “ be nearer to the bulk of a grain of mustard-seed, “ than that of the prodigious scholar, the illiterate christian stands MUCH ABOVE HIM in The Kingdom of GOD. Address, p 94—98.”

Again: where Mr. Law is introduced, as asserting, “ that human learning turneth religion to “ a trade,” His Lordship, p. 295, produces only this sentence as Mr. Law’s proof of it: “ where self, or “ the natural man, is become great in religious “ learning, there, the greater the scholar, the “ more firmly will he be fixed in their religion, “ whose God is their belly.” But this, as it stands in Mr. Law, is only one side of an instance to shew, that natural reason is the spirit and power of that natural self, which CHRIST calls all men to deny:

A scholar, says Mr. Law, pitying the blindness and folly of those, who live to themselves in the cares and pleasures of this vain life, thinks himself divinely employed, and to have escaped the pollutions of the world, because he is, day after day, dividing, dissecting, and mending church opinions, fixing heresies here, schisms there; forgetting all the while, that carnal self and natural reason have the doing of all that is done by this learned zeal, and are as busy and active in him, as in the reasoning infidel, or projecting worldling. For where SELF is wholly denied, there NOTHING can be called heresy, schism, or wickedness, but the want of loving GOD with our whole heart, and our neighbour as ourselves; nor any thing be called Truth, Life, or Salvation, but The Spirit, Nature, and Power of CHRIST, manifesting itself in us as it did in Him. “ But where self, or the natural man, is become great in religious learning, there, the greater the scholar, the more firmly will he be fixed in their religion, whose God is their belly.” Address, p 57-9.

Again: Mr. Law, after shewing, that the highest powers of The Natural Man have no higher an original than his fallen life, and that the most glorious works that proceed from them can last no longer than his animal appetites, thus proceeds:

“ Let then the high accomplished scholar reflect, that he comes by his wit, and parts, and acute abilities, just as the serpent came by his subtility; let him reflect, that he might as well dream of acquiring angelic purity to his animal nature, by multiplying new invented delights for his earthly passions and tempers, as of raising his soul into divine knowledge, through the well exercised powers of his natural reason and imagination. The finest intellectual power, and that which has the best help in it towards bringing man again into the region of divine light, is that poor despised thing, called SIMPLICITY. This is that, which stops the workings of the fallen life of nature, and leaves room for GOD to work again in the soul, according to the good pleasure of His Holy Will. It stands in such a waiting posture before GOD, and in such readiness for the Divine Birth, as the plants of the earth wait for the inflowing riches of the light and air. But the self-assuming workings of man’s natural powers, shut him up in himself, closely barred up against the inflowing riches of THE LIGHT AND SPIRIT of GOD. Yet so it is, in this fallen state of the gospel church, that with these proud endowments of fallen nature, the classic scholar, full fraught with pagan light and skill, comes forth to play the critic and orator with the simplicity of salvation mysteries; mysteries which mean nothing else but the inward work of THE TRIUNE GOD in the soul of man; nor any other work there, but the raising up a dead Adam, into a living CHRIST of GOD.

However, to make way for parts, criticism, and language-learning, to have the full management of salvation doctrines, the well-read scholar gives out, that the artificial way of knowing the things of GOD, taught and practised by FISHERMEN-APOSTLES, is obsolete. They, indeed, wanted to have divine knowledge from the immediate,

diat, continual operation of THE HOLY SPIRIT: but this state was only for a time, till genius and learning entered into the pale of the church.—Behold, if ever, the abomination of desolation standing in the holy place!—For as soon as this doctrine is set up, that man's natural parts, and acquired learning, have full right and power to sit in the divinity chair, and to guide men into that TRUTH, which was once the only OFFICE AND POWER OF THE HOLY SPIRIT; as soon as this is done, and so far as it is received, it may with the greatest truth be said, that the kingdom of GOD is entirely shut up; and only a kingdom of scribes, pharisees, and hypocrites, can come instead of it. For, by this doctrine, the whole nature and power of GOSPEL RELIGION, is much more denied, than by setting up the infallibility of the pope; for though his claim to infallibility is false, yet he claims it from, and under the HOLY SPIRIT; but the protestant scholar has his divinity knowledge, his power in the kingdom of truth, from himself, his own logic, and learned reason. CHRIST has no where instituted an infallible pope; and it is full as certain, that he has no where spoken one single word, or given the least power to logic, learning, or the natural powers of man, in His Kingdom: He has never said to them, whatsoever ye shall bind on earth, shall be bound in heaven; never said to them, go ye and teach all nations, no more than he hath ever said to wolves, go ye and feed my sheep. CHRIST, indeed, said of Himself, according to the flesh, it is expedient for you, that I go away: but where has he said of Himself according to The SPIRIT, it is also expedient for you that I go away, that your own natural abilities, and learned reason, may have the guidance of you into all truth. This is no where said, unless logic can prove it from these words; without me ye can do nothing, and Lo I am with you to the end of the world.”

From this passage, the reasoning of which His Lordship may now try to weaken, a few dismembered sentences only are taken to support the sixth article of complaint against Mr. Law, namely, his calling learning “ the abomination of desolation.” p. 295.
 “ Genius and learning entered into the pale of the “ church!—Behold, if ever, the abomination of “ desolation standing in the holy place!—Christ has “ no

“ no where spoken one single word, or given the “ least power to logic, learning, or the natural “ powers of man, in his kingdom!” But upon these interjections, His Lordship has raised the following perspicuous observation: “ By this we find, “ that Christ’s kingdom may be usurped as well by “ CLASSIC learning as by church-discipline.” It is “ certain, our modern ideas of religious liberty can “ consist with neither of them; for this liberty “ claims an exemption both from REASON and OBE-“ DIENCE.” It is true, that various usurpations upon CHRIST’S KINGDOM have been continually made under the pretence of national church-discipline, and the reason and learning both of papists and protestants have been continually exerted to support those very different kingdoms which they had brought forth; it is true, that His Lordship has discovered no ideas of religious liberty that do not arise from national church-discipline; and it is true also, that he who chuses to be guided into Truth solely by THE SPIRIT OF TRUTH, claims an exemption from the sole guidance of REASON: but if His Lordship means to charge Mr. Law with claiming for himself an exemption from obedience to that national church-discipline under which The Providence of GOD had placed him, or for encouraging the desire of it in others, his writings will refute this charge as well as the rest.

“ I come now,” says Mr. Law in a letter on Church-communion, “ to consider the church, under another and more common idea of it; namely, as external, and about which all the christian world is at enmity, strife, and debate. After christianity had been a few ages in the world, it became national, and obtained the protection and patronage of the princes of this world. Hence it was enriched with many gifts and privileges, and strengthened by powers that were foreign to the nature of it; and church men, beginning to quarrel about christian doctrines, were supported in their strife and division from one another, by the temporal powers

powers under which they lived. This state of the church hath continued to this day; and almost every age hath multiplied the number of divided churches, brought forth by THE UNION of the civil and ecclesiastical power. This state, therefore, of external churches, hath the nature of things merely human; and is subject to such alterations, changes, and corruptions, as the forms and revolutions of temporal government all over the world: and, therefore, the private christian, who, as such, is a member of a kingdom that is not of this world, has little or no concern in it. Without entering into the merits of divided churches, which I shall not do here or any where else, thus much, I think, may with truth be affirmed, that, where the church and the state are incorporated, and under one and the same power, all the evil passions, corrupt views, and worldly interests, which form and transform, turn and overturn all outward things, must be expected often to come to pass, as well in the church, as in the state with which it is united. But as private christians have no power or call to govern the world, or set up thrones according to the principles of truth and righteousness, but are, by THE SPIRIT OF THE GOSPEL, obliged to submit to and be contented with that state of government, good or bad, under which The Providence of GOD has placed them; so are they, in like manner, to exercise a patient submission and resignation under such an imperfect state of the outward church, which Providence has not prevented; and only to take care, to be inwardly found SUCH WORSHIPPERS IN SPIRIT AND IN TRUTH AS THE FATHER SEEKETH. I mean not by this, as some have done, that any evil, however great in the beginning or continuing of usurped power, either in the church or state, loses its evil nature, and may be called right and good, as soon as Providence has suffered it to become successful: no, by no means; success, though always to be owned to have GOD'S permission, leaves all things in their own nature, neither good because successful, nor bad because defeated and suppressed. The wickedness of the Jews conspiring and effecting the death of CHRIST, was not only permitted, but suitable to the designs of Providence in THE REDEMPTION OF MANKIND: but that the evil nature of their wickedness did not lose its guilt, because suffered by GOD to be successful, but still continues, is plain from the Curse of GOD still abiding upon it to this day. The duty of private christians with regard to Providence dence in such cases, is not to call that good which before was evil, or that evil which before was good; but patiently to suffer under, and humbly acquiesce in, all that bad outward course of things, either in church or state, which The Providence of GOD has not thought fit to prevent, and that for these reasons: first, as fully knowing, that all things must work together FOR GOOD, to those who love GOD; and secondly, as piously believing, that, in all successful wickedness, whether of princes against their people, or of people against their princes, there is always SOMETHING HID UNDER IT, which, in its way and degree, will, like the successful wickedness of the Jews towards CHRIST, help forward THAT SALVATION, for which CHRIST hath laid down His Life." Collection of Letters p. 13—16.

Again: Mr. Law, in a letter to a young clergyman, on the duties of a preacher of The Gospel, and the nature and use of all outward instruction, says: "Your next great point, as a preacher, should be, to bring men to an entire faith in, and absolute dependence upon, the continual power and operation of The SPIRIT OF GOD in them. All churches, even down to the Secinians, are forced, in obedience to the letter of scripture, to own something of this doctrine. But as the practice of all churches, for many ages, has had AS MUCH recourse to learning, art, and science, to qualify ministers for the preaching of the gospel, AS IF IT WAS MERELY A WORK OF MAN'S WISDOM, so "ecclesiasticks, for the most part, come forth in the power of human qualifications, and are more or less full of themselves, according as they are more or less proficient in science and literature, languages and rhetoric." To this, more than to any other cause, is the great apostasy of all christendom to

His Lordship takes the following sentences from this passage, as the whole proof of Mr. Law's assertion, that human learning is a total apostasy from GOD and goodness. Doctr. of Grace. p. 296, 7.

The practice of all churches for many ages, has had—recourse to learning, arts and science, to qualify ministers for the preaching of the Gospel.—

To this more than to any other cause, is the great apostasy of all christendom to be attributed.—

be attributed. This was the door, at which the whole spirit of the world entered into the possession of The Christian Church.

“ WORLDLY LUSTS AND INTERESTS, VANITY, PRIDE, ENVY, CONTENTION, BITTERNESS, and AMBITION,” (the death of all that is good in the soul) have now, and always had, their chief nourishment, power, and support, from a sense of the merit and sufficiency of literal accomplishments.

“ HUMILITY, MEEKNESS, PATIENCE, FAITH, HOPE, CONTEMPT OF THE WORLD, and HEAVENLY AFFECTIONS,” (the very LIFE OF JESUS in the soul) are by few people less earnestly desired, or more hard to be practised, than by great wits, classical critics, linguists, historians, and orators in holy orders.” Letters, p. 36, 37.

The death of all that is good in the soul, have now and always had their chief nourishment and support from the sense of the merit and sufficiency of literal accomplishments.—

AND the very life of Jesus in the soul, is by few people less earnestly desired, or more hard to be practised, than by great wits, classical critics, linguists, historians, and orators in holy orders.

This passage contains nothing that is unfit to be mentioned to a young clergyman; nothing that St. Paul himself would have condemned, either for its impropriety, or its repugnancy to that gospel which he had preached; it proves all that it was intended to prove; and if it was adapted to His Lordship's purpose, it should have been quoted as it was written. Must we then suppose, that there were other motives, besides disgracing Mr. Law, to induce His Lordship to mutilate and enervate it so much, as scarcely to leave it the shadow of what it was? Did His Lordship suspect, that the picture of a modern ecclesiastic had a likeness too strong to be mistaken? Was his Lordship afraid to enumerate the characters of SPIRITUAL LIFE and SPIRITUAL DEATH, lest his readers should join issue with Mr. Law, and begin to look about the

the world for living proofs of the truth of his observation ?

The last passage that is strung upon His Lordship's thread of Mr. Law's reasonings, p. 297, is already quoted in this letter, p. 358 ; and, like the rest, it is only by attending to the argument to which it belongs, that its design and meaning can be known. But His Lordship takes occasion from it to make an oblique appeal to vulgar prejudice, and says—" We see by this, that the grand mistake of scholars has hitherto been, in supposing, that the true sense of scripture is to be discovered by the application of those principles, which enable us to find out the meaning contained in other ancient books." It is already demonstrated, that the true sense of scripture cannot be known by the application of any principles of human contrivance: and he that says it can, proves that he knows so little of the true sense of the scriptures of the New Testament, as not to know, that, from beginning to end, they declare it to be impossible. If this has been the common mistake of scholars, it is no wonder, that human learning has done all that mischief to Gospel Christianity with which it has been charged, changing it into a confusion of opposite opinions, and a mere strife of worldly interests. It is no wonder also, that Christian Divines, while they continue under its dark bondage, should sit down, with one kind of easy familiarity, to explain a passage in Anacreon and a passage in St. Paul; and determine about the meaning of the words of The Most Holy Jesus, with the same licentiousness of fancy, and the same insolence of obtrusion, as about the words of an atheistical Episcurus, or a debauched Falstaffe.

That which has been shewn to be the state of a few of the passages which His Lordship has taken from Mr. Law's writings, will be found to be the state of all the rest: in His Lordship's book, they are either perverted from their meaning, or divested of their spirit, and, at best, are made to appear as random assertions without proofs; in Mr. Law's writings, they stand as undeniable consequences deduced from principles which his Lordship is not able to subvert, and urged with a force and spirit which his Lordship's best arguments and most lively fallies cannot equal.

But the next work to sophisticating the charge, is to weaken the defence: and accordingly, after having finished the thread of Mr. Law's reasonings, and the string of his similies, in which his arguments are exhausted, and "the fire of his enthusiasm has blazed itself out," His Lordship says: "And now he comes again to himself.—We know how the lucid intervals of fanaticism are wont to be employed; generally in covering the madness of the hot fit, with THE MOST DELIBERATE AND UNBLUSHING FALSEHOODS of the cold, p. 300." This sudden thrust is rather too violent. A sword is a weapon even more unfit for the hand of a bishop, than for the hand of a lady; and if he will take it up, and, Drawcanfir-like, brandish it against every object in his way, it is possible, before he lays it down again, that he may wound none so deeply as himself. His Lordship may try to abuse Mr. Law's understanding, as much as he pleases; and if the endeavours of those who knew his intellectual powers well, cannot rouse the impartial world to judge for themselves, the abuse must remain: but when his Lordship intrudes upon the sacred temple of his heart, to blacken a character which the world cannot impeach, he does something that no motive can excuse, and silent contempt will take the seat of argument.

ment. His Lordship proceeds: " From what has
 " past, RASH DIVINES might be apt to charge
 " this holy man, so meek of spirit, with ENTHUSIASM
 " —with a brutal spite to REASON—and with more " than Vandalic rage against HUMAN LEARNING.
 " But they wrong him greatly." Here his Lordship, who is the sole performer in his own farce, having finished the part of Mr. Law's accuser, dresses himself for a new scene, and, under these three articles of enthusiasm, human reason, and hu- man learning, begins the part of his advocate.

Mr. Law, after quoting a few pages from the liturgy, says :

Now, if, in any of my writings, I have ever said any thing higher or farther of the Nature, and Necessity of Continual Divine Inspiration, than this church prayer does, I refuse no censure that shall be passed upon me. But if I have, from all that we know of GOD, of nature, and creature, shewn the utter impossibility of any kind or degree of good- ness to be in us, but from THE DIVINE NATURE living and breathing in us; if I have shewn, that all Scripture, CHRIST and his Apostles, over and over say the same thing;
 and that our church liturgy is daily praying according to it;
 what kinder thing can I say of those churchmen, who accuse me of proud rank enthusiasm, than that which CHRIST said of his blind crucifiers, " Father forgive them, for they know not what they do." " It is to no purpose to object " to all this, that these kingdoms are overrun with enthu- siasts of all kinds; and that MORAVIANS with their se- veral divisions, and METHODISTS of various kinds, are " every where acting in the wildest manner, under the pre- tence of being called and led by THE SPIRIT." Be it so, or not so, is a matter I meddle not with; nor is the doctrine I am upon, in the least affected by it. For what an argument would this be?—" Enthusiasts of the present and former ages,
 " have made a bad use of the doctrine of being led by THE " SPIRIT OF GOD; THEREFORE, he is enthusiastical, or
 " helps forward enthusiasm, who PREACHES UP the doctrine " of being led by THE SPIRIT OF GOD." Now absurd as this is, was any of my accusers as high in genius, as bulky in learning, as Colossus was in stature, he would be at a loss to bring a stronger argument than this, to prove me an enthusiast, or an abettor of them." "But as I do not begin to doubt about the necessity, the truth and perfection of GOSPEL RELIGION, when told, that whole nations and churches have, under a pretence of regard to it, and for the sake of it, done all the bad things that can be charged upon this or that leading enthusiast, whether you call those bad things schism, perjury, rebellion, worldly craft, and hypocrisy; &c. to I give not up the necessity, the truth and perfection, of looking wholly to THE SPIRIT OF GOD AND CHRIST within me, as my promised inspirer, and only worker, of ALL that can be good in me; I give not this up, because in this, or that age, both spiritual pride and fleshly lusts have prospered by it; or because Satan has often led people into all the heights of self-glory, and self-seeking, under a pretence of being inspired with GOSPEL HUMILITY and GOSPEL SELF-DENIAL."

From this reasoning of Mr. Law, His Lordship makes a singular acknowledgement of feeling a very sensible conviction; but then His Lordship has one exception that will prove an effectual antidote to its poison—"This is plainly unanswerable," says His Lordship; "UNLESS you read, as his accuser wrote it, for—who PREACHES UP the doctrine—who ABUSES the doctrine, p. 301." Who this accuser is, we are not informed: but if it be the excepter himself, who not only preaches but writes against the Gospel-doctrine of being led by THE SPIRIT OF GOD, he has just as much right to accuse Mr. Law of abusing that doctrine, as the Pretender would have to accuse a faithful subject to King George, of abusing the authority of his Sovereign, whose right of government he himself denies and opposes. But in the new edition of His Lordship's book, this exception, it seems, is annihilated; and the accuser, who seems not to know what he had written, and who, we were before told, had written "abuses the doctrine," we are now told had written "who abusively preaches up the doctrine:" the fact, therefore, of "PREACHING UP the doctrine," which was before wholly denied, is since allowed to exist, and

and it is only the mode of its existence, against which the force of the exception is levelled; so that what was once looked upon as the empaling stake of Mr. Law's argument, now stands in this harmless form—"this is plainly unanswerable; unless" you read, as his accuser wrote it, for — who "PREACHES UP the doctrine--who ABUSIVELY preaches "up the doctrine:" that is, if this new edition of the accuser's writing has any meaning, "who preaches "up the doctrine of being led by THE SPIRIT OF "GOD, and with a becoming vivacity exposes the "ignorance, and with a just abhorrence reproveth "the impiety of those, that write and preach against "it." What then has His Lordship been so unworthily labouring after all this time? And how will he be able, with any kind of spirit, to keep up the cry of enthusiasm that he had been raising against Mr. Law, when the argument Mr. Law has produced to prove himself no enthusiast, is acknowledged by His Lordship to be unanswerable; and the only exception which His Lordship once had against it, is now so changed, as to be fit to stand among those algebraic quantities that are some degrees less than nothing? It is, indeed, unfortunate for His Lordship, that Mr. Law has defended himself on this article of enthusiasm, but in one place: on human reason, and human learning, he has often spoken; and tho' with the same conviction that he has here spoken of enthusiasm, yet, leaving His Lordship a more ample field to range in, he consequently left him more at liberty to manufacture such a defence as would be most likely to increase the force of the accusation. I shall, therefore, beg leave to take these two articles out of His Lordship's hands.

"RASH DIVINES," His Lordship says, "will be apt, from the new-spun thread of Mr. Law's reasonings, to charge him with a more than

“ Vandalic rage against HUMAN LEARNING :” and, accordingly, His Lordship represents him, with respect to all he has said on this subject, “ reduced “ to such distres, as to be willing to take shelter, “ if he knew how, even in the graceless company of “ men of taste ; who, like him, to hide their own “ ignorance, are always scoffing at the pedantry of “ literal learning and verbal criticism, with the “ same good sense, that an artificer would abuse “ the tools of his trade which he knows not how to “ work with. p. 304.” It is not the pedantry of scholars, tho’ so fit a subject for the ridicule of men of taste, but their self-assuming spirit that Mr. Law condemns ; “ their arrogant claim to “ Divine knowledge, and the keys of the kingdom of “ Heaven, because they can learnedly dispute about “ words and facts, and are acquainted with every “ thing of scripture but the spirit and the truth.” Mr. Law has said nothing of the inability of human reason and human learning, to do that for the soul which must be done before it can enter into life, without demonstrating that inability, upon principles, which His Lordship has not yet attempted, nor ever will attempt to subvert : and nothing but the confidence, that this charge of IGNORANCE was addressed to those who had no other knowledge of Mr. Law but what they had received from His Lordship, and that it would be sufficient to preclude examination, could have encouraged His Lordship to venture upon bringing it. The works of His Lordship, and the works of Mr. Law, however, especially those that contain the subjects of dispute between them, must remain, to all that will judge for themselves, a proof which sophistry cannot disguise nor calumny weaken, who is, not only the finest writer, the best scholar, and the most powerful reasoner, but the GREATEST DIVINE. If Mr. Law had known nothing of more importance in this state of awful preparation for eternity, than asserting his claim to a place in the retinue of human learning, His Lordship would not have filled the more honourable station : but he had trod the mazes of learning, till he found that they led to darkness and death ; and that the philosophy of a BACON, the metaphysics of a LOCKE, and the criticism of a WARBURTON, could no more impart DIVINE TRUTH, DIVINE HOLINESS, and DIVINE LOVE to his soul, than they could add one cubit to his stature, or raise a dead man to life. I shall, therefore, take no notice of His Lordship's very witty quibble on human literature, and literal learning : words may be His Lordship's province ; but it is not words that Mr. Law writes about, nor is it words that we are now inquiring after. Neither shall I attempt to decide, whether Mr. Law “ thought there were two kinds of logic, a popish “ and a protestant,” or but one held by both parties in common, and abused by both ; unless His Lordship could prove, that “ bad syllogisms for tran- “ substantiation, and better syllogisms against it, “ had more power of casting Satan out of our souls, “ than a bad or better taste for painting.” The only question is, whether Mr. Law, tho' continually denying HUMAN LEARNING the powers that it has not, has ever acknowledged it to be possessed of the powers that it has. And thus he answers for himself, in a passage which His Lordship must have often seen.

“ I am no more an enemy to LEARNING, than I am to that art which builds mills to grind our corn, and houses for our selves to dwell in ; I esteem the liberal arts and sciences, as the noblest of human things ; I desire no man to renounce his skill in antient or modern languages, his knowledge of medals, pictures, history, geography, or chronology ; I have no more dislike of these things in themselves, than of the art of throwing silk or making lace : but then, all these things are to stand in their proper places, and every one to be kept within its own sphere. Now all this circle of science and arts, whether liberal or mechanic, belongs solely to the natural man; they are the work of his natural powers and faculties; and the most wicked, sensual, unjust person, who regards neither GOD nor man, may yet be one of the ablest proficients in any or all of them. But CHRISTIAN REDEMPTION is quite of another nature; it has no affinity to any of these arts or sciences; it belongs not to the outward natural man; but is purely for the sake of an inward heavenly nature, that was put to death in Paradise, and buried under the flesh and blood of the earthly natural man: it breathes a spirit of life into this inward hidden or lost man, by which it feels and finds itself, and rises up in new awakened desires after its lost father and native country. This is CHRISTIAN REDEMPTION: on the one side, it is the heavenly divine life offering itself again to the inward man that had lost it; on the other side, it is the hope, the faith, and desire of this inward man, hungering and thirsting, stretching after and calling upon, this divine and heavenly life. Now, whether this awakened new man breathes forth his faith and hope towards this divine life, in Hebrew, Greek, or English sounds, or in no one of them, can be of no significance; a man that can do it only in one or in all these languages, is neither farther from nor nearer to this redeeming life of GOD. Can you think that the heavenly life must more willingly enter into and open itself in a man that has many languages, than in him who knows only one; or that a man who can make High Dutch, Welsh, or Greek grammars, must have a stronger faith, a more lively hope, and a more continual thirst after GOD, than he who can but poorly spell in his mother tongue? But now if this is too absurd to be supposed, then, without the least injury done, or the least civility shewn, to LEARNING, SCIENCE, REASON, and CRITICISM, you must place them just where I have done, amongst the things and ornaments of this earthly life; and such things, as, in their own nature, are as easy to be had, and as highly enjoyed, by men that despise all goodness, as by those who fear GOD, and eschew evil. And, therefore, no truths concerning the divine and heavenly life are to be brought to trial before this learned bar, where both jury and judges are born and bred, live, and move, and have their being, in another world, which have no more power of feeling the Divine life, than an eagle's eye can look into the kingdom of GOD. If you, who have read many old Greek and Latin books, should intend to publish Homer's Iliad,

Iliad, or Cæsar's Commentaries, with critical notes, I should have nothing to object to your ability; you may be as well qualified for such a work, as one man is to make baskets, or another traps to catch flies: but if, because of this skill in old Greek and Latin, you should seem to yourself, or others, to be well qualified to write notes upon the spirit and meaning of the words of CHRIST, I should tell you, that your undertaking was unnatural, and as impossible to be free from error, as when a blind man undertakes to set forth the beauty of different colours; for the doctrines of REDEMPTION belong no more to the natural man, than the beauty of colours to him who never saw the light: and from this unnatural procedure it is, that The Scriptures are as useful to the Socinian as the Arian, the Papiſt as the Proteſtant; and they can as eaſily, by the light of reaſon, charge one another with abſurdities, and confute each other's opinion, as two blind men can quarrel about and rejeſt each other's notions of red and green. JESUS CHRIST is the light of that heavenly man that died in Paradise; and, therefore, nothing in man, but that awakened life that died in Paradise, can have the leaſt ſenſibility of or capacity for receiving the redeming power of JESUS CHRIST: but light and life have no dependence upon words and phraſes; they both can only proceed from a birth, whether it be the light and life of GOD, or the light and life of this world. How abſurd would it be to ſuppoſe, that a man, naturally blind, muſt be taught grammar or logic, to fit him for the reception of the light of the ſun and the knowledge of colours! yet not leſs abſurd than to think, that ſkill in Hebrew and Greek words can open THE LIGHT OF GOD AND HEAVEN in the Soul."

The perſon to whom this is addreſſed, makes the following reply:

"Standing upon the ground that you ſtand upon, all that you have ſaid of reaſon, ſcience, hiſtorical knowledge, or critical ſkill in words, is unanſwerable: for what can all theſe things avail, if REDEMPTION is purely a birth of The DIVINE NATURE, LIGHT, AND SPIRIT of GOD, offered to fallen man; which birth can only be received by the faith, hope, and deſire, of that inward man which is Divine in us; for nothing elſe can have any hunger or thiſt after the Divine nature, but that which is itſelf born of it. This true ground of The CHRISTIAN REDEMPTION gives the greateſt glory to GOD, and comfort to man: it explains the fact, why plain and simple souls, having their inward man kindled into love, hope, and faith in GOD, are capable of the highest Divine illumination; whilst learned students, full of art and science, can live and die without the least true knowledge of GOD and CHRIST, and slaves to all the lusts of the flesh. For thus This Redemption belongs only to one sort of people, and yet is common to all: it is equally near, and equally open to every son of man: there is no difference between learned and unlearned, between Jew or Greek, male or female, scythian or barbarian, bond or free; but The SAME LORD is GOD over all, and equally nigh to all that call upon Him. It is told us, as the glory of the Divine goodness, that it giveth fodder to the cattle, and feedeth the young ravens that cry unto it. What cattle? surely, not only to the cattle of Jacob, or only to the young ravens that cry in the land of Judah: yet this would be much more consistent with The Goodness of The ONE UNIVERSAL GOD, than to hold, that only the sons of Jacob, or the children of the circumcision, were in the covenant of GOD'S REDEMPTION."

"But now, though this one ground of REDEMPTION stands in the highest degree of plainness from Scripture, and is absolutely certain from the very nature of the thing; yet, till I met with Rufficus, I never conversed with any man, or read any book, that gave the least hint of it. When I had taken my degrees, I consulted several great divines to put me in a method of studying divinity. Had I said to them, Sirs, what must I do to be saved? they would have prescribed bellebore to me, or directed me to the physician, as a vapoured enthusiast: and yet I am now fully satisfied, that this one question ought to be the sole inquiry of him, who desires to be a true divine; and was our SAVIOUR Himself upon earth, who surely could do more for me than all the libraries in the world, yet I need have asked no more divinity knowledge of Him, than is contained in this one question. It would take up near half a day, to tell you the work which my learned friends have cut out for me. One told me that Hebrew words are all; that they must be read without points; and then The Old Testament is an opened book: he recommended to me a cart-load of lexicons, critics, and commentators, upon the Hebrew Bible. Another tells me, the Greek Bible is the best; that it corrects the Hebrew in many places; and refers me to a large number of books learnedly written in defence of it. Another ther tells me, that church history is the main matter: that I must begin with the first fathers, and follow them through every age of the church; not forgetting to take the lives of the Roman emperors along with me, as striking great light into the state of the church in their times: then I must have recourse to all the councils held, and the canons made in every age, which would enable me to see, with my own eyes, the great corruptions of The Council of Trent. Another who is not very fond of ancient matters, but wholly bent upon rational christianity, tells me, I need go no higher than the reformation; that Calvin and Cranmer were very great men; that Chillingworth and Locke ought always to lie upon my table; that I must get an entire set of those learned volumes, written against popery in King James's reign; and also be well versed in all the discourses, which Mr. Boyle's and Lady Moyer's lectures have produced; and then, says he, you will be a match for our greatest enemies, the Papistish priests and modern deists. My tutor is very liturgical: he desires me, of all things, to get all the collections that I can of the ancient liturgies, and all the authours that treat of such matters, who, he says, are very learned and very numcrous. He has been many years making observations upon them; and is now clear, as to the time when certain little particles got entrance into the liturgies, and others were by degrees dropt: he has a friend abroad, in search of ancient manuscript liturgies; for, by the bye, said he at parting, I have some suspicion that our Sacrament of The LORD's supper is essentially defective, for want of having a little water in the wine. Another learned friend tells me, that the Clementine Constitutions is the book of books; and that all that lies loose and scattered in the New Testament, stands there in its true order and form: and though he won't say, that Dr. Clarke and Mr. Whiston are in the right; yet, it might be useful to me, to read all the Arian and Socinian writers, provided I stood upon my guard, and did it with caution. The last person I consulted, advised me to get all the histories of the rise and progress of heresies, and of the lives and characters of heretics: these histories, he said, contract the matter, bring truth and error close in view; and I should find all that collected in a few pages, which would have cost me some years to have got together. He also desired me, to be well versed in all the casuistical writers and chief schoolmen; for they debate matters to the bottom, disssect every virtue and every vice into its many degrees and parts, and shew how near they can come to one another without touching: and this knowledge, he said, might be useful to me, when I came to be a Parish Priest. Following the advice of all these counsellors, as well as I could, I lighted my candle early in the morning, and put it out late at night. In this labour I had been sweating for some years, till Rusticus, at my first acquaintance with him, seeing my way of life, said to me, Had you lived seventeen hundred years ago, you had stood just in the same place as I stand now: I cannot read; and, therefore, all these hundreds of thousands of disputing books, and doctrine books, which these seventeen hundred years have produced, stand not in my way; they are the same thing to me, as if they had never been: and had you lived at the time mentioned, you had just escaped them all as I do now; because, though you are a very good reader, there was then none of them to read. Could you, therefore, be content, to be one of the primitive christians, who were as good as any that have been since, you may spare all this labour: take only The Gospel into your hands; deny yourself; renounce the lusts of the flesh; set your affections on things above; call upon GOD, for HIS HOLY SPIRIT; walk by faith, and not by sight; adore THE HOLY DEITY of FATHER SON AND HOLY GHOST in whose image and likeness you was at first created, and in whose name and power you have been baptized, to be again the living likeness and holy habitation of His LIFE and LIGHT and HOLY SPIRIT: look up to CHRIST as your Redeemer, your Regenerator, your Second Adam; look to Him, as truly He is, THE WISDOM AND POWER OF GOD, sitting at His Right Hand in Heaven, giving forth gifts unto men, governing, sanctifying, teaching, and enlightening, with HIS HOLY SPIRIT, all those that are spiritually minded, who live in faith, and hope, and prayer, to be redeemed from the nature and power of this evil world: follow but this simple plain spirit of The Gospel, loving GOD with all your heart, and your neighbour as yourself, and then you are CHRIST's disciple, and have His authority to let the dead bury their dead. GOD is A SPIRIT, in Whom you live, and move, and have your being; and He stays not till you are a great scholar, but till you turn from evil, and love goodness, to manifest His Holy Presence, Power, and Life within you. It is THE LOVE OF GOODNESS that must do all for you: this is the art of arts: and when this is the ruling spirit of your heart, then FATHER

SON and HOLY GHOST will come unto you, and make their abode with you, and LEAD YOU INTO ALL TRUTH, though you knew no more of books than I do. It is not easy for me to tell you, how much good I received from this simple instruction of Master Rusticus; for master I may well call him, since, in so few words, he taught me a better lesson of wisdom than ever I had heard before. What a project was it, to be grasping after the knowledge of all the opinions, doctrines, disputes, heresies, schisms, councils, canons, alterations, additions, inventions, corruptions, reformati- ons, sects and churches, which seventeen hundred years had brought forth through all the extent of the christian world! what a project this, in order to be a Divine; that is, in order to bear true witness to THE POWER OF CHRIST, as a deliverer from the evil of flesh and blood, and hell, and death, and a raiser of a new birth and life from ABOVE: for as this is the divine work of CHRIST, so he is only a true and able divine, that can bear a faithful testimony to this divine work of CHRIST in himself! How easy was it for me to have seen, with Rusticus, that all this learned inquiry into such a dark thorny wilderness of notions, facts, and opinions, could signify no more to me now, to my own salvation, to my interest in CHRIST, and obtaining THE HOLY SPIRIT OF GOD, than if I had lived before it had any beginning: but THE BLIND APPETITE OF LEARNING gave me no leisure to apprehend so plain a truth." WAY TO DIVINE KNOWLEDGE.

In another place, Mr. Law says: "HUMAN LEARNING is by no means to be rejected from Religion; for it is of the same good use, and affords the same assistance to Religion, that the alphabet, writing, and printing do. But if it is raised from this kind and degree of assistance; if it is considered as the key to THE MYSTERIES OF OUR REDEMPTION IN JESUS CHRIST, instead of opening to us The Kingdom of GOD, it locks us up in our own darkness." ANSWER TO TRAPP.

"RASH DIVINES also charge Mr. Law with a brutal spite to REASON:" and against this charge he has also defended himself, in a passage quoted in that book, from which His Lordship has taken only a few lines, that appear to be the whole of what Mr. Law has said upon the subject: A feeble adversary, who dreads nothing so much as the disgrace of a defeat, is always careful not to be the raiser of an opposition which he cannot subdue.

“ You shall see REASON possessed of all that belongs to it. I will grant it to have as great a share in the good things of RELIGION, as in the good things of this life; that it can assist the soul, just as it can assist the body; that it has the same power and virtue in the spiritual, that it has in the natural world; that it can communicate to us as much of the one, as of the other; and is of the same use and importance in the one, as in the other.”

“ Man, considered as a member of this world, who is to have his share of the good that is in it, is a sensible and a rational creature: that is, he has a certain number of senses, as seeing, hearing, tasting, touching and smelling, by which he is sensible of that, which the outward world, in which he is placed, can do for him, or communicate to him, and so is sensible of what kind and degree of happiness he can have from it; and besides these organs of sense, he has a power or faculty of reasoning upon the ideas, which he has received from the senses.”

“ Now how is it, that the good things of this world are communicated to man? how is he put in possession of them? to what part of him are they proposed? Are his senses, or his reason, the means of his having so much as he has, or can have from this world? Now here, you must degrade REASON, just as much as it is degraded by RELIGION; and are obliged to set it as low with respect to the things of this world, as it is set with respect to the things of the spiritual world: it is no more the means of communicating the good things of the one, than of the other. And as St. Paul says, the Natural Man cannot receive the Things of The SPIRIT OF GOD, for this reason, because they are Spiritually discerned; so you must of necessity say, the Rational Man cannot receive the things of this world, for this reason, because they are sensibly received, that is, by the organs of sense. REASON, therefore, has no higher office or power in the things of this world, than in the things of RELIGION; and RELIGION does no more violence to your Reason, or rejects it any other way than all the good things of this world reject it: it is not seeing, it is not hearing, tasting, or feeling the things of this life; it can supply the place of no one of these senses. Now it is only thus helpless and useless in RELIGION; it is neither seeing, nor hearing, tasting, nor feeling of spiritual Things: therefore, in the things of RE-

LIGION,

RELIGION, and in the things of this world, it has one and the same insignificancy. It is the Sensibility of the soul, that must receive what this world can communicate; it is the Sensibility of the soul, that must receive what GOD can communicate: REASON may follow after in either case, and view, through its own glass, what is done, but it can do no more. REASON may be here of the same service to us, as when we want any of the enjoyments of this life: it may direct us how, and where they are to be had; it may take away a cover from our eyes, or open our window-shutters, when we want the light; but it can do no more towards seeing, than to make way for the light to act upon our eyes. This is all its office and ability in the things of religion: it may remove that, which hinders the sensibility of the soul, or prevents the DIVINE LIGHT's acting upon it, but it can do no more: because the faculty of reasoning, is only the activity of the mind upon its own ideas or images, which the senses have caused it to form from that, which has been stirred up in them; but has nothing of the nature of that which it speculates upon by ideas: it does not become dark, when it reasons upon the cause or nature of darkness; nor become light, when it reasons about it; neither is it RELIGION, nor gets any thing of the nature of RELIGION, when it is wholly taken up in descriptions and definitions of religious doctrines and virtues. For the good of RELIGION, is like the good of food and drink to the creature that wants it: and if, instead of giving such a one bread and wine, you should teach him to seek for relief, by attending to clear ideas of the nature of bread, and of different ways of making it, he would be left to die in the want of sustenance, just as the religion of REASONING leaves the soul to perish in the want of that good which it was to have from RELIGION. And yet as a man may have the benefit of food much assisted by the right use of his Reason, though Reason has not the good of food in it; so a man may have the benefit of RELIGION much assisted and secured, by the right use of his Reason, though Reason has not the good of RELIGION in it. And as it would be great folly and perverseness, to accuse a man as an enemy to the true use of reasoning about food, because he declares, that reason is not food, nor can supply the place of it; so is it equally so, to accuse a man, as an enemy to the use of reasoning in RELIGION, because he declares that reasoning is not RELIGION, nor can supply the place of it."

“ We

“ We have no want of RELIGION, but because we want to have more of the DIVINE NATURE in us, than we have in our fallen nature. But if this be the truth of the matter (and who can deny it) then we are sure, that nothing can be our good in RELIGION, but that which communicates to us something of GOD, or which alters our state of existence in GOD, and makes us partakers of the DIVINE NATURE in such a manner and degree as we wanted. What a folly then to put any trust in a religion of rational notions and opinions logically deduced from scripture words? Do we not see sinners of all sorts, and men under the power of every corrupt passion, equally zealous for such a religion? Proof enough, that it has not the good of RELIGION in it, nor any contrariety to the vices of the heart; it neither kills them, nor is killed by them. For as pride, hypocrisy, envy, or malice, do not take away from the mind its geometrical or critical abilities; so a man may be most logical in his religion of reason, words, doctrines, and opinions, when he has nothing of the true good of RELIGION in him. But as soon as it is known and confessed, that all the happiness, or misery, of all creatures, consists only in this, as they are more or less possessed of GOD, or as they differently partake of the DIVINE NATURE; then it must be equally known, that nothing but GOD, can do or be any religious good to us; and also that GOD cannot do or be any religious good to us, but by the communication of HIMSELF, or the manifestation of HIS OWN LIFE within us.”

Hence may be seen, the great and like blindness both of Infidels and Christians; the one in trusting to their own reason, dwelling in its own logical conclusions; the other in trusting to their own reason, dwelling in learned opinions about scripture words and phrases, and doctrines built upon them. For as soon as it is known and confessed, that GOD IS ALL IN ALL, that in Him we live and move and have our being; that we can have nothing separately, or out of Him, but every thing in Him; that we have no being, or degree of being, but in Him; that He can give us nothing as our good, but HIMSELF; nor any degree of salvation from our fallen nature, but in such degree as he again communicates something more of HIMSELF to us: as soon as this is known, then it is known, with the utmost evidence, that to put a religious trust in our own reason, whether confined to itself, or working in doctrines about scripture words, has the nature of that same idolatry, that puts a religious trust in the sun, sun, a departed saint, or a graven image. ADDRESS TO THE CLERGY."

To this passage, I must beg leave to add the following :

“ The deist, who looks for life and salvation from the use of his reason, acts contrary to the whole nature of every thing that he sees and knows of himself, and of the nature and state of this world. For, from one end of it to the other, all its material state, all its gross divided elements, declare, that they are what they are, because THE LIGHT AND LOVE OF HEAVEN is not working and manifest in them; and that nothing can take darkness, materiality, rage, storms, and tempests, from them, but that same HEAVENLY LIGHT AND LOVE which was made flesh, to redeem the fallen humanity first, and after that the whole material system.

Can the deist, with his reason, bring the light of this world into the eyes of his body? If not, how comes it to be less absurd, or more possible, for reason to bring HEAVENLY LIGHT into the soul? Can reason hinder the body from being heavy, or remove thickness and darkness from flesh and blood? Yet nothing less than SUCH A POWER, can possibly help the soul out of its fallen and earthly state: for the grossness of flesh and blood is the natural state of the fallen soul; and, therefore, nothing can purify the soul, or raise it out of its earthly corrupt state, but THAT which hath all power over all that is earthly and material in nature. To pretend, therefore, that reason may have sufficient power to remove all hellish depravity and earthly lusts from the soul, whilst it has not the least power over sweet, or sour, in any one particle of matter in the body; is as highly absurd, as if a man should pretend, that he has full power to alter the inward, invisible, vegetable life of a plant, but none at all over its outward state, colour, leaves, or fruit. The deist, therefore, and not the christian, stands in need of continual miracles to make good his doctrine: for reason can have no pretence to amend or alter the life of the soul, but so far as it can shew, that it has power to amend and alter the nature and state of the body. The unbelieving Jews said of our LORD, how can this man forgive sins? CHRIST shewed them how, by appealing to that power which they saw He had over the body: whether, says He, is it easier to say, Thy sins are forgiven thee; or to say, Arise, take up thy bed, and walk? But the delusion of the unbelieving deist is greater than that of the Jew. For the deist sees, that his reason has no power over his body; can remove no disease, bindness, deafness, or lameness, from it; and yet will pretend to have power enough from his reason, to help the soul out of all its evil; not knowing, that body and soul go hand in hand, and are nothing else but the inward and outward state of one and the same life; and that, therefore, HE ONLY, who can say to the dead body of Lazarus, “Come forth,” can say to the soul, “Be thou clean.” The deist, therefore, if he pleases, may stile himself a natural or a moral philosopher; but with no more truth, than he can call himself a healer of all the maladies of the body. And for a man to think himself a moral philosopher, because he has made a choice collection of syllogisms, in order to quicken and revive a DIVINE GOODNESS in the soul; or that no REDEEMER need come from heaven, because human reason, when left to itself, has great skill in chopping logic; may justly be deemed such an ignorance of the nature of things, as is seldom found in the transactions of illiterate and vulgar life.” SPIRIT OF LOVE. pt. 1.

His Lordship states the dispute between “RASH DIVINES” and Mr. Law on this subject, with his usual ingenuity. They charge Mr. Law with being “a declared enemy to the use of Reason in Religion;” and the sole ground that is produced for this charge is, that “in all his writings he has taught that Reason is to be denied. Mr. Law is just suffered to say, “that he has not only taught “that Reason is to be denied, but has proved the “absolute necessity of it;” and His Lordship, by asking this single question, “how any one can “become an enemy to another more declared, “than by denying that other,” decides the controversy at once in favour of “RASH DIVINES.” Mr. Law states this dispute in a different manner; and to shew that the truth or falsehood of this charge, which he himself had been taking notice of, was not to be determined by his having or not having taught that Reason is to be denied, but by his being or not being a declared enemy to the use of Reason in Religion, he says, “I own, I have

“ not only taught that Reason is to be denied, but “ have again and again proved the absolute neces“ sity of it :” and after demonstrating that Natural Reason is that Natural Self which CHRIST requires all men to deny, he considers the charge itself ; and, to shew the folly and falsehood of it, produces the passage above quoted, which had stood many years in his “ Demonstration of the gross errors of the “ plain Account of the Sacrament,” and in which REASON is acknowledged to have all the use and power in Religion of which it is capable.

But His Lordship will not allow, that CHRIST’S command to every man to deny himself, extends to REASON : for His Lordship “ has been taught,” but in what school we are not informed, “ that a “ man’s SELF has a TWOFOLD acceptance ; his “ Reason may be called himself, and so may his “ Passions. If, therefore, he be commanded to “ deny himself, His Lordship would conclude, it “ was not his BETTER SELF, his Reason, but his “ WORSE, his Passions, to which the divine com“ mand REFERS. p. 302.” The DIVINE COM-MAND, as His Lordship may see by consulting the New Testament, refers to every thing that man is and has in and from HIMSELF ; to the faculties, operations, connexions, endearments, desires, expectations, and pursuits, of his whole fallen nature.
 Now, if His Lordship can shew, that Reason is not the life, the spirit, and power, of this whole fallen nature of man, he must then shew, why The Command was not extended to brutes, from whom, it is not his Passions, but his Reason, that gives him his peculiar distinction. But if His Lordship cannot do this, for this plain reason, that man is called to deny himself, only because of that which Reason is and works in him ; then His Lordship must shew, how a creature, whose Reason is that peculiar distinc- tion from brutes upon which The Command of SELF-DENIAL is founded, can deny himself, without denying THAT which is peculiar to himself. If SELF had a TENFOLD acceptation, it is Self that CHRIST calls all men to deny; and he who denies Self but in NINE acceptations, will not have obeyed the call of his REDEEMER, till he has denied it also in the TENTH. His Lordship, as a volunteer "Attorney-general to Sovereign Human Reason, " p. 302," pleads this TWOFOLD acceptation of Self, to shew how much better Human Reason can argue than Mr. Law.

On this subject of Reason, in one particular view, there have been some arguments between His Lordship and Mr. Law before, which it may not be improper to introduce in this place.

Dr. WARBURTON says, "the divine image and likeness " must consist in something that is peculiar to man: that the " two things peculiar to man, are his shape, and his reason; " that it cannot be in his shape; therefore, it must be in his " reason." THE DIVINE IMAGE AND LIKENESS, cannot consist in something that is peculiar to man; it might as well consist in his shape, as in his faculty of making syllogisms: but, on the contrary, it must, in every part of it, consist in THAT, and only in that, which is and must be peculiar to GOD. Nor could man possibly be created in THE IMAGE AND LIKENESS OF GOD, unless something peculiar to GOD, and not possible to be appropriated to man, had come forth as the divine glory and perfection of his creaturely life. For the creaturely life, and all that is peculiar to it, is at the utmost distance from GOD; and can only have a likeness to that which is to be found in creatures: GOD dwelling in a SUPERNATURAL WAY in the creature, is the only possible image and likeness of GOD that can be in it. The fallen angels have every thing that was creaturely left in them; but they are horrible devils, because they have lost the SUPERNATURAL IMAGE AND LIKENESS OF GOD, which dwelt in them at their creation; they have still reason, craft and subtilty; but because they have nothing but that which is creaturely, or peculiar to the creature, they are all rage, torment, and misery. The Doctor, therefore, instead of appealing to two things in man, his shape and his reason, as his true distinction from beasts; should have said,
by

by the authority of Moses, that only one thing was peculiar to man, as his glorious distinction both from fallen angels and terrestrial animals, and that one thing is, his being created in The IMAGE AND LIKENESS OF GOD. As to his outward shape, when considered only as different from other animals, there is but little of a distinction in it; because they are as different in shape from one another, as man is from them all: but when his shape is considered, as it truly is, the natural effect and form of his heaven born spirit and life, then it is a glorious distinction from all the animal creation. For if man, at his creation, had had no higher a guest within him, than his reason; his shape would never have been better, than that of a fox or a serpent: for reason, when considered alone, and not under the government of a HIGHER PRINCIPLE, is that same selfish craft, subtlety, and cunning, that is visible in variety of beasts; and is often, and for the most part, as selfish as earthly an instrument of mischievous passions and lusts, in men, as it is in beasts: and, what is more, it must be so, till it comes under the government of That, which was The IMAGE AND LIKENESS OF GOD in the first creation of man.

What is the difference between reason in St. Paul, a Spinoza, a Hobbes, or a Bolingbroke? none at all; or no other than in their outward shape. Therefore, if reason be The DIVINE IMAGE AND LIKENESS OF GOD in man, a Spinoza a Hobbes and a Bolingbroke had as much of it as St. Paul: and a man that is all his life long reasoning himself into atheism, and the wisdom of living according to his own lusts, must be allowed to give daily continual proof, of his having The IMAGE AND LIKENESS OF GOD very powerfully manifested in him. The Doctor's great proof, that reason is The IMAGE AND LIKENESS OF GOD, is because Moses immediately adds, Let them rule over the fish of the sea, and over the fowls of heaven, and over the beasts of the earth: &c "for what," says, he, "could invest man with "this dominion de facto, as well as de jure, but his reason?" Our BLESSED LORD, at leaving the world, saith: These signs shall follow them that believe; in my name they shall cast out devils, they shall speak with new tongues, they shall take up serpents, and if they drink any deadly thing it shall not hurt them. Now let it here be asked, "what could invest the "believers in CHRIST with this dominion, de facto, as "well as de jure, but their reason?" Now both this question and the solution of it, is just as sound and theological, gical, as The Doctor's. For it was not any thing of their own, or within themselves, but only and solely THE NAME, that is, the strength and power of CHRIST, dwelling and operating in them, that invested them with this dominion over devils, serpents, diseases, and all outward hurtful or deadly things. Now that which gave this power and authority to the believers in CHRIST, was that very same, which gave to the first created perfect man, a power of ruling over all creatures of this world, and of living in full superiority and dominion over all that was, or could be, hurtful and deadly, in fire or water, heat or cold, or any elementary things. So that Adam, whilst standing in his first state of glory and power, had the same full reason to say of ALL that he was and did, that which St. Paul said, Yet not I, but CHRIST that liveth in me: and had not CHRIST, or THE WORD, been in man at his creation, THE WORD MADE FLESH had not been his redemption. How The Doctor came to think of any other power, as the ability of man to rule over the creatures, and all other outward things of this world, is very strange, since The Gospel has so plainly told him, that they only are the children of GOD, who are led by The SPIRIT OF GOD: if, therefore, the first man, created in THE IMAGE AND LIKENESS OF GOD, may be supposed, by his creation, to have been a child of GOD; then, as The Gospel is true, so sure is it, that he had the SPIRIT OF GOD living and working in him: and that, surely, may be allowed to have been his true and his only qualification, to have, and exercise, a dominion over the rest of the creation, that had only the spirit of this world in them. But, if we suppose him to have this power and right of dominion, only because of his faculty of reasoning; it would only be like that, which crafty tyrants get over their fellow creatures, or skilful hunters over wolves and foxes.

The Doctor, to find out that IMAGE AND LIKENESS OF GOD in man, of which Moses writes, looks into the constitution of that two legged animal, who is the disputer of this world: as well done, and as likely to succeed, as if, to find out that PARADISE of which Moses writes, he should search for it in the hundreds of Essex, or in the wald of Kent. For Moses, to prevent the folly of looking for THE DIVINE IMAGE AND LIKENESS in any thing that is natural to the present state of man, has given us the most undeniable assurance, that this first man, created in THE IMAGE AND LIKENESS OF GOD, died the very day that he did eat of the

the forbidden tree; and that nothing of this DIVINE MAN remained, but terrors within, and such an outward bestial figure of himself as filled him with shame and confusion at the sight of it. And a greater than Moses has also told us, that man, in his present natural state, is so certainly dead to that first Divine glory which he had at his creation, that he has no possibility of entering into The Kingdom of GOD, till he is born again from ABOVE of THE WORD AND SPIRIT OF GOD—proof enough, surely, that man has lost the state of his first birth; and also that the birth which he lost, was that Spirit and Life from ABOVE, which he must and only can have by being born again, in and by THE POWER OF CHRIST. This might have sufficiently shewn The Learned Doctor, that he who will find out in what The IMAGE AND LIKENESS OF GOD IN MAN consisted, must of all necessity, as The Apostle saith, walk by FAITH, and not by sight.”

“ To live by FAITH, always was and always will be living in The Kingdom of GOD; and to live by REASON, always was and always will be living as a heathen, under the power of the kingdom of this world. REASONING instead of FAITH, brought about the first fall, and dreadful change in the human nature; no less than a real death to GOD and The Kingdom of Heaven: and nothing but FAITH instead of REASONING, can give any one fallen man power to become again a son of GOD. To the end of the world, this will be the unalterable difference between FAITH IN GOD, and REASONING about the things of GOD: they can never change their place, nature, or effects; that which they were and did to the first man, that they will be and do to the last: FAITH IN GOD, is nothing else but a full adhering to GOD: and, therefore, it is one with GOD, and GOD with IT; and ALL that is holy, divine, and good, may well be found in it. REASONING is nothing else but a full adhering to ourselves; and, therefore, ALL that is selfish, perverse, corrupt, and serpentine, in fallen man, must be kept up and nourished by it. It matters not, in what age, or under what dispensation of GOD we live; the necessity, the nature, and power of FAITH, is always the same: that simple, illiterate, unreasoning FAITH, that helped Abraham to righteousness, life, and union with GOD, is the ONE FAITH that alone can be justification, life, and salvation, to christians; or, which is the same thing, can alone be “ CHRIST in us the hope of glory:” for FAITH is nothing else, but so much of The Nature and Spirit of CHRIST born and living in us. I came, says CHRIST, not to do my own will, but the will of Him that sent me: my meat and drink, is to do the will of Him that sent me. This is the whole nature and perfection of FAITH: and as no one, but CHRIST, had power to say this of himself; so no one can have or live in this FAITH, but because The DIVINE NATURE OF CHRIST is truly born and formed in him, and is become the life of his life, and The Spirit of his spirit. Again: it matters not how much the revelations and precepts of GOD are increased, since the first single command given to Adam; for no more is offered to OUR REASONING FACULTY by the Whole Bible, than by that single precept: and the benefit of the Whole Bible is lost to us, as soon as we REASON about the nature and necessity of its commands; just as the benefit of that first precept was lost in the same way. Hath GOD, indeed, said, ye shall not eat of every tree in the garden? This was the first essay or beginning of REASONING with GOD: what it was and did then, that it will always be and do; its nature and fruits will never be better, or any other, to the end of the world. And though, in these last ages, it hath passed through all schools of quibbling, and is arrived at its utmost height of art, subtlety, and precision of argument; yet, as to DIVINE MATTERS, it stands just where it stood, when it first learnt that logic from the serpent, which improved the understanding of Eve: and, at this day, it can see no deeper into THE THINGS OF GOD, can be no wiser, give no better judgment about them, than that conclusion it at first made, that “DEATH could not be in the tree, which was so good for food, so pleasant to behold, and so desirable to make one wise.” In short, these two, FAITH and REASONING, have, and always will, divide all mankind, from the beginning to the end of the world, into two sorts of men, fully distinct from each other. The FAITHFUL, through every age, are of the seed of the woman, the children of GOD, and sure heirs of His Redemption through JESUS CHRIST: the REASONERS are of the seed of the serpent, they are the heathens through every age, and real heirs of that confusion which happened to the builders of the tower of Babel. To live by FAITH, is to be truly and fully in covenant with GOD; to live by REASONING, is to be merely and solely in compact with ourselves, with our own vanity and blindness. To live by FAITH, is to live with GOD, in the spirit and power of prayer, in self denial, in contempt of the world, in divine love, in heavenly foretastes of the world to come, in humility, patience, long suffering, obedience, resignation, absolute trust in and dependence upon GOD, with ALL that is temporal and earthly under our feet: to live by REASONING, is to be a prey to the old serpent, eating dust with him, groveling in the mire of all earthly passions, “ devoured with pride, embittered with “ envy, tools and dupes to ourselves, tossed up with false “ hopes, cast down with vain fears, slaves to all the good “ and evil things of this world, to-day elated with “ learned praise, to-morrow dejected at the unlucky loss of “ it; yet jogging on year after year, defining words and “ ideas, dissecting doctrines and opinions, setting all ar“ guments and all objections upon their best legs, sifting and “ refining all notions, conjectures, and criticisms, till “ DEATH puts the same full end to all the wonders of the “ ideal fabric, that the cleansing broom does to the wonders “ of the spider’s web, so artfully spun at the expence of its

 A LIFE OF FAITH, and A LIFE OF REASONING, in THE THINGS OF GOD. The former is from GOD, works with God; and, therefore, it saveth, it maketh whole, and all things are possible to it: the latter is from the serpent, works with the serpent; and, therefore, vain opinions, false judgments, errors, and delusions, are inseparable from it and can only belong to it. Every scholar, every disputer of this world, nay every man, has been where Eve was, and has done what she did, when she sought for WISDOM, that did not come from GOD: all libraries of the world, are a full proof of the remaining power of the first sinful thirst after it; they are full of a knowledge that comes not from GOD; and, therefore, proceeds from that first fountain of subtlety that opened her eyes. For as there cannot possibly be any goodness in man, but so far as The DIVINE GOODNESS is living and working good in him; so there cannot be any DIVINE TRUTH or KNOWLEDGE in man, but so far as GOD’S TRUTH AND KNOWLEDGE is opened, living, and working in him; because GOD ALONE, is ALL TRUTH, and THE KNOWLEDGE of it.” CONFUTATION OF THE DIVINE LEGATION. p. 103—109; p 63—68.

We have seen, that His Lordship has been all along combating an enemy of his own construction; and having taken care not to make it too formidable to be subdued, he thus collects all his strength, to close the scene of his ideal victory :

But to draw towards an end with this FURIOUS BEHEMENIST—In all this ribaldry, the ONLY CHANCE he has of misleading illiterate and weak mortals, is by the repeated insinuations, that all religious dissensions are owing to these mischief-makers, Reason and Human Learning; and that, in their absence, there is A PERFECT ACCORD IN RELIGION. But this is the fiction of Bards and Enthusiasts; who never saw, but in poetic, or extatic vision, that time, when

“ And all the western world BELIEVE and sleep.”

Before mortals either writ or read, the quarrels of Dunces were as fierce as those of Wits. In Religion, the dissensions amongst the irrational were as implacable, as those amongst the rational sects. And if, in these miserable conflicts, the wounds of the latter went deeper, it was because their force was greater and their weapons better. Doct. of Grace, p. 305, 6.

Those that know no more of Mr. Law's writings than may be known from the extracts in this letter, are already informed, that the sole design of them is to prove, that there neither is nor can be any TRUE RELIGION, but what is produced by the continual essential operation of THE SPIRIT OF GOD. Wherever, therefore, this Divine Operation is, there there will always be such an “ accord in religion,” as is founded in PEACE, HOLINESS, and CHARITY. But wherever it is not, and it is every where but where it is forsaken, denied, or resisted, there perpetual dissension and outrage must reign, as well among dunces, as among wits: and the most accomplished champion of wit and learning, can say nothing higher for his own cause in preference to the blockhead and the fool, than that he can wound the heart of man deeper, because his spirit is more active and his weapons more keen, partaking more of the subtilty and malignity of infernal spirits in their “ vain endless disputings” with each other.

His

His Lordship somewhere illustrates an observation of Cicero, that the eye, which “ sees others, “ sees not itself”: but few instances could have been more happily adapted to the illustration, than the insensibility of a mind, that, after it has laboured two or three years in deforming the writings of another, can name its monstrous production ribaldry, and at the same time give the highest instance of ribaldry of itself. If Tavernier’s story [Doct. of Grace. p. 306.] had been applied even to what the HAPLESS AUTHOUR of the Divine Legation has been all his life picking up from heathen bards and sophists, I appeal to all that are acquainted with that authour’s uniform manner of complimenting all his opponents, whether, notwithstanding the meekness of his spirit, he would not have treated the application as a symptom of habitual impurity; and been ready to suggest, that the food of the Eastern fanatics could not suffer a much worse change, than his own writings had suffered in passing thro’ such a mind. “ Buffoonry is always practised, to “ deprive Truth of the only thing she wants to come “ off victorious, a fair bearing! Pref. to the Doct. of “ Grace, p. xi.”

As a proof of the resemblance that has been before suggested, Dr. Trapp urges much the same formidable objection to Mr. Law’s studies, that His Lordship does; tho’ not polluted with the impurity of so foul an image. To this, as having its foundation only in ignorance, Mr. Law thus replies; and the application of what he says to His Lordship, I leave to the reader.

Had The Doctor been more conversant in the writings of a set of men, called MYSTICAL DIVINES, than he appears to have been, he had been better able to charge me with humble plagiary than he is at present; and might have done more service to what he calls the noble science of theology, than by all that light which he has got from his poets, who, as he acknowledges, have somewhat of wantonness in them. But I apprehend prehend The Doctor to be as great a stranger to the writers of this kind, with which every age of the church has been blessed, and to know no more of the divine Rufbrochius, Thaulerus, Suso, Harphius, Johannes de Cruce, Fenelon, Guion, and M. Beiror, than he does of JACOB BEHMEN: for had he known any thing of them, he had known that I am as chargeable with the sentiments of all of them, as with those of BEHMEN. For tho' I never wrote upon any subject, till I could call it my own; till I was so fully possessed of the truth of it, that I could sufficiently prove it in my own way without borrowed arguments; yet, doctrines of religion I have none, but what The SCRIPTURES, and the first rate saints of the church, are my vouchers for. Writers, like those I have mentioned, there have been in all ages of the church: but as they served not the ends of popular learning, as they helped no people to figure and preferment in the world, and were usefess to scholastic controversial writers, so they dropt out of public use; and were only known, or rather unknown, under the name of MYSTICAL WRITERS, till at last some people have hardly heard of that very name. Tho' if a man was to be told what is meant by a MYSTICAL DIVINE, he must be told of something as heavenly, as great, as desirable, as if he was told what is meant, by a real, regenerate, living member of The MYSTICAL BODY OF CHRIST: and they were thus called, for no other reason, than as Moses, and The Prophets, and The Saints of the Old Testament, may be called The Spiritual Israel, or the true Mystical Jews. These writers began their office of teaching, as John the Baptist did, after they had passed through every kind of mortification and self-denial, every kind of trial and purification, both inward and outward. They were deeply learned in all the mysteries of the kingdom of GOD—not thro' the use of lexicons, or meditating upon critics; but because THEY HAD PASSED FROM DEATH TO LIFE. They highly reverence, and excellently direct, the true use of every thing that is outward in religion; but, like the psalmist's king's daughter, they are all glorious within: they are truly sons of thunder, and sons of consolation: they break open the whited sepulchres; they awaken the heart, and shew it its filth and rottenness of death; but they leave it not, till The Kingdom of Heaven is raised up within it. If a man have no desire, but to be of The Spirit of The Gospel; to obtain all that renovation of LIFE AND SPIRIT, which alone can make him to be in CHRIST a new creature ; it is a great unhappiness to him, to be unacquainted with these writers, or to pass a day without reading something of what they have written. For tho' THE SCRIPTURES are an inexhaustible source of spiritual instruction, leading the heart to the deepest knowledge of all the mysteries of the inward new life in GOD, with the greatest plainness and openness of expression ; yet a worldly spirit, the schools, criticism, and controversy, have so dried and deadened every thing into an outward letter and figurative expression, that much of their use is lost, till These Holy Writers, who interpret them by THE SAME SPIRIT which wrote them, guide us to the true use and understanding of them : for, in These Writers, THE SPIRIT OF GOD speaks a second time ; and every thing that can awaken, convert, and instruct the heart, and inflame it with THE LOVE OF GOD, and all HOLINESS AND PURITY OF LIFE, is to be found in the most irresistible degree of conviction. Do I then call all the world to These Spiritual Books ? No, by no means. But I call all those, whom our SAVIOUR called to Himself in these words : Come unto me, ALL YE THAT LABOUR AND ARE HEAVY LADEN, and I will refresh you."

ANIMADVERSIONS ON DR. TRAPP'S REPLY.

It must have been observed, that wherever Mr. Law mentions His Lordship's writings, it is to refute some groundless notion, which he thought dangerous to the souls of men, by leading them from the truth and power of GOSPEL CHRISTIANITY ; and he has endeavoured to do this, by arguments drawn from the plain principles of nature, and the written word of GOD. His Lordship, on the contrary, throughout his book of The Doctrine of Grace, has not advanced a single argument in opposition to Mr. Law's principles ; but has left all that is attempted against him, to be effected by sophistical conclusions drawn from a misrepresentation of his character and writings, and the levity of false wit. But whence this extraordinary effort ? Must we be compelled to believe, that the objections and arguments of Mr. Law against The Divine Legation of Moses, were left wholly to the consideration of " a learned friend," as part of his " allotted dirty " drudgery" ;

“ drudgery”; and that the authour of that book; would, at the same time, without any motive but the pure love of truth, engage in a drudgery of a much more disgraceful kind, the distortion of other pieces of Mr. Law, in which he was not so deeply interested? Can it possibly be supposed, that Mr. Law’s Appeal, his Address to the clergy, and his Collection of Letters, should, for any purpose, be industriously searched and mutilated, and not a single page of his CONFUTATION OF THE DIVINE LEGATION OF MOSES be read? And yet the authour of the D. L. says, “ it would be conceiving miserably of him, “ to think he was even ever disposed to look into “ that work himself. Pref. to D. L. V. 2. p. xi.” The ground of this mysterious conduct, is this: “ Mr. Law’s objections to the D. L. are not to be “ removed; and, therefore, the misrepresentation “ and abuse of his character and writings in gene- “ ral, must, if possible, be made to do that, which “ an attempt to subvert his particular arguments “ cannot effect.” Indeed, apart from what is personally debated, Mr. Law’s writings, in their whole nature and design, are so essentially different from the writings of the authour of The Divine Legation, that they can no more subsist together than light and darkness; and where one is received, the other must be rejected. But, to which soever men may chuse to turn, to find the declarations of TRUTH; they can be at no loss, to which they must turn, to find BUFFOONRY, RIBALDRY, IMPURITY, AND DELIBERATE UNBLUSHING FALSEHOODS.

But besides the formal assaults which His Lordship has made upon the enemy of his own fashioning, who has as true a likeness to Mr. Law, as the straw-built enemies of the poor combatants in Bedlam have to a human being, there are some flying attacks, which, tho’ more sudden and rapid, are

are expected to be not less fatal. Of this kind, is the transient assertion, that Mr. Law is the parent of methodism. “ Now,” says His Lordship, “ as Mr. Wm. Law BEGOT METHODISM, and Count Zinzendorf rocked the cradle, it may not be improper to examine their pretensions to this essential quality of heavenly wisdom, purity. p. 152.” The design of this suggestion, which any wisdom might inspire but that which is from HEAVEN, is to impress the unwary reader with a notion, that all the error in doctrine, and extravagance in practice, with which His Lordship has been pleased to charge Mr. Wesley and others, that are distinguished by the appellation of Methodists, is to be primarily ascribed to Mr. Law. Count Zinzendorf is but an accidental unessential instrument, in bringing this birth of methodism to maturity: Mr. Wesley himself is but an unhappy child, labouring under an evil constitution derived from a corrupt diseased parent: Mr. Law is the life, the spirit, and power of the whole. And lest this idea of Mr. Law, so essential to His Lordship’s purpose that without it all other impressions that are given of him would be of little use, should be dropt, His Lordship takes care to revive it in some advantageous passage, now calling Mr. Law “ Mr. Wesley’s quondam master,” and now calling Mr. Wesley “ Mr. Law’s forward pupil.” I produce not this charge of His Lordship against Mr. Law, with a design to enter into a serious refutation of it, and, therefore, inquire not, whether, by methodism here, His Lordship means “ the mode of teaching”, or “ the doctrines that are taught:” the attempt would be an affront to the understanding of every reader, who, in every extract from Mr. Law’s writings in this letter, must see the weakness and folly of the charge, applied either to the mode of teaching, or to the doctrines taught, or even to the spirit, the designs, the pretensions, and claims of the teacher* : the single

* “ The last legacies,” His Lordship says, “ which “ this bountiful gentleman has bestowed upon the public, “ are A collection of Letters, and An address to the Clergy.”
But does not His Lordship KNOW, that among these last legacies, he should have named (besides The Confutation of the Divine Legation, written by Mr. Law in his SEVENTIETH YEAR, and about four years before his death) A DIALOGUE BETWEEN A METHODIST AND A CHURCHMAN ; in which, both the errors of those doctrines that go under the name of methodism, and of the doctrines of those that are most forward to oppose them, are fully demonstrated ? See the catalogue of Mr. Law’s pieces subjoined to this letter. If the reader desires to have more satisfaction on this head, he need only attend to the description which Mr. Law has given in his treatise of Christian regeneration, p. 69 to the end, of those who do, and those who do not abuse that doctrine. The following passage is taken from that excellent book. “ When religion is in the hands of the mere natural man, he is very often only the worse for it ; it adds a bad heat to his own dark fire, and helps to inflame his selfishness, envy, pride, and wrath : and hence it is, that sometimes worse passions, or a worse degree of them, are to be found in persons of great religious zeal, than in those that make no pretences to it. Others consider their whole nature as the subject of religion and divine graces ; and, therefore, their religion is according to the workings of their whole nature, and the old man is as busy and as much delighted in it as the new : and hence it is, that persons of this stamp, all inflamed as they seem to be with piety, yet overlook in their own lives such errors of moral behaviour, as the first beginners in religion dare not allow themselves in. Others again, perhaps truly awakened by the SPIRIT OF GOD, to devote themselves wholly to piety and the service of GOD, yet making too much haste to have the glory of saints, their selfishness, envy, pride, and wrath, can secretly go along with them : for to seek for eminence and significancy in Grace, is but like seeking for eminence and significancy in nature ; and the old man can relish glory and distinction in religion, as well as in common life ; and will be content to undergo as many labours, pains, and self denials, for the sake of religious, single passage in pages 308-313, is a full confutation of it in every sense in which it can be taken. I produce it only as a proof, to what disingenuous arts it is become necessary to stoop, to hide the disgrace of a Divine Legation of Moses; and to procure a favourable reception for a factitious unscriptural Doctrine of Grace, as A HERALD to the approaching triumphant entry of THE ONLY ANSWER to Tindal that ever was written. His Lordship has, indeed, as for the sake of secular glory. “ There is nothing safe in “ religion, but in such a course of behaviour, as leaves nothing “ for corrupt nature to feed or live upon; when every degree of “ perfection we aim at, is a degree of death to the passions of “ the natural man.” -- Nothing hath separated us from GOD but our own will, or rather our own will is our separation from GOD. All the corruption and disorder of our nature, lies in a certain fixedness of our own will imagination and desires, wherein we live to ourselves, are our own center and circumference, act wholly from ourselves, according to our own will imagination and desires. There is not the smallest degree of evil in us, but what arises from this selfishness, because we are thus all in all to ourselves. It is this Self that our SAVIOUR calls upon us to deny; it is this life of self that we are to hate and lose, that The Kingdom of GOD may arise in us, that is, that GOD’S WILL may be done in us. All other sacrifices that we make, whether of worldly goods, honours and pleasures, are but small matters, compared to that sacrifice and destruction of ALL SELFISHNESS, as well spiritual as natural, that must be made, before our REGENERATION can have its perfect work. There is a denial of our own will, and certain degrees of self-denying virtues, which give no disturbance to this selfishness. To be humble, mortified, devout, and patient, in a certain degree, and to be persecuted for our virtues, is no hurt to this selfishness: nay, SPIRITUAL-SELF must have all these virtues to subsist upon; and his life consists in seeing, knowing, and feeling, the bulk, strength, and reality of them. But still, in all this shew and glitter of virtues, there is an UNPURIFIED BOTTOM on which they stand; there is a selfishness, which can no more enter into The Kingdom of Heaven, than the grossness of flesh and blood can enter into it.”

some shadow of pretence to plead for this charge : but it is such a one, that if it had not been a custom with His Lordship, to mention the names of men and books without knowing any thing of them, must have been dismissed the moment it presented itself. From the words, “ as Mr. Wm. Law begot “ methodism,” we are referred to the following passage, in the notes, taken from Mr. Wesley’s journals, as the sole principle from which the conclusion in the text is drawn : “ Meeting with Mr. Law’s “ [Treatise of] CHRISTIAN PERFECTION, and SE- “ RIOUS CALL [TO A DEVOUT AND HOLY LIFE,] “ the light flowed in so mightily on my soul, that “ every thing appeared in a new view.” These two books, which, whatever use Mr. Wesley might make of them, will not be less useful to His Lordship, were written to demonstrate, that “ The “ Design of CHRISTIANITY is to restore fallen man, “ to his first, angelic, heavenly state ; and that, there- “ fore, it requires CONTINUAL SELF-DENIAL, “ WATCHFULNESS, and PRAYER ; the continual ex- “ ercise of humility, meekness, patience, resignation, “ purity, and charity, in a total CONSECRATION OF “ THE SOUL TO GOD :” and considered only as compositions, they have such purity and elegance of style, such force of argument, and such variety, propriety, and beauty of living character, as is not to be exceeded in any other two books in the English language. I shall, therefore, only add this single remark, that if a declaration of the power of these two books, had not been found in Mr. Wesley’s Journals, Mr. Wesley’s Journals would not, perhaps, have taken up so many pages of His Lordship’s Doctrine of Grace.

Something like this Parthian-arrow, is the frequent excitation of vulgar prejudice, by the terms, “ FURIOUS BEHMENIST, THE APOLOGIST OF JACOB “ BEHMEN, THE LEADER OF THE SECT OF BEH- “ MENISTS ;”

“ MENISTS ;” a serviceable engine to the dealers in hypotheses, whose chief success arises from the ignorance and passions of men. Now, as it does not appear, from any thing His Lordship has ever said, that he knows more of JACOB BEHMEN’S writings, than he does of Mr. Law’s Treatise on Christian Perfection and Serious Call to a devout and holy life, or more than he does of any other writers whom Mr. Law admired and read, he stands on no higher ground with respect to the use of these invidious characters, than the celebrated Dr. Trapp did ; and, therefore, the same answer that was given to The Doctor, will serve for His Lordship.

“ I come now to an Enthusiast,” says Mr. Law, from whom, The Doctor has been informed, I have borrowed some of my strange notions, and would put them off as my own—JACOB BEHMEN, called the Teutonick Philosopher, I have read much, and much esteem : but the design of putting off some of his strange notions as my own, is as well grounded, as if The Doctor had charged me with a design of picking his pocket. [Had The Doctor known any thing of a set of writers, called Mystical Divines, he had known, that I am as chargeable with the sentiments of all of them, as with those of JACOB BEHMEN. For tho’ I never wrote upon any subject till I could call it my own ; till I was so fully possessed of the truth of it, that I could sufficiently prove it my own way, without borrowed arguments ; yet doctrines of religion, I have none, but what The Scriptures and the first rate saints of the church are my vouchers for.] The illustrious Sir ISAAC NEWTON, when he wrote his Principia, and published to the world his great doctrine of attraction, and those laws of nature by which the planets began and continue to move in their orbits ; could have told the world, that the true and infallible ground of what he there advanced, was to be found in the Teutonick Philosopher, in his three first properties of eternal nature : he could have told them, that he had been a diligent reader of that wonderful authour ; that he had made large extracts out of him ; and could have referred to him, for the ground of what he had observed of the number seven. Now why did not this great man do thus ? Must we suppose, that he was loth to have it thought, that he had been helped by any thing that he had read? No: it is an unworthy thought. But Sir ISAAC well knew, that prejudice and partiality had such power over many people's judgments, that doctrines, tho' ever so deeply founded in and proved by all the appearances of nature, would be suspected by some as dangerous, and condemned by others even as false and wicked, had he made any reference to an authour that was only called an enthusiast. The Doctor may take himself for an eminent example and proof of this: he has shewn with what speed matters may be determined by prejudice; for, upon the authority of a writer, who has gained upon him by no other marks of ability and judgment, but his compliments to him and his scurrility upon me, he immediately puts JACOB BEHMEN into his list of enthusiasts. Is not this a proof of what Sir ISAAC NEWTON must have met with from some great scholars, and to what a speedy confutation he must have exposed himself and the plainest appearances of nature, had he ever referred to the Teutonick Philosopher? Now am I here to suppose, that this censure of The Doctor's relating to JACOB BEHMEN, is a rashness that has here first seized upon him by chance; that he never before allowed himself to treat any man or any book in this manner; that if he condemned an authour, he always saïd till he had read something of him, at least an index, or a title page or two of his works? Or am I to suppose, that this has been The Doctor's method upwards of thirty seven years; calling one man an enthusiast, another a fanatic, as rashly, as hastily, regarding no more of right or wrong in that which he affirms of these matters, than he has here done with regard to JACOB BEHMEN? But I hope The Doctor is singular in this spirit: for if it could be supposed, that it was common amongst learned men, to get their knowledge of antient and modern foreign and domestick enthusiasts, as hastily and slightly as The Doctor doth; must it not be very dangerous for the unlearned to take any opinions of this kind from them? Must it not be said, that one grain of EQUITY, GOOD-SENSE, and REAL KNOWLEDGE, is more to be desired, than an hundred weight of SUCH LEARNING? When I considered the fallen soul as a fire-spirit deprived of its proper light, and therefore become of a dialectical nature, I could have directed to JACOB BEHMEN for the deep and infallible ground of it; but what need was there for that, when I could make the plainest principles of Nature, and the plainest doctrines of Scripture, every thing that was said of the fall, of heaven, of hell. and the like, to be undeniable proofs of it? What I said in the second proposition of the Discourse upon Regeneration, concerning the Holy Tri-unity of GOD in man, stands not in that form of expression any where that I know of; but for the true ground and certainty of it, I could have referred to the Teutonick Philosopher, and to many antient and modern writers of the greatest name. But what occasion was there for these references, when I could shew, that ALL which the Scriptures say of the whole nature and manner of our REDEMPTION, of the whole nature and form of baptism, of the necessity of THE WORD AND HOLY SPIRIT OF GOD having again a birth in us, are absolute decisive proofs of it? I knew also, that the most essential, fundamental, and joyful doctrines of The Gospel, would be questioned or received with difficulty, had I referred to a poor shoe-maker for any proof of them. And it may well be believed, that The Doctor would have been among the first and loudest of those, who would have cried out at my folly and presumption, in directing to an authour whom all the world knew to be an illiterate enthusiast; and yet, if all the world knows it as The Doctor knows it, all the world may be said to know nothing of the matter. JACOB BEHMEN, in his natural capacity and outward condition of life, was as mean and illiterate as any one that our LORD called to be an apostle; but as a chosen servant of GOD, he may be placed among those, who had received the highest measures of light, wisdom, and knowledge from ABOVE. He was no more a human writer, spoke no more from opinion, conjecture, or reason, in what he published, than St. JOHN did when he put his Revelation in writing. He has no right to be placed among the inspired penmen of The New Testament; he was no messenger from GOD of any thing new in religion; but the mystery of ALL that was old and true, both in Religion and Nature, was opened in him. His works are nothing else but a deep manifestation of the grounds and reasons of that which is done, that which is doing, and that which is to be done, both in the kingdom of Nature and the kingdom of Grace, from the beginning to the end of time. His works, therefore, tho' immediately from GOD, have not at all the nature of the Holy Scriptures; they are not offered to the world, as necessary to be received as a rule of faith and manners; and, therefore, no one has any right to complain, either of the depth of his matter, or the peculiarity of his style:

they are just as they should be, for those that are fit for them; and he that likes them not, or finds himself unqualified for them, has no obligation to read them." ANIMADVERSIONS ON DR. TRAPP'S REPLY.

JACOB BEHMEN may be considered, (1) As a teacher of the true ground of The Christian Religion. (2) As a discoverer of the false Anti-christian church, from its first rise in Cain, through every age of the world, to its present state in every sect of divided Christendom. (3-) As a guide to the truth of all the mysteries of The Kingdom of GOD. In these three respects, which contain all that any one can possibly want to know or learn from any teacher, he is the strongest, the plainest, the most open, intelligible, awakening, convincing writer, that ever was: he speaks to every one, as himself saith, in the sound of a trumpet. And here to pretend to be an explainer of him, or make him fitter for our apprehensions in these great matters, is as vain, as if a man should pipe through a straw, to make the sound of a trumpet better heard by us. Further, he may be considered, (4.) As a relater of depths opened in himself, of wonders which his spirit had seen and felt in his ternario sancto. Now in this respect he is NO TEACHER, nor his reader A LEARNER; but all that he saith, is only for the same end as St. Paul spoke of his having been in the third heaven, and hearing things not possible to be spoken in human words.*

And

* The reader is desired to compare this account with what is said in pages 150, 151, 152, of The Doctrine of Grace, which appear to contain the whole of His Lordship's Knowledge of JACOB BEHMEN's character and writings, founded upon the authority of Mr. Wesley and J. L. Mosheimius. The passage which His Lordship, in the eagerness and confusion of quotation, takes from Mr. Law, as the whole of what he has to say as The Apologist of BEHMEN, is only a part of what is related to be said by a poor old shepherd, who, from feeling that he wanted no expounder of BEHMEN when the less intelligible parts of his writings were read to him, draws an argument against the imaginary want and use of expounders on The New Testament: "As I have but one end," says he, "in hearing The Scriptures read to me, to fill me with THE LOVE OF GOD AND EVERY KIND OF GOODNESS; so every part of Scripture, whether plain or mysterious, does me the same good, and kindles the same heavenly flame in my soul." And he illustrates his argument, by declaring

And yet in these matters it is, that most of his readers, especially if they are scholars, are chiefly employed, every one in his way trying to become masters of them. Thus, when he first appeared in English, many persons of this nation, of the greatest wit and abilities, became his readers; who, instead of entering into his one only design, which was THEIR OWN REGENERATION from an earthly to an heavenly life, turned chymists, and set up furnaces to regenerate metals in search of the philosopher's stone. And yet, of all men in the world, no one has so deeply, and from so true a ground, laid open the exceeding vanity of such labour, and the utter impossibility of success in it from any art or skill in the use of fire. And this must with truth be affirmed of him, that there is not any possible error that you can fall into in the use of his books, but what he gives you notice of beforehand, and warns you against it in the most solemn manner. Neither is there any question that you can put, nor advice or direction that you can ask, but what he has over and over spoken to; telling you, in the plainest manner, what The Mystery is which his books contain; how, and by whom, and for what end, they are to be read.

If I knew of any person, who stood in the faith and simplicity of the FIRST CHRISTIANS, free from all carnal adherence or vain trust to party notions, doctrines, and errours, brought forth by the contention of sects and churches; whose soul was dead to the earthly nature, and all the rudiments of this world, seeking life, light, and salvation, ONLY from GOD THE FATHER SON AND HOLY GHOST living and dwelling in him, redeeming and sanctifying his whole body, soul, and spirit—to such a one I could freely say, THIS MYSTERY WAS NEEDLESS, as having all that already which This Mystery would do for him: for its only end is, to bring man out of all the labyrinths of false and notional religion, to this very first state and simplicity of THE GOSPEL FAITH AND LIFE. Let not, however, the genuine, plain, simple christian, who is happy and blessed in the simplicity of GOSPEL FAITH, take offence at This Mystery, because he has no need of it:

clarifying what he felt from this plain exhortation of CHRIST, Learn of me, for I am meek and lowly of heart; and what he felt from the very sublime passage in the fourth chapter of The Revelation of St. John.

for it is GOD's goodness to the distressed state of the church, fallen from the life and power of GOSPEL FAITH, and groaning under the slavery, darkness, and perplexity, of bewildered Reason and Opinion. Neither let the orthodox divine who sticks close to the phrases and sentiments of antiquity, reject This Mystery as heretical, because it opens a ground of man and the divine mysteries, not known by or found in the primitive writers. For this is the very reason, why he should thankfully receive it with open arms, as being that very thing which the divided distressed state of the church NOW so greatly wants, and yet did not want till it was fallen from its first simplicity of faith. For whilst FAITH AND LIFE DEFENDED THE MYSTERIES OF RELIGION, the ground and philosophy of it was not wanted. But when orthodoxy had given itself up to reason, and had nothing else for its support but reasoning and argument from the letter of scripture, without the least knowledge of the first ground of doctrines; then it could only be defended, as it is defended in every sect and division of the christian world. For if reason will defend the mysteries of REDEMPTION, without knowing the true ground on which they stand, or why they must be as they are from the nature of the thing; the more zealous and learned any man is, the more errors must he fall into in the defence of them: for the greater the strength is that works without light, the more extravagancies it must produce. This is too visible in all the contraversies that have risen in the church. Let no one, therefore, take offence at the opening of This Mystery, as if it brought any thing new into religion: for it has nothing new in it; it alters no point of Gospel Doctrine, nor adds any thing to it, but only sets every article of the old christian faith upon its true ground, and in such a degree of light as, when seen, is irresistible. It disturbs no one, who is in possession of The Truth; because it points at nothing, drives to nothing, but to the opening the HEAVENLY LIFE, in the soul. It calls no man from any outward form of religion, as such; but only shews, that no outward form can have any good in it, but so far as it only means, and seeks, and helps, THE RENEWED LIFE OF HEAVEN IN THE SOUL. "A Christian," says he, "is of no sect;" "and yet, in every sect:" a truth, which all sects, as such, will dislike; and, therefore, a truth equally wanted to be known, and equally beneficial to all sects. For the chief hurt of a sect lies in this, that it takes itself to be necessary to The Truth: whereas The Truth is only then found, when it

It is known to be of no sect; but as free and universal as THE GOODNESS OF GOD, and as common to all names and nations as the air and light of this world. Let none, however, receive This Mystery as a system of rational notions; nor do with it, as the world has, for the most part, done with THE BIBLE, only gather opinions of reason and speculation from it. For it opens no depth of Nature or Grace, but to help you to the heart and spirit of the returning prodigal son; to shew you the blindness and vanity of reason and opinion; and that Truth can have no possible entrance into you, but so far as you die to your earthly nature. THE GOSPEL saith all this to you in the plainest words; and The Mystery only shews you, that the whole system of the universe saith the same thing. To be a true student or disciple of The Mystery, is to be a disciple of CHRIST; for it calls you to nothing, but to the plain letter of The Gospel: and wherever it enters, either into the height or depth of Nature, it is only to confirm the truth of these words of CHRIST—He that followeth not me, walketh in darkness; and, Unless a man deny himself, and forsake all that he hath, he cannot be my disciple. This is the philosophy opened in The Mystery. It is not to lead you after itself; but to compel you, by every truth of nature, to turn to CHRIST, as the one way, the one truth, the one life and salvation of the soul; not as notionally apprehended, or historically known, but as experimentally found, living, speaking, and working, in it. Read as long or as much as you will of This Mystery, it is all labour lost, if you intend any thing else by it, or would be any thing else from it, but a man dead to this world, that you may live unto GOD THROUGH JESUS CHRIST, in the power of faith, and the spirit of prayer." WAY TO DIVINE KNOWLEDGE.

Such is the account of JACOB BEHMEN'S WRITINGS, given by one, whose testimony has this just claim to credit, that it is founded upon his own knowledge of their nature, design, and use.

An ingenuous lover of THE TRUTH AS IT IS IN JESUS, who has no situation of his own to support, no desires of fame or interest to gratify, does not receive or reject a doctrine, because it is taught by Mr. Wesley, The Bishop of Gloucester, or Jacob Behmen; but solely, because he knows and can prove it to be, or not to be, consistent with the ground and nature of Christian Redemption. Now if Mr. Law has taught, for instance, "that GOD " is always present in the hearts of men, always " speaking to, always instructing, always illuminating, the heart that is attentive to Him;" tho' it would be no confutation of this doctrine, for His Lordship to call it "BEHMENTISM," yet, if His Lordship had no better way of confuting it, His Lordship should, at least, be able to prove, that it was implicitly adopted from JACOB BEHMEN, and not the result of Mr. Law's own knowledge of the principles of nature and the truths of scripture. But if His Lordship should take his more common method, and call the same doctrine ENTHUSIASM; yet His Lordship would pay an ill compliment to his readers, to expect that the meer application of this term should operate upon their understanding as a charm, and make them see a confutation, before His Lordship had proved, in what the ENTHUSIASM of the doctrine consisted. His Lordship should also consider, that without shewing the true nature of ENTHUSIASM, he may expose some reader who has more zeal than knowledge, to the danger of confutation in a point of great importance, his own belief of the Divine authority of sacred scripture: for if such a one, without any clear and distinct notion of ENTHUSIASM, is taught to cry out against the doctrine which teaches, that "GOD is always speaking to, instructing, and illuminating the heart, that is, in "GREAT PURITY, turned to Him;" if he is taught boldly and blindly to condemn this as ENTHUSIASM, how will he be able to defend himself, when he is told by others, that two thirds of The New Testament is ENTHUSIASM? But as His Lordship has been very free in the use of this all-confuting term

ENTHUSIASM, without appearing to know the true meaning of it; and without suspecting, that he himself is as much under the power of the Thing, as the loudest field-preacher that ever was heard in Moorfields; I have, for the benefit of His Lordship, as well as of his over-credulous readers, selected the following account of the ground and nature of ENTHUSIASM from Mr. Law.

In will, imagination, and desire, consists the life, or fiery driving, of every intelligent creature: and as every intelligent creature is its own self mover, so every intelligent creature has power of kindling and inflaming its will, imagination, and desire, as it pleases, with shadows, fictions, or realities, with things carnal or spiritual, temporal or eternal. This kindling of the will, imagination, and desire, when raised into a ruling degree of life, is properly that which is to be understood by ENTHUSIASM: and, therefore, ENTHUSIASM is, and must be, of as many kinds, as those objects are, which can kindle and inflame the wills, imaginations, and desires of men. And to appropriate ENTHUSIASM to religion is the same ignorance of nature, as to appropriate love to religion: for ENTHUSIASM, a kindled inflamed spirit of life is as common, as universal, as essential to human nature, as love is; it goes into every kind of life as love does, and has only such a variety of degrees in mankind as love hath. And here we may see the reason, why no people are so angry at RELIGIOUS ENTHUSIASM, as those that are the deepest in some ENTHUSIASM of another kind. He, whose fire is kindled from the divinity of Tully's rhetorick; who travels over high mountains to salute the dear ground that Marcus Tullius Cicero walked upon; whose noble soul would be ready to break out of his body, if he could see a desk, a rostrum, from whence Cicero had poured forth his thunder of words; may well be unable to bear the dulness of those, who go on pilgrimages only to visit the sepulchre whence THE REDEEMER OF THE WORLD rose from the dead; or who grow devout at the sight of a crucifix, because THE SON OF GOD hung as a sacrifice thereon. “ He, whose beated brain is all over “ painted with the ancient hieroglyphicks; who knows how “ and why they were this and that, better than he can find “ out the customs and usages of his own parish; who can “ clear up every thing that is doubtful in antiquity, and yet “ be forced to live in doubt about that which passes in his “ own neighbourhood; who has found out the sentiments of “ the first philosophers with such certainty, as he cannot “ find out the real opinion of any of his contemporaries : “ he, that has gone thus high into the clouds, and dug thus “ deep into the dark, for these glorious discoveries, may “ well despise those christians as brain sick visionaries, who “ are sometimes finding a moral and spiritual sense in the “ bare letter and history of Scripture facts.” It matters not what our wills and imaginations are employed about ; wherever they fall, and love to dwell, there they kindle a fire, and that becomes the flame of life, to which every thing else appears as dead, and insipid, and unworthy of re- gard. Hence it is, that even the poor species of fops and beaux, have a right to be placed among ENTHUSIASTS, tho’ capable of no other flame, than that which is kindled by taylors and peruke-makers. All refined speculatists, as such, are great ENTHUSIASTS ; for being devoted to the exercise of their imaginations, they are so heated into a love of their own ideas, that they seek no other summum bonum.

 The grammarian, the critick, the poet, the connoisseur, the antiquary, the philosopher, the politician, are all ENTHU-SIASTS ; tho’ their heat is only a flame from straw, and, therefore, they all agree in appropriating ENTHUSIASM to religion. “ All ambitious, proud, self-conceited persons, “ especially if they are scholars, are violent ENTHUSIASTS ;
 “ and their ENTHUSIASM is an inflamed self love, self es- “ teem, and self seeking : this fire is so kindled in them, “ that every thing is nauseous and disgustful to them, that “ does not offer incense to that idol which their imagination “ has set up in themselves.” All atheists are DARK EN-THUSIASTS ; their fire is kindled by a will and imagination turned from GOD, into a gloomy depth of nothing- ness ; and, therefore, their ENTHUSIASM is a dull burning fire, that comes in and goes out, thro’ hopes and fears of they know not what that is to come. All professed infidels are remarkable ENTHUSIASTS ; they have kindled a bold fire from a few faint ideas, and therefore they are all zeal, and courage, and industry, to be constantly blowing it up : a Tindal, and a Collins, are as inflamed with the notions of infidelity, as a St. Bennet and a St. Francis with the doctrines of The Gospel. ENTHUSIASTS, therefore, we all are, as certainly as we are men ; and, consequently, ENTHU-SIASM

SIASM is not a thing blameable in itself, but is the common condition of human life in all its states: and every man, that lives either well or ill, is that which he is, from that prevailing fire of life, or driving of our wills and desires, which is properly called ENTHUSIASM. You need not, then, go to a cloyster, the cell of a monk, or to a field preacher, to see ENTHUSIASTS: they are every where, at balls, at masquerades, at court, and at the exchange; they fit in all coffee-houses, and cant in all assemblies. The beau, and the coquet, have no magick, but where they meet ENTHUSIASTS. The mercier, the taylor, the bookseller, have all their wealth from them: the works of a Bayle, a Shaftesbury, and a Cicero, would lose four fifths of their astonishing beauties, had they not KEEN ENTHUSIASTS for their readers.

That which concerns us, therefore, is only to see, with what materials our prevailing fire of life is kindled; and in what species of ENTHUSIASTS it truly places us: for either the flesh, or The Spirit, either the wisdom from ABOVE, or the wisdom of this world, will have its fire in us; and we must have a life, that governs us either according to the sensuality of the beast, the subtily of the serpent, or the holiness of The Angel. ENTHUSIASM is not blameable in religion, when it is TRUE RELIGION that kindles it. We are created with wills and desires for no other end, but to love, adore, desire, serve, and co-operate with GOD: and, therefore, the more we are inflamed in this motion of our wills and desires, the more we have of a God-like Divine Nature and Perfection in us. RELIGIOUS ENTHUSIASM is not blameable, when it is a strong persuasion, a firm belief, of a continual operation impression and influence from ABOVE; when it is a total resignation to, and dependence upon, the immediate inspiration and guidance of the HOLY SPIRIT in the whole course of our lives: this is as sober and rational a belief, as to believe that we always live, and move, and have our being in GOD. Both nature, and scripture, demonstrate this to be the true spirit of a religious man: nature tells every one, that we can only be heavenly, by a spirit derived from heaven; as plainly as it tells us, that we can only be earthly, by having the spirit of this world breathing in us. The Gospel teaches no truth so constantly, so universally, as this, that every good thought and good desire is the work of The HOLY SPIRIT: and, therefore, both nature and scripture demonstrate, that the one only way to piety, piety, virtue, and holiness, is to expect, prepare for, and resign ourselves up wholly to, the influence and guidance of THE HOLY SPIRIT, in every thing that we think, or say, or do. The moment that any one departs from this faith, or loses this direction of his will and desire; so far, and so long, he goes out of the one only element of all holiness of life. There is nothing that so sanctifies the heart of man; that keeps us in such habitual love, prayer, and delight in GOD; nothing that so kills all the seeds of evil in our nature; that so renews and perfects all our powers; that fills us with so much love, goodness, and good wishes to every creature; as this faith, that GOD is ALWAYS PRESENT IN US, WITH HIS LIGHT AND HOLY SPIRIT. When the heart has once learnt thus to find GOD; and knows how to live every where, and in all things, in this immediate intercourse with Him; seeing Him, loving Him, and adoring Him, in every thing; trusting in Him, depending upon Him, for his continual LIGHT AND HOLY SPIRIT: when it knows that this faith is infallible; that, by thus believing, it thus possesses all that it believes of GOD: then it begins to have THE NATURE OF GOD in it; and can do nothing, but flow forth in love, benevolence, and good will, towards every creature; it can have no wish towards any man, but that he might thus know, and love, and find GOD in himself, as the true beginning of heaven, and the heavenly life in the soul. On the other hand, no error is so hurtful to the soul, so destructive of all the ends of The Gospel, as to be led from this faith and entire dependence upon THE HOLY SPIRIT OF GOD; or to place our recovery in any thing else, but in the operation of THE LIGHT AND HOLY SPIRIT OF GOD upon the soul. It is withdrawing men not only from the easiest, the most natural, the most fruitful, but THE ONLY SOURCE of all light and life. For every man, as such, has an open gate to GOD in his soul; he is always in that temple, where he can worship GOD in spirit and truth: every christian, as such, has the first fruits of THE SPIRIT, a seed of life, which is his call and qualification to be always in a state of inward prayer and holy intercourse with GOD. All the ordinances of The Gospel, the daily sacramental service of the church, is to keep up, and exercise, and strengthen this faith; to raise us to such a dependence upon THE LIGHT AND HOLY SPIRIT OF GOD, that by thus seeking and finding GOD in the institutions of the church, we may be

habituated to seek Him and find Him; to live in His LIGHT, and walk by HIS SPIRIT, in all the actions of our ordinary life. This is THE ENTHUSIASM, in which EVERY GOOD CHRISTIAN ought to endeavour to live and die." ANIMADVERSIONS ON DR. TRAPP'S REPLY.

Appeals to prejudice, to the use of which no degrees of learning and genius can keep controversial writers from stooping, tho' occasionally made from conscious imbecillity of argument, or from the desire of some personal distinction, yet have their common birth from that sectarian, selfish, spirit, which possessed the old Jews, who would have GOD to be only their God, and themselves only His chosen people. But CHRISTIANITY has nothing to do with the distinctions and interests of sects and parties, whether they be the lesser kind subsisting between a National Church and its own sectaries, or the greater of National Churches from each other, but, as such, to condemn them all. CHRISTIANITY is as universal and impartial, as The INFINITE LOVE from which it is derived: it knows of no separation or division; and, therefore, as characters of separation and division, it is not Behmenism, it is not Methodism, it is not Warburtonism, it is not Protestantism, it is not Popery; it is nothing else but The Regeneration of THE LIFE OF GOD in the fallen soul of man, by The CONTINUAL OPERATION OF THE HOLY GHOST: it requires not the efforts of human reason, human learning, and human power, for its proof and support; it can be proved and supported by nothing but ITSELF. It has but One Church or Kingdom, THE KINGDOM OF GOD; of which there are living members in ALL sects and divisions of nominal christians, and among ALL people and languages of the earth: and between This Divine Kingdom, and the kingdoms of men, there can no more be an alliance of power, and an union of interests, than between CHRIST and Belial,

CHRIST

CHRIST and The World, CHRIST and Satan: the kingdoms of men will always have an opposite interest of their own to support by their own power, till they have lost their nature and their name, and are become ONE HEAVENLY KINGDOM OF THE LIVING GOD. In This Kingdom and Church, there can be no SCHISM, but that which works in separation from and opposition to The REGENERATE DIVINE LIFE: and the ministers of This Church, can no more become advocates for any restraints on a religious account, that may be expedient to the mildest civil government on a political, than they can become worshippers of Moloch and murderers of men. Now, tho' a separation from a National Church, can no more be SCHISM, in a religious and christian sense, than a revolt from The National Civil Power; yet every thing that proceeds from the selfishness, pride, and wrath of man, whether that which is exerted to injure a National Church and a National State, or that which is exerted for their protection and support, is, in a truly religious and christian sense, a SCHISM in The CHURCH OF GOD, where NO HURT OR DESTROYING is to be found, where nothing partial, selfish, and injurious, can subsist.

The fire of National Church-zeal has generally burnt according to the prevailing spirit of the governing power: and if, thro' that exemplary temperance and moderation of the civil power in which these kingdoms have long rejoiced, National Church-zeal finds itself so much cooled, as to recover leisure and ability to perceive, that "it is impossible to tell, whether cases of separation from The National Church are criminal or not;" it is brought so much nearer to The CHURCH OF GOD: but if, notwithstanding this impossibility, it will still suppose they may be criminal, and in idea persue the offenders offenders to The Tribunal of GOD, there will still be a great gulph before it; and it must be said to partake too much of their spirit, whom CHRIST rebuked for desiring power to command fire from heaven, to destroy the Samaritan city that had refused Him entrance, "because his face was as " THOUGH He would go to Jerusalem. THE SON " OF MAN came not to destroy mens lives, either in " this world or the next, but to save them."

The chosen genuine ministers of this ALL-REDEEMING SAVIOUR, this PRINCE OF PEACE AND LOVE, have nothing to do, in the evil state of things on earth, but, by their exhortations enforced by their example, to turn men of all orders and denominations, from worldly lusts and interests, pride, envy, contention, bitterness, and ambition, the very life of Satan in the soul!—that contempt of the world, heavenly affections, humility, meekness, patience, charity, and an unceasing desire of doing The Will of GOD, the very LIFE OF JESUS in the soul! may be brought forth and perfected in them by The Continual Operation of THE HOLY GHOST—this is the power of The Kingdom of GOD; and this is the only true support of the kingdoms of men. As these ministers are consecrated to a service, that relates wholly to what is transacting between GOD and man, they cannot think of human beings but as the universal objects of DIVINE MERCY, the common offspring of The FATHER OF SPIRITS, who created all in His Own Image and Likeness, and redeems all that are fallen from it; willing nothing in Redemption, but the same universal good that He willed in Creation. Whenever, therefore, like St. Paul, they "persuade men" to mutual candour and forbearance, and the PATIENT AND MEEK TOLERATION of each others different opinions, they will not suffer their thoughts to be governed by the wisdom of this world, to be restrained and contracted by the narrow principles of state policy; but will resign them to the influence of that DIVINE CHARITY, which suffereth long, and is kind; which envieth not, vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up; seeketh not its own, is not easily provoked, thinketh no evil; rejoiceth not in iniquity tho' found in a National Church, but rejoiceth in the truth in whatever sect or party it appears; beareth all things, believeth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things—and all that they say on this subject, will breathe the same heavenly spirit that animates the following passage from Mr. Law.

As The Gospel requires me to be as glad to see piety, equity, strict sobriety, and extensive charity, in a Jew or a Gentile, as in a Christian; as it obliges me to look with pleasure upon their virtues, and be thankful to GOD that such persons have so much of true and sound Christianity in them: so it cannot be an unchristian spirit, to be as glad to see truths in one party of christians as in another; and to look with pleasure upon any good doctrines that are held by any sect of Christian people, and be thankful to GOD that they have so much of the genuine saving truths of The Gospel amongst them. For if we have no complaint or anger against those that are divided from us, but what proceeds from a christian fear, that what they hold and practise will not be so beneficial to them as our religion will be to us; must we not have the utmost readiness and willingness to find, own, and rejoice in, those good doctrines and practices which they still retain and profess? If a poor pilgrim, under a necessity of travelling a dangerous and difficult road by himself, had, through his own perverseness, lost the use of a leg, and the sight of an eye; could we be said to have any charitable concern for his perverseness and misfortune, unless we were glad to see, that he had one good leg, and one good eye, still left, and unless we hoped and desired they might bring him at last to his journey's end? Now, let every part of the church which takes ITSELF to be sound and good; and is only angry at every other part, because they have lessened the means of their own salvation; let her but have thus much charity in her anger, and then she will be glad to see, in every perverse division, something like the one good leg and the one good eye of the pilgrim, and which she will hope and wish may do them the same good.

SELFISHNESS and PARTIALITY are very inhuman and base qualities, even in the things of this world; but in the doctrines of religion they are of a much baser nature. Now this is the greatest evil that THE DIVISION OF THE CHURCH has brought forth: it raises, in every communion, a selfish partial orthodoxy, which consists in courageously defending all that it has, and condemning all that it has not: and thus every champion is trained up in defence of their own truth, their own learning, and their own church; and he has the most merit, the most honour, who likes every thing, defends every thing amongst themselves, and leaves nothing uncensured in those that are of a different communion. Now how can TRUTH, and GOODNESS, and UNION, and RELIGION, be more struck at than by such defenders? If you ask, why the great Bishop of Meaux wrote so many learned books against all parts of the reformation, it is because he was born in France and bred up in the bosom of mother church: had he been born in England, had Oxford or Cambridge been his Alma Mater, he might have rivalled our great Bishop Stillingfleet, and would have wrote as many learned folios against the church of Rome, as he has done. And yet I will venture to say, that if each church could produce but one man a-piece, that had THE PIETY of an apostle, and the IMPARTIAL LOVE of the first christians, in the first church at Jerusalem, that a protestant and a papist of this stamp, would not want half a sheet of paper to hold their articles of union, nor be half an hour before they were of one religion: if, therefore, it should be said, that churches are divided, estranged, and made unfriendly to one another, by a learning, a logic, a history, a criticism, in the hands of PARTIALITY, it would be saying that, which every particular church too much proves to be true. Ask why even the best amongst the catholicks, are very shy of owning the validity of the orders of our church; it is, because they are afraid of removing any odium from the reformation. Ask why no protestants any where touch upon the benefit or necessity of celibacy in those, who are separated from worldly business to preach The Gospel; it is because that would be seeming to lessen the Romish error of not suffering marriage in her clergy. Ask why even the most worthy and pious amongst the clergy of the established church, are afraid to assert the sufficiency of The DIVINE LIGHT, the necessity of seeking only to The GUID-ANCE.

ANCE AND INSPIRATION OF THE HOLY SPIRIT ; it is because The Quakers, who have broken off from the church, have made this doctrine their corner-stone. If we loved TRUTH, as such ; if we sought it, for its own sake ; if we loved our neighbour as ourselves ; if we desired nothing by our religion, but to be acceptable to God ; if we equally desired the salvation of all men ; if we were afraid of error, only because of its hurtful nature to us and our fellow churches ; then, nothing of this spirit could have any place in us.

There is, therefore, a catholick spirit, a communion of saints, in THE LOVE OF GOD AND ALL GOODNESS, which no one can learn from that which is called orthodoxy in particular churches ; but is only to be had, by a total dying to all worldly views, by a pure adherence to GOD, and by SUCH AN UNCTION FROM ABOVE as delivers the mind from all selfishness, and makes it love TRUTH and GOODNESS with an equality of affection in every man, whether he be Christian, Jew, or Gentile. He that would obtain this divine and catholick spirit, in this disordered divided state of things ; and live in a divided part of the church, without partaking of its division ; must have these three truths deeply fixed in his mind : first, That universal love, which gives the whole strength of the heart to GOD, and makes us love every man, as we love ourselves, is the noblest, the most divine, the God-like state of the soul, and is the utmost perfection to which the best religion can raise us ; and that no religion does any man any good, but so far as it brings this perfection of love into in him : this truth will shew us, that true orthodoxy can no where be found, but in a pure disinterested love of GOD and our neighbour. Secondly, That in the present divided state of the church, TRUTH itself is torn and divided asunder ; and that, therefore, he can be the only true catholick, who has more of truth, and less of error, than is hedged in by any divided part : this truth will enable us to live in a divided part, unhurt by its division ; and keep us in a true liberty and fitness to be edify'd and assisted, by all the good we hear or see in any other part of the church ; and thus uniting in heart and spirit with all that is holy and good in all churches, we enter into the true communion of saints, and become real members of the holy catholick church, tho' we are confined to the outward worship of only one particular part of it : it is thus, that The Angels, as ministering spirits, assist, co-operate, and unite with, every thing that that is holy and good, in every division of mankind. Thirdly, That it is the glory of The DIVINE JUSTICE to have no respect of parties or persons; but to stand equally disposed to that which is right and wrong, as well in the Jew as in the Gentile: he, therefore, that would like as GOD likes, and condemn as GOD condemns, must have neither the eye of the papist, nor the protestant; he must like no truth the less, because Ignatius Loyola or John Bunyan were very zealous for it; nor have the less aversion to any error, because Dr. Trapp or George Fox had brought it forth.

Now if this universal love, and impartial justice, is the spirit which will judge the world at the last day; how can this spirit be too soon or too much in us, or what can do us more hurt than that which is an hindrance of it? When I was a young scholar of the university, I heard a great religionist say in my father's house, that "if he could believe the late king of France to be in heaven, he could not tell how to wish to go thither himself." This was exceeding shocking to all that heard it: yet something of this kind of temper, must be supposed to be more or less in those, who have, as a point of orthodoxy, worked themselves up into a hearty contempt and hatred of those that are divided from them. "He that has been, all his life long, used to look, with great abhorrence, upon those, whom he has called superstitious bigots, dreaming visionaries, false saints, canting enthusiasts, &c. must naturally expect they will be treated by GOD, as they have been by him; and if he had the keys of The Kingdom of Heaven, such people would find it hard to get a place in it." But it stands us greatly in hand, to get rid of this temper in the present life; for if nothing but universal love can enter into The Kingdom of GOD, what can be more necessary for us, than to be full of this love before we die?

We often hear of people of great zeal and orthodoxy, declaring, on their death beds, their strict attachment to The Church of England, and making solemn protestations against all other churches. But how much better would it be, if such persons were to say, "In this divided state of Christendom, I must conform to some outwardly divided part of it: and, therefore, I have chosen to live and die in outward communion with The Church of England; fully believing, that if I worship GOD in spirit and in truth in this divided part of The Church, I shall be as acceptable to Him, as if I had been a faithful member of the

“ ONE WHOLE CHURCH before it was broken into separate “ parts. But as I am now going out of this disordered di- “ vision, into a more universal state of things; as I am now “ falling into the hands of THE CREATOR AND LOVER OF “ ALL SOULS; as I am going to THE GOD OF ALL “ CHURCHES, to a KINGDOM OF UNIVERSAL LOVE, “ which must have its inhabitants from all people, nations,
 “ and languages of the earth: so, in this spirit of UNIVER-“ SAL LOVE, I desire to perform my last act of com- “ munion in this divided church; uniting and joining, in “ heart and spirit, with ALL that is christian, holy, good, “ and acceptable to GOD, in all other churches; praying, “ from the bottom of my soul, that every church may have “ its saints; that GOD’S KINGDOM may come, and His “ Will be done, in every division of christians and men; and “ that every thing that hath breath may praise THE LORD.” Need any one now be told, the superiour excellency of this spirit, or its fitness to be admitted into THE KINGDOM OF UNIVERSAL LOVE? Need we any proof, that nothing but this catholick spirit will carry us unhurt by SCHISM, through all those divisions, which fleshly wisdom, the world, and the Devil, have brought into the church. Again: we have often seen learned protestants very zealous in pulling to pieces the lives of the saints of the Romish church, and casting all the re- proach and ridicule they can upon their wondrous spirit; tho’ the lives of the saints of the primitive church, written by fathers of the greatest name and authority, are as fit to be exposed in the same manner. Now, whence does this proceed? why from a secret touch of that spirit, which could not bear to have the late king of France in heaven: it proceeds from a partial selfish orthodoxy, which cannot bear to hear or own, that The BLESSING AND SPIRIT OF GOD are so visible in a church, from which it is divided, and against which it has so much preached: but if a person be of this spirit, what does it signify where he has his outward church?
 If a Romish Priest in the north of England, could not bear the splendour of a life so devoted to GOD, so fruitful in all the works of piety and goodness, as was that of the late Lady ELIZABETH HASTINGS; if he should want to fully the brightness of her christian graces, and prove her to have been no saint, lest it should appear that The SPIRIT OF GOD was not confined to the Romish church; would not such a zeal shew a worse spirit than that of superstition, a greater depravity of heart than the saying now and then an Ave Mary? The more we believe or know of the corruptions and hindrances of true piety in The Church of Rome, the more we should rejoice to hear, that in every age so many eminent spirits, great saints, have appeared in it; whom we should thankfully behold, as so many great lights hung out by GOD to shew the true way to heaven; as so many joyful proofs, that CHRIST is still present in that church as well as in others, and that the gates of hell have not prevailed against or quite overcome it. Who, that has the least spark of heaven in his soul, can help thinking and rejoicing in this manner at the appearance of a St. Bernard, a Teresa, a Francis de Sales, in that church? Who can help praising GOD, that her invented devotions, superstitious use of images, invocation of saints &c. have not so suppressed any of the graces and virtues of an evangelical perfection of life, but that amongst cardinals, jesuits, priests, friars, monks, and nuns, numbers have been found, who seemed to live for no other end, but to give glory to GOD, and edification to men; and whose writings have every thing in them, that can guide the soul out of the corruption of this life, into the highest union with GOD? He, who, through a partial orthodoxy, is diverted from feeding in these green pastures of life; whose just abhorrence of Jesuitical craft and worldly policy, keeps him from knowing and reading the works of an Alvares du Pas, a Rodrigues, a Du Pont, a Guillorce, a Pere Surin, and such like Jesuits, has a greater loss than he can easily imagine. If any clergyman can read the life of Bartholomeus a Martyribis, a Spanish archbishop, who sat with great influence at the very Council of Trent, without being edified by it, and desiring to read it again and again, I know not why he should like the lives of the best of the apostolical fathers: and if any Protestant Bishop should read the Stimulus Pastorum wrote by this Popish Prelate, he must be forced to confess it to be a book, that would have done honour to the best Archbishop that The Reformation has to boast of. O my GOD, how shall I unlock this mystery of things! In the land of darkness overrun with superstition, where Divine Worship seems to be all shew and ceremony; there, both amongst priests and people, Thou hast those, who are fired with the PURE LOVE of Thee; who renounce every thing, for Thee; who are devoted wholly and solely to Thee; who think of nothing, write of nothing, desire nothing, but the honour, and praise, and adoration, that are due to Thee; and who call all the world to the maxims of The Gospel, the holiness and perfection of THE LIFE OF CHRIST ! But in the regions where light is sprung up ; whence superstition is fled ; where ALL that is outward in religion, seems to be pruned, dressed, and put in its true order ; there, a cleansed shell, a whited sepulchre, seems too generally to cover a DEAD CHRISTIANITY !

THE ERROUR OF ALL ERROURS, and that which makes the blackest charge against The Romish Church, is PERSECUTION—a religious sword, drawn against the liberty and freedom of serving GOD according to our best light ; that is, against WORSHIPPING THE FATHER IN SPIRIT AND IN TRUTH. This is the great whore, the beast, the dragon, the Antichrist. Now, tho' this is the frightful monster of that church ; yet, even here, who, except The Church of England, can throw the first stone at her ? Where must we look for a church, that has so renounced this persecuting beast, as it has renounced the use of incense, the sprinklings of holy water, and the extreme unction of dying persons ? What part of the Reformation abroad, has not practised and defended PERSECUTION ? What sect of dissenters at home, has not, in its day of power, dreadfully condemned TOLERATION ?

When it shall please GOD, to dispose the hearts of all princes in the christian world, entirely to destroy this ANTI-CHRISTIAN BEAST, and leave all their subjects in that RELIGIOUS FREEDOM WHICH THEY HAVE FROM GOD ; then the light of The Gospel, the benefit of its faith, the power of its ministers, the usefulness of its rites, the benediction of its sacraments, will have proper time and place to shew themselves : and THAT RELIGION, which has the most of a Divine Power in it, whose offices and services do most good to the heart, whose ministers are most of all devoted to GOD, and have the most proof of The Power and Presence of CHRIST with them, will become, as it ought to be, the MOST UNIVERSAL : and by this destruction of The Beast, nothing but the errors, delusions, corruptions, and fictions, of EVERY RELIGION, will be left in a helpless state." ANIMADVERSIONS ON DR. TRAPP'S REPLY.

When the ground and nature of REDEMPTION are intuitively known, the mind is delivered from all false notions, not only of schism, church-unity, and toleration ; but of justification by faith and by works, works, infinite wrath and infinite satisfaction, imputed sin and imputed righteousness, election and reprobation, final apostasy and final perseverance, and the whole cloud of controverted doctrines, that has spread darkness over THE CHURCH OF CHRIST, and shed nothing into it but contention, bitterness, animosity, division, persecution, distress, and death. It is also delivered from the delusion of those inquiries, that learning and genius, with more than Mezentian tyranny, have tied to the Gospel doctrine of salvation; and enabled to see, that they are of no more use in fitting fallen man for THE REDEMPTION OF CHRIST, than inquiries into the times of sleeping, waking, and eating, observed by the inhabitants of the moon. Of this kind are many pompous debates in His Lordship's Doctrine of Grace; such as, "Whether the gift of " tongues was lasting, or instantaneous and transitory;

 " and, whether the sign of that gift, was a sudden
 " flash of lightning or a stationary appearance, in a
 " whole, a cloven, an obtuse, or a pyramidal form."

His Lordship, indeed, is quite in raptures, at
 " the never to be enough admired ELEGANCE AND
 " PROPRIETY in the choice of this miracle of the " gift of tongues, to ATTEST the real descent of that " Spirit who was to teach us all things; for WORDS," says His Lordship, " (tho' unstable, shifting, and " capricious, like the ideas they represent, p. 86.)
 " being the human vehicle of our knowledge, this " gift was the FITTEST PRECURSOR of the Spirit " of Truth, p. 5." Now, as a proof of what little benefit such speculations are to me, I must own, that I am quite at a loss to conceive, how
 " the never to be enough admired ELEGANCE AND
 " PROPRIETY of this miracle," can consist in its being the FITTEST PRECURSOR of something that must be supposed not yet come, and also consist in its being chosen to ATTEST the real presence of some thing that is already come; or how That, which was merely THE EFFECT AND ATTESTATION of the presence of The Spirit of Truth, can at the same time be THE PRECURSOR of the Spirit of Truth. For tho' His Lordship is mistaken in saying, that "the apostles did not speak with tongues. till the multitude was come together, p. 7;" yet the sacred historian is very explicit in informing us, that THIS PRECURSOR of The Spirit, did not make its appearance, till AFTER The Coming of The Spirit: for before the multitude came together, and while the apostles were, as His Lordship says, "in a private room, sequestered and apart," they BEGAN to speak with tongues, as The SPIRIT, who was PRESENT with them, and in them, gave them utterance. Acts ii. 4. I cannot help thinking, therefore, perhaps from a want of TASTE, that "a never to be enough admired ELEGANCE AND PROPRIETY" might, with as much precision, have been predicated of The Holy Baptist's choice of his RAIMENT; for camel's hair bound with a leathern girdle, was a very fit dress for THE PRECURSOR of a self-denying suffering Saviour. I must, however, just observe upon His Lordship's argument, that if WORDS are to be supposed the ground of the elegant precursive miracle of the gift of tongues, "because words are the vehicle of human knowledge;" they are not the words that are equally the vehicle of human ignorance; but THE WORDS OF HIM who spake, as never man spake: and THE WORDS THAT HE SPAKE, THEY ARE SPIRIT, AND THEY ARE LIFE; to be heard only by those that are of GOD, John viii. 47; to be explained, and made vital to the soul, only by THAT SPIRIT, who is to teach us all things, and lead us into ALL TRUTH.

Not less illustrious instances of what learning and genius will always be doing for the defence of Christianity,

Christianity,

Christianity, are the long and laboured inquiries about an inspired language, and the nature of human eloquence : and the common effect of all is, to lead readers into the state of poor Martha, who was busy and troubled with that which was, in itself, unessential and worthless, to the neglect of THE ONE THING only needful. But if this strife of words was ever so useful in preparing the mind for the reception of GOSPEL-TRUTH, if it could do all that which is to be done by contrition, self-denial, faith, and prayer ; still it is to be asked, why so much pomp of learning upon an unknown subject ? For tho' our whole life was devoted to the study of words, and combating the cavils of infidel-reasoners, who are always conjuring-up windmill-giants, and armies of sheep, to lead Quixotic-minds from The One Ground of CHRISTIAN REDEMPTION ; yet, if, after all, we are so little acquainted with the nature of language, as to be unable to account even for its origin, we must be said to have spent a life of study about an unknown thing, and our labour, like that of a dog in a wheel, must leave us on the very spot on which we began to move.

“ In haste as I am, says Mr. Law, to have done troubling your Lordship [the late Bishop of London] I must yet add a word upon Dr. WARBURTON's most theological account of man's first ability to speak articulate words. “ In judging,” says he, “ only from the nature of things, without the surer instruction of revelation, “ one should be apt to embrace the opinion of Diodorus Siculus, that the first men lived for some time in woods “ and caves, after the manner of beasts, uttering only confused sounds. [D. L. Vol. II. pt. 2. p. 95]” And yet it is hardly possible, for a man to make a judgment more contrary to the nature of things : for does not the nature of almost all animals, beasts, and birds, shew us, that they have all of them a natural untaught language, not consisting of confused sounds, but altogether distinct by an articulate difference, and highly intelligible to every one of the species? If, therefore, the nature of things will allow us to suppose, that man was created as perfect in his kind, as the animals were in theirs; then the nature of things will oblige us to affirm, that the first of mankind had, from nature, an untaught language, as suitable to the ends of their creation, as useful, as distinct and intelligible to themselves, as that of birds, or beasts, is to them in their several kinds. Now it must not be said, that The Doctor has adopted the whole opinion of Diodorus, though so highly (as he thinks) conformable to the nature of things; for he has given up that of man's living in woods and caves, and has only chosen to stand by that which is much the worst part of it, namely his natural inability to utter any thing but confused sounds. However, to make amends for all this poverty of speech, in which man was brought forth by GOD, The Doctor has a conjecture how it soon came to be better with him. "In Scripture," says he, "we find, that God taught the first man religion; and can we think, he would not, at the same time, teach him language? Again: when God created man, he made woman for his companion and associate; but the only means of enjoying that benefit, was the use of speech. Can we believe, that he would leave them to get out of the FORLORN CONDITION OF BRUTALITY as they could?" Shocking, and even blasphemous words! for how little short can it be of that, to say, that man, created in THE IMAGE AND LIKENESS OF GOD, was created in a forlorn condition of brutality? Has, or can any infidel more despise and ridicule all that is said, both in the Old and New Testament, concerning man's creation, his high birth and destination, his fall and redemption, than is here done? In the Scripture we are told, that man, in the first perfect state of his creation, came forth A LIVING IMAGE AND LIKENESS OF THE ALL-PERFECT GOD; that he came forth, in this distinguished and exalted state of perfection above all other animals of this world, in order to be a Lord and ruler over them. Can there be a more open ridicule made of all this, than to hold, that THIS FIRST GLORIOUS IMAGE OF GOD came forth in a forlorn brutal condition, unable to utter any thing but dumb and confused sounds? Or what can be more unbecoming a Christian Doctor, than to espouse such a paltry notion from the authority of a Pagan Greek, in full contradiction to all that Moses, CHRIST, and his Apostles, have said, of the first heavenly nature, divine birth, and glorious prerogatives

prerogatives of man? What a mockery is here made of the whole CHRISTIAN SYSTEM, which supposes man to have fallen from SUCH A HIGH DEGREE OF HEAVENLY UNION WITH GOD, that nothing less than THE BIRTH OF THE SON OF GOD in fallen man, could restore him to that perfection which he had at first? What a folly, to talk of the fall of man, or his possibility of sinning against GOD, if he came out of the hands of GOD in a forlorn condition of brutality? For supposing him to be such, he must have wanted a new birth before he fell, or could possibly be guilty of falling from an heavenly perfection; unless in such a good sense, as a creature born without eyes, may be charged with the guilt of having renounced the perfection of sight.

But The Doctor comes now to his full proof, that man had at first no articulate speech, and that he was actually taught it afterwards by God, from these words of Moses: GOD brought every beast of the field, and every fowl of the air, unto Adam, to see what he would call them. And yet so unlucky is The Doctor, that no words in the world can give a higher proof, that Adam had not only an articulate speech, but in such a degree of perfection as none of his natural sons, not the whole tribe of linguists, critics, and grammarians, ever had, or can possibly have. For if it could be supposed, that any man was an hundred times more knowing than The Doctor is, in what he calls his enigmatic, curiologic, hieroglyphic, emblematic, symbolic PROFUNDITIES; yet, if all the beasts of the field, and all the fowls of the air, were to be brought before him, to be distinguished from one another by articulate sounds of his voice, even such a man would be as unequal to the task as a Tom Thumb. And of all the absurdities that ever were heard of, none can equal that of supposing, that Adam had not an articulate speech, but had it to learn at a time, when he was called to the highest exercise of the highest perfection of language, namely, to distinguish such an infinite number of creatures, by different articulate sounds of his voice: it is like supposing, that a man, whose eyes had no natural power of distinguishing one thing from another, should therefore, and on that account, have all the creatures in the world brought before him, that he might describe every difference in form and figure that belonged to them. And yet The Doctor is so charmed with this sense of the foregoing words, that he fathers it upon Moses as an UNCOMMON ELEGANCE.

He

He proceeds next to conjure a GENERALLY RECEIVED opinion, that "Adam gave every creature a name suitable to its nature." And yet the inspired text directly affirms this, saying, And whatsoever Adam called every living creature, that was its NAME; that is, that was true of it: for, surely, the text would not have said, that was its name, if it had not been true of it; which it could not have been, if it had mistook, or misrepresented its nature. But, however, in favour of The Doctor, let it be supposed, that Adam neither did, nor could, name the creatures suitable to their natures: and then it will follow, that they were all brought before him in vain; that he might as well have named them before he saw them, as afterwards; that he was called to do that, which had neither right nor wrong in it; to say something, which was no better than if he had said the contrary; and to distinguish creatures by different names, but not according to their different natures. Of Adam's divine ability to give names to the creatures suitable to their natures, much greater things are to be said, which must be left to some other occasion. The language of every creature is natural, and not taught; it is as much the effect of its whole nature, the joint operation of its body, soul, and spirit, as its life is; and is articulate or not articulate, good or evil, harmonious or horrible, just as the life of the creature has more or less of the perfection of a divine or earthly harmony in it. These words of our SAVIOUR, though spoken on a particular occasion, that out of the abundance of the HEART the mouth speaketh, contain the whole philosophy of the language of all creatures, whether in hell, on earth, or in heaven. No creature wants any more teaching, how to speak its own language, than it wants to be taught how to hear: and if man is the only creature in this world, that wants to be sent to school; it is the greatest of all misfortunes, that he has lost the original perfection of his nature, and is dead to the LIVING WORD OF GOD which he had at his creation; and so must learn an A B C language, that is not natural to him. If it were not thus, that he is dead to his first heavenly power of speaking, it would be as impossible, for one man born in this climate to speak unintelligibly to a man born in another climate, as for one angel to speak unintelligibly to another; nor could there be any more two languages amongst men on earth, than there are two languages amongst angels in heaven.

Hence

Hence the shining sons of verbal literature, whether critics, linguists, or grammatical orators, may see, if they will, that the mighty province in which they make such figure, is procured for them by man's having lost ALL THAT WAS GOOD, DIVINE, AND HEAVENLY, in the language of his first perfect nature; otherwise, the prince and the peasant all round the globe, had had but one language on earth, as angels have in heaven, as sure as they had but one nature." CONFUTATION OF THE DIVINE LEGATION.

Before I take a final leave of His Lordship's Doctrine of Grace, I must obviate an objection that may arise in some minds from the nature of His Lordship's arguments. It will be urged, perhaps, that " what I have attempted to refute in one " place, is given up in another; and that the doc" trine I am endeavouring to establish against His " Lordship's book, His Lordship's book has, some " way or other, at least by implication, asserted " rather than denied." This is a common difficulty attending the examination of all theological hypotheses, the writers of which, not knowing the ground of scripture doctrines, have no certain principles to proceed upon, but reason only from scripture words; and, like most state-ministers, forgetting what is past, and giving no attention to what is to come, are solicitous to get rid only of a present exigency. But tho' I am not bound to do an impossible thing, reconcile His Lordship's contradictions; yet I know, that the whole nature and power of CHRISTIAN REDEMPTION cannot be more expressly denied and opposed, than it is in the following passage: " NOW, [that is, among us, upon whom " the ends of the world are come] The Profession of " The Christian Faith is attended with BASE and
" HONOUR; and THE CONVICTION, which The " Weight of HUMAN TESTIMONY, and The Conclu- " sions of HUMAN REASON, afford us of its TRUTH,
" are ABUNDANTLY SUFFICIENT to SUPPORT
" us in our RELIGIOUS PERSEVERANCE! p. 114."

And

And I know also, that one passage cannot be more expressly contradicted by another, than this is by the concluding passage of His Lordship's book. It stands thus: "The SUM OF ALL then is this: REASON
 " biddeth us to keep a MEAN: The great philoso" pher [BACON] informeth us, that NATURE is not " able to keep a MEAN. What remains, but that " we fly to GRACE, which, the greater Apostle " assures us, is able: for, the Spirit helpeth our in- " firmities. Rom. VIII. 26. Nor will there be any " danger (when, in such a disposition, we apply to " this Guide of truth) of abusing its credit by fa- " natical extremes; for, to establish the heart with
 " Grace, the same Apostle informs us, is the only " way to prevent our being carried about with the " divers and strange doctrines of Deceivers. Heb.
 " XIII. 9."

Here, all that Mr. Law has proved, upon irrefragable principles, of the blindness of REASON, and the impotence of NATURE, with all its endowments of genius and its accomplishments of learning, is, upon no principle at all, fully asserted. "REASON
 " biddeth us to keep a MEAN;" that is, REASON ignorantly biddeth us to do that which is impossible: for, to convict "this MAGISTERIAL FACULTY" of its ignorance, "the great philosopher BACON" is produced to give evidence, "that NATURE is not " able to keep a MEAN;" tho' every illiterate man that knows any thing of himself, if not bewildered and baffled by the learned council, would have been as good an evidence both against REASON and NATURE, as the great philosopher BACON. The ignorance of REASON, and the impotence of NATURE, therefore, are, by the confession of one, and the great philosopher's evidence against the other, proved, beyond the possibility of an appeal. "What then re-
 " meins?"—What, indeed, but to act upon that single conclusion to which all Mr. Law's writings lead us, and which His Lordship calls Behmenism and Enthusiasm, and, in a total despair of all we are and have in and of ourselves, to FLY TO GRACE, which ALONE is able to do all that is to be done, and to supply all we want: for tho', as St. Paul says, we are so ignorant and weak, as even " NOT TO KNOW " what we should pray for as we ought, yet The SPIRIT " helpeth our infirmities." And when, in this disposition, we apply continually to THIS ONLY GUIDE OF TRUTH, and our hearts are once established with GRACE, there cannot possibly be any danger of being carried about with the divers and strange doctrines of DECEIVERS, whether they be fanatics, zealots, bigots, criticks, philosophers, or poets. His Lordship also, as capricious children are apt to do with their buildings of cards, has here overfet the whole fabrick, which he had been laboriously erecting for " The SEAT of the Constant Abode and " Supreme Illumination of The HOLY GHOST." For when His Lordship brings us to this SUM OF ALL, this last conclusion of FLYING to THAT SPIRIT, as The Guide of Truth, who helpeth all our infirmities, of which IGNORANCE properly stands in the context to represent the whole, Kom. VIII. 26 ; His Lordship cannot possibly be understood to mean The NEW TESTAMENT, either as a manuscript in any publick library, or as a printed book in any language or in any edition: but His Lordship must mean, A SPIRIT OF LIFE AND LIGHT continual dwelling and operating in the soul, as the ONLY POWER that is capable of doing what we are continually to apply to have done. And, indeed, every heart, as well as His Lordship's, that will but bear a faithful testimony to its own experience, must confess, that if The HOLY SPIRIT was to keep His Constant-Abode in the Books of The New Testament for ever, ALL ITS INFIRMITIES must be for ever UNHELPED.
 and

Of the blindness and weakness confessed and testified in this concluding passage, His Lordship had just before drawn a melancholy picture, in which “ the indiscretions of REASON and LEARNING in “ the defence of The Gospel, and the advantages “ which infidel cavillers have always taken of them,” are grouped with a masterly hand. The dispute between the opposers and defenders of The Gospel, has, indeed, always been a vain contention about empty words, and historical facts, branched into forms and modes of dividing one church from another ; and as long as it lasts, the opposer will always enjoy the IMAGINARY SATISFACTION of “ discrediting The Gospel upon the principles of its “ defender.” But The Gospel is not a history of any absent, distant, or foreign thing ; but is solely a manifestation of an inherent, real, essential, LIFE and DEATH in every son of Adam, grounded on the certainty of his first angelical nature, on the certainty of his real fall from that nature into an animal earthly life of impure flesh and blood, and on the certainty of an inward redemption from it by the Divine Nature born again in his soul. To enter into arguments, therefore, for the credibility of The Gospel history ; the reasonableness of its creeds, institutions, and usages ; and the duty of man to receive things above, but not contrary to his reason ; is wandering from the true point in question, and only helping The Deist to oppose The Gospel, with a shew of argument which he must necessarily want was The Gospel left to stand upon its own foundation. And if The Deist should give up such a cause as this, and change sides, he could only be said to have changed his opinion about words and facts, without any more alteration or improvement of the state of his life, than if he had only altered his opinion about things in dispute amongst the antient philosophers. The Gospel has but one ground, ground, the fall of man from a DIVINE LIFE ; it has but one nature, the restoration of man to the DIVINE LIFE from which he is fallen. This is The CHRISTIANITY that began with the fall, and has been preached ever since to every son of fallen man, in every corner of the world ; and by the same preacher that tells every man, that he ought to be better than he is : for was not man fallen from a better state than that which he is now in, he could no more be ashamed at any thing that his nature prompts him to do, than the ox is ashamed at breaking into a good pasture. Churches and creeds, therefore, doctrines above and contrary to reason, prophecies and miracles of the Old and New Testaments, and all historical facts and systems of opinion, have no place in the debate between The Christian and The Infidel ; and nothing can reach the truth of it, but that which proves with certainty, that man has, or has not, lost a Divine Life. If he is thus fallen, has died this death to a Divine Life ; then, the nature and necessity of The Christian New-Birth sufficiently proves itself : if he is not thus fallen, but stands in that state and degree of life in which GOD created him, The Deist has reason enough to reject the Christian scheme of Redemption. In this inquiry, however, The Deist is brought home to himself, to the realities of his own life and state, the condition of the world in which he lives, and the perfections of that GOD in whom he professes to believe : but while the fall of man from a Divine Life, is not made, in the debate, as it is in itself, the sole ground of Christian Redemption ; The Deist can never be persuaded, that a set of scholastic logical opinions about facts doctrines and church institutions, or a set of logical objections against them, can make the soul of man either an eternal angel or an eternal devil : and he would be rather tempted to think, that there neither heaven nor hell; than believe, that such a variety of advocates for different churches and systems of opinion, all condemning and all condemned by one another, are to find Heaven open to receive them, and that he who is equally led by opinion to oppose them all is doomed to hell.

CHRIST said, Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you REST. This invitation excluded the rational heathen, the infidel Sadducee, and the self-righteous, self-confiding, self-admiring Pharisee, not less than the ignorant, illiterate, dissolute, and unrepenting Publican. They are only the weary and heavy laden, that are fitted to be converts to The Gospel; and, therefore, there is no way of helping man to be a Christian, but by bringing him into a full perception of the evil, burthen, and vanity, of his natural state. If he cannot be made sensible of this, we must leave him to himself in his natural state, till some good Providence awakens him out of it; and not make proposals to him of the reasonableness of believing The HOLY TRINITY, The Incarnation of The SON OF GOD, and the necessity of his sufferings and death; nor press him to deny himself, and forsake all that he hath in the enjoyments of his present life, in order to be reconciled to GOD. For this method is full as absurd, as to enter into a solemn debate with a confessed atheist, about the reasonableness of worshipping GOD in spirit and in truth: for, as the existence of GOD is the only ground of proving, that He ought to be worshipped in spirit and in truth; so, the certainty and belief of our fallen state, is the only ground of shewing the mysteries of Redemption, and the duties that arise from them: and he that disowns the fall of man from a Divine Life, has all the same reason for rejecting

The Myſteries of Salvation, as The Atheiſt has to reject the doctrine of a ſpiritual worſhip of GOD. To expoſe The Myſteries of Salvation, therefore, to the wrangle of a debate with an Unbeliever of the fall of man, which Myſteries have no other ground to ſtand upon, is not only helping him to an eaſy triumph, but is the moſt likely method to prevent his ever being a Chriſtian; for ſeeing how eaſily he can ridicule Myſteries, which, to him in his preſent ſtate, have no reaſonableneſs in them, he is put into the moſt likely way of living and dying in a hardened contempt of them. On the contrary, if no offers are made The Unbeliever of any other Chriſtianity, but that which is to begin with the acknowledged ſenſibility of the fall of human nature from its firſt Divine Life, he is withheld from all power and pretence of meddling with The Myſteries of Salvation. The one buſineſs then upon his hands, if he will ſtill hold out, muſt be to deny the evidence of his ſenſes, and maintain, that man is not fallen, but is, by nature, holy juſt and good, and happy both in body and ſoul; and that mankind, and the world they are in, have all that goodneſs and happineſs, which they could be ſuppoſed to have from AN INFINITELY GOOD AND HAPPY GOD, Who can will nothing in the creature but goodneſs and happineſs. Here The Deift is brought to his proper work, and all the contradiction to ſenſe and reaſon will lie on his ſide; Chriſtianity is ſet upon its true ground; and whoever thus defends it, as it ought to be defended, not only does juſtice to The Chriſtian Cauſe, but acts the moſt friendly and kind part towards thoſe, who oppoſe it merely thro' a miſunderſtanding of its true ground and nature. For Deifm has no natural foundation or ground of its own, to ſtand upon; it does not grow from any root or ſtrength within itself; but is what it is, merely from the bad state of Christendom, and the miserable use that heathenish learning and worldly policy have made of The Gospel. If Deism seems to itself to be strong and well-grounded, it is merely because it can so easily object to church-doctrines and scholastic opinions: if it seems to itself to be good, it is because it can so easily expose the evils which Christians and Churches bring upon one another: if it seems to itself to be highly rational, it is because it is free from that number of absurdities and contradictions, which Christian Churches lay to each others charge: lastly, if it keeps off all fearful forebodings of the consequences of not receiving The Gospel, it is because it so plainly sees, that Christians say, hail master! kiss The Gospel, and then break every part of it. This is the true height, and depth, and total strength of Deism; and the writings of all its patrons, from Hobbes to Bolingbroke, are a proof of it. But when all controversy about facts, doctrines, and opinions, is removed from the merits of the cause, and it is left to this one, short, plain, and decisive point, the fall of man from his first Divine Life; a fall, demonstrated by every height and depth of nature, by every kind of evil sin and misery in the world, by every thing we know of GOD, ourselves, and the world we live in; the ground and foundation of Christianity is undeniable, and no one can be too speedy a convert to the belief of it: and as The Christian Redemption is, in its whole nature, nothing but the one, true, and only possible way, of delivering man from his miserable state in this world, it is the most intelligible and desirable thing that the heart of man can think of. And thus, Deism can no longer be founded on argument, and Christianity is as self-evident as our senses. All learning, either for or against it, is useless: it stands upon a foundation superiour to human learning; and may be the sure possession of every illiterate man, who has sense enough to know, whether he is happy or unhappy, good or evil: it stands in the fullest degree of nearness and plainness to all men; it is as simple and plain as the feeling our own darkness, impurity, and wretchedness, and as natural as the desire of being saved and delivered from them*.

But His Lordship's picture of "the follies, errors, and miscarriages of his learned predecessors in the defence of The Gospel, and the advantages which both infidels and fanatics have always taken of them," was drawn, not so much to shew the vain and erratic nature of the dispute, and the necessity of keeping it to its central point, as to turn the expectation and dependence of the defenceless Christian world to a new defence of Christianity which His Lordship himself is providing for it. And it is to be built, it seems, upon this new distinction—"To instruct the world in wisdom and righteousness, was but the SECONDARY end of CHRIST'S mission, which, as those instructions might be neglected and forgotten, it was in man's power to defeat: the FIRST and PRIMARY was, to become the sanctification and redemption of the world, which cannot possibly be frustrated or rendered ineffectual; for it is not in man's power to make that to be undone, which is once done and perfected." That is, the sanctification which cannot be frustrated or rendered ineffectual, it is in man's power, thro' that perverseness of his unsanctified nature which makes him neglect and forget the instructions in wisdom and righteousness ("the strongest attractions," His Lordship says,

says, “ by which a rational religion can draw free “ agents”) to defeat; and that is done and perfected, which, thro’ the perverseness of man’s unsanctified nature, is still undone. This distinction is assumed upon the authority of St. Paul, p. 336, 7, who, without the least distinction, tells the Corinthians in his first epistle, chap. i. 30, that “ CHRIST “ JESUS is of GOD equally and essentially made “ unto us WISDOM, and RIGHTEOUSNESS, and SANC-“ TIFICATION, and REDEMPTION.” Now by what rules of criticism has His Lordship discovered, that any distinction of parts, into primary and secondary, common and peculiar, accidental and essential, is or can be intended in these united constituent characters of The REDEEMER OF THE WORLD? or that The Apostle, when he says, CHRIST JESUS is made unto us wisdom and righteousness, means no more, than “ his giving instructions in moral “ virtue,” which it is in man’s power to neglect and forget as easily as the instructions of Socrates? But even Socrates, His Lordship says, p. 329, “ by “ preaching up moral virtue, and dying to bear wit“ nefs to the unity of the Godhead, was made, to “ the Grecian people, and, by means of their ex“ tended commerce of politeness, to the rest of man“ kind, wisdom and righteousness, NOT LESS than “ JESUS:” and does not this, whatever His Lordship may say “ of the two other attributes of “ sanctification and redemption,” “ degrade HIM,” whom The Apostle calls, in the 24th verse, The WISDOM OF GOD, the only wisdom that He is or can be to man, “ to the low condition of a Grecian “ Sophist?” That the Corinthians might no longer glory in men, nor let their faith stand in the wisdom of men, but solely in the power of GOD, The A-postle’s argument in the beginning of this epistle, is expressly to shew, that the wisdom of men is foolishness

foolishness with GOD ; that the outward instructions even of inspired teachers, have at best but a ministerial service ; and that DIVINE WISDOM can only be communicated to the soul by The SPIRIT OF GOD dwelling and operating in it: CHRIST JESUS, therefore, THE POWER AND THE WISDOM OF GOD, is the sanctification and redemption of the world, because He alone is its DIVINE WISDOM AND RIGHTEOUSNESS ; and He is its wisdom and righteousness, not by “ such outward instructions “ in moral virtue, as men may neglect or forget,” but solely by the regeneration of that Heavenly Life which is born of HIS OWN DIVINE NATURE AND SPIRIT. Accordingly, the same Apostle says, that he, who hath not this wise, righteous, and sanctifying SPIRIT OF CHRIST, is none of His—an instance that could not be given, without supposing a case, where Sanctification and Redemption were not only “ not done and perfected,” but where they had no place ; that if any man be in CHRIST, and consequently a partaker of His redemption, he is a new creature, and a partaker of His sanctification ; and that those only are The SONS OF GOD, who are led by The SPIRIT OF GOD. To as many, says St. John, as received THIS WORD AND WISDOM OF GOD, The Light not only of this world, but of all nature and creature, to them gave He POWER to become The SONS OF GOD ; which are BORN, not of blood, nor of the will of the flesh, nor of the will of man, but of GOD. Sanctification and Redemption, therefore, can only then be “ done and perfected,” when the sinful nature is subdued and destroyed : but nothing can subdue and destroy the sinful nature, but THAT DIVINE POWER, by which we become SONS OF GOD ; and our sins are only then blotted out, or done away, when an unsinning nature, or a birth of GOD that sineth not, is the ruling life within us. CHRIST, by His incarnation, life, sufferings, death, resurrection, and ascension, obtained power, as The Second Adam, to restore to man all that was lost by The First Adam—not his natural life and immortality, which he never lost; but that SUPERNATURAL DIVINE IMMORTAL LIFE of wisdom, righteousness, and holiness, which was THE WHOLE OF “his lost inheritance,” and which only could redeem him from the state of devils; who, tho’ possessing the same natural life and immortality that man possesses, are yet heirs of eternal death. The sanctification and redemption of the world from the evil and curse of sin, therefore, cannot be “done and perfected,” till it is delivered from the power of sin; and those only are partakers of CHRIST’S REDEMPTION, who are partakers of HIS DIVINE NATURE, and in whom He is become A LIVING PRINCIPLE of Wisdom, and Righteousness, and Sanctification, and Redemption. This alone is THE FAITH that is founded on a rock, “impregnable to men and demons, to the sophisms of infidelity and “the prestiges of imposture.” And to teach a Sanctification and Redemption from CHRIST as “done and perfected,” where the wisdom, the righteousness, and the holiness of CHRIST, are not beginning to live in man as they lived in CHRIST, thro’ the power of a DIVINE LIFE born of Him; or as that, which no negligence, forgetfulness, perverseness or malice of man, can frustrate and render ineffectual; is a species of antinomianism, not less dangerous than any that has been adopted by the followers of the Moravian Count Zinzendorf.

“All defences on fanciful and unscriptural systems, only supply new arms to the various adversaries of our faith;” and if this fanciful and unscriptural distinction in the all-perfect character of

JESUS

JESUS CHRIST, as our wisdom and righteousness, and as our sanctification and redemption, is to be the ground of the new defence of Christianity, the theological dictator of the next age will only find more subjects to heighten the group of the same gloomy picture; and have just the same opportunity, of recommending his own projects for the defence of The Gospel, by condemning the projects of all his learned predecessors.

But not to prejudge an unpublished work, we may instance in what is already sufficiently known to the Christian world, The D. L. of Moses, which is continually referred to for the decision of every doubt and difficulty, as if it was another seat for the Constant Abode and Supreme Illumination of The HOLY GHOST—will it not remain a question as long as the knowledge of books shall last, What that has done towards raising man out of his darkness and impurity, and fitting him for the communication of that DIVINE LIFE of wisdom, and righteousness, and holiness, which is his ONLY sanctification and redemption? The best that can be said of it, is, that it is an eminent instance of the truth of this observation, which has been already made, that “ If Reason will defend The MYSTERIES OF “ REDEMPTION, without knowing the true ground “ on which they stand, or why they must be as “ they are from the nature of the thing; the more “ zealous and learned the defender is, the more er- “ rours must he fall into in the defence of them; “ for the greater the strength is that works WITH-“ OUT LIGHT, the more extravagancies it must pro“ duce.” But it has been the source of an endless controversy; it has offended, disturbed, and grieved many minds, that are not less illustrious for genius, learning, and zeal, than the authour’s; and Truth has not yet been suffered to interpose for the decision of the dispute. The ground of contention still remains, tho' the combatants are withdrawn: for not being invested by Nature with that impenetrable panoply which covered the, therefore only, HAPLESS AUTHOUR, " their spirit was rebuked;" and they left the field, not because the light of conviction led them from it in peace, but because they were sick and weary of a vain and disgustful contest.

" Doctor Warburton," says Mr. Law, " has, by strength of genius, and great industry, amassed together no small heap of learned decisions of points and doctrines, as well heathenish as christian; much the greatest part of which The Christian Reader will find himself obliged to drive out of his thoughts, as soon as he can in good earnest say with the jailor, What must I do to be saved? This collection of decisions, he calls his projected defence of christianity: but A PROJECT in defence of Christianity, is not more promising, than A TRAP to catch humility; the nature of things allows no more of the one than of the other. To be a defender of Christianity, is to be a defender of CHRIST; but none can defend him in any other sense or degree, but so far as he is HIS FOLLOWER. To be with CHRIST, is to walk as HE walked; and he that is not so with Him, is against Him, and is rejected as an enemy, though he should say, that he had prophecied and wrought miracles in his Name.

There are two ways of embracing Christianity; the one is as a sinner, the other as a scholar: the former is the way taught by CHRIST and his apostles; the latter is the invention of men, fallen from THE SPIRIT AND TRUTH OF THE CHRISTIAN LIFE under the power of natural reason and verbal learning. A change that has some likeness to that, which happened to the good light of the heathen world: the original philosophers, who lived what they said, were succeeded by a race of sophists, who had no wisdom of philosophy, but that of descanting upon, disputing, and writing about, what the philosophers had taught. Now, the two ways abovementioned, are not to be considered, as only the one better than the other; but in such a difference, as right and wrong, true and false, bear to one another: for there is no possibility of entering, or taking one progressive step

step in Christianity, but as a sinner; it has no errand, but to the sinner; has no relief, but for sin; and nothing can receive it, but the heart wounded by, and wearied with the burthen of, its own sin. All The Gospel is but a foreign tale, a dead letter, to the most logically learned man in the world, who does not find and feel in the depth of his soul, that all the reasonableness and excellency of Gospel Truth, lies in that fund of sin, impurity, and corrupt tempers, which is and must be inseparable from him, till IN CHRIST JESUS HE IS BORN AGAIN FROM ABOVE. Every other confession of the reasonableness and excellency of The Christian Religion, but that which the conviction of sin and misery in the soul makes of it, is but like the praise of a by-stander, who commends something in which he has no concern. And if The Doctor, in his application to The Deists, had pressed home this affecting truth, which stands at the door of every man's heart, and is the only ground of Christian Redemption, he had shewn a better care and concern for their souls, and had done more to awaken them out of their infidelity, than by all his wit and satyr in the dedication of his book to them. For like begets like; love and seriousness in the speaker, beget love and seriousness in the bearer; and he that has no earnestness towards unbelievers, but that of persuading them not to lose their share of The LOVE AND MERCY of GOD IN CHRIST JESUS towards fallen helpless man, must and can only do it, in the language and spirit of THAT LOVE AND GOODNESS, in whose arms he longs to see them embraced *.

But as no man ever came to CHRIST, but because he was wearry and heavy laden with the burthen of his own natural disorders, and wanted rest to his disturbed soul; so nothing can help man to find the necessity of coming to CHRIST, but that which helps him to find and feel a misery of sin and corruption, which, in some, the cares and pleasures of this life, and, in others, the happiness of finding themselves wits and polite scholars, never suffered them to feel before. Our LORD'S PARABLE OF THE PRODIGAL SON contains the whole matter between GOD and fallen man: it relates nothing particular to this or that person; but sets forth the strict truth of every man's state with regard to his his Heavenly Father. Every son of Adam has every thing in him, that is said of that prodigal: he has lost his first state and condition, as he did; is wandered as far from his Heavenly Father and Country; has abused and wasted his Father's Blessings; and is that very poor swineherd craving husks in a land of famine, instead of living in the Paradisical Glory of his Father's Family. To every reader of that parable, it may be justly said, THOU art the man! And no son of Adam, do what he will, can possibly come out of the poverty, shame, and misery of his fallen state, till he finds, and feels, and confesses from the bottom of his heart, all that, which The PENITENT PRODIGAL found, felt, and confessed." CONFUTATION OF THE DIVINE LEGATION, &c. p. 151—154.

"The fastidious caviller, p. 337, finds no difficulty in discrediting" systems and hypotheses from every topic; but "to discredit The GOSPEL OF JESUS CHRIST from any topic," is as little in the power of "men or demons," as to weaken the foundations of Heaven. The precepts of the New Testament, are no more "THE PRINCIPLES" of holiness in a Christian; than "the Socratic, or any other, instructions," were "THE PRINCIPLES" of moral virtue in a Gentile:" and "the wickedness of Pagans," which was always one and the same opposition to The Renewal of The Divine Life in the fallen soul, was always as much AGAINST PRINCIPLE, the law written in their hearts, Rom. ii. 15. as the wickedness of Christians has been. [Doct. of Grace, p. 338] But tho' the unholy state of the christian world, and the little alteration that the belief of a REDEEMING CHRIST COME IN THE SPIRIT, makes in the worldly, sensual, selfish, and devilish tempers of its professors, may be an objection from the quarter of infidelity, that fanciful and projecting defenders know not how to ward off; yet it has nothing to do with The GOSPEL OF CHRIST, but, so far as it is founded upon fact, to prove, that The GOSPEL OF CHRIST is not received; and that men can resist and deny its power, while they contend for the lifeless form, and the empty name. CHRISTIANITY no more wants the wit and learning of man for its defence, than OMNIPOTENCE wants his strength for its support; as it can be proved, so it can be defended by nothing but itself; and he whose only study, desire, and prayer is, that The REDEEMING POWER OF CHRIST may be manifested in the spirit, form, and actions of his life, will do CHRISTIANITY infinitely more honour, than can possibly be done by “ the most elaborate treatise on The Doctrine of Redemption” that learning and argument can set forth. The GOSPEL OF JESUS CHRIST is no where received, but where men are turned from the world and themselves to GOD; it prevails no further, than Righteousness, Peace, and Joy in The HOLY GHOST, prevail; and, therefore, that “ none can be a defender of CHRIST, but so far as he is His FOLLOWER,” is the only principle upon which The Church can securely withstand “ the storm of infidelity, let it beat from what quarter it may. Doct. of Grace, p. 327.” “ Not every one,” says CHRIST, “ that faith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into The Kingdom of Heaven; but he that DOETH THE WILL of my FATHER which is in Heaven. Many will say to me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not prophefied in thy name? and in thy name have cast out devils? and in thy name done many wonderful works? And then will I profess unto them, I NEVER KNEW YOU: depart from me, ye that work iniquity! Therefore, whosoever heareth these sayings of mine, and DOETH THEM, I will liken him unto a wise man, which built his house upon A ROCK: and the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house, and it FELL NOT;

“ for it was founded upon A ROCK.” Upon this principle, that “ none can be a defender of CHRIST, “ but so far as he is HIS FOLLOWER,” Mr. Law has written the following exhortations to his brethren of the clergy: they are of a very different nature from those given by His Lordship, and, therefore, are here produced in contrast: and if the value of both could be tried by a fair experiment, it would be soon known, which had the superiour tendency to form a clergy, that would DO MOST HONOUR to the heavenly mission of their DIVINE MASTER, and be BEST ABLE to put to silence the ignorance of foolish men.

The whole Christian world, from the time of our SAVIOUR to this Day, has been praying, Thy Kingdom come, Thy Will be done on earth as it is in Heaven. Sacraments, divine worship, and the order of the clergy, are appointed as ministerial helps for this end, to raise, set up, and establish, this KINGDOM OF GOD on earth. The fall of man brought forth the kingdom of this world: sin, in all shapes, is nothing else but the will of man driving on in a state of self-motion, and self-government, following the workings of a nature broken off from its dependency upon, and union with, THE DIVINE WILL. All the evil and misery in the creation, arises only and solely from this one cause. There is not the smallest degree of distraction, pain, or punishment, either within us, or without us, but what is owing to this, that man stands out of his place, is not in, and under, and united to GOD as he should be, as the nature of things require. GOD created every thing to partake of His Own Nature, to have some degree and share of His Own Life and Happiness. Nothing can be good or evil, happy or unhappy, but as it does or does not stand in the same degree of Divine Life in which it was created; receiving in GOD, and from GOD, all that good that it is capable of; and co-operating with, and under Him, according to the nature of its powers and perfections. As soon as it turns to itself, and would, as it were, have a sound of its own, it breaks off from the Divine Harmony, and falls into the misery of its own discord; and all its workings then are only so many sorts of torment, or ways of feeling its own poverty. The REDEMPTION of mankind kind can only then be effected, the harmony of the creation can only then be restored, when The WILL OF GOD is the will of every creature. For this reason our BLESSED LORD, having taken upon Him a created nature, so continually declares against the doing any thing of himself; and always appeals to The WILL OF GOD, as the only motive and end of every thing he did, saying, that it was his meat and drink to do The Will of Him that sent him. What now can be so desirable to a sober sensible man, as to have the vain disorderly passions of his own corrupted heart removed from him; to be filled with such unity, love, and concord, as flows from GOD; to stand united to, and co-operating with, the Divine Goodness; willing nothing, but what GOD wills; loving nothing but what GOD loves; and doing all the good that he can to every creature, from a principle of love and conformity to GOD? Then The Kingdom of GOD is come, and His Will is done in that soul, as it is done in heaven. Then heaven itself is in the soul; and the life and conversation of the soul is in heaven. From such a man the curse of this world is removed; he walks upon consecrated ground; and every thing he meets, every thing that happens to him, helps forward his union and communion with GOD. For it is the state of our will, that makes the state of our life: and when we receive every thing from GOD, and do every thing for GOD, every thing does us the same good, and helps us to the same degree of happiness. Sickness and health, prosperity, and adversity, bless and purify such a soul in the same degree: as it turns every thing towards GOD, so every thing becomes divine to it. For he that seeks GOD in every thing, is sure to find GOD in every thing. When we thus live wholly unto GOD, GOD is wholly ours, and we are then happy in all the happiness of GOD; for by uniting with him in heart, and will, and spirit, we are united to All that He is and has in Himself. This is the purity and perfection of life that we pray for in The LORD's Prayer, that GOD's Kingdom may come, and His Will be done in us, as it is in heaven. And this we may be sure is not only necessary, but attainable by us, or our SAVIOUR would not have made it a part of our daily prayer.

It may now then justly be asked, have we yet obtained that, which we have been so long, and so universally praying for? Can we look upon the church of this nation, as draw-drawing near, or even tending to this state of perfection? Can we be carried to any one parish, either in town or country, where it can with truth be said of any one pastor and his flock, that there The Kingdom of GOD is coming, and His Will begins to be done on earth, as it is done in heaven? Can we, therefore, find any one parish, where the pastor has not great reason to pray, both for himself and his flock, that they may enter much farther into The Spirit and Practice of Christianity, than they have yet entered; that The Gospel may have much greater power over them, than it hath yet had; and that they all may, with a most awakening conviction, see and understand what it is, that has made so divine and powerful a religion, so without its proper effect upon them? For if the case be thus, if we stand at this amazing distance from that state of perfection to which CHRIST has called us, tho' we have His infallible promise to be with us to the end of the world, to assist us with such power and strength from above, as to obtain, and do every thing that we pray for, through a right faith in Him, and conformity to his laws and example; if the case be thus, does not heaven and earth seem to call upon every minister of The Gospel, to take some share to himself of this miserable state of things, and to endeavour to convince both himself and his flock, that they have not yet been Christians in true earnest; that they have professed CHRIST, with the tempers of Jews and Heathens; that they have not yet entered into the narrow way that leads to life; that they have not yet enough renounced the world; not enough denied themselves; not enough emptied their hearts of passions hurtful to piety; not enough offered and devoted themselves to GOD; not enough made The Spirit of Religion the spirit of their lives; not enough sought for strength and deliverance from sin, by a firm and living faith in JESUS CHRIST, who is made righteousness and sanctification to every sinner that turns to GOD thro' faith in him; not enough prayed and desired, that they might be born again of GOD by the awakening and quickening the incorruptible seed of Divine Life in their souls, so that CHRIST may be truly said to be formed in them; not enough prayed and desired, to be every where, and on all occasions, under the perpetual influence and guidance of The HOLY SPIRIT, that they may think, and say, and do every thing by His Holy Inspiration; not enough looked to that first and great commandment, of loving GOD with our whole heart and whole strength; not enough endeavoured voured to keep the next, which is like unto it, that of loving our neighbour, as we love ourselves; not enough renounced such conformities to the fashions and customs of the world, as greatly corrupt the heart, and grieve and separate The HOLY SPIRIT from it. Now, which way soever we consider the lamentable state of religion amongst us, whether they be evils within or without the church; no evil can be removed, nor any remedy be procured by us of the clergy, but in this one way; That every individual of the order, from the highest to the lowest, begin in right earnest with himself, open the book of his own heart and life, and consider seriously in The Presence of GOD, whether, according to his degree in the ecclesiastical function, the world has had its due share of salt and light from him; whether all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, has been so openly so constantly discouraged and renounced by him, that the whole form of his life has been one loud continual call to all orders of christians, to set their affections on things above; to mind only the one thing needful; to have nothing at heart, but to be in CHRIST new creatures; seeking, intending, desiring nothing, through the pilgrimage of this life, but to live unspotted from the world, and to obtain every height of holiness, and heavenly affection, which becomes those who are to be called Sons and Heirs of GOD with CHRIST JESUS. If Religion was at this time in a most flourishing state amongst us, abounding with such congregations as made up the primitive church, it would be great injustice to suppose, that the clergy had not, under GOD, been the chief instruments of building it up to such a state of perfection; since they are considered by our SAVIOUR Himself, as the salt and light of the world, which are to preserve it both from darkness and corruption. Seeing then, that an universal corruption of manners is on all hands confessed to have overspread this Christian nation, and the true spirit of Religion hardly any-where to be seen; nothing can be more reasonable in itself, more suitable to the present state of things, than for every clergyman, wherever his lot is fallen, to suspect himself to have, in some degree or other, contributed to this common calamity, and to be more or less chargeable with the guilt of it, and to try to discover his own state, by such like questions as these, laid home to his conscience. If Christianity has not done that to my flock which is the only end and intent of it, is there nothing of this failure chargeable upon my conduct over it?

it? Can my RIGHTEOUS JUDGE lay nothing grievous to my charge on that account? Can my own heart bear me witness, that I did not run in my own will, was not driven by human passions, but staid and waited till The HOLY SPIRIT called me to this office? Have I not undertaken the care of others souls, before I had ever any true and real care of my own? Have I not presumed to convert and strengthen others, before I was converted myself? To preach by bearsay of the grace, and mercy, and salvation, of The Gospel, whilst I myself was an obedient slave to sin? Have I not taken upon me to explain and lay open the mysteries of GOD'S LOVE IN CHRIST JESUS, before they had had their proper entrance into my own soul? Has my own repentance, compunction, deep sensibility of the burden of sin, and want of a SAVIOUR, taught me how to make the terrours of the LORD known in the depth of every man's heart, and to awaken and pierce the consciences of sinners? Has my own true and living faith in CHRIST my Saviour, my own experience of the atoning, cleansing, sanctifying power of his precious blood, enabled me with great boldness to tell all sinners, that, to the faith which worketh by love, CHRIST always and infallibly saith, what He said in the gospel, Thy sins are forgiven: thy faith hath saved thee; go in peace? Can my own heart, and GOD, who is greater than our hearts, bear me witness, that in my sacred office I have not sought myself, or my own things, but the things of JESUS CHRIST? If I have changed one flock or station for another, or added one cure to another, have I done it in singleness of heart, as unto The LORD, and not for myself? Has all that I have sought or done of this kind, been only from this motive, and in this view, that I might be more truly faithful to Him that hath called me, and be more and more spent and sacrificed for the salvation of souls? Have I neglected no means of fitting and preparing myself for the illuminations of GOD'S HOLY SPIRIT, which alone can enable me in any measure to speak to, and work upon, the hearts and consciences of men? Have I earnestly longed and laboured after every kind and degree of inward and outward holiness and purity of body, soul, and spirit, that my standing at the altar may be acceptable to GOD, and my prayers and intercessions for my flock avail much before Him? Has my own self-denial, renunciation of the world, and love of The Cross of CHRIST, enabled me to preach up those duties in their full extent? Has my own strictly pious use of the things of this world, my own

readiness to relieve and assist every creature to the utmost extent of my ability, fitted me to call others to these things with power and authority? Have all ages and conditions of people under my care had their proper instruction and warning from me, so that I have spared no folly, vanity, indulgence, or conformity to the world, that hurts mens souls, and hinders their progress in piety? Have I done all that by my prayers and preaching, life and example, which CHRIST expects from those whom he has enjoined to feed His sheep? Can my flock, by looking at me, see what virtues they want? Can they, by following me, be led to every kind and degree of christian perfection? Lastly, has The WILL OF GOD and the spirit of The Gospel, been the beginning and end, the reason and motive, the rule and measure, of my liking or disliking, doing or not doing, every thing among that people with whom I have lived as their minister? There are a few of such questions as the present state of Religion in this island calls upon every minister of The Gospel to sift and try himself by. For as the order of the clergy is instituted for no other end, but for the preserving of religion and true piety in the world; so when any age is more than ordinarily sunk in vice and impiety, the whole order of the clergy, and every member of it, have great reason, not only to be deeply afflicted, but greatly affrighted at it, and to suspect and fear their own conduct, since that which is their particular work, has had so little success. They have great reason to apprehend, that it is some degeneracy of spirit, some common misbehaviour, some general negligence, some want of example, some failure in doctrine, some defect in zeal, and care of their particular flocks, that too much contributes to so general a corruption of manners. This does not suppose, that it is in the power of our order to regulate the manners of people as we please; it only supposes, that, of all human means, it has the greatest effect; and that when any nation or people are either very good or very bad, the behaviour of the clergy may reasonably be reckoned to have greatly contributed to it. Let us all, therefore, of the clergy, who have any right sense of the nature of our order, any true love for our brethren of it, awaken and stir up one another to a faithful diligence in our callings; not such as may secure us from public scandal, and the laws of the land; but such a faithful diligence as the nature of our office, the spirit of The Gospel, and the present decay of Religion, call for. Let us beseech and intreat one another deeply to consider, the great need that this poor nation hath, of a zealous, pious, exemplary, disinterested, and laborious clergy; to consider the dreadful judgments of GOD, that may justly be expected to fall first upon our own heads, if this only true relief and remedy is not procured by all of us, according to the utmost of our ability. It is now no time for ease, indulgence, or worldly repose; all is to be renounced, all is to be sacrificed; and we must in the spirit of martyrdom awaken the world into a faith and love of The Gospel. Now is the time, that we must give up all our worldly regards, forsake all that we have, hate father and mother, wife and children, and brothers and sisters, yea, and our own lives also, or we cannot be faithful ministers of JESUS CHRIST. The same spirit which first planted The Gospel, is now required to recover and restore it amongst us. We must break off our chains of worldly prudence, and come forth in the spirit and power of The Gospel; so live, and speak, and act, whether in the pulpit or out of it, that all who see and hear us may be forced to confess, that GOD is in us of a truth, and that His HOLY SPIRIT hath sent us. A ministry that hath not this power, that hath not full proof, both to themselves and others, that The HOLY SPIRIT is thus with them, opening The Kingdom of GOD in their own souls, and enabling them to preach it to others with spirit and power, are to answer to GOD for their want of it.

Several of the clergy, whose lot is fallen in this corrupt age, may be supposed to have taken upon them the sacred office, and to have lived in it, not enough according to the nature and spirit of it, merely through the degeneracy of the times, and from a consideration that they are well enough, according to the measure of religion that now passes in the world: and perhaps there are few, if any, of the order, however eminent for good works, whose virtues have not received some abatement from the same cause. This, therefore, may be added as another reason, why all the clergy of this land should search into their lives and conduct with the utmost severity, and bring every thing to the test of the letter and spirit of The Gospel. The Christian Religion has not had its proper effect, nor obtained its intended end, till it has so set up The Kingdom of GOD amongst us, that His WILL is done on earth, as it is done in heaven. This is the perfection that every Christian, when advancing forward

in the several degrees of holiness and purification, is to tend to, and aspire after. And if they who are to be taught, are to be thus separated from an earthly nature, thus emptied of all worldly passions, thus dead to the workings of self-will and self-love, that THE SPIRIT OF GOD may be all in all in them; what manner of men ought they to be, who are to teach, promote, advance, and lead the way to, this purity and perfection? At what a distance ought he to be from every appearance of pride, that is to draw others to love and practise the profound humility of THE BLESSED JESUS? How ought he to resist his appetites, to humble his body, and be steady in all kinds of self-denial, who would convince his flock, that they who sow to the flesh, shall of the flesh reap destruction? How heavenly-minded, how devoted to GOD, how attentive to the one thing needful, how unspotted from the world, ought he to be, who is to persuade others, that they cannot possibly serve GOD and mammon? How empty ought he to be of all selfish cunning, all worldly policy, all arts and methods of ambition, who is to fix it deep in the hearts of his hearers, that unless they become as little children, they cannot see, nor enter into The Kingdom of GOD? What open hands, and open heart, ought he to have, what an extent of charity ought to be visible in him, who is to bring his flock to this faith, that it is more blessed to give than to receive? How remarkably undeniably plain, open, sincere, undesigning, and faithful, should he be, who is to recommend, plant, and establish sincerity, plainness, simplicity, truth, and innocence, amongst his flock? There is such a necessary fitness in these things, that the force and power of Religion must be much prevented, when its precepts are recommended to the world, by such as excuse themselves from the plain and open practice of them.

The office of the ministry is of the highest nature; it is a trust which no language can sufficiently express; and the unfaithful discharge of it is, of all conditions in life, the most dreadful. To be charged with the death and blood of souls, by that GOD who laid down His Life to redeem them, is a condemnation that will carry more of guilt and punishment in it than any other. Would you know the office of a Christian Pastor, you must look at the office of CHRIST; would you know what manner of spirit he ought to be of, you must look at the spirit of CHRIST. For the work of the ministry, is only the work of CHRIST committed to other hands, who are to supply his absence, to be here in his stead, to be doing the same things, and with the same spirit that He did, till the end of the world. Nothing is so highly honourable as to bear a part in the priesthood of CHRIST, and be employed in the work of the ministry; but then it should be well considered, that it is only honourable in the same sense as it may be said, that nothing is more honourable than to suffer as a martyr: it is an honour that is as different from all worldly figure and distinction, as The Glory of CHRIST upon the cross is different from the triumph of an earthly prince. When, therefore, we think of the honour and dignity of the pastoral function, we should be careful to remember, that it is only the honour of dying a martyr, the honour of humbling, abasing, and sacrificing ourselves with CHRIST, and continuing the exercise of his suffering priesthood for the salvation of the world. The holy function is often considered only as an authoritative commission to minister in holy things: but it is much more than this; it is a call and command to act with The SPIRIT OF CHRIST, to represent his purity, to continue his holiness, to bear a part of his sacrifice, and to devote themselves for the good of others as He did. A priest that has only his ordination to distinguish him, wants as much to make him a true priest, as Judas wanted to make him a true apostle. For tho' holiness gives no man a commission to exercise the pastoral office, yet all who are called to it, are as much ordained and appointed to a peculiar holiness of life, as to the administration of the sacraments; and when they cease to be as light and salt to the rest of the world, they sin against the pastoral office in as high a degree, as they that enter upon it without any authority. THE SALVATION OF MANKIND is still the same glorious, great, and necessary work, that it was in the days of The Apostles; is still to be carried on by the same means; and is now in the hands of the clergy, as it was then in theirs. If it was their happiness and glory, to be faithful to Him that called them, to forget the little interests of flesh and blood, and have nothing at heart but the advancement of GOD's Kingdom, we shall fail both of happiness and glory, if we seek them any other way. If an Apostle considering the weight of reconciling souls unto GOD, is forced to cry out, Who is sufficient for these things? shall we think any care but that which is the greatest, sufficient to make us stand uncondemned before GOD? It is a fatal deception to imagine, that the life of a minister of GOD, is ever to be a life of ease or worldly repose. For tho' the temporal poral sword be not always drawn against them, nor they forced to flee from one city to another, yet the world, the flesh, and the devil, have perhaps never so much difficulty to be resisted, as in temporal prosperity; nor have the ministers of CHRIST ever more occasion to put on all their armour, than when the world is given up to ease, and peace, and plenty. Swarms of vice steal upon us in these seasons; the spirit and life of religion is in danger of being lost; and the salvation of souls is made more difficult, than in the most perilous times. And how is such a state of temptation to be resisted, such a torrent of vice to be opposed, but by the clergy's shewing themselves visible and notorious examples of all the contrary virtues? When mankind are wallowing in debauchery, wantoning in pleasures, and given up to vanity and luxury in all shapes; it is then the duty of the faithful minister, by his being crucified to the world, to proclaim himself the messenger of a CRUCIFIED SAVIOUR, and to make his own self-denying, mortified, and heavenly life, a plain, open, and constant reproof of all vain indulgences. For to yield to, or fall in with, the softness, vanity, luxury, indulgence, or avarice of the world, is the same infidelity and breach of trust in the sacred office, as to depart from the true faith, and fall in with some abominable heresy.

And here I can't help addressing myself, with great affection, to all my younger brethren of the clergy. According to the course of nature, you are likely to have the care of the church wholly upon your hands in a short time; and, therefore, it is chiefly from you that the restoration of true piety is to be expected in this nation. I beseech you, therefore, for your own sakes, for The Gospel's sake, for the sake of mankind, to devote yourselves wholly to the love and service of GOD. As you are yet but beginners in this great office, you have it in your power to make your lives the greatest happiness, both to yourselves, and the whole nation. You are entered into holy orders in degenerate times, when trade and traffic have seized upon all holy things; and it will be easy for you, without fear, to swim along with the corrupt stream, and to look upon him as an enemy, or an enthusiast, that would save you from being lost in it. But think, my dear brethren, think in time, what remorse you are treasuring up for yourselves, if you live to look back upon a loose, negligent, corrupt, disorderly, worldly, unedifying life, spent among those whose blood will be required at your hands. Think, on the other hand, how blessedly your employment will end, if, by your voices, your lives, and labours, you put a stop to the overflowings of iniquity, restore the spirit of the primitive clergy, and make all your flock bless and praise GOD, for having sent you amongst them. Lay this down as an infallible principle, that an intire absolute renunciation of all worldly interest, is the only possible foundation of that exalted virtue which your station requires. Without this, all attempts after an exemplary piety are in vain. If you want any thing from the world by way of figure and exaltation, you shut the power of your REDEEMER out of your own souls; and, instead of converting, you corrupt the hearts of those that are about you. Detest, therefore, with the utmost abhorrence, all desires of making your fortunes, either by preferments or rich marriages; and let it be your only ambition to stand at the top of every virtue, as visible guides and patterns to all that aspire after the perfection of holiness. Consider yourselves merely as the messengers of GOD, that are solely sent into the world on His errand; and think it happines enough, that you are called to the same business, for which THE SON OF GOD was born into the world. I don't call you from a sober use of human learning; but I would fain persuade you, to think nothing worthy of your notice in books and study, but that which directly applies to the amendment of the heart; which makes you more holy, more heavenly, more divine, than you would be without it. You want nothing, but to have the corruption of your natural birth removed; to have the Nature, Life, and Spirit of JESUS CHRIST derived into you; as this is ALL that you want, so let this be ALL that you seek from books, study, or men. This is the only certain way to become eminent divines, instructed to The Kingdom of Heaven. And above all, let me tell you, that the book of all books is your own heart, in which are written and engraven the deepest lessons of Divine Instruction; learn, therefore, to be deeply attentive to THE PRESENCE OF GOD in your hearts, Who is always speaking to, always instructing, always illuminating that heart that is attentive to Him. Here you will meet the Divine Light in its proper place; in THAT depth of your souls, where the birth of THE SON OF GOD, and the proceeding of THE HOLY GHOST, are always ready to spring up in you. And be assured of this, that so much as you have of inward attention to GOD in your hearts, of inward love and adherence to His HOLY LIGHT AND SPIRIT

SPIRIT within you ; so much as you have of real unaffected humility and meekness ; so much as you are dead to your own will and self-love ; so much as you have of purity of heart ; so much, and no more, nor any further, do you see and know THE TRUTHS OF GOD. These virtues are the only eyes, and ears, and senses, and heart, by which you will know and understand every thing in Scripture, in that manner, and in that degree, in which GOD would have it understood, both for your own good, and the good of other people. It was owing to this purity of heart, and attendance upon GOD, that an ancient widow, named Anna, knew Him to be the true Messiah, whom the rulers, chief priests, and doctors of the law, condemned as an impostor. Had they, instead of their adherence to critical knowledge, and rabbinical learning, been devoted to GOD in such purity of heart as she was, they had known as much of The Kingdom of GOD as she did. Place, therefore, all your hope and confidence, all your learned help and skill, in the ardent love and practice of these virtues ; and then, and then only, you will be able ministers, holy priests, and messengers of GOD ; your cleansed hearts, like so many purified mirrors, will be always penetrated, always illuminated, by the rays of Divine Light ; and you will no more need the critics, to tell you what GOD speaks to you in the scriptures, than to tell you what GOD speaks to you in your own hearts. There are, indeed, in the Scriptures, secrets and mysteries, only fully to be known in GOD's own time, and not a minute sooner ; but of all men in the world, the critical dealers in words and particles, know the least of them, and make the vainest attempts to understand them. But Scripture, considered as a doctrine of faith, life, and salvation in JESUS CHRIST, is a sealed or unsealed, an open or shut up book, to every heart, in the same proportion as it stands turned to the world, or turned to GOD. Nothing understands GOD, but The SPIRIT OF GOD ; nothing brings The SPIRIT OF GOD into any mind, but the renouncing all for it, the turning wholly to it, and the depending wholly upon it. Human learning is by no means to be rejected from Religion ; for it is of the same good use and service, and affords the same assistance to religion, that the alphabet, writing, and printing do. But if it is raised from this kind and degree of assistance, if it is considered as the key to the mysteries of our REDEMPTION IN JESUS CHRIST, instead of opening to us The Kingdom of GOD, it locks us up in our own darkness. It is a truth confessed on all hands, that the kingdom of grace is the beginning of the kingdom of glory, and that they differ only in degree. Is not this plainly confessing, that the light of the kingdom of grace, must be one and the same with that of the kingdom of glory? How else can one be the beginning of the other? And must not that, which is to be our one only light in heaven in a full degree, be now our one only light of all heavenly things in a lower degree? Therefore, all that we see and know of The Kingdom of GOD now, must be by that same light, by which we shall see and know The Kingdom of GOD hereafter. GOD is an all-speaking, all-working, all-illuminating essence, possessing the depth and bringing forth the life of every creature according to its nature. Our life is out of this Divine Essence, and is itself a creaturely similitude of it; and when we turn from all impediments, this Divine Essence becomes as certainly the true light of our minds here, as it will be hereafter. This is not enthusiasm, but the words of truth and soberness; and it is the running away from this as enthusiasm, that has made so many great scholars as useless to the church as tinkling cymbals, and all Christendom a mere Babel of learned confusion.

A total renunciation of the spirit, tempers, and inclinations of this life, is the one thing necessary to consecrate young divines to their holy office. As sure as The Church of CHRIST is not a kingdom of this world; as sure as JESUS CHRIST came to deliver us from this evil world; as sure as He requires us to be born again from ABOVE, to hate even our own life in this world, and to forsake all and follow Him; so sure is it, that no one has The Call of The HOLY SPIRIT to the ministry of The Gospel, nor the least ground of hoping to be led and governed by it in his ministry, till he at least prays, desires, and heartily endeavours, to have all that disregard of worldly prosperity, figure, and distinction, which the maxims of The Gospel, the practice of The Apostles, and The SPIRIT OF JESUS CHRIST, set before him. Till this renunciation of the world is made, we cannot enter into the ministry at its own door, but, like thieves and robbers, climb over its walls; and then it will be no wonder, if we do no more good to The Church, than thieves do to the house they break open and plunder. If a young minister wants to act the part, and have the appearance of a fine gentleman, to go on in the common pursuits of the world, to cover a secular spirit with an ecclesiastick garb, garb, and make his fortunes in The Church ; he must be told, that it is much safer to be a publican and a sinner, than to be a trader in spiritual things ; and that he who, with unsanctified hands, attends at The Altar, is farther from The Kingdom of GOD, than he who has not yet made one step towards it. Covetousness is idolatry ; it is a heathenish antichristian vice, tho' only trafficking in worldly matters : but when it takes possession of The Altar, makes a trade of The Mysteries of Salvation, and turns Godliness into gain, it has a blackness of vice and depravity which much exceeds that of the worldly miser. The spirit of an ecclesiastick should be The SPIRIT OF HEAVEN ; knowing nothing of this world, but how to escape its snares and temptations ; burning in THE LOVE OF GOD ; and holding out light and direction to all, that aspire after every perfection of The CHRISTIAN LIFE.

It is too commonly thought, that when a young student has taken his degree, and shewn some signs of a genius for learning, that he is well prepared to enter into the service of The Church ! But, alas ! all the accomplishments of human learning are but the ornaments of the old man, which leave the soul in its slavery to sin, full of all the disorders and corruptions of the fallen nature, and under the blindness and perverseness of some of its worst passions. If it were not thus, how could the errors of all churches, have the greatest scholars for their champions ? All the learned catholic world is amazed at the prejudice, the blindness, the perverseness, the partiality, the weakness, the sophistry, the unfairness of protestant critics : all the protestant world is in the same degree of wonder, at the same disorders in catholic disputants. Is not this a demonstration of the nature, power, and place of human learning ; and of its great usefulness and benefit to religion ? Does not this enough shew, that it is the offspring of the old man, has his nature and qualities, dwells in him, and is governed by him ? Is not this a demonstration, that the greatest degrees of historical, verbal, critical knowledge, are no real hindrance of spiritual blindness ? Is not this a demonstration, that human learning is as different from Divine Light, as heaven is from earth, the new from the old man ; and that, considered in itself, it leaves us in our first state of slavery to blind and corrupt passions ? Now nothing can aliver a man from this state, but a Spirit born into him from ABOVE, a Light from The SPIRIT OF GOD derived into his soul,

which alone can bring forth a New Man created in CHRIST JESUS. Nothing can make way for this New Birth from Above, but a total renunciation of and dying to all that we are by our natural birth in this world: it is only this separation from things below, that can make us part-takers of The Truth and Light that comes from ABOVE. Take away all selfishness from the papist and the protestant, or let them both be dead to the workings of this spirit, and then they will be as fully agreed about Gospel truths, as they are in the form of a square and a circle: for nothing stands in the way of Divine Truth, or hinders its full entrance into us, but this partiality or selfishness, which adheres to every one, who does not make it his first maxim, prayer, and endeavour, to die to and deny himself in all the tempers and inclinations of our fallen nature. This self-denial is the continual doctrine of our LORD; it is by Him made the beginning of all conversion to GOD; and he that cannot, or will not, begin there, can make no beginning of that life, light, and salvation, to which he is called in CHRIST JESUS. Therefore, he that offers himself for holy orders, without this spirit of self denial, is a miserable intruder into the mysteries of salvation; he only hardens and fixes himself in the corruptions of his own nature; and instead of becoming an instrument of saving others, his very office makes his own salvation more dangerous.

I doubt not, but some will here charge me, with pleading for poverty in the ministry, and with enmity to that maintenance which they have both from the law and The Gospel. But this is so far from being true, that I wish every good minister, whom The SPIRIT OF GOD has called to his office, and governs in it, had much more of this world's goods than is needful for his own reasonable subsistence; because it is certain, that such a one's money would all be put into the prior's bag, and he would as gladly and liberally administer to their temporal as to their spiritual necessities. I write against nothing but avarice, selfishness, pride, and ambition, and the making the provisions of The Church subservient to these tempers. A provision arising from The Gospel, is consecrated by The Gospel; and is profaned by being touched and used by a worldly spirit: and he who turns this provision of The Gospel into a support and gratification of worldly passions, sins against the nature and law of The Gospel, more than he that pays his tythes with reluctance. I can easily believe, there are clergy clergy in this land, who labour in The Gospel, without having a sufficient subsistence from it : but if much of this evil was to be charged upon pluralities, commendams, and such like spiritual trading, there would be no injustice in it ; and if the inferiour clergy had their labours undervalued only by the laity, they would be in a much better condition than they are.

When it is complained by what shameful qualifications, empty titles, and unworthy pretences, numbers of persons get loaded and dignified with variety of preferments ; it is answered, in excuse of this great evil, that “ if preferments “ might not be thus crowded together, great learning, distinguished abilities, and eminent labours for the service “ of religion, must go unrewarded.” As this answer is not fetched from The Gospel, or The Primitive Church, so I shall shew, that it is as little supported by reason. For if this great learning is truly Gospel learning, if this eminent labour is truly pious labour, what state of life can so little want to be rewarded ? How can imagination itself place a man more above the thoughts and desires of worldly advancement ? If such a one is full of the light and spirit of The Gospel, if his labours have been like those of an Apostle ; must he not, like an Apostle, be dead to the world ? Can such a one look upon his labour as a hardship, because it has left him as low, and as far from the pomp of the world, as it found him ? Can he repine, because The Gospel has not proved a good worldly bargain to him ? If The SPIRIT OF GOD has begun and directed all his labours, and animated all his studies and designs ; can such a one think it hard, that he has not by such labours purchased for himself a share in the state and pride of human life ? If, by A Great Divine, is only meant a person well skilled in critical contention, who can artfully, plausibly, scholastically defend a set of notions, amongst which he happened to be born and bred ; such a divine, I own, may be very impatient, and much cooled in his zeal, unless he finds himself well rewarded : but if An Eminent Divine is to be understood in a sense suitable to The Gospel, he is that particular person, that must needs have the greatest contempt and dislike of every thing, that has but the appearance of the pomp and vanity of this world in it. If, therefore, it was urged, that this conjunction of preferments and dignifying rewards, was necessary to bring ambitious scholars into The Church, or to keep them in it, there would be some sense, tho’ no gospel, in the pretence. But to talk of them, as necessary to be the rewards of eminent piety and apostolick labour; is as absurd, as to say, that those, who have truly put on CHRIST, who stand in the highest degree of a renewed nature, who best know and feel the blessing of a mortified heavenly spirit, have less reason to be content with food and raiment, than those who stand in a lower degree of The Christian Life: it is saying, that a bishop, because having most of the spirit and office of an Apostle in him, may well desire more of the pride and figure of this world, than the lower clergy, who have less of the apostolical spirit and perfection in them. To want to stand in some degree of worldly figure, is the state of a babe in The Christian Life, that hath hardly tasted the milk of evangelical nourishment; and, therefore, can no way become those, who are to lead and compel others to the perfection and fulness of The Stature in CHRIST JESUS.

A Great Divine, is but a cant expression, unless it signifies a man greatly advanced in The Divine Life; whose own experience, and example, is a demonstration of the reality of all the graces and virtues of The Gospel. No Divine has any more of The Gospel in him, than that which proves itself by the spirit, actions, and form of his life; the rest is but hypocrisy, not theology. If, therefore, poverty of spirit, a disregard of worldly figure, a total self-denial, is any part of The Gospel; An Eminent Divine, or one advanced in The SPIRIT AND LIFE OF JESUS, can have no wish with regard to the figure, pride, and pomp, of this life, but to be placed out of every appearance of it. And if the first and highest in divine knowledge, are not the foremost in poverty of spirit, and the outward humility of CHRIST and his Apostles; if eminent divines want and desire to have a dignity of worldly figure, to have respect by any other means than by the divine virtues and graces of an evangelical spirit and conversation, and are not content with all the contentment that such a life can expose them to; they may be great scholars, but they are little divines, and must be thought to be much wanting in that which is the chief part of THE MINISTERS OF JESUS CHRIST." Answer to Trapp, and Animadversions on his reply.

One quotation more, and I have done.

There is but one salvation for mankind; and that is THE LIFE OF GOD IN THE SOUL. GOD has but one design towards mankind; and that is, to generate His Own Life Light and Spirit in them, that ALL may be as so many habitations, habitations, temples, and images, of The HOLY TRINITY. This is GOD's good will to ALL Heathens, Jews, and Christians. They are ALL equally The Desire of His Heart: His Light continually waits for an entrance into ALL of them: His Wisdom crieth; she putteth forth her voice; not here, or there, but every where, in all the streets of every part of the world.

Now there is but one possible way for man to attain this salvation or LIFE OF GOD IN THE SOUL. There is not one for the Heathen, another for the Jew, and a third for the Christian. No: GOD is one, human nature is one, salvation is one, and the way to it is one; and that is, THE DESIRE OF THE SOUL TURNED TO GOD. This desire does all: it brings the soul to GOD, and GOD into the soul; it unites with GOD, it co-operates with GOD, and is ONE LIFE with GOD. Suppose this desire not to be alive, not in motion, either in a Jew, or a Christian; and then ALL the sacrifices, the service, the worship, either of The Law or The Gospel, are but dead works, that bring no life into the soul, nor beget any union between the soul and GOD. Suppose this desire to be awakened, and fixed upon GOD, though in souls that never heard either of The Law or The Gospel, and then The Divine Life or Operation of GOD enters into them, and The NEW BIRTH IN CHRIST is formed in those that never heard of His Name: and these are they that shall come from the east, and from the west, and shall sit down with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, in The Kingdom of Heaven.

O GOD, just, and good! how great is Thy Love and Mercy to mankind, that Heaven is thus every where open, and CHRIST thus The COMMON SAVIOUR to All that turn the desire of their heart to Thee! O Divine power of The Bruiser of The Serpent, born in every son of man, that stirs and works in every man, and gives every man a desire and power to find his happiness in GOD! O HOLY JESUS, Heavenly Light, that lighteth every man that cometh into the world; that redeemeth every man that followeth Thy Light, which is always within him! O HOLY TRINITY, immense Ocean of Divine Love, in which mankind live, and move, and have their being — none are separated from Thee; none live out of Thy Love; but All are partakers of Thy Divine life, The operation of THY HOLY SPIRIT, as soon as their heart is turned to Thee! O plain, and easy, and simple way of salvation, wanting no subtilties of art or science, science, no borrowed learning, no refinements of reason; but all done by the simple natural motion of every heart, that TRULY LONGS AFTER GOD! For no sooner is the finite desire of the creature in motion towards GOD, but The Infinite Desire of GOD is united with it, co-operates with it: and in THIS UNITED DESIRE of GOD and the creature, is the life and salvation of the soul brought forth. For the soul is shut out of GOD, and imprisoned in its own dark workings of flesh and blood, merely and solely because it desires to live to THE VANITY OF THIS WORLD. This desire is its darkness, its death, and separation from GOD." SPIRIT OF PRAYER.

Upon the whole. Whatever names of distinction are assumed by men, whether they call themselves Rational Deists, or Popish or Protestant Christians, or Arian, Socinian, or Orthodox Teachers; there is but ONE DISTINCTION between the worshippers of The TRUE GOD and idolaters, which is solely made by CHRISTIANITY and INFIDELITY. For Christianity is neither more nor less, than The DIVINE NATURE, or The LIFELIGHT, AND LOVE OF GOD, living and working in the soul of man; and Infidelity is neither more nor less, than the heart of man governed by, and contented with, the workings of his EARTHLY NATURE, SPIRIT, AND LIFE.

I have thus endeavoured to dispel an ungenial mist, that was gathering over the writings and character of A GREAT DIVINE, and A MOST AMIABLE MAN. The attempt, tho' due to his character as a tribute of just reverence for a heaven-born spirit, and to his writings as a testimony of gratitude for their experienced utility; was yet chiefly made for the sake of those, who not knowing their unspeakable value, might be prevented from ever knowing it by the power of misrepresentation.

Mr. LAW's writings are their own best defence; they oppose nothing, and, therefore, have no other enemies, enemies, but the selfishness, impurity, pride, envy, and wrath, of fallen nature; their sole design is, “to turn man from his own darkness to The LIGHT OF HEAVEN, from the power of Satan to The MOST HOLY GOD, Acts xxvi. 18;” and above all the writings of which this nation can boast, they open the true ground and nature of The Christian Religion, and shew why and how it is founded upon A ROCK, against which the gates of hell cannot prevail.* This is the pearl, from which

* Of his own writings, Mr. LAW thus speaks: “As to myself, I seem to have no other part to act, nor any call to any thing else, in this hurry and struggle of zeal against zeal in such a variety of forms, but sully to assert the true ground, and largely open all the reasons, of that ONE INWARD REGENERATION, which is equally the one thing needful to every sect, and the one thing alone that can make every sect, or method, or outward form, not hurtful to those that adhere to it. For every outward form, however specious or promising, will only help us to be carnally minded, till it is in some degree known to have no other or better nature, than that of the shell which helps us to the kernel. The doctrines I have published, are in their best state, with regard to the reader, as they stand in my books; and will be less useful to him, when they are drawn into controversy. This may, perhaps, seem, as if I had too great an opinion of what I have done: and I believe, such a free way of speaking sometimes in conversation of my own books, may have been suspected of too much self-esteem. But I can, with truth, assure you, that when I speak of the fullness and clearness of my own writings, I feel no other sentiments of self-sufficiency, than when I speak of the goodness of my own eyes; nor do I know how to consider the one, more than the other, to be any merit of my own. And, therefore, when any man, great or little, contemns, reproaches, or asperges me, or my books, as void of sense, truth, and light; I feel no more inward uneasiness, nor think myself any more hurt, than if he had told the world, that my eyes were miserably bad, and I could scarce see to read even with the best spectacles; and so have no desire controversially to defend the one which I have tried to remove a dark covering: and if the consequent display of its native lustre, is insufficient to engage the notice of those, who are disposed to neglect it only because it has been trampled under foot; there is but little reason to expect, that any further effort will bring them to an impartial examination of it.

Again: " You perhaps may ask, Why I go on writing books myself, if there is but one true and divine teacher? I answer, that tho' there is but one bridegroom that can furnish the blessing of the marriage feast, yet his servants are sent out to invite the guests. This is the unalterable difference between CHRIST's teaching, and the teaching of those who only publish the glad tidings of Him. They are not the bridegroom; and, therefore, have not the bridegroom's voice: they are not The Light, but are only sent to bear witness of it. And as The Baptist said, He must increase, but I must decrease; so every faithful teacher faith of his doctrine, it must decrease and end, as soon as it has led to THE TRUE TEACHER. All that I have written for near thirty years, has been only to shew, that we have no master but CHRIST; nor can have any living divine knowledge, but from His Holy Nature born and revealed in us."

Again: " I know not myself, how to write to the most illuminated person upon earth, for advice or instruction. And the more dark and distressed my state should be, the more averse I should be to seek counsel of any creature; not from an opinion of any sufficiency in myself, but from a fulness of conviction, that I run away from Relief, and deprive myself of True Light and Comfort, by not seeking to and depending upon GOD ALONE for it. All my writings have no other end, but to communicate this conviction to my readers; and, consequently, to teach them to have done with me, as soon as I have convinced them, that GOD, and CHRIST, and The Kingdom of Heaven, are only to be found by man, in his own heart; and only capable of being found there, by his own love of them, faith in them, and absolute dependence upon them." COLLECTION OF LETTERS, p. 128, 129. p. 97. p. 194, 195.

I write not for fame, nor for controversy: the spirit of controversy, which is born of ignorance and pride, is a dark and deadly enemy to the truth and power of Religion; and the applauses of men are empty sounds, as well to him who thinks he has not ground to hope for the honour that cometh from GOD alone, as to him who thinks he has. With respect to His Lordship, therefore, I can only say, that if I have misrepresented his meaning in any passage of The Doctrine of Grace, I am sorry for it, and sincerely ask His Lordship's pardon on that account. About any thing else I have not the least concern: for tho' it is difficult to enter into debate, without appearing disrespectful and unkind to the person that is opposed; yet, I think, I have written only against that in His Lordship, which, whatever share it has in the composition of his books, no more belongs to THE CHURCH OF CHRIST, "The Kingdom of Heaven come amongst men," than the flesh and blood of his earthly body.

His Lordship, however, as well as every other son of Adam, has A Divine Inhabitant, The Renewed Life of that Angelic Man who died in Paradise: and tho' now, perhaps, unperceived amidst clouds of learned dust, the clamours of controversial zeal, and the swarms of motley images that a prolific fancy is ever bringing forth; yet the common distresses of human life, made subservient to the power of REDEEMING GRACE, will, one day or other, dissolve the charm, and let His Heavenly Voice be heard, and His Heavenly Form be seen. This NEW MAN IN CHRIST JESUS demands, and has, my reverence, my sympathy, and my love: and knowing nothing more desirable for myself, I can wish for nothing better for His Lordship, than that the remainder of his days may be passed in the devotion and purity of Mr. LAW's life, and closed with the illumination and rapture of the hour of his death.

I am,

Dear Sir,

Your affectionate Friend,
